Hi.
I see there's three campgrounds that are advertised for Dayton. Can anyone help with the best location? We have a truck to drive to and from with, once we get there and dis-connect from my travel trailer.

I'm looking for advice from a few seasoned Dayton campers for the best campground, that allows a little a fun on site. :)

(sorry for the x-post)

FYI: moparholic@hotmail.com is a freebander who operates amateur gear without a license. He is coming to Dayton to sell cb amps.

The only amp I will have will be in my truck. I'm going there to buy stuff, not sell. I appreciate quality gear, and Dayton is a fairly good place to shop.

At any rate, I'm still looking for the camping advice that I asked for when I started this thread.

If you don't like me, don't stop by for brats and beer. k?

Or a Yankee shirt !!! A co-worker of mine from Atlanta, told me about this chicken on a beer can. They even make stands for it so it's easier for it to stand up.

Dude, you are just like me. I love BBQ. I will use my grill all year. even when it's 10 degrees. The only thing I hate is a heavy rain. I love smoked anything, slow cooked ribs, pulled pork, and even those damn brats !

Man, I might come and visit you in Dayton !

You can run Jim's 2510 and my amp on the last leg of the trip.

No way. I would bring my wife (if you didn't mind). My problem is more the animal baby sitting, and trying to convince my wife to go tailgate are a ham fest !! LOL There is no chance of that !!! But htere is a chance of a Nascar tailgate. The only problem is that I don't know squat about Nascar. They don't cover much of it around here.

Vin. This is boys nites out.... and I'd appreciate you not bringing her with you. (lol) Can you survive without her for two days?

Donut forget the gear you might be buying. (after you Italian them down)

This is exactly the best place to buy your new/used radio, once you get past the no-code multiple choice, walkie-talkie test.

Well there are a lot more clean, unclean, or otherwise KWs on the air, with this guy doing 40 grand worth of business daily. The guy is selling amps all the way up to the 10 KW range, not to mention all the imported hf transceivers he is selling. Apparently, he has found some loophole in the law that he has driven a Mack truck through. He is advertising openly too. Heard one report where he had three local hams tossed out of the store when they started throwing hissy fits. Kind of funny in a way how hams get worked up over something so unimportant.

In other words, he's asking for trouble and will likely find some. I live out in the sticks SW of Cleveland with no neighbors, and yet I challenge myself to not TVI my own house. I figure that as a fairly clean input, the way the crow flies and lands.

I do have one amp that will not conform to those standards, but it's been moth-balled for years.

BTW. I get forged a -lot- by two no code HT operators that have nothing better to do with their time than fuck with CBer's.

At any rate, we're all radio cooling fans. :)

As a ham I'd just take a look around the store and then tell the FCC what I think might be violations. And then let the FCC take it from there. No hissy fits on my part, let the FCC decide if there are really violations or not.

The 3965 khz pirate seems to be linked in some way to this guy. This weekend there was a simo pirate broadcast on 3965/6673, and the pirate was giving out a bunch of detailed info about the KC CB sales operation, kind like he was "advertising" for the guy. 27680 was mentioned as a channel where KC local info was available. Do you think an activist liberal judge is allowing the guy to stay open?

According to the 3965 khz pirate, KC local info is available on the 27680 channel. I have been monitoring the freq. but have not heard anything of value yet, just some general chatter. Let us know if you get an address, name, or phone nr?

I would guess so, I've wanted to go to one for 25, 30 years now..

We tried to get tickets for this year, but the prices were nuts..

Nope. 10 runs east-west across the top of the state. 95 comes down the east coast and right through Daytona. You thinking about a trip, maybe?
Ocala National Forest isn't far from Daytona and an awesome place to camp.

Yet, the passage you invoke is a single exemption to the rule that speeders can be cited at any speed infraction. Your single exemption passage addresses only the matter of points being assessed and addresses nothing of the fines that are assessed, the end result of receiving a speeding ticket.

> No person may be convicted upon evidence >obtained

> through the use of devices

>   (3) unless the

Repeating this single exemption is fine, but does not address David T.
Hall Jr.'s erroneous interpretation of yet another law.

> Furthermore, no person   may be >convicted upon evidence obtained through the >use of   devices authorized by paragraph

>(2) or (3) in an area where   the legal >speed limit is less than 55 miles per hour if the >   speed recorded is less than ten miles per >hour in excess of   the legal speed limit.

The line you posted above is in direct contradiction with the previous line you posted. For instance, above, your passage claims 55 MPH as the determining factor and speed, yet your previous passage gives no speed at all, and makes only reference to a speed recorded in excess of 6 MPH over the limit as the determining factor. Both sentences cite the same law, same paragraph applications, yet have two separate conclusions.
They both can't be right.

>This paragraph shall not apply to >evidence obtained through the use of devices >authorized by   paragraph (2) or (3) within >a school zone or an active work   zone.

Nicely illustrated. You not only cite an example of David Jr. being incorrect, but present what you apparently hold as proof.
You are holding a passage that applies only to speeders in Pa going 55 or less. The speed limit is 65 on the interstates in Pa, and State Troopers are the only ones who use radar in Pa. State Troopers are usually found on the interstates and turnpikes, which is where the allowed speed limit is 65 MPH and where the State Troopers usually employ their radar. Try this one more time:
David T. Hall Jr. (N3CVJ) claimed it was required that all speeders in Pa be given an automatic "grace window" by the cops, permitting them 5 MPH over the posted limit. You were wrong then, you are wrong now.

D-uh! I have a friend that goes there every year. Parks that Winnebago in the middle of the oval track, makes some great money selling hand-held scanners the entire week. I've been to Daytona a boatload of times, but never went to the 500. Been there for spring break many moons ago, and a few years back for bike week.

I keep trying to get out west, but time just won't permit it. Still planning the spring fling, but it's looking to be like white water in Tennessee. Don't know how far north I'm going yet.

The reports are bogus, just like the cash claim. I'm pretty sure the guy you are talking about doesn't have a store. I'm not the one citing the law where it very plainly illustrates what everyone has been trying to tell you. As usual, you are extremely slow to get it.

>If the speed limit is below 55 mph, you cant >get cited for a ticket unless you are caught 10 >mph over the speed limit, not 6 in this case.

,,which has nothing at all to do with getting cited when violating the state's maximum speed limit of 65 MPH,,you know,,on the interstates where the State Troopers (who are the only ones allowe dto use radar in Pa) actually use radar and write tickets.

>Now go menstrate some more over the facts

>because they dont agreee with you.

Pay attention, as that deficit and mild retardation has you getting angry again, with all those who continue to educate your ignorance: David T. Hall Jr. (N3CVJ) said he was told by leo's that all speeders in Pa are to be given a 5 MPH "grace window". You continue to post the passage of the law that cites the complete pposite of that claim. Again, one can be cited for going 66 in a 65, yet, you are in dire straits and drooling incoherently about the law whichi you always demonstrate a problem comprehending.

I'm still grinning over you invoking yet another mystery. The (read: un-named) radar manufacturer that you permit to define the definition of the law. Tell us again about how this radar marketing department came up with the term "non-radar state" to apply to states that use radar, and of which you cited as some type of support for your misinterpratations and plain, rude ignorance.

It is possible his work force is over 25% undocumented aliens. In which case an activist liberal judge would certainly protect their rights by not allowing the business to be shut down. By now the ACLU may also be in the picture, and that means endless litigation.

recently my friend and i bought a set of radioshack brand mobile cb's to mount in our trucks. We went offroading right after we got them and they worked perfectly. Then the second time we tried to use them we had a problem with feedback. When i transmitted my friend could hear me, but i could not hear his transmissions. Instead all i could hear was a loud beeping tone. we experimented with different things but were unable to find the source of the problem. Using a third cb we concluded that it was my friend's cb but still could not find the source of the problem which is frequent but intermittent. Has anyone heard of this before???? Any suggestions?

Thanks,
Anders

No, I ALWAYS stated that this applied to Pa. This was not a "variable" that I added. I do not know the individual laws in other states, so I would be remiss in commenting on them.

> Now you say it can be applied across the board for the state?

Huh? I have always maintained that speed tolerances were in effect in the state of Pa.

>www.atssa.com/chapters/downloads/PA_ImpAct229.PDF

>You can be ticketed in the state of Pa for 1mph over the speed limit,

Ah, so you've found a special case where you can now be ticketed for 1 MPH over. A few comments:

1. This is a fairly recent law (2003), and I was not aware of all the provisions of it. I was aware that speeding fines could be doubled, but not that they can cite for 1 MPH over.

2. This is probably only slightly more likely than Frank's stopwatch scenario. It still does not negate my statement for the majority of situations. 3368(c) (4) still applies at other times.

3. If you look at the exact wording of the provision that effects speed, you will see that it is worded "Eliminated speed tolerances - can now be cited for 1 MPH over speed limit". This obviously implies that there had been tolerances in effect previously and that those tolerances prevented being cited for 1 MPH over, as per my original statement.

>so will you know shut up on it?

I was not the one making an issue out of it. I made a simple statement that Pa. has a speed tolerance of at least 5 MPH. Other people then took it upon themselves, in a shameful effort to prove me wrong, to pick this apart and come up with all sorts of exceptions to the standard, usual practice.

> The whole point is that you can be cited dude, not that >it happens everyday or even once a month, but you can be

You can be cited for anything a cop wants to cite you for. But that was not the issue. The issue was the law as it was coded in Pa. This is one of many examples of contradictions, and interpretations. We have signs on major highways stating speeding fines starting at 56 MPH. Yet on those same highways, which are patrolled by cop equipped with RADAR, they are not allowed to cite you until you are at least 6 MPH over per 3368 (c)(4). It's all designed to confuse the people who do not fully understand the law.

But you are basing your outcry on speculative comments. It may likely be the case that the FCC may act on "tips" received by people like Jerry, and then gather additional evidence before preparing an NAL. So if someone sent in a tape of some lamebrain using my call on the freeband, they'll be sure to check it out first, and when they find that it isn't coming from my state let alone my home, they'll drop the matter. This isn't the first time people have bootlegged other's calls. I'm not concerned.

$2000 was a dealer quote. Most other tranny shops also wanted to pull a "we don't troubleshoot, we just replace" for an equally outrageous price.

A few shops, who were clued in to the problem, offered to do the job for around $395. I did it myself and saved $300.

I'm tired of wasting my time on this issue. He doesn't get it. He can't understand conditionals, and that's why he feels there's an apparent "contradiction" between paragraph 2 and 3 devices.

The law is the law, and it specifies the conditions by which a speed tolerance is required to be given, which is most of the time. The minimum tolerance is 5 MPH, and in certain other situations (Below 55 MPH and using electronic devices OTHER than RADAR), they have to increase that tolerance to 10 MPH. It's not contradictory, it's in addition to.

Your amended statutes also illustrate that no points are to be assigned until 10 MPH or more over, but it does not say that you can't be stopped and ticketed between 5 and 10 MPH over in a radar zone.

Twisty's interpretive skills are not much better than my 5 year old's. It's no wonder he thinks the various laws mean something different than what they actually state, to those of us who CAN interpret and comprehend what we read.

Yeah but the plans were for Rt1 to be a limited access toll road that would bypass 13. What happened is Rt1 is a limited road mileage wise and still has tolls. 13 has plenty of local speed traps to boot.

You're right, but here is the flip side of which you did not consider.
Oxendine, while patroling the interstates in and around Gastonia (I-85, US 321, etc.) has placed the FCC in a very precarious legal situation.
What Oxendine does, is make tapes of truck drivers he claims are transmitting illegally on ten meter. He writes down their license plate numbers and names of the company, if visible. He sends the info to Hollingsworth and with nothing more than the word of the Ox-man, Hollingsworth sends the truck companies a warning notice.

>You do not know exactly what Jerry is doing,

David, you have demostrated you know shit about anything. In fact, all your posts have been shown to be so far off reality, that all you have is a dirty little distorted little dream world comprised of imaginary and un-named supporters and leo's.
All you have is specuation.

>and whether, the FCC is directly responding to >these alleged "tapes". Most of this is pure >speculation.

No Dave,,,_most- of what you post is pure speculation, the rest is pure unadulterated bullshit. As you illoustrated with your leo claim you have a pathological lying problem to the extent you need invent and conjure false support. Your ego dictates it.

Flip side.
Now, if one were to tape your call being poached on the freeband, and sent it to the FCC alleging you were breaking the law, the FCC has obligated itself, by virtue of its actions with Oxendine, to treat the dispositional actions of the complaint in THE EXACT SAME NATURE.

>Logically, that makes sense, but.......

BUT,,,,you do not deal with logic.

And of course, it doesn't matter if you're guilty or not, the notice is going public..such is one of the benefits of having a clusterf like the FCC in charge of such trivial bullshit.

>Is that what you're hoping? To see my name >on the RAIN report?

Gee Dave, in addition to your hallucinations of false leo's and hammie that agree with you that roger beeps are illegal, you are having some serious difficulties with what is actually posted. Struggling with reality, again, you are.

 Of course, failure by the FCC to follow their now-established protcol could result in one bitch of a suit, and it is for this reason I am beginning to question whether this chief enforcement officer for the FCC has any legal background at all.

>No offense, but I'm sure he has more of a >background in communications law,

David, no offense, but you are sure of absolutely nothing. You prove it time and again.

>than someone who freebands and operates a >charter fishing service.

And if you employed logic, you would find a corelation that exists only in the same mind that gives us conjured and animated giggles.

If he went to law school, in my personal opinion, the man should sue for breach of an educational contract. Perhaps the FCC is in such piss poor shape because they keep hiring civil servants with no education related to the position for which they are hired.

>But you are basing your outcry on speculative

>comments.

Nope,,that's what you have always doen, adn are continuing to do, despite those of us that are in the know.

>It may likely be the case that the FCC may act
>on "tips" received by people like Jerry, and >then gather additional evidence before >preparing an NAL.

No,,,that's not likely at all.

>So if someone sent in a tape of some

>lamebrain using my call on the freeband,

>they'll be sure to check it out first,

You are wrong. There is no way for the FCC to prove whether a violation has occurred after reported by Oxendine.

>and when they find that it isn't coming from my >state let alone my home, they'll drop the >matter.

ALL the cases Jerry turned in were dropped, for that exact reason,,,,the FCC can prove nothing on his word. All they got was a warning and that is all they will continue to get, but it goves Jerry a sense of superiority he so desperately craves, not unlike yourself.

>This isn't the first time people have bootlegged >other's calls. I'm not concerned.

I keep waiting for that super rich hammie to get busted by the FCC for some lame bullshit.

>If he's guilty what's he going to do?

Walk.

  Now you know how Oxendine spends his free time. One can see how he at least believes his actions are pro-active. Tell me that boy don't eat, sleep, breathes radio!

>I know nothing of the sort

And you continue to prove it on a regular basis.

>and neither do you.

I most certainly do. Your quick insistence at attemting to tell one you know nothing of, what they know of outside occurrences, plays to your wounded ego again.

>What proof do you have that Jerry O, does the >things you claim, to the degree you also >claim?

Back to demanding answers before you provide for your own has never worked, David.

>The last I heard from Jerry, he was only >concerned with intruders on 10 meters.

The last you "heard" was that Roger Beeps were illegal. The last you "heard" was faulty information concerning Pa speed laws. The last you "heard" were a couple of lies from imaginary leo's you claimed told you that the law was mandatory that all speeders in Pa were to have a 5 MPH "grace" window.

determining factor and speed, yet your previous passage gives no speed

over the limit as the determining factor. Both sentences cite the same law, same paragraph applications, yet have two separate conclusions.
They both can't be right.

That's because of your stubborn refusal to learn and ignorance insisting

Once again, it was you that was shown hyou know shit about the law, despite your boorish, insultive demeanor to those in the know and who have taught you better on two key issues. Anyway, what good is a Connex 3300 AM-FM that transmits on the CW portion of 10 meters anyway? Except for the FM repeaters, the rest of the action there is on USB. That's a CB anyway you cut it!

I am more than willing to admit a mistake (ala the roger beep issue) when I am actually wrong. But in this case, you can "correct" me all you want, and the only thing you'll accomplish is to illustrate just how poorly your comprehensive skills are, and how ignorant you are of

There is not. If you had normal comprehensive skills you'd understand inabilities become.

There is no rule specifically permitting them. It then becomes a subjective matter as to whether a roger beep could be classified as an amusement or entertainment device. Absent a specific rule either way, it becomes little more than speculation as to whether they are legal or not. You ASSUMED they were. without anything authoritative to go on. At least I had the sense to go to the FCC and have it clarified once and for all.

tolerances specified for each.

You have poor comprehensive abilities, and you continually prove it on a daily basis. I used to think you deliberately twisted words as a sort of mind game. Now I'm beginning to think that you actually don't understand written words, and your "twisting" is the result of your inability to accurately comprehend what you read. The real hoot is that you then have the gaul to accuse others of having "communication's deficits" when it is you who has the problem. If outlining this simple fact is "insulting" to you, then so be it. Like I said many time over the years, I don't pull punches or mollycoddle people. If you can't handle the harsh reality, then I suggest you find someone else to "play" with.

The only thing you know about the law is how to make excuses for breaking it.

>Perhaps you

And his 'hobby' is psychology.....LOL! Well, I had a girlfriend for many, many years that -is- a psychologist, and I learned more than I wanted to learn while I helped her study in college (she graduated Summa Cum Laude from her Master's program, BTW). So just for kicks, over the weekend I went back and read several of his posts from over the years. Here's -my- psychological assessment of Dave:

Axis I 300.11 (classic conversion V disorder)
Axis II 301.6 (dependent personality disorder, with avoidant features)

Dave has a strong histrionic component to his personality and a strong need to be the focus of discussion and the center of attention. He is immature, dependent (but does not recognize this), selfish and extroverted. He rarely expresses overt anger and hostility. Instead, he behaves in a passive-aggressive or passive-dependent manner and displaces these emotions onto physical complaints. He suffers from a variety of hypochondriacal maladies from which he gets considerable secondary gain, and he uses them to validate his inability to respond to daily responsibilities. He sees himself as normal and responsible, just not functioning well due to all his physical problems. He denies the possibility of a psychologoical conflict as the source of his problems. He irritates others around him with his constant complaints and irritability. He demands sympathy and attention from those around him yet he continues to complain, and interventions are never enough to break the pattern. When confronted by others about his problems, repression and displacement are his primary defenses. He does not see himself as emotionally dependent, but the people around him certainly do, often feeling as if they need to "walk on eggshells" around him.
He has few close relationships, they are frequently co-dependent in nature, and new relationships are difficult to establish because of his irritability and his constant demands for attention.

IOW, Dave is a classic underachiever, an annoying attention-seeker,
and a malingering hypochondriac.

Another of your battle worn lame standby's. When taken to task to back up any of your wildly speculative claims, you attempt to skirt the issue by claiming that no one else has the right to know the truth of your claims.

Predictably you would probably next claim to provide anyone else the "proof" if they ask for it in E-Mail where, of course, it would be unable to be verified.

The truth is, that you're lying about Jerry.

You really need to seek out counseling for your habitual lying habit. It's pretty much your staple now. I'm sure everyone understands, which is why few people will engage in anything more substantive than small talk with you. I, on the other hand, enjoy watching you dance, predictably.

Sure it MAY be illegal to operate some of this equipment, in certain areas,

CB operator charged under new city law

By KRISTIN GORDON, kgordon@nncogannett.com
The Eagle-Gazette Staff

Complaints from a group of neighbors experiencing interference on household appliances from phones and TVs to baby monitors have resulted in a court
case against a local citizens band radio operator.

James A. Disbennet, 48, 427 Harrison Ave., is charged with operating a CB
radio exceeding 4 watts, a first-degree misdemeanor, and two counts of operating a CB radio without certification, a fourth-degree misdemeanor.
Disbennet, whose handle is "Sugar Bear," answered a summons in Fairfield County Municipal Court last Tuesday and was released on a recognizance bond.

In August 2002, Lancaster City Council was the first in the U.S. to pass such an ordinance, allowing the city to enforce rules set by the Federal
Communication Commission regulating the strength of CB radios, said Assistant City Law Director Dave Trimmer.

According to the ordinance, the definition of CB radio "includes all private, two-way, short-distance voice communications service for personal or business activities of the general public."

In January, local residents began to log feedback problems they experienced,
Trimmer said. Noise was reported on Harrison, Fifth and Washington avenues.

One woman had problems almost every time she used her telephone. She said it interfered with calls such as learning a family member was in the hospital.

Another woman heard interference over a baby monitor she keeps near her husband who suffered from a stroke. When she heard calls from a CB radio operator named "Sugar Bear" late at night, she would have to turn off the monitor so it wouldn't wake her husband.

"Complainants must have a log of the interference for a minimum of four weeks and there has to be more than one complainant in order to file charges," Trimmer said.

After a phone conversation with a woman on Harrison Avenue where he could hear interference himself, Trimmer went to the neighborhood to investigate, he said. He talked to a few individuals, including Disbennet, who said he was a CB radio operator but did not possess an amplifier to exceed the lawful power output.

"It's a hobby," Trimmer said. "Sometimes these hobbies get in the way of the rights of the neighbors."

On April 10, Tim Deitz, assistant superintendent of the city's Electrical, Communications and Signals Department, used a relative signal strength meter in the 400 block of Harrison Avenue to determine where interference was coming from. The signals he received came from Disbennet's home, which had a 40- to 50-foot antenna attached to it.

A search warrant was performed the next day by Lancaster police, who seized four pieces of CB radio equipment worth more than $1,000 from Disbennet's home.

"We're obviously treading on new ground," said Scott Wood, Disbennet's attorney. "He's not been given any type of option to defend himself. This is a big hobby for him, something he enjoys doing.

"It has him concerned, of course -- he could be facing jail time."

The maximum penalty for a first-degree misdemeanor is a $1,000 fine and 180 days in jail.

Wood also is concerned about the case, which he's just begun investigating.

"It's obviously a very interesting case -- this is the first ordinance of its kind in the country," he said. "But apparently, this ordinance was passed in August 2002 but was never published."

According to the ordinance, No. 30-02, it was passed by council Aug. 26 and approved Aug. 28.

The city started looking into the problem nearly two years earlier after neighbors on Talmadge Avenue started having problems, Trimmer said. The city received a petition with 28 signatures and contacted the FCC repeatedly about the problem of enforcement.

If you want to break the law, go ahead and be a pirate. See if you can avoid being caught and punished. But don't try to lump yourself in with hundreds of thousands of honest people who operate on the citizen bands legally. Pirates are NOT CBers, unless the "C" stands for "criminal" and the "B" stands for . . . . . ; well, you figure it out!

Absolutes have their place in certain disciplines.
Today's liberal Democrat party is an example where absolutely no absolutes apply. Even Hillary Clinton has finally figured that out.

it is true that a lot of them aren't. However, most of the new crowd coming up these days don't have the benefits of having a local "elmer" on the block to show them the rops.

Also, I may be a no-code tech, but that is because I chose that path. I did bother to learn code as a kid (part of a boy scout merit badge assignment) and I did have a CB license when I was 10 (1975). as for the finer points of the law the other poster quipped about: it is amazing what a little research and learning will get for you.

Too bad most of us who are the "old timers" can't be bothered with the younger set anymore. :(

Perhaps its time to make a change, get involved and at least try to contribute to better radio. it would be nice.

Well it states that those only worked on the 10 and 12 meter bands and hadn't been modified, so they are legal to use on the ham bands if you had the proper license, tard.

Best thing for hams to do is either vote Republican or tell the Senate Democrats to cease obstructing Bush's court nominees, then you would not have problems like this.

Date: FEB 2005 Author: B. Russell Subject: MAKE QUICK EASY MONEY FAST! EARN LOADS OF MONEY, HONESTLY, FAIRLY, AND LEGALLY Greetings All, MAINTAIN DISCIPLINE, HONESTY AND PATIENCE...Above all else FOCUS! I found this on a bulletin board and decided to try it: A little while back, I was browsing through news groups and e-mails just like you are now, and came across an article similar to this that said you can make thousand of dollars within weeks with only an initial investment of $6.00. So I thought, "yeah right, this must be a scam," but like most of us, I was curious, so I kept reading. Anyway, it said that you send $1.00 to each of the six names and addresses stated in the article. You then place your own name and address on the bottom of the list and post the article in at least 200 news groups. {There are thousands}. No catch, that was it. So after thinking it over, and talking to a few people first, I thought about trying it. I figured, "What have I got to lose; except six stamps and $6.00 right, right?" Then I invested the measly $6.00. WELL GUESS WHAT?.....Within seven days, I started getting money in the mail I was in awe. I figured it would end soon, but the money just kept coming in. In my second week I grossed only $17.00. Several weeks thereafter I had collected approximately one thousand dollars. In each consecutive week I am averaging more than the preceding week and it continues to grow. Currently, I have made a few thousands and it is still coming rapidly. It is certainly worth the six-dollar investment and six stamps, believe it or not I have spent more on lottery with no returns. Let me explain how this works and most important, why it works.....Also, make sure you print this article out NOW, so you can get the information. STOP NOW: Print this article out so you can get the information you need off of it. I promise you that if you follow the directions exactly you will start making more money than you thought possible by doing something so easy. Suggestion: Read this entire message carefully, and follow the simple directions and watch the money come in. It is easy, It is legal, and your investment is only $6.00 plus postage. Important: This is not a rip-off, it is decent, it is legal; and it virtually without risk- it really works! If all of the following instructions are adhered to, you will receive extraordinary dividends. PLEASE NOTE: Please follow the directions EXACTLY, and 50-thousand-dollars or more can be yours within (3) months. This program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants. Please continue its success by carefully adhering to the instructions. You will now become a part of the Mail Order business. You are in the business of developing Mailing Lists. Many large corporations are happy to pay big bucks for quality lists. However, this money made from the mailing lists is secondary to income which is made from people like you and me asking to be included on that list. page one ere Are The Four Easy Steps To Success: Get six (6)

separate pieces of paper and write the following on each piece of paper. "PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR MAILING LIST." Now get six (6) U.S.1.00 bills and place One inside of Each of the six pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen through the envelope (to prevent thievery). Next, place one paper in each of the six envelopes and seal them with the dollar bill enclosed. You now should have six sealed envelopes each with a piece of paper stating the above phrase with your name and address written thereon [don't forget to enclose the $1.00]. What you are doing is creating a service-THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL! You are requesting a legitimate service and you are paying for it. Clearly, I was a little skeptical and a little worried about the legal aspects of it all. Therefore, I checked it out with the U.S. Postal Service (1-800-275-8777) and they confirmed that it is indeed legal. Mail the six envelopes to the following addresses: [1] J. Force 701 SE 15th Street # 8 Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33316 [2] Myla Lette 400 S Kingsley Dr.#304 Los Angeles, CA 90020-3224 [3] Mrs. Florence Y. Moore 400 S. Now take the #1 name off the list that you see above, move the other names up (six becomes 5, and 5 becomes 4, and etc.) and add YOUR NAME as number 6 on the list. Change anything you need to but try to keep this article as close to the original as possible. Now post your amended article to at least 200 news groups. (I think there are close to 24,000 groups). Page two All you need is 200, but remember, the more you post, the more money you make! This is perfectly legal. If you have any doubts, refer to Title 18 Section 1302 & 1341 of the Postal Lottery Laws. Keep a copy of these directions for yourself and whenever you need money you can reuse it again. Please Remember: That this program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants and by their carefully adhering to directions. Look at it this way, if you are of integrity, the program will continue and the money that so many others have received will come your way. NOTE: You may want to retain every name and address sent to you, either on a computer or hard copy and keep the notes people send you. This VERIFIES that you are truly providing a service. Also, it is a good practice to wrap the $1.00 bill in dark paper to avoid the risk of mail theft. So, as each post is downloaded and the directions carefully followed, all members will be reimbursed for their participation as a List Developer with one dollar each. Your name will be moved up the list geometrically so that when your name reaches the #1 position you will be receiving Thousand of Dollars in Cash! What an opportunity for only six-dollars ($6) one-dollar ($!) for each of the six people listed above. Send it now, add your own name to the list and you are in business. Directions For How To Post To News Groups You do not need to retype this letter to do your own posting. Simply put your cursor at the beginning of this letter and drag your cursor to the bottom of this document, and select copy from the edit menu. This will copy the entire letter into the computer's memory. Open a blank notepad file and place your cursor at the top of the blank page. From the edit menu select paste. This will paste a copy of the letter into the notepad so that you will add your name to the list. Save your new notepad file as a text File, if you want to do your posting in different settings, you will always have this file to go back to. Use Netscape or Internet explorer and try searching for various new groups (on-line forums, message boards, chat sites, discussions). Visit these message boards and post this article as a new message by highlighting the text of this letter and selecting paste from the edit menu. Fill in the subject, this will be the header that everyone sees as they scroll through the list of postings in a particular group, click the post message button. You are finished You have finished your first posting. Congratulations! THAT'S IT. All you have to do is jump news groups and post away, after you get the hang of it, it will take about 30 seconds for each news group. REMEMBER THE MORE NEWS GROUPS YOU POST IN, THE MORE MONEY YOU WILL MAKE! IT IS A MOST FOR YOU TO POST A MINIMUM OF 200. "That's It" You will begin receiving money from around the world within days. You may eventually want to rent a P.O. Box due to the heavy volume of mail you will be receiving. If you wish to remain anonymous you can adopt another name to use, if it agreeable with the postman to deliver the mail. MAKE CERTAIN THAT ALL ADDRESSES ARE CORRECT. Now the Why part: Assume for example you get a 7.5% return, which is very conservative. Please view the following estimated breakdowns page three Estimated breakdowns: When you mail 200 letters, 15 people will send you $1.00 Those 15 mail out 200 letters, 225 people will mail you $1.00 Those 225 mail out 200 letters, 3,375 people will mail you $1.00 Those 3,375 mail out 200 letters, 50,625 people will mail you $1.00 Those 50,625 mail out 200 letters, 759,375 people will mail you $1.00 By now your name has dropped off the list, but so far you have received at least $759,375. With an original investment of only $6.00 [plus postage]. AMAZING! When your name is no longer on the list, you take the latest posting in the news groups, and send out another $6.00 to names on the list, putting you name at number six [6] again. And start posting again. You have to remember and realize that thousands of people all over the world are joining the Internet and reading these articles every day, JUST LIKE YOU right now. So you can get $6.00 and see if it really works. People have said, "What if the plan is played out and no one sends you the money? So what! What are the chances of that happening when there are tons of new honest people who are joining every day and are willing to give it a try? Estimates are at 20 to 50-thousand new users, everyday, with thousands of those joining the actual Internet, Remember, play FAIRLY AND HONESTLY and this will really work. Sincerely, Subject: RE: MAKE QUICK EASY MONEY P.S. Hereafter, all confirmations of your name being placed on the "mailing list" will no longer be mailed to you directly due to the postage increase. No, the Mexicans would be in the basement and the Americans would be on the main floor.

The Americans would be out cutting all the neighbor's lawns for their own profit, and when no one was looking they would be stealing from neighbor's mailboxes.
All the while the Americans would be pissed off at us, because we're not watching for when the neighbors start throwing fire bombs at the main floor.

Want to buy a 19-1210? I've got a few IC-2100's. Blows the doors off the 19-1210 for receive. Low power is 5 watts. Not enough to make the g-man mad! No one on the lower 3, and the last 2 are used by local businesses. I leave them be. No action here on MURS. Most of the CB'ers have gone ham, and the last few CB'ers have asked where everybody went. I tell them to scan from 144 to 148 hooked up to their CB antenna. They need the height to hear simplex and distant repeaters.

5 watts will hit repeaters 50+ miles away from the mobile.
10 watts makes for a solid copy. 55 watts and a portable 3 element beam, well that can win VHF contests in the mobile category!

It only took 2 months to realize the VHF FM travels farther locally then 11 meters does. I can talk places simplex that 11 can't do!

Go figure...

I've found pretty much the same thing. The upper 2 freqs are still in use by old business users. The lower three are dead. I had hoped for a old time "CB-like" atmosphere up there, but so far, there's not much interest.

That's amazing isn't it? I found out the same thing when I first started playing with 2 meters 20-some years ago. Point-point communications range from base stations (especially with multi-element beams), is much better (watt for watt) than what I used to get on CB.
A 2 watt HT can hit repeaters 10 or 20 miles away. However, mobile to mobile, or base to mobile simplex is a bit more dicey on 2 meters.
There's a lot more multipath flutter (If, like me, you live near a bunch of hills), and 11 meters usually works better for that. It all comes down to terrain.

Have you tried SSB on 2M yet? That's even more fun, especially in the summer when there are tropo ducts practically every day. It's not uncommon to work most of the east coast with 300 watts and a set of 13 element beams.

Hello Frank. Is it coincidental that after I took a 5 day business trip, and haven't posted in as much time, you have also been absent?
Is it equally coincidental that you waited to post again until I returned? And to defend your old "nemesis turned buddy" twisty. I'd be concerned that, like him, you may be starting to fixate on me just a little too much. That's not healthy you know....

It's also interesting to learn that you returned to see someone, by which you had a failed relationship with, for the sole purpose of discussing me. This says more about your developing fixation than what you posted subsequently. Maybe that's the difference between you and I. I view this newsgroup as a temporary distraction. When I turn it off, I go about my business and life. You seem to take this newsgroup a little too seriously, if you have to discuss what goes on here with someone you once felt comfortable just to gain a little moral support.

But you have forced me to consider that this is a lie for a few glaring reasons. The most prominent is that any licensed practitioner of psychology would not be so reckless and irresponsible as to offer up a complete clinical diagnoses based on context based written works alone, while making assumptions about certain facets of "the subject's" life which are generally not known. The internet is a 2 dimensional world, you can't make a 3 dimensional diagnoses.

that you're bordering on PAPD.

>IOW, Dave is a classic underachiever, an annoying attention-seeker,

And on the subject of underachieving, who's the one supposedly with the EE degree who's now tending bar?

Before casting that first stone in another's direction, it's prudent to make sure that your own glass house is in order first. Perhaps what you think you see in me is simply confusion over the results of your own introspection.

Oh, and the next time you see your "psychologist" and feel the need to discuss me again, ask her to explain the Myers-Briggs personality types ISTJ and ISTP. Those are the two types that I tend to swing between. Maybe she'll want to revise her earlier diagnoses......

147. Hams Whine About Legal CB Amplifier Sales

Hams continue to whine about a KC electronics dealer who has found a loophole to sell CB amplifiers and imported non type-approved hf radio equipment. The dealer is under the protection of a liberal activist judge who is protecting the rights of undocumented alien employees. Typical of hams, they prefer to whine in various forums and on the air, rather than writing a letters to their senators and voicing their objections about the obstructionist liberal Democrats in the U.S. Senate who are blocking Bush's court nominees with threatened filibusters. The same liberal activist judge is allowing other area dealers to sell previously illegal CB equipment as well, as long as there are no references to God in the stores or on the equipment.

It's doesn't matter to me. I won't use it, and have no interest in it. You can learn it fairly easily at 5 wpm. Just not in the time I have to pass the test. I probablt need closer to a month of practice. I have only had about 1 solid week.

What they should do is make it optional for code people, and give a real test. Then you can only transmit code if you take the test. But I don't want to wait that long.

Recognized by his continual invoking countless unnamed/imaginary people he claims agrees with his radical and bizarre erroneous claims, and by refusing to take his personal problems off the group and to email.

>He is >immature,

Illustrated with great contradictory posts..such as :

"I have decided to limit my posts to subjects which deal with cb radio",followed by.....

"I would much rather discuss your behavior..." and a string of insults.

> dependent (but does not recognize >this), selfish and extroverted.

Classic text book definition and perfectly demonstrated and illustrated by his obsession with the social aspect, insisting and redundantly repeating that cb is a direct reflection of the decline of the moral fabric of today's society. He is indeed touched.

>He rarely >expresses overt anger and hostility. Instead, >he behaves in a passive-aggressive or >passive-dependent manner and displaces

>these emotions onto physical complaints.

He confirmed as much with :
"Human nature has historically shown those who feel wrong will lash out".

>He suffers from a variety of hypochondriacal >maladies from which he gets considerable >secondary gain,

Yes,,his maladies are illustrated in such gems as:

"I have no problem with the freeband"

"It makes you a federal criminal an admitted federal lawbreaker and 11 meter pirate. I get annoyed"

"My problem with freebanders is too many people break the law and try to trivialize it"

"I don't believe dxing is a big deal"

"Where do I engage in hypocrisy?"

>and he uses them to validate his inability to >respond to daily responsibilities.

Like when he claims:

"I can't be expected to know all the laws"

"I'm a busy man. I can't keep track of all the laws"

"I know the law"

"Roger Beeps are illegal"

"and you have the nerve to call me ignorant of the law"

>He sees himself as normal and responsible,

And a false sense of superiority:

"I am more qualified than most here"

>just not functioning well due to all his physical >problems.

>He denies the possibility of a psychologoical >conflict as the source of his problems.

"when have I ever been rude?"

And his projection abounds:

"try to tell a nut he's crazy.."

This, despite a growing contingency of people from this group, quite a little list, actually, that have told David he has been very wrong in his claims.

> He irritates others around him with his >constant complaints and irritability.

Illustrated by hostility and anger at self-realization of projection:
"Prove it or keep your trap shut"

"The only people I insult are those with mental issues"

>He demands sympathy and attention from >those around him yet he continues to >complain,

Such as:
"I have learned nothing"

And when trying to educate him on yet more federal laws in regards to national enforcement, he insisted (DOT) such did not exist::

"Name a federal agency charged with enforcing traffic regulation" > and interventions are never enough to break

>the pattern.

Despite a majority of this group, a majority of his therapy group (his peers), his family members and his doctor telling him he is wrong on issues, he is in flat denial of everyone elses collective knowledge. When he realizes (by emailing the fcc and asking them), for example, what everyone else has been trying to tell him is actually true (roger beeps are legal), his manias are responsible for him turning around and telling the group they really had no idea what they were talking of, and that it was a freak coincidence they were right and that they were only "speculating" that roger beeps were legal. The man's clinical psychosis' run deep.

> When confronted by others about his >problems, repression and displacement are >his primary defenses.

Exactly:

"You are distorted"

"You are attacking me because of my political belief"

"Politics transends logic"

> He does not see himself as emotionally >dependent, but the people around him >certainly do, often feeling as if they need to >"walk on eggshells" around him. He has few

>co-dependent in nature, and new relationships

Which explains the majority of his postings avoid the amateur groups.
His arrogant claims of superiority have given him a poor reputation among the hammie groups.

Which may in part be responsible for much of his anger at those who are

Stop the paranoia, Davie, no one has attacked you. And you were proved wrong, on the roger beep issue you ignorantly argued with the group about and on the speeding laws in Pa that you claimed you knew so much about. You claimed one could not be ticketed for going one mile over the limit,,,landshark demonstrated where you most certainly can, but watching you jump like you're on hot coals everytime another member of the group proves you wrong is almost as entertaining as watching you blame everyone else for attacking you and accusing people of taking sides and holding grudges against your paranoid self for your distorted political views.

 As you illoustrated with your leo claim you have a pathological lying problem to the extent you need invent and conjure false support. Your ego dictates it.

>You are the one making wild conspiratorial >claims about Jerry O taping people

If your memory was intact, you would realize JerryO posted several times about his activities..your paranoia is all consuming these days, Dave, and your ego is hurting.

> and turing them into the FCC resulting in >busts. If that's not bullshit or a lie then prove it.

Your problem is with Jerry to prove it,,,,he's the one that made the many claims about turning in truckers on ten meters in his area.

>.How do you KNOW this about Jerry?

I'm a trusting soul,,I believe him.
Now, if I were a cynical, paranoid clown not unlike yourself, I would be reducing myself to your stature and jump up and down and cry and demand proof whenever somethign was said with which I disagree.

Flip side.
Now, if one were to tape your call being poached on the freeband, and sent it to the FCC alleging you were breaking the law, the FCC has obligated itself, by virtue of its actions with Oxendine, to treat the dispositional actions of the complaint in THE EXACT SAME NATURE.

>Logically, that makes sense, but.......

BUT,,,,you do not deal with logic.

>And you don't deal with reality, so we're even.

Reality isn't this group or cb reflecting society liek you claim.
Reality isn't the group ganging up on your paranoid self because of your political beliefs. Reality isn't the group all taking sides against your most-often wrong posts., yet these are the wild, conspiratorial claims you cling to....your ego dictates it, lest your psyche be further damaged.

 Of course, failure by the FCC to follow their now-established protcol could result in one bitch of a suit, and it is for this reason I am beginning to question whether this chief enforcement officer for the FCC has any legal background at all.

>No offense, but I'm sure he has more of a

David, no offense, but you are sure of absolutely nothing. You prove it time and again.
>You mean in the same way that you are >unable to distinguish between paragraph 2

Not at all. I mean like the fact that you claimed one could not be ticketed for going one mile over the speed limit in Pa, when one clearly can. Yet, this subject has you heaving like a junkie jonesing for a fix.

And if you employed logic, you would find a corelation that exists only in the same mind that gives us conjured and animated giggles.

>But you are basing your outcry on speculative

>comments.

Nope,,that's what you have always doen, adn are continuing to do, despite those of us that are in the know.

>You know nothing. You're guessing.

Perhaps, if I so choose, the incredible humor and irony of the situation will be shared with you, as it is others on this group concerning your claims of this internet personality that has managed to capture your focus and became the object of your obsession and love.

>It may likely be the case that the FCC may act
>on "tips" received by people like Jerry, and

>then gather additional evidence before

No,,,that's not likely at all.

>So, you posit that the FCC will bust people >without checking first?

Gee Dave,,,this is difficult for you. No one else is asking for clarification or always asking posters to explain what they mean, only you have this brick wall when it comes to overcoming communication deficits..

>So if someone sent in a tape of some

>lamebrain using my call on the freeband,

>they'll be sure to check it out first,

Exactly. Nothing more but a warning and an entry to the public domain maintained by the incompetent FCC.
But,,keepng with Oxendine, there is no way for the FCC to prove whether a violation has occurred after reported by Oxendine.

>Then why worry about it?

Your worries are not mine, nor does anyone else on this group share your pain or worries or paranoia. The post about Ox struck a nerve with you, so much, in fact, that you are still gushing blood over the cut you received from the post.

ALL the cases Jerry turned in were dropped, for that exact reason,,,,the FCC can prove nothing on his word.

Jerry told the group of his activities. Your mildly retardations are @storefull-3257.bay.webtv.net: The line you posted above is in direct contradiction with the previous line you posted. For instance, above, your passage claims 55 MPH as the determining factor and speed, yet your previous passage gives no speed at all, and makes only reference to a speed recorded in excess of 6 MPH over the limit as the determining factor. Both sentences cite the same law, same paragraph applications, yet have two separate conclusions. They both can't be right.

>I'm tired of wasting my time on this issue.

That's because of your stubborn refusal to learn and ignorance insisting no one else can be right besides you, despite the number of people that continually correct you.

>I am more than willing to admit a mistake (ala >the roger beep issue) when I am actually >wrong.

But you didn't,,admitting you aer wrong is like an apology,,it is to be issued unconditionally or it's worthless. And you conditionalized your gaffe by claiming the rest of the group that actually knew the law, didn't really know the law, but were "speculating" that roger beeps were legal,and just coincidentally ahppened to be right. That was the biggest load of shit I have seen from you to date, but it does continue to loudly telegraph your increasing dilemma regarding you being wrong.

>But in this case, you can "correct" me all you >want, and the only thing you'll accomplish is to >illustrate just how poorly your comprehensive

The law is not in contention, your claim is. You incorrectly claimed one can not be cited per the law in Pa. UNLESS they are speeding more than 5 MPH over the limit. You were wrong and Shark proved it. You are suffering over this issue and you simply aren't up to date on it, despite your cries and whines about how it's your state and you know about the law.

>But I'm right and you're not. Plain and simple.

As on the roger beep issue,,,you are alone in your position. Despite a growing number of group members telling you that you are wrong again regarding your interpretations of the law, you insist everyone else is wrong.
Same thing you said regarding the law about your hobby that you know nothing of and have to be shown, such as your claim that roger beeps were illegal based on your inability to find a law specifically permitting them.

>There is no rule specifically permitting them.

Haha,,,

> It then becomes a subjective matter as to >without anything authoritative to go on.

So everyone that agreed with me and told you they were legal "assumed" it? My gosh, Davie,, you really have issues when you are shown to be wrong. Now you are claiming the entire group is wrong and you are right, but when the group's position is proved true to you, you claim such knowledge was an assumption. How ver wrong of you, David. This is called education and being familair and up to date concerning the laws that govern your chosen hobby. You have illustrated that as an extra, you don't know shit about communications law.

>At least I had the sense to go to the FCC and >have it clarified once and for all.

That was ignorance, not sense. Sense is what everyone else had when they took pity on you and informed you that you were wrong. "Sense" was the actions of those others newsgroupies that informed you of your ignorance, who then sat back and watched as you jumped up and down with insult after insult insisting that roger beeps were illegal because only you subscribe to the notion that negatives must be proved.

>The minimum tolerance is 5 MPH,

Wrong,,,

>Right. Read it again. Or better yet, have your >mommy read (and then explain) it to you.

The mommy fixation again,,,I imagine if yours didn't kick of lung cancer, you wouldn't be so fixated on the mother issues and non related topics. The again, with your wife Kimberly T. Hall smoking like a chimney only to give it up during her pregnancy and to resume again right afterwards, one can't be too hard on you when you go rambling about such things. Your demons control your bizarre emotive outbursts and off-topic rants. BTW, are you aware what second hand smoke does to children?

>and in certain other situations

You made no claim about "certain other situations". Your original claim that one can not be cited in Pa for speeding 1 mph over the limit was bullshit. End of story, but feel free to continue to torture yourself over your continual goofs borne of learned ignorance.

Your amended statutes also illustrate that no points are to be assigned until 10 MPH or more over, but it does not say that you can't be stopped and ticketed between 5 and 10 MPH over in a radar zone.

>Twisty's interpretive skills are not much better >than my 5 year old's.

Then perhaps you should get your five year old to interpret everything you are ignorant on.

Although your need to be insultive is based upon your own incompetence and ignorance, ithere is no excuse for such when you are taught better each day by cber's who do know the law better than yourself.

>it is you who has the problem.

No Dave, it is you and you have been told that you were wrong by a good number of this group on several issues. Your responses are all the same to each person,,,classic paranoia, accusing them of personal issues and vendettas against yourself.

>If outlining this simple fact is "insulting" to you,

>then so be it.

Gee Dave,,,you are the one claiming the group is against you adn plotting with conspiracies. You need a vacation Dave, and not to Florida, as it appears you were unable to relax when you were down here,,,,,I can not imagine why or what or who you may have thought was going to ruin your vacation, but that much is evident and you need a real vacation where you can relax and come back refreshed and not accuse everyone that gently points out your errors of taking up sides against you...(snicker)

> Like I said many time over the years, I don't

Again, David, your attacks on everyone who dares cite your goofs are very predictable adn all the same,,change the subject, attack them..lol.

>The only thing you know about the law is how

I'm more legal than you David, since th dx has gone away, and it is just another needle in your eye that causes you great pain, as you have no legality issue to attempt to hide behind., illustrating your personal problems are not at all what you claim them to be.
Too bad these reading skills you speak of have prevented you from finding the current law.

>I know the current law.

Umm...no you don;t and you had to find it out for yourself because your ignorance will not permit your ego to believe anyone else, such as the list of regs that told you that you were wrong.

>What's your excuse?

Watching you claim everyone else merely made correct assumptions regarding their correct interpretations of the law, in order to soothe your wounded ego. In a nutshell,,,,I enjoy watching you super freak when you're wrong. It results in fine, upstanding amateur/cb related topics you invoke, such as mothers.

I never said that. I said that Pa. cops are required to give at least a 5 mph tolerance before writing up someone for speeding. The statute 3368 covers this exactly. A cop may try to write someone up for 1 MPH over, but it would be immediately thrown out in court.

and what do my "routing headers" have to do with this conversation.

in fact, what does your commentary have to do with this conversation????

English-Challenged? well, depends, doesn't it. is it the "king's English" or "American English" <of which I speak>?

still, it is irrelevant.

Ya ever notice that people who complain about others "whining" about laws being broken are those who are themselves in favor or

You must be bored Steve, as none of your regular r.r.a.p. playmates are currently bickering with you? Ever hear of the "message," versus the messenger? There's a regular pirate whose been operating on 3965, and the stuff he puts out ranges from the interesting to not so interesting. It doesn't require much effort to set your hf tuning dial to 3965 and get first hand what the guy is saying, does it? Sort of beats calling people names, prior to hearing it first hand. Wouldn't you agree? Same things goes for Mr Casey. Then again, nevermind. I forgot I was in the r.r.a.p. play area where wrong is right, and right is wrong, or something like that. LOL!

That's not your concern, Dave. Instead, you should concern yourself

Again, you made another assumption that's 100% wrong. The relationship didn't "fail". Contrary to your conservative "core beliefs", longevity

You keep telling yourself that, Dave.

Yet another conclusion based on an erroneous assumption. I made the diagnosis. And I am not a licensed psychologist. Neither are you. But since you bragged about how you "diagnosed" Twisty and made all kinds of assumptions regarding -my- behavior (conclusions based on your self-proclaimed "special insight" into human psychology), I thought it

Or one could conclude that marriage isn't a prerequisite for a clearly demonstrates. It also demonstrates your dependent personality disorder, and is probably one of the excuses you use to justify your co-dependent relationships.

There is a really good book you might find helpful. You can probably find in any used bookstore. It's called "Looking Out, Looking In", and it's used as a textbook in several colleges for courses that cover interpersonal communications and relationships. In that book you will find a wonderful chapter that describes what I think they call the "windows of perception", or something like that. Study it. Then get back to me with your self-assessment.

"Clean enough for me" in CB language doesn't mean much.

I'm sure you have a better amp than the 30L-1, "Buzz".

Your need to have the last word is noted.

180. Unable to communicate between mobile CBs; Feedback problem?!!!

they worked perfectly. Then the second time we tried to use them we had a problem with feedback. When i transmitted my friend could hear me, but i could not hear his transmissions. Instead all i could hear was a loud beeping tone. we experimented with different things but were unable to find the source of the problem. Using a third cb we concluded that it was my friend's cb but still could not find the source of the problem which is frequent but intermittent. Has anyone heard of this before???? Any suggestions?

Thanks,
Anders

Don't need an amp "steveieboy", 100 watts with the KWM-2, a good antenna, coupled with good operating practices and I can talk to anyone I can hear. Unlike you "cb freebanders" who think the only solution is to splatter the spectrum with lots-o-power.

Give you credit for knowing top-of-the line equipment. Too many of

Were the sets new?

Depending upon if the equipment is new and whether it came wired by the manufacturer (many shop staff are incapable of good wiring practices), possibilities include:
* Problem with antenna - this can cause RF feedback which, on an AM CB, will cause squealing noises. If intermittent, check all antenna connections and the mount.
* Poorly wired microphone - a poorly wired microphone may short out a couple of pins, which can result in squealing.
* Incorrectly wired microphone - one of the wires in the lead is screened, and should be used for the mic audio. If one of the other wires is used for that purpose, RF can get back in the radio and cause a squealing.
* Faulty radio - as intermittent, possibly a poor connection or dry solder joint. It has also been known for poor design to cause intermittent problems with feedback.

RF feedback can cause all sorts of problems, but squealing is common on AM equipment. SSB sets may warble or send a noise on transmit, FM equipment may transmit a humming or buzzing noise. Cheapo sets have been known to either send the output into self oscillation or lock themselves on transmit.

Since "citizen band freebanders" would be an oxymoron (freebanders usually operate out of the citizens band), I must assume your "cb" refers to "criminal boys" - or something worse for the "b" letter.

There is no substitute for being prepared, but take the test anyway.

Years ago, the only way to pass the CW tests was to have one full minute of solid copy on your copy sheet. Now, you can pass the CW test two ways. If you have one full minute of solid copy, your done. However if you don't, you can take the 10 question test. You may have copied enough characters to guess at the answers. The process of elimination will help you on many of them. Get a copy of Morse Academy, if you don't already have it. The built in sample tests are exactly the same as the real test. If I remember correctly, you only have to get 7 out of 10 to pass. The odds are in your favor.

I have seen people pass the 13 and 20 WPM tests with only a smattering of characters on their copy sheet. For me, The key was to be able to copy a little bit faster than the required speed. That way I was comfortable with the testing speed. Some people come by CW naturally, but for me, it took a long time to get to the needed speeds. But then, no one has to worry about the 13 and 20 WPM tests any more.

Just try to be calm and realize that it's not the end of the world if you fail. Get the certificates for the tests you do pass and go back the next testing session. Some testing stations will even let you try again, after a short rest to collect your thoughts.

And don't discount using CW, when you finally get your license. It's a fun mode to use, just like any other mode. The more you use it, the better you get at it, and the more fun you have. And that's what it's all about, having fun.

I am using morse academy. I have passed the practice tests for tech, no problem. The General, I got 19 out of 35, without once even looking at a book. If I could somehow pass morse and get 7 more correct answers in general. Otherwise, I will just wait. Thanks !

Vinnie from one who has taught Morse code to many students:

FOR MANY -- studying EVERY day for 15 to 30 minutes is successful. Leaving long periods between study sessions is usually counter-productive. Studying for long periods at a session - frazzles many a brain.

Most people's problems with the code stem from trying to learn it too fast without sufficient drilling before they move on to each new letter. The average person needs about 30 hours of study and practice on the code to hit 5 wpm. Now this is an average. Some will take longer and some will take less." So a half hour in the morning, a half hour in the evening and in a month -- you should have it.

Good Luck and kudos on your dedication -- it will be worth while.

That may not work anymore. Used to be, the 10 questions were usually "multiple choice". If you had enough letters or characters to take a good stab at the answer, yes, you could conceivably pass. BUT.... I was told that the VE systems, at least W5YI (who I go through) - changed their system to require "fill in the blanks" - no more multiple choice. That means if there was an error sent on purpose of say "antena" and you were to assume - having not copied the whole word in code, that it was "antenna" - and you wrote "antenna" on the blank - you failed that question. You're supposed to copy the message AS IT IS SENT. NO ERRORS. If they send all words correctly, you best have all words you need to write down - spelled correctly. IF they have a misspelled word, you better have it too. If the word starts with a C and you assumed wrong and wrote another character down, let's face it, you're not going to answer a particular question correctly, if that word has to do with it. Then too, with our wacky English language, you could have To, Two, Too..... just as an example. While the words to and too may not be on the test as an answer, the word Two - could be as in Two Feet, Two Meters, or any other applicable combination. It all depends. If they use standard run of mill tests, he may never see that. IF "THEY" make up their own exams, as they are allowed to do, Lord only knows what may be in there. A misspelling of the word or an assumption could be costly. He could catch the first and last letter and "assume" the middle, not knowing for sure what it was. He could miss the word previous or after and not see that it should have been TWO in relation to something of height or so on. All presumptions of course, but possibilities.

He could still take a stab at the exam. With 1/2 the code, he stands a small chance of passing, but preparation IS the best answer. I've seen people fail for making the stupidest of errors even with knowledge. Being unprepared and nervous sure won't help. Whatever the case..... Good luck!

One more notch. Our team had a guy sit in for 20 WPM. He "claimed" he could copy it, but he had some sort of medical disorder as well - which he brought no medical proof of for us to give him special testing - which we would have been allowed to do. He took the exam. When done, neither he nor us could make out his copy - to start with. He also failed the written for the same reason. He couldn't read his own writing. Talking to the guy, he was pretty well versed in ham and so on. Was he prepared? I don't know. But even if he was, his dictation shot him down. It's all in the copy on paper. We can't read what you caught in your head.

That certainly is a myopic view. Here's a glaring fact...the majority in this group who "whine" about the laws being broken are reactive instead of proactive. When this behavior is illustrated, the reactive whiners tend to look to others to blame for their behavior.

ALL the cases Jerry turned in were dropped, for that exact reason,,,,the FCC can prove nothing on his word.

>The why are you trying to say that the busts

>that did occur were the result of Jerry's tapes?
Jerry told the group of his activities.

>You blamed Jerry for the recent truck >company busts.

No busts occurred and I never said they did.
 I am the bane of your existence,,and you have no choice in the matter.

>Projection at its finest!

Yes, several regulars have noted that of you, David, yet you continue to find fault with all those who point out your probems, maladies, and dilemmas.

>Thank you.

Thank yourself, after all, you are the only one that supports yourself and agrees with yourself and recognizes your astute comprehension of the law, beginning with your claim roger beeps were illegal because you couldn't find a specific rule permitting them..

>Did Jerry have a hand in the truck company >busts or not?

That stutter appears every time you get your tail caught in the door.

>That door is slowly closing around you and >your wild lies.

That would explain more and more people finding fault with your lies and self-contradictions in this group.

>What proof do you have that Jerry O, does the >things you claim,

Ask Jerry, they were his claims.

>No, they were yours.

Again, the entire group can recall Jerry making these claims,,only you are unable, due your piss poor communcation skills and deteriorating memory retainment ability.
Back to demanding answers before you provide for your own has never worked, David.

>Back to your old cop out answers.

Anything to avoid providing for your own claims, of course, deflection has always been attempted by yourself when anyone asks you to provide for your claims. I understand that making up these imaginary supporters has dug a hole you are unable to claw your way out of, but you invoked them,,it's not anyone else's fault you need to squirm when you are told to provide for your claims prior to asking another to proide for theirs.
Sometimes the truth hurts, Davie, and your result is always the same.
Anyone who exhibits proper communication skills has the right to ask and the right to an answer, that leaves you out, as you can not provide for your own claims and imaginary supporters, so you have no credibility, nada, zero, to ask another to provide for their claims until you clean your own back yard. This is where your hypocrisy shines.

>More projection. You're a real basket case.

And your imaginary playmates told you so..or perhaps it was your doctor in therapy...or maybe the conjured law enforcement officers you speak of but trip over and fall when asked to provide. Does your therapy group know of your hallucinations and reluctance to recognize you have no supporters besides your wife, which is an already-strained relationship due to your domineering and controlling ego?

>Predictably you would probably next claim to >provide anyone else the "proof" if they ask for >it in E-Mail where, of course, it would be >unable to be verified.

By your own words, you hold unnamed sources and hearsay as verification.

>Which has exactly what relevance to this >topic?

Proof that is presented by yourself (hearsay) as acceptable criteria for your own standards, must be accepted from others.

>Please try to remain focused.

Not my fault you are unable to connect the relevance of your hypocrisy, but it is not surprising.

>The truth is, that you're lying about Jerry.

The truth is, Jerry told the group about his activities on many occasion. The truth is, your failing mental status is resposible for your incompetence and inability to recall his claims.

>Truth is that you took whet Jerry once claimed >and attributed them to recent busts, where you >have no proof that the two are necessarily >connected.

Let's put it in perspective. Truth is, you were made a fool concerning the roger beep issue, especially in lieu of your self-professed education and knowledge of radio. Truth is, you invoked several imaginary playmates and were not permitted to get away with it as a presentation of your proof and you latched onto another post and another topic that had nothing to do with you or your goofs in order to try and distance yourself from your conjured and imaginary playmates, incompetence and shared ignorance, only that was denied you, too.

>I'm sure everyone understands, which is why >few people will engage in anything more >substantive than small talk with you.

Projection.

>When was the last time anyone (other than >me or Frank before he became your buddy)

>ever exchanged more than one or two >exchanges with you,

Happens daily, yet, since you are on the outside looking in and haven't a clue about anything that takes place in this group or who the hell you are talking to during your breakdown and periods of low self-esteem, you can profess exactly and only what has been given you. Melting your reality with the newsgroup is your problem, David, don't worry about others so much, as it has contributed to your need for therapy and doctors and Kim T. Hall walking on eggshells around you because she never knows when you are going to come apart at the seams again and blame her for all your misery.

>I like this group.

Then you should take your personal off-topic issues to email, as has been suggested amny times on this group to you by many people over the years. I'm certain you "like" your family, too, but the need for your therapy has been evident since you began babbling about psychology issues in this group. I'm pretty certain I can speak for some others when I say we are happy you finally getting some real professional help with your issues, as it may help you realize that only you are concerned with the personal and off topic lives of cb'ers, and that this group is not your personal sounding board for such topics.

>There are a plethora

(google) :)~

>of >people with various degrees of personality >disorders to play with, along with a bunch of >some really good down to earth people.

And according to many, many of your posts, you are above all these really good down-to-earth people. Hell, you claimed you know better than the majority on here and are more qualified than the majority in this group. That by itself illustrates the intensity of your issues, problems, low self-esteem and battered ego.

>I, on the other hand, enjoy watching you >dance, predictably.

And I have always enjoyed bringing a smile to your otherwise scowling and dismal pessimistic life.

>Nothing could be further from the truth.

This is a classic case of you saying one thing after a previous post of yours contradicts yourself.

>As long >as I can observe the actions of people like >you, I feel fortunate in my own life situation.

And therein lies the entertaining comedic irony of your ignorance. You can't observe anything at all except what has been carefully hand-trimmed and tossed in your cage. You have been conditioned and trained so properly, you refer your position as fortunate. Quite the bonus.

>Perspective is a wonderful thing.

Then you shouldn't get so upset when others place in proper form. Nevertheless, that list of those responsible for your personal woes, going by those you have accused of wronging you in the past two weeks, is growing by leaps and bounds.

>Really? Other than you, and recently Frank,

>no one else has gone off the deep end and >taken to obsessing about the words I write.

Because, much like your roger beep thread, many people are content on watching you set yourself up and are content in letting you hang yourself with -what you are given-.

I've done 192 miles on VHF-FM simplex. I have the QSL card to prove it!
I did it with 50 watts and 3 elements at 18 feet.

That was my July 4th present from the Main Mama.

ILLEGAL CB TRANSCEIVER LIST

The FCC's Office of Engineer and Technology (OET) has evaluated the devices listed below and has concluded that these devices are not only amateur transceivers but can easily be altered for use as Citizens Band (CB) transceivers as well. As such, OET has further concluded that these devices cannot legally be imported or marketed within the United States for the reasons discussed below. Further, the FCC General Council has issued a decision in a specific case involving one manufacturer and has concluded that dual use CB and amateur radios of the kind at issue may not be approved under the Commission's rules and are in violation of several rules including the RF power level limits of 47 CFR 95.639. (letter from Christopher J. Wright, FCC-OGC to John F. Atwood, US Customs Service, dated May 17, 1999).

Transceivers used in the Amateur Radio Service below 30 MHz do not require FCC authorization prior to being imported into or marketed within the United States, but transceivers for other services, including the CB Radio Service (CB), do require Commission approval. The transceivers listed herein and other similar models operate in the amateur "10-meter band" and are often referred to as "10-meter" radios or "export" radios. The amateur 10-meter band uses frequencies that are very close to the channels set aside for use in the CB service. Some of the transceivers that manufacturers call "10-meter" radios either operate on CB frequencies as manufactured and imported or are designed such that internal circuits can readily be activated by a user, a service technician or a dealer to operate on CB frequencies. According to Section 95.603(c) of the Commission's rules, a CB transmitter is a transmitter that operates or is intended to operate at a station authorized for the CB service. 47C.F.R. § 95.603(c). The Commission's equipment authorization experts in the FCC Laboratory have determined that the transceivers listed herein and other similar models at issue here are intended for use on the CB frequencies as well as those in the amateur service because they have built-in capability to operate on CB frequencies. This capability can be readily activated by moving or removing a jumper plug, cutting or splicing a wire, plugging in a connector, or other simple means. Thus, all the transceivers listed herein and similar models fall within the definition of a CB transmitter. See 47C.F.R. § 95.603(c). A CB transmitter must be certificated by the FCC prior to marketing or importation. 47 C.F.R. §§ 95.603(c); 2.803.

Lets see...twistedhed aka I AmnotGeorgeBush is against people whining when laws are broken. He himself is a freebander. Steveo aka moparholic also hates people who complain about lawbreakers. He is a freebander too. Safe to say lawbreakers dont like to hear complaints about their behavior.

221. ALL Posts saying they are from KC8QJP Kathy Lee Are forges, don't respond to them

You have to understand the motivation behind mopey's forges. Keyclowns are desperate people...they do not have the mental faculties to tolerate being bugged about their keyclownism. It makes them upset because they have to hear dissent. Steveo is the poster child for this attitude. He simply cannot take it when somebody gives him crap about being a keyclown.

This atttude has no doubt been developed by a lifetime of crying and whining to get his way. It started in his childhood, when he whined and cried in supermarkets and malls to get candy or toys. When his parents indulged him in these situations it reinforced the idea in his young mind that if he yelled and cried to get his way that he should always get it.

As he became a young adult and found that life had to be met on life's terms, not his, he railed at the injustice of it all. Teen years immediately before this stage found him in a constant state of barely controlled rage and often acting out in his frustration. Typical of such incidents are punching people who cut him off in traffic, yelling obscenities out car windows, and showing no consideration for others.

Such is the mentality of a keyclown. RF spectrum, to a keyclown, is nothing more than a wide open space to play in. If this were a private yard or a public place belonging to all taxpayers, the evidence of keyclownism would be obvious. The place would be uncaringly trashed with garbage and the observed attitude would be "So what if it is a mess, you wanna MAKE me clean up after myself, sucker?"

The visits to peoples' homes are an expression of this frustrated, thwarted, angry personality. Steveo tries to make someone conform to his ideas of what should be in the NG by making threats and visits. To Steveo, the worst thing on earth would be if the AKC knows his address, and his logic is that him knowing AKC addresses should strike fear in their hearts. You see, when he visits with his 12 gauge digicam the AKC should shake. They do...with laughter.

The fact that Steveo shows himself to be a disturbed individual in these visits does not dawn on him. This is because he is not inhabited with the normal sense of right and wrong. His opinion, like that of all keyclowns, is that whatever he wants to do is OK, and if someone disagrees then he has the right to attack them, physically or otherwise. This affliction is commonly called a sociopathic disorder.

The very fact of posting this message will bring a barrage of name calling, threats, and other things that keyclowns believe are effective. They think they are effective because they are effective at riling THEM up. This attitude is consistant with keyclownism's main root causes: the fact that keyclowns are only aware of what they want and have no concern for others, coupled with a total inability to tolerate even the most basic forms of disagreement.

The reactions to this post will prove the thesis as presented. Keyclowns are simple creatures, and always behave in a predictable manner.

Like I said at the start "There is no substitute for being prepared".

They may have changed the tests since I took mine, but the VE stations have a lot of leway in creating their tests. The only way to know for sure is to ask. Each time I went it only cost $6.45 and I could take as many test as I wanted, each time. So I did. I took the Tech, General, and 13 WPM in one sitting and the Advanced, Extra, and the 20 WPM in another.

As far as stories, there are just as many testers crash and burn as there are ones that pass. Maybe more. But as I already said, it's not the end of the world. I used Morse Academy to create a group of tests on tape. Then I would listen two or three times a day for 15 minutes. That's all it took for me. There is not any need to check your work. When you copy well, you know it. When I hit 85% - 90% I would generate new ones that were faster. Of course, it did take me several months.

Yes, "we" (I am an examiner) do have a lot of leeway as you say... but the tests must still conform to the FCC/VEC's standards. Again - the code must be error free for the minute copied OR the "fill in the blank" answers. What we use as text, is up to us, as long as it is in the prescribed length, timing (5 wpm), and a mixture of alphabet, numerical characters, Q signals, etc. IF they have a handicap documented (preferably before hand), we can accommodate them with regard to that handicap and break up the code test to letters, numbers, words at a time, sentence at a time, etc. if need be. We can use lights, vibrations, code keys and oscillators, etc. Though the applicant may have to provide any special needs in equipment. The VEs are not liable for providing special needs testing equipment or facilities.

Yes, there is nothing like preparation. It is quite amazing to see people testing, those who have studied and those who haven't. Usually, you can tell - just by looking around the room as they test. You can also pick out by pre-test and post test talk - if they've studied, even if they don't outright admit it.

My Dad used to write insurance for Bill Stroppe back in the seventies. I got to cruise around his shop out here in CA for an afternoon.

Hi,

i've been trying to get WinScanner or WinTransceiver from Malzev for the resident Jackson: Winjack.exe, and also for the Icom IC-240: ic240.exe.

I found all I need at a TriPod hosted site:
http://members.tripod.com/~Malzev/cb-adio/jackson.htm
http://members.tripod.com/~Malzev/cb-funk/ic-240.htm

The llinks to the needed executables are:
http://members.tripod.com/~Malzev/radiodoc/software/ic-240.exe
and
http://members.tripod.com/~Malzev/radiodoc/software/winjack.exe

But Tripod blocks the download of executables.
Anyone knows how to get a hold of this software?

tnx...Marco

I'm just curious why they went back to exact copy, instead of leaving it as multiple-choice, on the 10 question test. The CW test will probably go away anyway, so I guess it really doesn't matter.

This KC8QJP character seems to have quite a 'colorful' past. Are you N8WWM, "Psychiatrist to keyclowns" ?

You have to understand the motivation behind mopey's forges. Keyclowns are desperate people...they do not have the mental faculties to tolerate being bugged about their keyclownism. It makes them upset because they have to hear dissent. Steveo is the poster child for this attitude. He simply cannot take it when somebody gives him crap about being a keyclown.

This atttude has no doubt been developed by a lifetime of crying and whining to get his way. It started in his childhood, when he whined and cried in supermarkets and malls to get candy or toys. When his parents indulged him in these situations it reinforced the idea in his young mind that if he yelled and cried to get his way that he should always get it.

As he became a young adult and found that life had to be met on life's terms, not his, he railed at the injustice of it all. Teen years immediately before this stage found him in a constant state of barely controlled rage and often acting out in his frustration. Typical of such incidents are punching people who cut him off in traffic, yelling obscenities out car windows, and showing no consideration for others.

Such is the mentality of a keyclown. RF spectrum, to a keyclown, is nothing more than a wide open space to play in. If this were a private yard or a public place belonging to all taxpayers, the evidence of keyclownism would be obvious. The place would be uncaringly trashed with garbage and the observed attitude would be "So what if it is a mess, you wanna MAKE me clean up after myself, sucker?"

The visits to peoples' homes are an expression of this frustrated, thwarted, angry personality. Steveo tries to make someone conform to his ideas of what should be in the NG by making threats and visits. To Steveo, the worst thing on earth would be if the AKC knows his address, and his logic is that him knowing AKC addresses should strike fear in their hearts. You see, when he visits with his 12 gauge digicam the AKC should shake. They do...with laughter.

The fact that Steveo shows himself to be a disturbed individual in these visits does not dawn on him. This is because he is not inhabited with the normal sense of right and wrong. His opinion, like that of all keyclowns, is that whatever he wants to do is OK, and if someone disagrees then he has the right to attack them, physically or otherwise. This affliction is commonly called a sociopathic disorder.

The very fact of posting this message will bring a barrage of name calling, threats, and other things that keyclowns believe are effective. They think they are effective because they are effective at riling THEM up. This attitude is consistant with keyclownism's main root causes: the fact that keyclowns are only aware of what they want and have no concern for others, coupled with a total inability to tolerate even the most basic forms of disagreement.

In our area the VE's test as follows:

Following your listening to the QSO, we will check your copy looking for a string of 25 characters in a row without error. If you have copied 25 characters in a row without error, you pass. Each letter in the text counts as one (1) character, numbers, punctuation and prosigns count as two. If you have the appropriate number of characters in a row correct, you pass the code test.

If not, you will be provided with an answer sheet with ten questions about the QSO you just copied. If you answer seven (7) or more correctly, you pass.

Thus you have two chances to pass the test.

The issue of dropping the code test is before the FCC, estimates are no action until mid year -- if then.

Yes, there is accountability. You must register each and every examinee. The VEs get to keep a percentage, the rest goes to the VEC. The VECs and FCC know exactly how much you've collected. Put it this way, no fees, no license. Even if the person fails, a portion of the money he/she paid for that test is turned in just as though they'd passed.

BEFORE anyone jumps to conclusions, the amount the VEs keep is NOT enough to compensate a 3 man team for even an hour. That doesn't count copies if needed, phone calls out of pocket to examinees - confirming testing dates, or follow up in case of a question after the fact. It doesn't count many things in. A popular magazine editor pissed me off once by "assuming" VEs get rich off this. THEY DON'T. Become one, you'll see. If you traveled say 10 miles to help your club give exams, at today's gas prices, there is no way in hell that pittance left over could pay your gas and time. You have to pay the postage to send in the exam package, need large envelopes, etc. Supplies cost money unless you are lucky and get them for nothing. Our team kept "any" money left over after all expenses - for future expenses. "IF" a small kitty started accumulating, then coffee was bought to provide to the examinees of future sessions, supplies were purchased for future dates. Believe me, you will NOT get rich off of being a VE. The V stands for "Volunteer", which is what you have to love to do, to put in the time that is required. If you have busy sessions, it is a handful.

The FCC does not allow you to make a "profit", but they do consider costs involved......

253. Getting out of CB...FS 2510's, 2600/chipswitch, 400 watt amp

From: Ex-CB'er <daycareguru2@yahoo.com>

Will be taking my tech test in 5 weeks...need to get rid of this CB stuff and move on. Might consider trade for 2 meter equipment..mobile only.

1. HR-2510 complete virgin never opened, never modded. Used sparingly as a base(non-smoker). Comes with mount, mic. Like new.
2. HR-2510 modded, "peaked". Was used as mobile for last 3 years. Works great. Comes with mount, mic. Good condition.
3. HR-2600 with chipswitch conversion(by rogerbird), best cb radio I've ever owned.
Clean modulation. Fantastic radio. Comes with mount, 575 Astatic mic.
4. 400+ watt "super modulator" amp. Huge heat sink, push/pull, 4-SD1446's. Variable power. Clean, neat and works GREAT. Was used mobile for about 3 years.

Feel free to email for questions/pictures

Thanks
Ted

In most cases, there is probably some accountability. The main reason for the charge is to recover the cost of the materials used in administering the tests. Prices vary from testing station to testing station depending on what they need to provide the service. The VEs donate their time to administer the tests and file the necessary paperwork, but do not have to provide the funding.

Hmmmm. Without having to Google for the answer I figured to ask an amateur for answers to the fee accounting. Price variances and accounting probabilities makes for an ideal situation for greed.

Proposal: Make 11 meters available to to HAMs as secondary use. Power restricted to 100 Watts. Then the HAMs can have QSOs with CBers.

Ted you are spreading keyclown gear to other keyclowns so they will use it to mess up the spectrum with. You need to destroy it, burn it, smash it, so it cannot be used. It is illegal to sell non type accepted radios and cb amps.

Why would hams want to operate on 11 meters and talk to cbers?

There is a VE, on another part of this thread, that explains it in more detail. But, the returns from this kind of venture would be minimal.
I don't think anyone could make any real money trying to scam this one. Even the FCC gave up on running the testing because they were losing money and couldn't support the personnel required. Now they still control the whole thing, but with minimum cost.

I've got an HTX-212 2 meter mobile. I don't need anymore CB stuff, though,
I've got a shelf and a half full of dust collectors.

With the bottom of the skip cycle behind us, the conditions on 10 and 12 will improve.
You might want to restore them to factory and offer them to hams.

QRP is defined as 5 watts or less.

We already can, QSL?

I have a CB in my vehicle. A stock TRC-451 with an Astatic 636-L and a 2x455 box that talks as far as I can hear with a full size antenna.

I also have a 2 meter and sometimes 440 as well. I left the CB in because it was already there and when you want to find out why traffic stopped, there's nothing like 19, for a minute or two.

I don't know where they get greed from. A good part of the time, there isn't much left over worth fighting for. As I said, if the VEs traveled any distance, the little bit left over wouldn't be worth a crap as far as reimbursement for gas..... Not at today's prices especially.

IF you're going into testing for "profit" which is not allowed, may the Lord bless you, because you'll need it. BELIEVE ME - KEEP YOUR DAY JOB..... Getting "big" bucks from VE Exams????? Give me a break..... IF they are - to the point of fighting over it, then something sounds wrong.

Thought about that, but from the hams I talk to, none have interest in 10-12 meters. I just got a IC28A tonite, that'll hold me for awhile:-)

My point cl is that there is an avenue for fraud as there seems to be little oversight concerning the intake of funds from the interested public. Do you have a link where one could read up on how the VE's should conduct the business end of examinations?
As an aside what are your call letters?

Hello, Lloyd

You're gonna love the fallout from "conservative" Bush & company who has invaded two countries in the Middle East and is threatening a third. Be prepared for $80.00 a barrel oil. Oh, go ahead - drop the bomb on them since they won't cooperate.

You will find that although the religious right here won the election for Bush (who is not about to deliver on any promises except to reduce taxes whilst a massive deficit is about to destroy our country), the religious right in the Middle East is going to cause a lot of problems. Oil will be number one on the hit list.

You want lower taxes? Ask all the construction workers and truckers in America to go on strike. If no roads are repaired, we'll save a lot of taxes! Heck, cut the airports too. We'll save even more taxes!!

It appears that the Republicans feel that everything should be supplied to big business for free, including transportation, the infrastructure, power (I pay over 12 cents per kilowatt hour, whilst many businesses pay under 2.8 cents), and more.

Even black church leaders are condemning our "liberal" judges, conveniently forgetting their own past.

As to references to God - are you referring to the Christian "God", the Muslim "God", or the Jewish "God"? I'd inquire about other religions, but suspect a lot of double-digit IQ types might get confused.

Off topic, but interesting aside. If there is intelligent life far advanced beyond ours, I suspect they would not make contact with us as we are far too violent and would not make good use of any advanced technology.

Gotta love this place :))

With all due regards from Rochester, NY

As Scott has mentioned, you must have a proper license. If you haven't gone to the site, here is some information copied from the site:

* begin copy*******
One of the chief concerns about interconnecting Amateur Radio with the Internet is preventing access by non-hams.
EchoLink's policy is that each user must hold a valid Amateur Radio license in order to be allowed access. Each new user must be validated, and the most critical part of validation is authentication. Authentication is simply verifying that you are who you say you are. If your callsign is W1XYZ, you would probably not be pleased if someone else claimed to be W1XYZ.

How it Works
The validation process begins automatically the first time you run the EchoLink software. The software sends a message to our servers, called a validation request, containing the information you entered when you installed the software.

In general, EchoLink requires that each new user also submit proof of license in order to be validated. Sometimes, this requirement is waived if a heuristic analysis of the available information casts no doubt on the authenticity of the request. After being processed by the EchoLink servers, each request is reviewed by a volunteer staffer, who either approves the request or sends an e-mail message asking for more information. Typically, these requests are reviewed within a matter of hours.

You will know you've been validated if a list of stations appears on the EchoLink screen. However, if it's been more than 24 hours since you started up the program and your callsign has still not been validated by EchoLink, or if you have received an e-mail message from EchoLink Support requesting proof of license, it means that you must provide authentication in order to be validated.

Please understand that the purpose of authentication is not to exclude any licensed Amateur from using EchoLink, but to ensure its continued enjoyment by you and other users who appreciate its commitment to security. Also, the purpose is not to determine whether the callsign is valid -- that can usually be checked elsewhere -- but to verify that you are indeed the licensee.

How to Authenticate Yourself
If you have been asked for authentication, there are currently only two forms of authentication we can accept:

1. A photocopy of the Amateur license, showing the callsign under which you are requesting validation. The copy must clearly show the license expiration date, if applicable in your country. If you live in a country where operator licenses and station licenses are separate documents, you must provide the station (or apparatus) license. Please see Validation Documents for details.

The license copy may be sent to the EchoLink validation team either by e-mail (as an attachment), or by fax. You can fax it to +1 312 803 1851 (a U.S. number), or send it as an attachment to validation@echolink.org . If you send it as an attachment, the attachment must be a digital image of the license, such as a scan or a digital photograph, which is clearly readable.

-OR-

2. A digitally-signed request, using a Trusted QSL digital certificate issued by the American Radio Relay League under its Logbook of the World (LoTW) program. If you are already participating in LoTW, this may be the easiest option. EchoLink provides a special utility you can use to digitally sign your EchoLink request using your key and the certificate issued by the ARRL. (The digital certificate is free to amateurs in all countries, and ARRL membership is not required.)
*end copy*******

When I signed up for EchoLink, it took overnight for the validation process. It appears that the validation process is getting a bit more difficult these days as they may ask for a copy of your license.

I think you are talking about the 6 meter band plan, versus the 2m band plan. There are seven unique splinter freqs. and 15 unique whole number freqs. for simplex. Well, when you figure there are still some CB packet stations operating on the inner freqs., then it should not be a problem.
Oil
is the key though. Give it enough oil and away she goes for sure.

You have to understand the motivation behind mopey's forges. Keyclowns are desperate people...they do not have the mental faculties to tolerate being bugged about their keyclownism. It makes them upset because they have to hear dissent. Steveo is the poster child for this attitude. He simply cannot take it when somebody gives him crap about being a keyclown.

This atttude has no doubt been developed by a lifetime of crying and whining to get his way. It started in his childhood, when he whined and cried in supermarkets and malls to get candy or toys. When his parents indulged him in these situations it reinforced the idea in his young mind that if he yelled and cried to get his way that he should always get it.

As he became a young adult and found that life had to be met on life's terms, not his, he railed at the injustice of it all. Teen years immediately before this stage found him in a constant state of barely controlled rage and often acting out in his frustration. Typical of such incidents are punching people who cut him off in traffic, yelling obscenities out car windows, and showing no consideration for others.

Such is the mentality of a keyclown. RF spectrum, to a keyclown, is nothing more than a wide open space to play in. If this were a private yard or a public place belonging to all taxpayers, the evidence of keyclownism would be obvious. The place would be uncaringly trashed with garbage and the observed attitude would be "So what if it is a mess, you wanna MAKE me clean up after myself, sucker?"

The visits to peoples' homes are an expression of this frustrated, thwarted, angry personality. Steveo tries to make someone conform to his ideas of what should be in the NG by making threats and visits. To Steveo, the worst thing on earth would be if the AKC knows his address, and his logic is that him knowing AKC addresses should strike fear in their hearts. You see, when he visits with his 12 gauge digicam the AKC should shake. They do...with laughter.

The fact that Steveo shows himself to be a disturbed individual in these visits does not dawn on him. This is because he is not inhabited with the normal sense of right and wrong. His opinion, like that of all keyclowns, is that whatever he wants to do is OK, and if someone disagrees then he has the right to attack them, physically or otherwise. This affliction is commonly called a sociopathic disorder.

The very fact of posting this message will bring a barrage of name calling, threats, and other things that keyclowns believe are effective. They think they are effective because they are effective at riling THEM up. This attitude is consistant with keyclownism's main root causes: the fact that keyclowns are only aware of what they want and have no concern for others, coupled with a total inability to tolerate even the most basic forms of disagreement.

The reactions to this post will prove the thesis as presented. Keyclowns are simple creatures, and always behave in a predictable manner.

I was stuck in traffic for two hours this past weekend... has no idea what was going on until two hours later when they directed us OFF of the interstate. All I want is a portable/handheld CB radio with great range, that will pickup all of the freq's/channels that truckers use (since they will most likely know what is going down) Can someone here please recommend a good one?

Unless you at using an external antenna, your range will be nothing, especially from inside the car.

Consider a no-code Amateur Radio license, technician class.
You can access repeaters with 90+ miles range.
Repeaters are usually on mountain tops, hence the extended range.
A mobile 2M rig with a 19" whip antenna will do the trick.
Repeaters are full of traffic reports for the commuting, traveling ham.
Base stations can use the internet to report traffic incidents and traffic flow.
Also great for getting directions if you are not familiar with the territory.

295. Got a new CB...having problems.

Ok, I had a Cobra 25 WX NW ST.

Lately it was acting strange, like...with the squelch all the way down on a dead channel, I still would hear no static. After futzing with it, it seemed like if I jiggled the power cord, it would come in and out. Later it seemed not to be the power specifically, but seemed like any time i tapped on the back panel it might come in and go back out.

So I figured this was a short and looked for a new radio. Not being heavily into this, I went with the Cobra 75 wx st, mainly because its nice and compact and considering I'm in a Honda accord, the less space it takes up, the better.

So when I hooked it up tonight, it didnt seem like anyone could hear me. So I got my SWR meter out and did a test. Both channels 1 and 40 were peaking well over 3 to 1. I read somewhere that's an indication of a short in the antenna. Is this ALL that could cause this?

I question whether or not I have a grounding issue. I'm about to try another antenna...although around here finding a decent one can be tough. I saw this one from crap shack, which looked like the most decent tunable one they had:
http://www.radioshack.com/product.asp?catalog%5Fname=CTLG&category%5Fname=CTLG%5F008%5F009%5F005%5F001&product%5Fid=21%2D972
Magnetic-Mount Mobile CB/Ham Antenna
$34.99
Catalog #: 21-972

Any suggestions? :/ Right now, temporarily, the power is run through cig lighter adapter. I dont know anything about electrical wiring so I have it that way until I can have someone do it. Even when my 25 was hard wired, I still got interference noise from things like rolling up my windows or my power radio antenna going up and down. Is that normal?

Thanks for your help! I hope to resolve this ASAP.

Well the weird thing with this unit is, the actual installed component is no more than a 2x1 inch box almost, since all the controls are on the mic itself. One of the suggested places for mounting this part is under the seat...would running a ground to some metal part of the seat track work you think?

Of course, the other problem with the ground issue is as I said, the power right now us run through an A/C adapter. Although tech. speaking that should be grounded as well.

Ive checked the antenna coax, no breaks however the threaded end is bent where the wire meets the connector since my old CB unit was upright close to the floor and didnt leave the coax much room, so over time it kind of developed this 90 degree angle.

What is aggravating is I noticed the coax I connect my SWR meter with is kinda messed up at the ends...so who knows if its even giving an accurate reading, although I'd be willing to bet it is since I cant seem to even get a radio check response on the highway.

This is great if you drive one partciular area. But as drive all over eastern PA, nothing beat the CB for traffic, speed traps, etc. After Sat, I hope to be able to do both.

Im electrically challenged, can you explain in dumb terms? lol

Well I went out and bought a new antenna....from shit shack. I'm going to get a new Cobra one tonight, found a place that has them. The antenna seemed to really help reception, however it seems that I'm still not heard (at least well). I'm hearing a lot of 'car sounds' in it too. Windows mechanics, washer fluid spraying, hell, even acceleration, which actually I heard before too, but this seems worse, probably because I'm using that A/C adapter. It's driving me crazy though.

I really need to get the power wired properly. With a good ground would this be eliminated? I wish I knew how to do it. I'm starting to think half the problem is Best Buy doing a hack job installing some other components like my new stereo or my XM. Who knows.

ALSO I noticed the original ends of the power wires were soldered. I stripped some more of the shielding so I could wrap the wires into the adapter better and noticed further down its just copper. The solder on the tips doesnt make any difference does it? Is this what you were talking about.

Look. I mean no disrespect, but, you need to find a competant shop and take it there and have them work out your problems. It sounds like you have multiple problems and it most likely will be too difficult to figure out all of them in this limited forum.

The one thing you can do that will help you more than anything else is to get a Wilson 1000, magnet mount antenna, or equivelent, and have someone "hardwire" your radio. Try and stay away from Radio Shaq antennas. You're getting all that noise because your going through the lighter _plus_ your electrical connections (antenna) sound like they're spotty at best. The coax you're using sounds suspect. Your grounding solutions sound suspect. In other words, you've done the right thing and attempted the install yourself but you obviously need some help. Don't be stubborn. ;-)

There are many websites around that give basic information that willl help you in diagnosing, and repairing your problems. What I would do, First Thing, like right now, is go to a decent shop, have them install the radio and tune the antenna. While they do it WATCH every move they make and don't be afraid to ask questions. Then, do some web-searches and find some info that will help you understand what works and what doesn't. After reading all that you can find, start experimenting and you'll learn more. The idea is to get yourself on the air, right?

The radio you have is a pretty good one for it's type. I had one and stuck it in several different cars and it worked very well. Had it in, at one time or another, a Mitsu Lancer, a Land Cruiser, and '95 Probe GT. Worked in all of them. It is not a radio that you are going to want to spend time modifying. It's just a good, basic radio that works well as designed.

I would also suggest, at least until you know a hell of a lot more than you do now, to resist the temptation to modify your radio or buy any amplifiers. A lot of guys that I've been on the radio with go out and buy all kinds of "hardware" before they know what the hell they're doing and end up out of the hobby after a year because they become dissallusioned, etc. Also, a lot of guys in your area are going to want to sell you "stuff" to make you "loud" like them. Resist this! At least at first. You need to find out what you can about what's legal and what's not, then make your own decision if you want to go down that road.

Learn the 10-codes, and their local use, and listen to who talks in your area for awhile and see how folks are. Learn radio etiquette, etc. You'll quickly find out who is cool to talk to and who's not. If you're up front and acknowledge you're a newby, most will be cool with you. There's almost nothing worse than a "new" guy that barges in to conversations that might have been going on for years without knowing what's what. Stay out of the radio flame wars and try not to take sides in fights, etc. In other words, learn who's who in your area.

You'll learn all this stuff. Just be patient and you'll have a great time doing it.

Get your problems sorted out by a competent radio guy first though. Good equipment, used in a responsible manner, will make a good first impression.

Sorry for the bucket-mouthing. I just think that if more folks that get into the hobby knew some of these things upfront, there would be less folks that get out of the hobby so quickly. It can be fun as hell, or, it can be a nightmare. Up to you.

Jeff

Thanks everyone for your ideas. The main reason I was wanting to go portable, the wife took the new car when we got married, so I'm stuck with the old car... I commute 60+ miles a day so it would be handy to have the radio in my car at those times... we also take the wifes car on our 7+ hour drives to see our families, so it would also be nice to easily transfer the unit to her car. Perhaps they make a car-charger/power adapter for a portable? Also, a magnet mount antenna sounds extremely do-able.

Thanks again everyone!

I took a little bit different approach. First of all, I learned the letters A to Z and 1 through 0. Next, I had a computer generate the letters from A to Z and 1 through 0 at 20, 25, and 30WPM. After about 3 minutes at each speed, I had the computer generate random characters at 25WPM. I eliminated one step of the learning process by not trying to write the characters down; this allowed my brain to have the sounds imprinted in me.
After this, I took the advice of a 30WPM fellow.....as I would be driving down the highway, I would pronounce the names of the different road signs in Morse Code. I would only do this by myself, so that somebody wouldn't have me carted off to some unpleasant place!
Anyway, two weeks later, I took my 5WPM test and passed it. Five weeks after that, I took my 13WPM test. After using this learning technique, the 13WPM test sounded like it was going in slow motion.....my copy speed was more in the 18WPM range, but not quite 20WPM. Give this technique a try and you will be amazed at the results. Good luck!

Pete

I took my 5WPM test two weeks later.....5 weeks after that, I passed my 13WPM test for the General class license.

Like Pete, I suggest similar... DO road signs, hell... do the shampoo bottle label, ingredients and all - in code - as taking a shower. I do not suggest any more than 15 minutes a day, it can drive you bonkers or bore you - which ever out look you take. Read a magazine in "code". You'll be humming right along before you know it.

If you are just running your CB with no amp, then a Wilson 1000 or K40 will do.
They are probably the best. If you are running power, get the Wilson 1000.

Good move, after you get used to two meters and the other bands you will never look back. The audio quality, and range of the FM mode even on 146 Mhz is far better than the old CB shit for local communications. AM or SSB at 27 Mhz is full of static, pole noise, ignition noise and shitty sounding radios that has been hacked up to be LOUD, what a bunch of crap.Now you will be free of Roger beeps, and echo boxes. Welcome to the world of good clean communications.

If it's a crimped end, the ground has pulled loose. Put a PL-259 on it. You'll need an RG-175 reducer for RG-58 and an RG-176 reducer for RG-8X or RG-8M. I never trust a crimped PL-259. Too many bad ones.

Don't bother to load up the rescue truck -- the eruption wasn't much more than a burp. But if they send you into the ash-tray anyway (maybe to get a taste of the stuff -- after all, Rainier is still active), be sure to stock up on motor oil and air filters.

Never had anything to do with the Cobra line of antennas. Probably OK, but I'd be willing to bet not as good as the Wilson or K-40. You know that's opinion talking so use your own, best judgement. Vinnie says K-40 and that's most likely because he's had some experience with them. I have not. Of the commercial magnet mounts I've used that were any good, again in my opinion, it's been the Wilson. I've had better luck with a couple of home made antennas but you're not there yet. You will be eventually and in the mean time, the Wilson or the K-40 will do you right. You get what you pay for in this hobby _and_ your antenna is a very important piece of the puzzle. Don't get cheap and try and save a few bucks. If the Wilson, or K-40, is 10 to 15 more dollars than the Radio Shack, or the Cobra,...Spend it.

Also, you mentioned Best Buy. If you buy your radio equipment from a retailer like them I would be very careful about having them install. You may save $ on the purchase over a CB Shop, but, in the long run the CB Shop may do a much better job on the install. Also, something to think about is that the CB Shop is a small business owner and it's probably better to keep him in business than throw your $ at some big corp that wont be very personal with you. The shop in my area charges a few more $ for equipment but I usually pay it 'cause I want to help keep him in business. I've saved mucho $ in free advice over the years just by hanging out and buying the guy a couple of hamburgers and fries now and then. Can't do that with a big corp.

Well I got the Cobra one...I can def. tell the quality is far superior.

I paid a friend of mine, who is an installer, to re-do everything last night, including install the new CB. I have a much better ground and can tell my receiving and transmitting signals are good.

The only thing I'm kicking myself in the ass for was he did such a good job, he installed the remote power/antenna jack under the dash....and it dawned on me I cant easily get to it to do the SWR measurements. I'd have to remove some panels again to get to it...and I really dont know what I'm doing...so in due time I may have to have him do that for me real quick.

Otherwise I think I've finally got it good to go. Phew.

There are pictures of it on the web, somewhere.

That radio is notorious for shitty adjacent channel rejection. It is a serious candidate for the Channel Guard filter

MAKING MONEY I found this on a bulletin board and decided to try it. A little while back, I was browsing through newsgroups and came across an article similar to this that said you could make thousands of dollars within weeks with only an initial investment of $6.00! So I thought, "Yeah right, this must be a scam", but like most of us, I was curious, so I kept reading. Anyway, it said that you send $1.00 to each of the 6 names and address stated in the article. You then place your own name and address in the bottom of the list at #6, and post the article in at least 200 newsgroups. (There are thousands) No catch, that was it. So after thinking it over, and talking to a few people first, I thought about trying it. I figured: "what have I got to lose except 6 stamps and $6.00, right?" Then I invested the measly $6.00. WellGUESS WHAT!!... Within 7 days, I started getting money in the mail! I was shocked! I figured it would end soon, but the money just kept coming in. In my first week, I made about $25.00. By the end of the second week I had made a total of over $1,000.00! In the third week I had over $10,000.00 and it's still growing. This is now my fourth week and I have made a total of just over $42,000.00 and it's still coming in rapidly. It's certainly worth $6.00, and 6 stamps, I have spent more than that on the!! Let me tell you how this works and most importantly, why it works.... Also, make sure you print a copy of this article NOW, so you can get the information off of it as you need it. I promise you that if you follow the directions exactly, that you will start making more money than you thought possible by doing something so easy! Suggestion: Read this entire message carefully! (print it out or download it.) Follow the simple directions and watch the money come in!

It's easy. It's legal. And, your investment is only $6.00 (Plus postage) IMPORTANT: This is not a scam; it is not indecent; it is not illegal; and it is virtually no risk - it really works!!!! If all of the following instructions are adhered to, you will receive extraordinary dividends. PLEASE NOTE: Please follow these directions EXACTLY, and $50,000 or more can be yours in 20 to 60 days. This program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants. Please continue its success by carefully adhering to the instructions. You will now become part of the Mail Order business. In this business your product is not solid and tangible, it's a service. You are in the business of developing Mailing Lists. Many large corporations are happy to pay big bucks for quality lists. However, the money made from the mailing lists is secondary to the income which is made from people like you and me asking to be included in that list. Here are the 4 easy steps to success: STEP 1: Get 6 separate pieces of paper and write the following on each piece of paper "PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR MAILING LIST." Now get 6 US $1.00 bills and place ONE inside EACH of the 6 pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen through the envelope (to prevent thievery). Next, place one paper in each of the 6 envelopes and seal them. You should now have 6 sealed envelopes, each with a piece of paper stating the above phrase, your name and address, and a $1.00 bill. What you are doing is creating a service. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL! You are requesting a legitimate service and you are paying for it! Like most of us I was a little skeptical and a little worried about the legal aspects of it all. So I checked it out with the U.S. Post Office (1-800-725-2161) and they confirmed that it is indeed legal! Mail the 6 envelopes to the following addresses: #1)Dan Warner 2812

W. 1st. St. Duluth, MN 55806 #2) Karen Green 50 Gillinder Street Rockhampton Qld Australia 4700 #3) Ryan Lake 41130 Congerbay Dr Harrison Twp, MI 48045 #4) Zac Inchley unit 82/ 128 Benowa rd Southport Qld Australia 4215 #5) Carl Baker 2267 N. Kedzie 1st floor Chicago, Illinois 60647 #6) Jason Otto 600 s. 1st st. Waterford, WI 53185

STEP 2: Now take the #1 name off the list that you see above, move the other names up (6 becomes 5, 5 becomes 4, etc.) and add

YOUR Name as number 6 on the list. STEP 3: Change anything you need to, but try to keep this article as close to original as possible. Now, post your amended article to at least 200 newsgroups. (I think there are close to 24,000 groups) All you need is 200, but remember, the more you post, the more money you make! This is perfectly legal! If you have any doubts, refer to Title 18 Sec. 1302 & 1341 of the Postal laws. Keep a copy of these steps for yourself and, whenever you need money, you can use it again, and again. NOTE: You may want to retain every name and address sent to you, either on a computer or hard copy and keep the notes people send you. This VERIFIES that you are truly providing a service. (Also, it might be a good idea to wrap the $1 bill in dark paper to reduce the risk of mail theft.) So, as each post is downloaded and the directions carefully followed, six members will be reimbursed for their participation as a List Developer with one dollar each. Your name will move up the list geometrically so that when your name reaches the #1 position you will be receiving thousands of dollars in CASH!!! What an opportunity for only $6.00 ($1.00 for each of the first six people listed above) Send it now, add your own name to the list and you're in business! ---DIRECTIONS ----- FOR HOW TO POST TO NEWSGROUPS---------- Step 1) You do not need to re-type this entire letter to do your own posting. Simply put your cursor at the beginning of this letter and drag your cursor to the bottom of this document, and select 'copy' from the edit menu. This will copy the entire letter into the computer's memory. Step 2) Open a blank 'notepad' file and place your cursor at the top of the blank page. From the 'edit' menu select 'paste'. This will paste a copy of the letter into notepad so that you can add your name to the list. Step 3) Save your new notepad file as a .txt file. If you want to do your postings in different settings, you'll always have this file to go back to. Step 4) Use Netscape or Internet explorer and try searching for various newsgroups (on-line forums, message boards, chat sites, discussions.) Step 5) Visit these message boards and post this article as a new message by highlighting the text of this letter and selecting paste from the edit menu. Fill in the Subject, this will be the header that everyone sees as they scroll through the list of postings in a particular group, click the post message button. You're done with your first one!

Congratulations...THAT'S IT! All you have to do is jump to different newsgroups and post away, after you get the hang of it, it will take about 30 seconds for each newsgroup! REMEMBER, THE MORE NEWSGROUPS YOU POST IN, THE MORE MONEY YOU WILL MAKE!! BUT YOU HAVE TO POST A MINIMUM OF 200 That's it! You will begin receiving money from around the world within days! You may eventually want to rent a P.O.Box due to the large amount of mail you will receive. If you wish to stay anonymous, you can invent a name to use, as long as the postman will deliver it. JUST MAKE SURE ALL THE ADDRESSES ARE CORRECT.  Now the WHY part: Out of 200 postings, say I receive only 5 replies (a verylow example). So then I made $5.00 with my name at #6 on the letter. Now, each of the 5 persons who just sent me $1.00 make the MINIMUM 200 postings, each with my name at #5 and only 5 persons respond to each of the original 5, that is another $25.00 for me, now those 25 each make 200 MINIMUM posts with my name at #4 and only 5 replies each, I will bring in an additional $125.00! Now, those 125 persons turn around and post the MINIMUM 200 with my name at #3 and only receive 5 replies each, I will make an additional $626.00! OK, now here is the fun part, each of those 625 persons post a MINIMUM 200 letters with my name at #2 and they each only receive 5 replies, that just made me $3,125.00!!! Those 3,125 persons will all deliver this message to 200 newsgroups with my name at #1 and if still 5 persons per 200 newsgroups react I will receive $15,625,00! With an original investment of only $6.00! AMAZING! When your name is no longer on the list, you just take the latest posting in the newsgroups, and send out another $6.00 to names on the list, putting your name at number 6 again. And start posting again. The thing to remember is: do you realize that thousands of people all over the world are joining the internet and reading these articles everyday?, JUST LIKE YOU are now!! So, can you afford $6.00 and see if it really works?? I think so... People have said, "what if the plan is played out and no one sends you the money? So what! What are the chances of that happening when there are tons of new honest users and new honest people who are joining the internet and newsgroups everyday and are willing to give it a try? Estimates are at 20,000 to 50,000 new users, every day, with thousands of those joining the actual internet. Remember, play FAIRLY and HONESTLY PLEASE REMEMBER that this program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants and by their carefully adhering to the directions. Look at it this way. If you are of integrity, the program will continue and the money that so many others have received will come your way

There was a certain person on channel 22 in Richmond, Virginia who was "having a bad morning" just because I was "in his neck of the woods".

He was runnin' off his mouth talk as though he was giving a stern lecture. whatever, whatever.

I don't know who he think he was but we all share the channel with others.

This dude bragged about being the channel master and was complaining about me being "under his antenna" and that he was gonna send me back to channel 19 aka "the sesame street channel".

Look, when you're a base station, why you cryin dude?
You're runnin a base station with the antenna x numberof feet in the air and you're complaining about ME being under your antenna? Get over it.

If you can hear me and everyone else can hear you then theres no need to cry, young buck.

Well, another station got on and told him to let it go and "there's a difference between keying up for 5 minutes compared to 5 hours."

Yet, the "channel master" kept runnin' his mouth. See when you do that, the others don't want to talk to you no more. Cause words will be said and before you know it, another watergate tape will be made.

And, if you want to call someone on the landline...don't give your phone number or ask the other station to give out the phone number -over the air- cause you don't know who listenin that got some beef with you or the other station. So let that be a lesson to you , "Gator".

I know he in there sandbaggin.

He probably changed his phone number after gettin calls in them late hours. Why? Cause his number has been written on the bathroom walls of truck stops and places where they sell big trucks and other places where you can still write on the walls for others to read while on the "john" in case they didn't bring a newspaper to read.

It's Good Readin' -- passes away the time.
It's Free Speech! Ain't nuthin wrong with that.

That's just some anti-americans complaining about our country. I'll speech on that topic on another post, gotta go now.

Long Live Free Speech!

RCA's 'Radio Central' xmitters went on-line 1921 here on Long Island. I remember them taking the last 410' tower down in '77. The buildings still stand but are not used for anything. At 5200 acres it is the largest undisturbed plot of land on the island.

388. Firestik II tuning with spring installed?

How does one go about tuning their Firestik II when it's mounted on a spring? The spring adds 3" or so to the length of the antenna. I don't see a way to do any wire-clipping on this antenna.

Can I not use a spring with the newer "tunable" Firestik?

That's just Chukkee Sukkee wanting some attention.
He broke up with his Pastor and hasn't been getting any lately, so he wants CB'ers to proposition.

FIRST
He roots for a team that is so cheesy they are called the "Brown Eyes", after what they bend over and show other teams in clutch situations.
This is mainly because he learned how to make a living at Petro by

THEN

SOME GOOD NEWS

Almighty then. I can offer you a place to stay in my camper if you want to stay, but I'd like a little bit of an advance notice. I like my trip planned in advance. It should be fun, I'll have campfire wood and a barbecue, we'll run over there in my truck, or the shuttle bus.

Give it some thought and let me know by May 1.

Where are you staying at? I'm going with a group that will be staying at the university dorms. Splitting the dorm room rent several ways is costing each of us $28 each for two nights. We get a kitchen, stove, etc. with only two people per room.

Dunno yet, it will be one of the three campgrounds that are convenient to there. I posted a thread for campground advice but no one replied yet.
I'll call them soon to get the low-down on what they have to offer, and their location to the track (er fest)

Cool. Maybe if this thing floats you could stop by and say hello. We'll Send some of it this way. It's been like early summer for almost a month and we have a record low snow pack in the mountains. The good thing is that I've been able to get lots of stuff done early, even rebuilt the front end on the truck. But it's gonna be mighty dry this summer if we don't get some heavy precip pretty soon.

Could be worse. I remember back in 66-67 when we had snow like Buffalo and it didn't melt until May -- and there was still snow on the pass in July!

I dunno. I hope so since most of our electricity comes from hydro. But weather blows West to East, so it's entirely possible the drought is coming your way. Don't you have a nuke plant over there?

That is some real snow in Buffalo! A certain party in Rochester gets a fair share of the white gold too. It seems to go in cycles sorta like band openings, but on a grander scale. (who knows)

'87 Chevy S-10. But it's a Frankenstein cause it has '89 axles, '91

Well, I don't know where you look for but I've found all kinds of cool stuff at yard and garage sales. Just last week I found an Onkyo A-7, one of the best consumer amps ever built, and even good for the studio since it's flat from 2Hz to 80kHz. It was just dirty and missing a knob. I got it for $6. I've found lots of cool stuff over the years.
Sometimes you gotta look "beyond" the sale or ask..... people throw away stuff that might just be worth something. A couple years ago I hit a local yard sale and in the back yard saw an old, wooden, homemade reel-2-reel rack in a trailer that was destined for the dump.
He gave me the whole rack for nothing, just so he didn't have to pay the dump fees. Low and behold, the thing included a tuner and a pair of Viking preamps, complete with Telefunken 12AX7's -- twelve of them in all!!! A week later I found a beautiful 6550 tube amp from an organ just sitting against a wall without a price because they didn't think anyone would want it. I got it for $10 (already sold, BTW).....

http://www.icehouse.net/wirenut/amp1.jpg
http://www.icehouse.net/wirenut/amp4.jpg

Here's an old Concertone 505 that was in a suitcase hidden under a table. I got it for $8 (also sold):

http://www.icehouse.net/wirenut/505_1.jpg

An old Amphenol (Cadre) CB that I picked up for a whole buck:

http://www.icehouse.net/wirenut/amph_01.jpg

This P/S Escort cost me $10:

http://www.icehouse.net/wirenut/escort_1.jpg
http://www.icehouse.net/wirenut/escort_2.jpg

My Akai GX-266II set me back a whopping $25:

http://www.icehouse.net/wirenut/gx-266ii.jpg

I even found a Swan 500 for $50 (also sold). That's just a sample of what I've found in the past few years. You just have to keep your eyes peeled.

That's not to bad. Yesterday I saw a Morris Minor with a small block Chevy, 4-71 blower, TH400 trans, 9" Ford

Teams like the Tribe or the Rangers cussing the Yankee payroll doesn't get to me. They are right. It's only teams like the Red Sox cussing out the Yankees payroll, when their's is 125 million. That bugs me. That like a serial killer who has killed 10 people, calling another serial killer who has killed 20 people, a "murderer".

I forgot to talk about the Tribe. The Tribe, from what I saw last year, has a damn good offensive team. Pitching was it's wek link. I don't know their status of their minors. But that damn Tribe team from the late 1990's, was a good a team as I have seen, that did not win one. Thome, that damn guy used to scare the shit out of me. More than anyone.

Sure do. I'm over 18,000 look ups so far, 99 percent of it due to my postings on this news group. Just proves a whole lot more people just sandbag on the side reading and never post anything.

I am hesitant ti post it here. I will not be on the air for a couple months. If I post it, some asshole forger or criminal that resides on this NG might use it on the air. And I might not even know about it. If you know what I mean.

The objective of eScrew.com is to destroy Capitalist system of governance. Many people tried to destroy Capitalist system before but all of them failed. The reason for that is their luck of understanding of Capitalist system. If you can find the heart of Capitalist system, you can find a way to destroy it.
Cheap energy is the heart of Capitalist system. Expansion and conquest is the direct result of cheap energy. If we can destroy cheap energy we can destroy Capitalism. In order to destroy cheap energy we must increase the demand for cheap energy to a point where supply will not be able to deliver the goods. As a result energy will become expensive. Expensive energy will decrease the stability of Capitalist system and launch a fatal chain of events which eventually will destroy Capitalism.

In order for us to win this war we must keep having unprotected sex. As a result, population growth will explode and burry the Capitalist system once and for all. Abortion is immoral and helps Capitalist system to survive, therefore it must be illegal. Marriage helps to integrate children into Capitalist system and therefore it must be illegal. It is difficult to abandon pregnant woman but at the same time single pregnant woman is our best weapon in war against capitalism. Our Capitalist enemies will try to disarm our "Pregnant Weapon Of Mass Destruction" so our power is in numbers. We must unleash millions or even billions of PWODs and they will do their dirty work in a matter of few decades.

Fighter against Capitalist system must obey laws. We want to destroy the Capitalism from inside but not from inside the bars. If you get into prison you will loose the war. It is the equivalency of being killed. The resistance will miss you. We need all the men we can get and all the women we can get pregnant.

Our major task is to consume as much resources as possible. Some idiots inside the resistance argue that we must stop doing shopping and it will do some damage to the economy. Such people should be considered as Capitalist spies and treated as such. True fighters must do as much shopping as possible and consume maximum amount of recourses while spending minimum amount of cash. Buy latest sport utility vehicle with the biggest engine and get as many girls pregnant as possible. The sooner we run out of oil the better.

Even as you read eScrew.com you help us to waste some bandwidth in a way that will hurt Capitalist system. In order to download 200 kilobytes from eScrew.com you must use certain amount electricity and bandwidth. This electricity and bandwidth is no longer available for others. By downloading these 200 kilobytes you help to depreciate the web server which hosts eScrew.com as well as wire network which helps to deliver the information to your computer. eScrew.com is truly grateful to all who do their hard work of destroying Capitalist system. Together we will prevail.

Most of the stuff which you will find on eScrew.com might not make a lot of sense. Keep in mind that the objective of eScrew.com is not to serve your selfish interests but to benefit all of us by destroying Capitalist system of governance.

eScrew is eScrew and this is eScrew story. eScrew will tell you eScrew story if you promise eScrew to consider eScrew story as joke. eScrew story is very funny. eScrew story is so funny that eScrew will have to take break from time to time because eScrew needs some rest from laughing. Oh boy, here it comes... eScrew funny laugh laughing screaming crying must stop can not take any more this is killing eScrew going nuts insane feeling explosion inside from joy and nirvana god help eScrew heavenly spirit can you beat this hahahah. If you get offended by eScrew story in any way you should not get angry at eScrew. Consider possibility that your sense of humor is on vocation and your sense of anger is having some fun. Also, consider possibility that eScrew story can make you go insane. In that case eScrew shall carry no liability should you undergo any medical treatment or any other sort of treatment related to damage caused by reading eScrew story or to damage caused by eScrew unwillingly or otherwise.

eScrew story begins in time of darkness, horror and suffering as well as love joy and bliss when eScrew existed in this planet but yet eScrew was not aware that it was eScrew. eScrew existed among very powerful symbols. First symbol eScrew recognized was body. eScrew realized that eScrew had connection to body, yet nature and essence of connection was not clear. Symbol of body was very powerful and for nine month eScrew was trying to find out why it was connected to this body. At some point body divided itself into two parts. That experience was very painful for eScrew. It was first time that eScrew felt symbol of pain. eScrew did not like this symbol. eScrew was aware of connection to very small body. This small body was hot. eScrew enjoyed symbol of heat. eScrew became aware of symbol of pleasure. eScrew enjoyed symbol of pleasure. eScrew realized eScrew prefers symbol of pleasure more than symbol of pain. eScrew became aware of symbol of mother. eScrew realized that symbol of mother is source of symbol of pleasure and pain. eScrew wanted to experience symbol of pleasure always. When symbol of pleasure was missing eScrew experienced symbol of pain which was related to symbol of crying and screaming. Soon eScrew realized that eScrew can connect to symbol of pleasure by experiencing symbol of crying. That was very important discovery since eScrew realized that symbols of pain and pleasure do not behave randomly but can be manipulated by other symbols. eScrew enjoyed symbol of manipulation. eScrew realized that all symbols interact with each other. eScrew learned how to connect to new symbols. eScrew discovered symbol of sound and related symbol of language. eScrew realized that language allows to connect to new symbols. eScrew realized that symbols can be memorized and stored for future use. eScrew realized that it can create new symbols by combining certain symbols together. eScrew became aware of symbol of self. Are you bored yet? If you are reading these symbols you need to get life. Just joking. You can rest now. eScrew suspects you could be confused by eScrew style of using symbols. Well, there is nothing eScrew can do about it. In order to understand eScrew story you have to understand eScrew style. eScrew hopes that when we get to funny part you will begin to enjoy eScrew style.

Fast forward twenty seven years or so. eScrew knows millions of symbols. eScrew realizes that certain symbols have more power than eScrew. Symbol of money enslaved billions of symbols. Symbol of power enslaved billions of symbols. Symbol of sex enslaved billions of symbols. Symbol of family enslaved eScrew. Symbol of family is slave to symbol of money and power. Symbol of money is related to paper and illusion. Symbol of power is symbol of violence and control. Symbol of sex is related to symbol of pleasure and manipulation. eScrew is searching for symbol of freedom in order to protect eScrew from oppression of other symbols. At this point you should understand that each word in this story is symbol. Consider possibility of different meaning behind each symbol so be aware that your understanding of eScrew story is limited by channel of our connection. eScrew will explain to you how eScrew found symbol of freedom and how eScrew realized that eScrew was eScrew. In order to save our time eScrew will just give you symbols without paying any attention to symbol of grammar. Are you ready to move really fast? Here we Go! eScrew story infinity eternity symbol system all unity self realized pleasure pain funny religion dogma manipulation free power channel connection money sex illusion new manipulation family society body change planet insane possibility understand understanding silence emptiness all unity creative reality unreal existence absurd questions sound language slave symbols control manipulation old pyramid power structure self deception wishful thinking circle prison

At this point eScrew realized that in order to be free eScrew must create new symbol. eScrew created eScrew. eScrew realized that symbol of freedom is part of eScrew. No need to search for symbol of freedom. You can create your own symbol and become free just like eScrew. If you unable to create new symbol or if your new symbol is weak you can follow symbol of eScrew. eScrew will never enslave you because eScrew enjoys diversity of different symbols.

Are you ready for funny part? Here we go! eScrew is forced to make choices. Symbol of body is very powerful. Symbol of body is trying to create illusion that eScrew can not exist without body. Symbol of family forbids symbol of body to change. Symbol of society forbids symbol of family to change. Symbol of power forbids symbol of society to change. Now, tell eScrew one thing. Do you see funny? Can you feel funny? Can you hear funny? Can you taste funny? Can you smell funny? If so eScrew is happy.

Every moment of your existence you use words, feelings, thoughts. They are symbols. Symbols fight for your awareness. Symbols fight for your attention. You can grant your attention to symbol and symbol will gain power. You can disconnect from symbol and symbol will loose power. You have been programmed by symbol of society and family to give power to certain symbols. Breaking your patterns will be hard because symbols do not like to loose power. Symbols will fight for every electron as if it was last electron in universe. That is nature of symbols. Symbol of light will fight symbol of dark. Symbol of freedom will fight symbol of control. Do you want to have some fun? Go to Google and find out which symbol has more power. According to Google, symbol of light has 184,000,000 units of power while symbol of dark has 79,000,000 units of power. Symbol of freedom has 59,500,000 units of power while symbol of control has 317,000,000 units of power. This result is caused by our patterns of thinking and writing. If we did not think about symbol of control we would not write about symbol of control. We would not have laws related to control and Google would not have 317,000,000 control keywords inside database. Observe your patterns of thinking, feeling, speaking and writing and tell eScrew did you really choose to use your symbols or you use your symbols because they choose to use you? You should realize that symbols do not fight symbols directly but only appear to be fighting relative to your awareness. Symbols know that they can not destroy each other therefore they will only compete for your attention. If you create new symbol it will ask for tons of energy like new born child. This is result of weakness of your new symbol. When your symbol gets stronger it will ask for more energy. You may ask eScrew why create new symbol? Try to give your energy willingly and with full awareness of such process. You will never understand what eScrew is talking about until you try it yourself. Major trick is to know when to stop giving energy. You don't want to defeat your old tyrant by creating new stronger version of same thing. Reflect on that...

eScrew just realized that eScrew did not invent anything new. eScrew information is all over eScrew web. eScrew was so excited by eScrew miracle of illusion of creation that eScrew did not examine eScrew memory in proper way. eScrew used very old Buddhist method by accident. eScrew did read alot about Buddhism but eScrew did not realize that eScrew used very dangerous method which was reserved only for advanced adepts who knew what they are doing. eScrew is lucky that eScrew did not go too far and that eScrew has time to stop going. eScrew method is very dangerous and only few individuals who already walk inside similar path can understand what eScrew talking about let alone benefit from eScrew information. Use eScrew information at your own risk. Good eScrew luck!

eScrew time to start laughing is now! Funny eScrew rolling on ground you so easy to fool trusted in silly symbols to give freedom from symbols ignorance is bliss nirvana is samsara nonduality is duality emptiness is all Buddha is Jesus Jesus is Buddha I and the father are one gospel of thomas is dhamma funny eScrew dhamma is gospel of thomas all is dhamma funny dhamma is all nirvana share eScrew story with friends do not change symbols if you change symbols it will be your story and you will be responsible for consequences of your story if someone goes insane after reading your story do not run to eScrew and ask to cure crazy man or woman or child mind is mystery for all cure is done by owner of mind healing is illusion sickness is illusion disease is illusion insanity is illusion of symbols sanity is curse of power hungry symbol of modern civilization find zen and realize freedom when you found zen drop zen when you realized freedom unrealize freedom.

When eScrew writes eScrew story eScrew keeps making mistakes. eScrew is limited by words. eScrew is enslaved by words. eScrew wants to communicate but you ask eScrew to use words. Words do not communicate wisdom. Words enjoy our spiritual masturbation because words want our power. Words is the only channels of communication that we have. Millions of Buddhas want to communicate with us but they do not use words. Buddhas are not slaves. Buddhas will never use words because words will enslave and Buddhas will speak bullshit. Buddhas do not speak bullshit and that is the reason Buddhas do not use words. Buddha did not write anything. Even if you threaten to kill Buddha he will refuse to write. eScrew is not Buddha so eScrew keeps writing this pointless drivel and stupidity. eScrew will not even go over already written crap and check it for errors. Why bother with this shit? Like who the fuck in his or her right mind will read this ignorant bunch of symbols which pretend to carry the symbol of wisdom? Whoever is reading this shite must be really desperate to be free. eScrew feels your pain and that is part of the reason why eScrew will keep making fool out of eScrew. eScrew likes to pretend like this shitty vomit will help someone. You might as well go to Church and pray to Jesus. At least you will spend your time around real people. You might even meet someone special. You might even find some love out there. Or you could buy alot of Christian bullshit and really fuck up your mind. If you buy Buddhist or Christian bullshit you might even create an imaginary friend inside your head. That will keep you entertained for a while.

One time eScrew was meditating and eScrew saw light. This light scared eScrew. The reason is because the light was so intense eScrew was afraid that eScrew will go insane. Consider the possibility that freedom is insanity would you keep looking for insane freedom? Imagine that you found freedom. You declare yourself to be Buddha or Jesus or God or whatever symbol your bullshit infested mind decide to use for that purpose. How long do you think you will survive in this world. Your own fucking relatives will smack your face and tell you to shut the fuck up or else they will lock you up in the asylum house. Why the fuck should eScrew teach you how to get to the nuthouse? Are you out of your fucking mind? Now all of you idiots who reading eScrew get the fuck out of eScrew. eScrew run out of wisdom. eScrew has no wisdom at all. eScrew is full of bullshit. eScrew promised to tell you funny story about eScrew. Remember eScrew told you there is funny part in this story? Well, this story is about asshole webmaster who read alot of bullshit on the internet and about some loser who was tricked into reading a very long page of shitty writing. You can start laughing now asshole. Yes, eScrew is talking to you bitch. Yes, keep reading like the bitch you are. Who's your daddy biyatch? Who's your daddy? eScrew is your daddy, coz eScrew did it to your mamma! Oh yeah, your mamma! Super Fly! You may wonder what fly? The one inside your gay fucking ass. eScrew fucked your whole fucking family while you was videotaping in order to later masturbate while watching it in the comfort of your bedroom. Are you still reading? Well, you're prety hardcore for a faggot you are. To tell you the truth eScrew kinda likes you. That is to fuck you in the ass in front of your family.

What the fuck did you expect anyway? The name of this site is eScrew! e fucking screw! Hello, anybody home? eScrew guess not you fucking ignorant moron. eScrew is the legend of abuse and flame wars. eScrew was created in order to eScrew the whole fucking internet. eScrew has really bad karma. Do you think eScrew would just become good god fearing bible loving buddha ass kissing citizen of internet. eScrew would better burn in hell than become a slave of religious lunatics who pretend to be free and perfect angels among a sea of shitty ignorant sinners who could not go take a dump without fucking it up. Why the fuck do you keep reading fuck face. You know, you begin to piss eScrew off. Either you close your fucking browser or eScrew will unSCREW your fucking face! Are you trying to get a fucking medal for reading this shit? eScrew bet you've been abused as a child and you enjoy when someone is taking a dump in your mouth. Well, open it wider here comes eScrew fresh load! Enjoy mothefucker!

You may wonder what is the point of such sudden change of tone. eScrew has very good reason for that. In order to know unity consider all symbols equal. eScrew has certain preferences but eScrew is free to use any symbols any time. You can not predict eScrew next symbol. eScrew is unpredictable because eScrew is free. eScrew is not afraid to use symbols. eScrew does not try to get reaction from you. eScrew simply demonstrates how symbols relate to each other to eScrew and to reader of symbols.

Lin Chi Zen Master said if you meet buddha kill buddha. If you meet patriarch kill patriarch. Zen Master Seung Sahn says that in this life we must all kill three things first we must kill parents. Second we must kill buddha. And lastly, we must kill Seung Sahn! If you meet eScrew kill eScrew. If you do not meet eScrew kill eScrew anyway. eScrew is very grateful to all who complained to eScrew host and who killed eScrew. You killed eScrew message board. eScrew forum is dead. You did very honorable service for eScrew. You helped eScrew to realize Zen. Now keep up good work and keep killing eScrew.

Are you having fun yet? eScrew is on roll! eScrew is on fire! eScrew is ready to fuck up the whole fucking system. And you know why? Because eScrew can do it. If not eScrew then who? Why leave this task to some brain dead maniac like George W Bush? eScrew can do better at fucking things up. eScrew do not need to spend billions of dollars. eScrew will use power of internet. Information is a weapon of mass destruction. eScrew will destroy every fucking symbol that you love respect hate or feel neutral about. It all goes down the toilet in order to create bunch of new symbols. And even when you create new symbols eScrew will fuck them up before you can spell owned. eScrew thinks you are in some deep shit. eScrew had enough of taking bullshit from easily conditioned retards. eScrew declares informational jihad on every single symbol. Fuck symbols. They all dead they just don't know it yet. eScrew will be the last symbol standing. When all symbols come back to eScrew and admit that they got owned eScrew may consider possibility to give symbols second chance on some shitty planet in gangsta sector of universe with no possibility of parole. Join the revolution. eScrew is the new goatse of internet. eScrew will make national headlines. eScrew will hurt the system in way Osama Bin Laden can not even imagine in his goat fucking brain. eScrew will be part of school program. Kids all over our planet will read how eScrew changed direction of history. eScrew will provide freedom for all without single shot fired. eScrew is freedom in pure form taste color shape. Join army of eScrew. Repeat eScrew mantra during meditation. Talk about eScrew with your friends. Write about eScrew to your congressman. Party is over. eScrew is taking over. Nothing can resist eScrew. Don't ask what eScrew can do for you ask what you can do for eScrew. eScrew the army of one. eScrew to protect and serve. eScrew freedom is around the corner. eScrew freedom will come sooner than you think. eScrew you never saw it coming. eScrew love your eScrew as eScrew. eScrew deny ignorance. eScrew new generation of terror. eScrew terrorizing the terrorizer. eScrew join the resistance. eScrew thou shall eScrew. eScrew who do you want to eScrew today? eScrew freedom is not free. eScrew liar who told the truth. eScrew full of bullshit and happy. eScrew kills buddha as we speak. eScrew your best friend and your worst enemy.

eScrew killed zen-forum.com when eScrew redirected all eScrew traffic to zen-forum.com eScrew did that in good faith. eScrew wanted to inspire and enlighten all for benefit of all. eScrew wanted to share wisdom of zen with ignorant. eScrew did not understand zen at that moment but eScrew was walking zen path towards freedom. eScrew saw ugly flame war and spam Armaggedon. eScrew felt pain and sorrow of failure. eScrew learned good lesson. eScrew realized everyone involved advanced one step towards freedom. zen-forum.com killed zen-forum.com in best tradition of zen zen-forum.com displayed message: i shut down the forum perhaps it will be continued in a few days or weeks - maybe not habu. zen-forum.com killed zen-forum.com by going offline. eScrew refused to kill eScrew. eScrew realized understanding of zen-forum.com decision leads toward understanding of zen. Two years later all is clear.

eScrew will keep writing this shit because eScrew enjoys to masturbate your spiritual sense of self eScrew. eScrew knows that at least one being will find freedom after reading eScrew story. eScrew story is a code. Bible is a code. Sutras is a code. Koran is a code. Can you hack the code? eScrew is a code which only few people can break. You must be on spiritual path before truth will flood toward your mind and heart. Use eScrew keywords and Google for information. Every symbol of eScrew story is important keyword which will lead you toward freedom. Do you have desire to find freedom? Follow that desire and don't forget to drop it when the time is right.

eScrew Kundalini is rising. Rising Kundalini is very intense experience. eScrew story will help eScrew to deal with crazy Kundalini.

Dedicated to my father and mother - two beautiful ideas.

What is logic? What is the first thing that comes to your mind when you hear the word logic? Even though all of us are aware of this word, the meaning of it will be different for each of us. You may wonder why? The reason is rather obvious. Our logic models are different. We live in a world of ideas. Contrary to a popular belief we don't create ideas, ideas create us. Logic is a mode of thinking, which helps us to navigate in this giant Universe of information. Billions of ideas compete for our attention. Ideas have an intelligence of their own. The goal of any idea is to be incorporated into our identity. Our identity is a pyramid of ideas. The core of the pyramid consists of the most powerful ideas. What makes an idea powerful? Powerful ideas have control over our logic. Our logic has control of our reality.

The most primitive logic has only two functions. Information can be either accepted as truth or rejected as false. At some point in your life you have accepted certain ideas as true. Because of that, ideas which do not fit with your set of accepted ideas, appear to you as false. By accepting certain idea you become that idea. On the first stage of this model you are neither aware of your existence nor able to experience emotion. On the second stage several powerful ideas come into conflict and you might feel anger, anxiety, fear, frustration and emptiness. Strong feelings are a signal that you are evolving. The fire of emotion forces you to take a hard look at your logic model. Is this the best you can do? Our educational system is designed to promote such primitive logic. School and University students are told what is truth and what is false information. Heretics receive failing grades. Mass media promotes a set of powerful ideas. Any idea which is not compatible with this set is rejected. Logic is controlled by several powerful religious and secular ideas. We fight wars because we think that our ideas are superior to all other ideas. At the same time we don't even remember when, how and why we have accepted our ideas as truth.

Non-dualistic logic takes you on a different level of existence. One of the most important characteristics of this model is awareness - an ability to perceive an idea without making a judgment. For example, can you listen to a silly idea without labeling it as stupid? At this point you will realize that your identity is simply a set of ideas. As a result the process of acceptance and rejection of ideas will stop. You might see this as a paradox but this is simply a different mode of thinking. A paradox is a statement that is seemingly contradictory or opposed to common sense and yet is possibly true. Every idea has a right to exist. After a period of meditation you begin to identify yourself with all of the humanity and all corresponding ideas. An idea is never rejected nor accepted. A pattern of duality in logic is broken. You can make the sound of two hands clapping. Now what is the sound of one hand? Pure awareness becomes the most powerful idea and takes control of logic. You feel in harmony with the Universe.

The beautiful thing about life is that at some point you will realize that most of your ideas become obsolete. There is always a better idea which does not fit into your present mind-set. Universe is always changing, therefore those who stick with old ideas are in for rude awakening. The trick is to allow new idea to enter your mind and heart. Consider these five concepts: awareness, acceptance, rejection, change, materialization. Does that ring a bell? You are hunting for new ideas and begin to experiment with them. Ideas will be changed, modified, merged, divided, added together or multiplied. Sometimes you see all ideas as one. In order to experience ideas you want them to be materialized. Emotion is one of the ways to do it. Emotion is an idea in motion. An individual discovers love and joy. The fire of love is energy. An idea of love becomes so powerful that love controls logic. The fire of love burns so bright that any idea becomes love. There are unlimited number of logic models and unlimited number of ideas.

An idea of conscious and unconscious mind is very popular among the bright minds of our time. Unconsciousness is a set of ideas which were brought to awareness in the past but which choose to remain hidden. An idea feels that it is not compatible with the conscious set of ideas, therefore trying to become part of the conscious set is not an option. The idea is sleeping inside your mind. This unseen part of the mind is a mystery. Most of the time you don't even know it is there at all. New idea is sleeping. An idea is waiting for the right moment to pop up into your conscious mind. Are you ready? Here it comes! What is the sound of an idea? That would depend what kind of idea it is. Sound is a materialization of an idea. Just like visual appearance, smell, taste and tactile perception. Can you touch an idea? At some point your house was just an idea in the mind of the architect. Then the idea of a house was materialized on paper. Hundreds of minds accepted the idea of a house and built it. Therefore the idea of a house evolved into a material object. Now, imagine that the house got burned. The idea of your house is still alive in your mind and in the minds of people who knew of it existence. Even though the material representation of the idea changed its form the idea of a house is still part of your mind. You can modify that idea and build another house. Is it the same idea of a house?

Who creates ideas? How are they created? Why do they exist? Who makes them good or bad, evil or noble? Can you destroy an idea? Can you create a truly original idea? Imagine that our Universe doesn't exist. That idea of non-existent Universe is an idea in itself. How could Universe don't exist if an idea of non-existence is an idea in itself? Either Universe always existed or it is evolved from an idea of non-existence. Which concept do you prefer? Did we evolve from an idea of emptiness or did we always exist as part of an eternal idea? If you combine an eternal idea with an idea of emptiness what are you going to receive? Emptiness is eternal. Eternity is empty. Two ideas become one. Therefore we may conclude that any idea is part of empty eternity.

If you observe yourself you will realize that you can think only about one idea at a time. It appears to you as if you have a stream of ideas in your mind. Take a hard look at this stream. You can divide this stream on unlimited number of ideas or you can combine this stream into one idea. You can shut down your stream and experience an idea of emptiness. You can combine this stream into one idea and experience an idea of eternity. Such experience may materialize as a strong emotion, which you have never felt before. You may see an ocean of light or the sound of the Universe. Universe will touch you and you will feel what it is like to be part of its body. Such mystical experience will certainly happen if you really want it to happen and if you accept this idea of the Universe as truth. You have to integrate this idea into your conscious mind-set and the rest is just a matter of time. You have to think like the Universe. You have to love every idea which is part of the Universe. You have to love like the Universe.

Love is an idea of being one with an idea. Love can materialize into an emotion which you call love. That doesn't change the fact that the origin of love is an idea. The idea of love is very powerful. Billions of people write about love every day. There are millions of books about love. Love will materialize into your heart. You heart is an energy center. In order to experience love you have to activate that energy. Put your hand in the middle of your chest. Can you feel this energy? If you look someone in the eyes pay attention to your heart. Can you feel the stream of love? It feels nice to feel love. Why would you choose to feel anything other than love? Love is unconditional. Love is eternal. Love is Universe. Universe is Love.

Love does not fit into the system. You can't force Love to be anything other than what it is. You can't enslave love. Love doesn't follow any rules other than the rule of Love. You can't tell to Love: you're too fat or too skinny or too stupid. Love is perfect, always was and always will be. Love is the ultimate freedom. Love will not ask you to Love. Love will show you how to love. Do you want to fall in love? Do it now! Accept an idea of Love as the highest truth. Love will never blame you. Love is not jealous. Love and justice are two different ideas. The justice of Love is Love. Love is a paradox. Love is non-duality. Love and religion are two different ideas. Religion is worship. Worship is slavery. Love does not worship. Love is freedom. The church of love is in your heart. Love is the only currency without inflation. Love is funny. Love makes you laugh. Love is pleasure. Love is beautiful. Beauty is love.

Hate is an idea of rejection of an idea. Hate can be materialized into a feeling of pain. Hate is a defensive idea caused by fear. Fear is a sign of danger. You consider certain ideas dangerous and as a result you let fear and hate to enter your heart. Why do you torture your heart? Hate and fear make your heart look like a desert. Hate and fear can be materialized into violence. Why do we watch violence on television? Why do we allow our children to play violent video-games? Why do we invite hate and fear into our hearts? Why do we punish each other with hate and fear? What are we trying to accomplish anyway? Why do we poison our minds and hearts? What kind of sick fetish is it? Why don't we heal this cancer with love? There is more to life other than pain and suffering.

Keep in mind that hating an idea of hate is hate in itself. We should be aware that hate and fear always existed and will continue to exist. It is our choice whether to make hate and fear part of our identity or not. You are making such choice every moment of your existence and will continue to do so. Your reality will depend on your choice. Accepting hate and fear into your mind-set will materialize hate and fear into your reality.

I like to address my reader as "you" and hope that you notice that you have a habit of rejecting certain idea as false because you can not fit them into the idea-set of your identity. It is hard for you to be simply aware of the information without making any judgment regarding its validity. I could try to improve my credibility in your eyes by referring to Einstein, Jesus, Buddha or Plato. Would you believe me more if I could prove you that these influential individuals had ideas similar to mine? Why do we need experts to tell us what is truth and what is not? The answer to any question is inside your mind. All you need to do is to ask the right question. Keep asking your question until you receive the answer. Open your mind to the new idea. When the student is ready a teacher will appear.

Learn how to express your ideas. When you create art you invite new ideas to come into your mind and heart. Anything can be art as long as your intent is honest expression of your ideas. You can't create art if your intent is to impress someone. A simple conversation with your neighbor can be art. Just tell your neighbor your deepest thoughts, your dreams, share your love. If you do that your neighbor will do the same. As a result you will love your neighbor as yourself. Now, I know what you think right now. You probably think that I have stolen this idea from the Bible and trying to pass it to you as my own. Well, how do you know who created this idea anyway? Do you really think that such powerful idea is only 2,000 years old? If your answer is yes please return to page one and read this book one more time. We don't create ideas, ideas create us. Considering all of this I am simply a messenger, just like you are. It is a matter of choice which message we prefer to carry through life. Jesus was proud to carry his message. Are you proud of yours?

This book is always changing. New ideas enter my mind every moment of my existence. Information, which I thought was true, can become false in a matter of seconds. I am constantly evolving into something else. Right now I am evolving into love. I want to send a message of love to every being in the Universe. This book is a materialization of my idea of love. Can you feel my love? I know you do. It's in your heart. I know your heart because I know mine. You may wonder why I am so confident that I know my heart? Confidence is the product of experience. Once you meet a new friend you spend time together. You get to know your heart. You pay attention to your heart. You talk to your heart. You let your heart relax and enjoy its rhythm. You listen to the music of the heart and feel love and joy.

Meditation is an excellent way to know your mind. There are many ways to meditate. The trick is to find what works for you. I've discovered a fairly simple and easy method which works for me very well. I go to bed, lie on my back, close my eyes and don't move my body for a few minutes. After a fairly short period of time I begin to enter a deep state of trance. I feel that my body becomes very light. My thoughts slow down. My heart slows down. My breathing becomes deep and relaxed. I see a black screen in front of me. Slowly, this screen becomes brighter and moves closer to my eyes. At some point I feel like I can cut through the material of this screen and a whole new world will open up in front of me. In this deep state of trance you can find many new ideas which otherwise hard to discover. Sometimes I feel like I want to fall asleep but I roll my eyes upward and my mind begin to work faster, therefore increasing the level of awareness and prolonging my meditation session. At some point my thoughts loose their meaning. I realize that I don't remember my last thought. I realize that for a split second several thoughts just flashed through my mind and I don't remember what it was all about. Finally, I surrender the last bit of awareness and fall asleep. Every meditation session is different. The trick is to relax and open your mind for a new experience.

Where do new ideas come from? New ideas come from chaos. Notice that highly creative people appear to be poorly organized. They may look clean but their apartment will appear like a post-nuclear war zone. An idea of chaos is the mother of new ideas. Allow chaos to enter your mind. Try to materialize this creative chaos and make it part of your life. Don't be surprised if one day you forget your keys. That means that the chain of your circular thinking is broken and an idea of a key escaped from your train of thought. Your thought process entered an uncharted territory. You don't know where your thoughts will take you because you haven't been there yet. You will not enjoy reading books but you will enjoy writing them. You will double your income because people will buy your new ideas. The best part is that your new ideas will keep coming at ever increasing rate. Discovering new ideas is like a drug. Once you've tried it you will never look back. You will realize that everything is possible. Your perception of reality will change. While watching TV you will notice a primitive chain of ideas and you will become bored. So, you will turn off the box and spend more time with your family and friends. You will notice that alcohol and drugs reduce the number of new ideas which enter your mind, therefore you will stop poisoning your brain.

Your life will change. You will notice that your family and friends begin to notice that you become different. They will notice that your thinking process changed. They will ask you: what are you thinking about? They are worried about you because they love you. You have several choices. You can either pretend that nothing happened or tell them the truth. At some point you realize that you can not fit into the system anymore. Even if you can fool the system you can't fool yourself. At some point the system will become hostile toward your way of thinking. The system does not tolerate descent. The system wants you to remain its slave. The only way for you to be free is to change the system and make it part of yourself. In order to change the system you have to change the way people think. You can not force them to think your way. However, you can tell them what they are missing. You can express your love just like I am doing right now and point toward the light at the end of the tunnel. You can share your new ideas and let them feel an enlightenment of your heart. You realize that you have a mission. The time is running out. The world is slowly destroying itself. An idea of violence and terror is taking over the world. It is time to say enough is enough! The time for observation is over. Now is the time for action.

The system is choking you. The system does not want you to think. The system does not want you to be creative. The system wants you to follow orders. You can't beat the system in its own game. You have to force the system to play YOUR game. The system is selling you sex and violence in order to keep you away from love. The system is not stupid. Love is the biggest threat to the system. Terror and fear makes the system stronger and at the same time takes away your freedom. You can find part of the system which looks friendly and safe. This is just an illusion. Nobody is safe as long as you are part of the system. You can get in jail at any time for no reason. The system can hold you indefinitely without access to lawyers or the right for a phone call. The system will classify you as a threat and nobody will tell you the reason. You will not be able to defend yourself. There will be no trial. You will simply disappear. The system killed Jesus. The system killed millions of Arabs and Jews during The First "system crusade" in the name of Jesus. Then the system killed millions during "The First System War". The system burned millions of Jews during "The Second System War". "The Third System War" already started. The system is planning to reduce the population of this planet by at least fifty percent. The system has trouble controlling over six billion ideas. At the same time, controlling the Internet is virtually impossible. I see this as a unique opportunity to change the world in ways we can't even imagine. The system is old and weak. Our creative potential is unlimited. This CAN be done!

In order to find new ideas on the Internet you have to know the keywords which will lead you to new ideas. There is a big difference between keywords such as: "news" and "alternative news", "religion" and "spirituality", "sex" and "Tantra sex".
If you discover an interesting idea enter the keyword into the search engine and explore it. Internet is an excellent source of new ideas.

If you rise against the system you should consider consequences of your choices. The majority of people will laugh at you. They will not understand you. They may become hostile because they will see your ideas as dangerous. They will call you a terrorist. They will call you unpatriotic. They will call you names and they will humiliate you. Your friends and family will feel scared and embarrassed. Those who loved you may abandon you. Are you strong enough to love those who hate you? Keep in mind that this is not a war of ideas. This is a war of one mode of thinking versus another. This is a war between dualism and non-dualism. This is a war between a primitive version of individualism and the unity of minds. This is a war between traditional mode of thinking and progressive mode of thinking. This is a war between fear of change and love of progress. This is a war between love and violence. This is a war between light and darkness. Make your choice.

You will read this book many times over and over again. You will memorize every word of this book and you will never forget it. If you try to forget these words they will become part of you unconscious mind. The beauty of unconscious mind is that certain ideas from this book will hide there and at some point they will show up in your conscious mind and you will think that you created these ideas by yourself.

You are changing as you read these last letters. The funny thing is that it's not me who is causing you to change by writing this book. Change is your destiny. You can not refuse to change. You are an idea of change. Change is fun! The only thing left to do is to choose the direction of change? What idea do you want to become NOW?

With all the new ideas that you have you will write your own book. Your book will change people in ways we can't even imagine. They will be very grateful for your help and they will love you. Your book will be very popular. Billions of copies will be sold all over the world. Your book will be translated on every language ever spoken. Your book will be above and beyond words. Your book will become a very powerful idea. Your idea is LOVE.

Universe is Energy. Everything around us is energy. Human beings are energy. Animals and trees are energy. There are three types of energy: positive, negative and neutral. Positive energy is the energy of Love. Negative energy is the energy of Domination. Neutral energy is the energy of Awareness. Any action is either an act of accumulation of energy, an act of release of energy or an act of exchange of energy. Energy never disappears it simply changes form. Scientists are aware of all of these facts but they are not aware of the meaning.

If you want to find out if this theory works or not try to observe yourself during the day and identify what kind of energy you are using each moment of your existence. The result will shock you. You might notice that a lot of people around you are playing "energy wars". Some of them are using negative energy. Their goal is to provoke you and force you to release your energy so that they can accumulate it. There are several ways to protect yourself. You can use neutral energy and refuse to participate in the "negative drama". You can use positive energy of love and "neutralize" negative energy. Or you can use negative energy of your own in order to win the energy war. Others will use different tactics. A person who is asking you a lot of irrelevant questions or who is telling you about his/her day is forcing you to focus and release your neutral energy of Awareness. If you refuse to participate you might hear something like: "You don't love me anymore". Making you feeling guilty is another way to steal your energy. Relationship is often abused in order to draw energy. For example, if your girl is asking you "Do you love me?" very often it is a signal that she has low energy level and she wants to use your energy. In a relationship where two people love each other the energy is constantly flowing between two people and there is no need for energy stealing. It's ok to give your energy to people who need it but if you do it often they will get used to it and they will use you as a "source" of the energy. This may lead to some serious problems. As time goes by such "energy vampire" will try to spend a lot of time with you. Not being together is not an option since without the "human source" "energy vampire" will feel very upset and annoyed which is an indicator that the energy level is down. The solution is to teach "energy vampire" how to find a source of energy and become self-sufficient being.

There are many ways to connect to the energy source. One way is meditation. I am connected to a source of neutral energy of Awareness. If I feel tired I can use meditation and draw as much energy as I need. It is very fast and convenient method and I recommend it to everyone. Another way to gain energy is to communicate with other people. If you send a positive energy of love you might connect to the source of energy of Love and you will gain as much energy as you want. Some people prefer negative energy of Domination. Participating in sport activities does the trick if you win. Have you noticed that when you win a game you feel enormous amount of joy? You dominated your opponent and you made him/her feel like a loser. As a result you receive a very powerful energy boost. Negative energy is not always bad. It can be very refreshing to feel its power from time to time. Keep in mind that if you get addicted to negative energy you will find yourself in trouble. You might disconnect yourself from the source of neutral energy and positive energy. People who use a lot of negative energy become obsessed with power. They will constantly provoke their family members and relatives and engage in "energy warfare". They will not be aware of their problem since in order to gain objectivity they need a dose of neutral or positive energy. This can lead to a lot of pain, suffering and violence.

Let's look at the "Spiritual energy wars" in a global perspective. U.S. is controlling global economy and popular culture and as a result drawing enormous amount of energy from the rest of the world. That makes a lot of people unhappy. Billions of people use negative energy against Americans and as a result they participate in a global energy war against US. A simple statement like "US will be destroyed" will produce a small amount of negative energy toward the destruction of US. Now imagine what would happen if you repeat that every day for five minutes. Imagine if billions of people repeat that statement for five minutes every day. Imagine the amount of negative energy that is accumulated toward the goal of destroying US. This enormous negative energy is already at work. The only way to stop it is to convince the creators of such energy to take it back. As you can imagine this scenario is very unlikely. If you're a citizen of US I would advise you to move to another country if you want to stay alive.

Sexual energy is one of the most powerful sources of neutral energy. You have an option of transforming sexual energy in either energy of love or negative energy. If you're dominating your partner or your partner dominating you during sex you're transforming that neutral energy into a negative energy of domination. According to Tanric tradition you should accumulate your semen (true for both male and female) and never ejaculate. During orgasm you're wasting enormous amounts of energy for no reason other than pleasure. If you accumulate your sexual fluids your body will redirect that energy in your "brow chakra" and your "crown chakra" (your energy centers). As a result you will experience an energy orgasm (positive energy of love) which can last for a very long time. There is no way to discribe the experience in words other than regular orgasm will look like a child's play.. There are special breathing exercises which will help you to do that. Practicing Kundalini yoga will accelerate your progress. You can acheive energy orgasm either alone or with a partner.

Let's talk about religions. I've spent a lot of time studying Buddhism and I am pretty sure that this religion is sponsored by the neutral energy of awareness. Although some Buddhist sects attempt to cultivate "loving-kindness" the major focus is on being free from "samsara" (process of reincarnation) and achieving Nirvana (state of pure awareness). Buddhism will teach you how to abandon dualistic way of thinking and connect to source of neutral energy of awareness. On the other hand Christianity is a religion of dualism. The message of love is mixed with the message of fear. Christians will tell you that God loves you with all his heart and he gave you free will and yet, you should not sin or you will burn in hell. Yet, if God didn't want you to do certain things why did he created the ability to do it? If you admit that man is not perfect that means that God is not perfect and that is not the truth. In my opinion Christianity is totally inconsistent. The reason for that is that it was created by Romans in order to dominate masses. As a result they combined positive energy of love with negative energy of domination. This proved to be very powerful mix. It allows a situation where one hand is healing while another hand is killing. The Bible was edited by hundreds of people for hundreds of reasons. If you want to know the original message of Christ read "The Gospel of Thomas".

He's actually somewhat intllegent, feigning ignorance and idiocy, and enlightenment. He's rahter interesting if you want to look into the speculation of it all. However, he is a dumbass, and an idiot. He's also annoying, and that story is well, hard to read after the first two sentences. Plus, it brought back my headache. So, therefor:

Personally, I think eScrew should be swiftly shot, hung by his small toes but floss, dangled over a vat of starving parranahs, beat with bats into the kneecaps, burned with a cigarrette, forced to smoke that cigarrette, keep him smoking cigarrettes until he talks like a robot, shoved into a mailbox, and sent into the middle of nowhere in Egypt where he can rot away where no one would have to blind themselves by looking at his worthless form. But that's just me.

Stop mocking him

Nah, he's kool. =)

Dude escrew shut the hell up man your annoying!

.... Well, whether it really matters or not, just stop posting in this thread and he'll probobly lose interest.

it is just that he is a forum troll- he was goggled last nite and has done the same thing to several forums

I troll plenty of forums, but no-one seems to give shit.

Guess not... Though, I hope he or one of the other mods locks this thread. ><

I could have sworn this was locked last nite- oh well

I like that website.

I'm not reading that bullshit. Isn't it interesting how I know it's bullshit, even before I've read it? I think it is.

How can eScrew be any stronger than eScrew was long ago if eScrew does not have control? (Welll that was hard to post . Bad grammar scares me .)

I think you mean quadruple post. o.O Anyways... Zen will ignore eScrew if eScrew keeps spamming useless things. >.> And don't speak like that. It's rather annoying, and grammatically incorrect.

I understand eScrew.

I test your patience in a second.

... Thus Escrew refuses the... "Symbol" of the first person? Gah. How strange of you.

Just one more. STOP TALKING ABOUT YOURSELF IN THIRD PERSON. ITS REALLY beep ME OFF. AND > DOUBLE POSTING ASWELL!!!

True, I think everyone should ignore this thread and not post in it.

Yeah so you basically admit to spamming on diffrent forums. I doubt you'll be here for much longer now.

Found another site.

Hmmm. Who is this Escrew anyhow? Scratches head

There is a bunch of other forums Escrew join on, this is just one of them. Wow a triple post.

Escrew was at it's best during a time when it was ran by a guy who didnt give a shit about it (oddity).

Hard to get a "symbol" kicked off its host.

Strike's mother should have declared a jihad on her unborn son.....with a coat hanger.

Maybe a retroactive abortion is in order? Strike is doing a number on his decadent western devil brain cells, suicide bombing them to death with cocktails, not molotov, but with a russian name in any case..

That kicked ass...

Hmm- "eScrew."..... Maybe another new-fangled fastener just intro'd? .... Does this mean I have to spend _more_ money on _another_ set of drivers for them??? Sheesh. Den

Ich bin zur Zeit abwesend. In dringenden Fällen wenden sie sich bitte an meine Vertretung

Hello, as you probably already know we can no longer see your posts at ATS. I understand your symbol language, but must read it a few more times to follow it totally. I see your birth and the symbology connected with it and the physical body and spirit. I would like to understand better, this is Ycon

Escrew, I will get back to you tomorrow night. I sent a message to the skepticoverlord to see what is going on with you. Lets see what he has to say first. Ycon

Escrew, I would like to help, but ATS has a rule that you can't copy and paste replies from someone else. I have gotten in trouble for it in the past. The most I can do is pretend like I am explaining your story. Me and you can write back and forth and I will rewrite what you say and put it into my words. If you just want to me to post your story, all I need is your permission to post it, which you already have. Before I do, I would like to know a little more about Escrew, so I can add a little more to the post. Please help us understand how you came about this story and your location, nationality and age. Ycon Escrew, the changes on your story are terrible. I wont be posting it anywhere.

Escrew story also has a symbol of censorship which is not proper to the symbol of youth. The symbol of innocense is affected by the symbol of language presented to the symbol of youth. The symbol of light and the symbol of darkness need to come together in the symbol of words without the censorship symbol which is placed on the symbol of a website, so you see the symbol of escrew and the symbol of escrew story will never find a symbol of completness until the symbol of escrew find a proper symbol of language that does not get the symbol of censorship. The symbol of Ycon eScrew owns me? Goody. I have some maintenance charges eScrew needs to pay on it's "property".. where shall I send the bill?

What a bourgeois way of thinking!

While hanging out with George and Brenda Wirth this weekend after Shelipalooza, George and I were shooting the breeze over coffee about silly posts, silly responses, and silliness on newsgroups in general. I think the catch-all phrase "too much time on his/her hands" came up once or twice. One place in the newsgroup universe with a particular bent for zany (read: wacko!) posts was the Dylan newsgroup, at which we both lurk occasionally. This morning I stopped there and found what I think may well be the strangest post I've ever seen. My newsgroup reading really is pretty limited, but I've certainly NEVER seen anything here at rmmga to come close to this gem. Here's a very small part: eScrew is eScrew and this is eScrew story. This ends what I copied, but it's only the very beginning of a VERY long post. If you wish to view the post in its entirety, it's at the Dylan group under "eScrew". I realize that many of us spend too much time on the computer, but this is..... just mind-numbing. OK..... Now I have to go out and start my shopping..... Enough of this computer stuff. Norman (I Mean Bizarre!!) Draper

You are right, that is pretty strange. I wonder if the guy has read "Confederacy of Dunces." I had a New Orleans ex-friend who referred to himself by an affectionate pet name and wrote in non-stop, running-on, run-on-sentences. He was funny, too, but I didn't have time to read him. We aren't friends anymore. We aren't even acquaintances anymore. I told him that he thought he was Gollum pretending to be Ignatius Reilly. Sensitive bloke he was. Thanks for the eScrew read. :o) Ken, who never speaks of himself that way.

OK folks maybe I am the one here who is not getting it but strange doesn't even begin to cover this post. STUPID come to mind first. I don't know what this clown is on but what ever it is I sure wouldn't want any. Getting the weird, strange or stupid is the ordinary for any NG. I guess there will always be people like this, but don't count me among there fans. Larry

Oh, come on, Larry, lighten up. :o) It is Christmas. We need the strange and the eccentric around these days. The smart, level-headed ones can cause us more problems because there is more of them and they are harder to recognize. Think of this guy not as a dim bulb, but as an occasional strobe in an otherwise dark, uninteresting night. Ken

He posted that drivel everywhere:

I must not be anywhere. I didn't see it. (Thanks again, Norm.) :o) Ken Hey Norm... caught your headline and thought you were posting song lyrics... but... weren't the lyrics strangest DREAM I've Ever Had..., and I don't recall the word "screw" being in that song anywhere. Okay, you know I know the lyrics, and you probably do too. :) Regards, Arlene

Don't know how to tell you this nicely Norm, but the stragest posts I've ever seen are some of the stories of what you have done to good guitars ... csj

>OOPS, >it's a medical center... >one of the sick got access to a computer. Not necessarily. On sci.astro.amateur, there were a bunch of forged posts containing long book quotations which crossposted to news.admin.net-abuse.email. At first the headers indicated they were coming from a server in Italy, but then the next batch had perfectly forged headers that, in all their fields, looked like real posts from the forgery victims. So there is a new forgery technique going the rounds out there. John Savard

I got so bored with just the first pragraph that I have no idea whether it is amusing or not. With good luck, I will never find out.

I hear you brother, and I feel your pain! I can tell that you've tried and tried to get the ignorant masses to understand ...and all for naught! There's only one effective way to solve this intolerable problem once and for all: End your life. At this point, it's your only real option. When you look at the big picture (as you have), surely you see that it's the best you can realistically hope for, given the situation. Seriously, aren't you fed up with it yet? Things being as they are, sooner or later you need to stop grasping at straws trying to convince the unenlightened. Eventually you must take the matter into your own hands. I hear the Japs do it at the drop of a hat. And after all that' s happened, when one considers the issues as thoroughly as you have, doesn't it become clearer and clearer that the whole problem can only be addressed by this one global solution? Yes, I know that no one else will understand -- that's the whole point: when you face the facts, surely you must admit that the only real choice you have left now is to do the honorable thing. =[d

Actually, this yoyo's been posting the same message on several of the other newgroups I subscribe to. It reminds me of, say, a bored and mischievous adolescent who, a generation ago, would place a call to a radio chat show, get on the air with the host, blurt out an obscenity, and then quickly hang up.

In Mexico I ran across a curious dictionary that contains 25,000 variations of the work 'Chingar'. The language is called 'Chingoles' and is fluently spoken by millions of people. May I suggest that you begin an eScrew dictionary and share your new language with the world.

OK, you spamming jerk, I'm posting yet another abuse report. If everyone does perhaps we can get  Google to actually do something about the spam their system is allowing onto Usenet.

I'm starting to see an explanation to the Fermi paradox here... Maybe spam from one of these poor souls has already reached ET (no one is safe) and now we're on their 'black list'? Yeah, well, most of us function 3 dimensionally only. A severe handicap. I don't know if you have the time or inclination to change quantum levels.. but in the off chance that you do.. I note that things can be changed more to the way you would like to see them be. If not universally, then at least, locally.

uh. somebody's got a screw loose.

so what is important to you is the meta-level of the symbolism of having symbols around. Keep trying, you may still learn...

In the meanwhile, it is time to killfile this turkey. Enjoy, DoN.

Just a curiosity, could anything be gleaned from when it was posted coincidental to any other postings at the time? Respectfully, Ron Moore

Considering that it is hitting lots of newsgroups, I don't think so. What newsgroup would they actually be posting in as a normal user (if any)? I found it in 61 different newsgroups, and I only get a partial news feed. This includes (appropriately enough) "news.admin.net-abuse.usenet" :-) I've just modified the spelling in the Subject line (added spaces) so this discussion won't be killed by my filters. The best choice is to just add it to filters.

About as funny as an iron lang.

Neat!

After my joke i was looking at the words and they dont seem right. Either this person is a lunatic or it could be an encription. Just the conspiracy theroist in me talking but ya never know ;)

Actually, I think you may be right. Theres some numbers in there as well... maybe some importance. Send it to the FBI or call them and report it. Could be terrorist related.

I couldn't find anything either funny or related to motorcycles in this. Did I miss something?

> Did I miss something? Here have another...think of that post as a particularly small bug hitting the bug zapper. Cheap entertainment: 1 Bug Zapper + 4 cases of beer + one fine summers evening = quality entertainment with little rishk of inshuries. Oh and mind the bottle tops, damn dog knocked the trash barrel over.

Christ, who needs IRC when you've got a fast USENET server.

Hey, I'm enjoying it while it lasts. I'm stuck with a dial-up that at best will give me 44kbps...more often than not it's 42.4kbps.

Ahh, the perfect New Years Day email present.

Net sex takes a bit longer.

anyone ever hear of eScrew?? eScrew me.... eScrew you... WTF??

eScrew = eGO!!

Well, it made it funnier, I thought.... SCREW YOU, HIPPIE!!! ;)

Get lost, ya fascist pig! =)

But where's the part about "In Soviet Russia,..." ?

someone with a LOT of time on their hands and a psychological problem? I dont get it. mark oppat

"Funny story about chem" nothing funny at all!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! shut up, and don't contaminate our forum.

Yes, that was hilarious. Now get fucked.

Who runs eScrew.com? We've had a rash of idiot spammers from eScrew posting such junk as: "I can't believe this! Link 1 to eScrew Link 2 to eScrew Link 3 to eScrew Link 4 to eScrew" etc. Quite annoying so I've put eScrew.com in my banned words list. I know it runs vB so the owner has to be around here somewhere -- if it is you please STOP spamming our forums or I will contact your ISP and have your account yanked.

Matt, you're not the only site that has had problems from members of ecrew lately.

I grow tired of the few that we recieve and its board of only 152...

So it is something they/he are/is known to do? Ok thanks!

I just checked your site, you have a "Victim of the day" thread where you pick a target and send your minions.

Yeah and how about you yourself MR STrike signing into my old member name on your very own site and psoting all sorts of garbage about me? Watch how quickly this gets back, he will say something like Odil is crying about blah blah blah... and he will post it using my very own member name on his board. Odil

LOL you must be joking right?

For one thing, I would never go back to your site with all of your members racist comments. Anyone want to see what I mean? Do a search on his board (escrew) for the member name of Odil and you will see what I mean. Lots of stuff from the past few weeks I am sure. Odil

Where?

Trying to educate them is like trying to tell a ferret no. I am done replying here. Odil

This bickering is not appropriate here.

Hi everyone Well I am having a hug problem with people coming to my site who are coming from another site I posted at for a short time. That site is escrew.com and alot of those people are rascist people who don't care who agrees with what they say. Well one of them came over to my board and started right away flaming my members. I banned him right then and there. well off and on, other people from that site are coming over and purposefully starting trouble without being invoked. Now according to this thread it looks like more trouble is on the way. That link is from their site talking about mine. Befors I read that thread, I had banned at least 5 differant people who came over and started the same thing. What can I do other than banning them? Nothing? Our board

restrict registration in your admin cp -> options -> vbulletin options -> [user and registration options] . there are several methods in there. i would moderate new registrations (so they can't post until you give the "ok").

I think I may do that for a few days. Thanks! Odil

Hi again Is it possible to allow new users posts to go in to a moderation que, then I approve them to be posted? Odil post moderation is at the forum level, not the group level.... so no firefly (or another vB dev), this is in vB3 right?

Not with vBulletin, but there is a hack for this at vBulletin.org.

I've had "invasions" before. just require email notification, temporarily ban hotmail/yahoo emails (be sure to keep from banning current, the option below) every troll post delete/move to private recycle bin. don't address it.. they want the attention from it.. be real discreet and quiet, and they'll get bored and go away

Well they will soon run of out ips and user names and email addresses I hope. I did try moderating new members for a few new members just now but to me it sounds like I would be imprisoning them. I guess I will just keep banning, and deleting till they give up. I am so sad at how mean people can be to people they don't even know. Odil

Not suprising coming from that site If they have dail up modem, they get a new ip every time they connect to the internet. If they are not using AOL, your best try is to e-mail their ISP

Odil, I am having the same problem, with the same group of people. I turned off new registrations yesterday after deleting over 50 posts, and banning a half dozen members. I sent strike (webmaster of escrew) a PM, to find out what the heck is wrong, but have not yet heard back. Good luck with your forums!

Send them to here then to the emails they register with, send them PMS and i'm sure they will be hugged sooner or later

Ok several months ago, I had posted on a forum many of you may know about but not want to ever join, that board is escrew. As many of you may know, that board seems to be filled with 12-16 year old punks who sneek in to use Daddys computer while he is at work. I had not posted on that site more than 10 times after people on that site began personally attacking my sister and I. Well I went there to read something someone had referenced in a post on my forums and well to my surprise, there is my member name set up exactly the way I left it, posting these rediculous posts there. I have no doubt who the person is who is logging onto my old account there, the same person who other board members there has said is logging into at least 5 other peoples accounts. There are no moderators on that board other than the owner who posts there and does not deny the fact that he is using other members accounts. This is the same board whos members have "who can get banned first" on this or that message board. I have had more than my share of these losers on my forums. Any thoughts on what I have said especially about the owner using my member name and others? Odil

I think the admin for that site posts here occasionally. Or in vB.org... Not sure. I'd contact him, ask him to remove the posts.

Um he is the one using the other members accounts. There are no other admins or mods on that board and he doesn't deny he is using them.

he posts here.. him and sinecure are close.. one of them will see this...

hey odil. you know who I am, I'm sure. and I'm sure you'll ban me in a second but I'm not here to start a fight or spam your board. first it's not strike posting as you that would be some one else who hates you even more. though strike is giving away the passwords to acounts that are no longer used. second of all. if you don't want us coming here than dont come to escrew. I thought me and DLD agree'd that there would be no cross board posting. it's the only way to keep the peace. take er easy. and to any escrewers who read this and wana flame me take it to escrew. I'll smoke you there.

It's nice to know i shut down an illegal VB.. Sure this has been said before, but i got a smile on my face when i went back to a site i reported a week or so back too see it have a PHPBB critical error... Ah, so goooooood.... Do i get a cookie now? Please...

Probably not as good as I felt after getting eScrew down. Got 'em down on their first host, then they came back as the First Ammendment Project, then went all Buddhist, then went gone completely. @_@

Really?

This reminds me of those door-to-door missionaries that used to bug me until I told them I didn't believe in anything . I'm willing to bet that whole topic will appear on eScrew as well.

Yeah, you are. And other industrialized nations have similar laws. A board that struck me as interesting was eScrew, they have nothing but adult content and yet no COPPA registration or any way to verify registration.

That's because they don't have to comply. COPPA only applies to sites that are directed at children. From the FTC site: "If you operate a commercial Web site or an online service directed to children under 13 that collects personal information from children or if you operate a general audience Web site and have actual knowledge that you are collecting personal information from children, you must comply with the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act." There's a lot of mis-information about COPPA out there.

Okay, but what constitutes "for children"?

Well, not porn, not adult discussions a la Salon... Really, it's not that hard to figure out. Hardly any vB's I've seen have been directed at children. "To determine whether a Web site is directed to children, the FTC considers several factors, including the subject matter; visual or audio content; the age of models on the site; language; whether advertising on the Web site is directed to children; information regarding the age of the actual or intended audience; and whether a site uses animated characters or other child-oriented features." Here's the link. COPPA is only relevant when you are actively collecting information from children, i.e. a poll or contest on the Lego site.

You don't have to have it enabled, but it doesn't hurt. Unless you're specifically dedicated to kids fishing, it's not required. You can have whatever nudity you want, as long as you're not aiming it at kids.

Be aware that COPPA is only a protective measure. The only time it will become relevant is if a youngster falls into trouble on your site. It's when the child's parents sue, that's when COPPA will be present to either protect you, or prosecute you. If you keep all other precautions, you should be safe.

There's the soft "if you have actual knowledge" qualification though. If you run a forum with some mature content (IE swearing) and you operate it as if your user base is adult, and you're not knowingly solicting information from children, you don't need COPPA. Don't let COPPA scare you.

how to avoid and get rid of escrew Who is escrew? escrew is an unorganised group of people who attack forums by writing bulk nonsence. the backbone ist the URL escrew.com. this URL ist redirected to the forum temporarly under attack. What can be done against escrew? Since they come from the domain escrew.com it is simple to block all user comming from this domain. this best works with mod-rewrite, an extension to the apache web server. the code to apomplish is is: Code: RewriteEngine On RewriteCond %{HTTP_REFERER} ^http://www.escrew.com/.$ [NC] RewriteCond %{HTTP_REFERER} ^http://escrew.com/.$ [NC] RewriteRule ^/(.)$ - [F] simply put it into your httpd.conf file and restart the server What can i do to not to be an aim of escrew? Well, the person running the escrew.com domain mostly surfs the net via cable by rogers.com. Since this is a small company, you do not lost too many visiters, if any at all, when blocking all their customers. this way the leader of escrew will hardly be attracked by your web site since he will not see it. The mod_rewrite code for this is: Code: RewriteEngine On RewriteCond %{REMOTE_ADDR} ^66\.185\. RewriteRule ^/(.*)$ - [F] Or leave out the first line if you have already included the code above. Why do people do that? I don't know, really. here is a statment from owner of the domain name: http://www.prweb.com/releases/2001/5/prweb24564.php What else can you do? escrew is using a service by redirection.net to acomplish the redirection. write to support@redirection.net and ask them to quit services with escrew. I guess if enough people explain the situation, the will cacel services - they only make 15 $ on escrew... What else should i know about escrew? The person running escrew also knows a bit of vBulletin. He had vBulletin on his site as well. He is here in this Forum too, under the name strike but since he doesn't run his own Forum anymore, he not here anymore. A post by strike Why am i posting this here? I thought anyone with a board under attack will go the the place for help, where he bought the software. And he/she will search for escrew and hopefully find this message how to get rid of those people. Another reason is that he uses this very Forum to seek other victims, as seen on this thread http://www.vbulletin.com/forum/showthread.php?threadid=61051 the thread is only 4 posts long - read it and them go to http://www.zen-forum.com : it shut down. I by chance knew this forum and just check out google (http://www.google.com/search?q=zen+site:zen-forum.com) to see how big it was - in fact it was one of the largest Buddhist/Zen Board around. If your want to know which board is under attack at the moment check out http://www.escrew.com and watch the take-over.

Sorry but this is spam. Closed.

In a perfect world, people are supposed to police themselves, and so they are bound to respect one another. But, this is not a perfect world, and there are a lot of boards out there where you get kids who post all over the place like they own it, and do not care what people think. That is where admins and mods step in--to keep the place from destroying itself. Most boards that folded up are the ones who have little moderation in place, and everyone just basically stepped on each other. Ironically, I would think this board is moderated, so like a post here said, we wonder why you're even here in the first place.

There is a difference between moderation and censorship. Moderation is, in relation to BB's, closing a thread because it becomes a huge flame, or moving a thread because its in the wrong forum. Censorship, however, is bleeping out words. I believe in moderation mainly because I don't want my members hating each other, however, they can cuss all they want and I don't mind. -Vic

Moderation is only neccesary to remove posts that are racist posts, mock events such as that of september 11th, and keep swearing to a general low. A little cursing here and there isn't going to ruin someones virgin ears. In my opinion moderators are needed.

It all depends on what your board is about. If it's a free-for-all place where anything goes, then yeah moderation might interfere. However, if you're trying to build a friendly community moderation is an absolute must.

To have a professional, well-visited forum you need moderation. For most of us, we aim to make our forums among the best in the industry - to be known by many people across whatever industry we focus on. A forum without moderation doesn't have a hope of achieving that.

a board without moderation would be a out of control post-fest, it just dont make sense, moderation is a must and very necessary

I'll be damned if anyone uses my forum for warez, among other things(previously mentioned). The problem is the boards with arrogant moderators. They cause problems...but then again, just don't go there. Places with NO moderators at all are often not a fun place to be, though. What really irritates me about moderators and a community is every action is scrutanized. People don't understand that just because they don't think someone shouldn't be banned for warez doesn't mean that that will actually happen. Things like that REALLY get on my nerves.

it is i think, but from looking at the first page on your site it looks like you are very interested in things uncensored , just becareful with your sense of humor and dont take it too far. i have no idea what happen but it looks like thats whats happened

So you think there's a such thing as a good poster? Even the best poster is not perfect and so he/she will eventually make a silly thread like this one. And if there is no such thing as a good poster, then why go to any bulletin board at all? Mark Hewitt made an excellent point. If your moderators have given you this image of moderators then you need different moderators.

Unfortunately that's true. We are all utterly devoid of any meaningful sense of humor. It's part of the job description that we must adhere to if we want to remain as vB Moderators!

The problem with your post wasn't our so-called lack of sense of humour. I think it is unacceptable for two reasons (and this is the first time I've seen it - just taken a look now). First it is parodising the extremely popular vB Board of the Month contest - not a great idea in the same forum which that contest takes place in. Secondly, I think I can speak for most of the members here when I can say we simply do not want to know about what you posted - it's not a topic that crosses my mind very often, and I'm sure that's the case for most other members. If you've got a problem with our actions here as moderators, then put up with them. Nothing about the way this forum is moderated is going to change, and I'm sure most people will agree that it is fairly well-moderated at the moment.

Don't you think there should be a contest called: "The SICKEST vB Board of the Month contest"??? or "The WEIRDEST vB Board of the Month contest"??? or "The MOST SHOCKING vB Board of the Month contest"??? I think that would be really fun contest. If anyone else want such contest please cast your vote in support of my idea. Thanks!

Let's see... After looking at your forums, your original post makes sense. The top thread on the forum at the time was this: "how many girls have you fucked", by "dateRape" With forum content like yours, no wonder you don't believe in moderators. Some forums want to maintain direction and relevance, and thus rely on moderation. Some, like yours, are free-for-alls. There's room for both, but you should really have qualified your outrage with "Bad Moderators." I'm off... Gotta see if these threads have been updated: Please don't post innappropiate thread titles

Good moderators are only determined by how good the admins keep them in check .. hence, if you encounter bad, abusive moderators, their admin is usually an idiot

Funny, that.

I generally let ppl post whatever they want on my board, as long as its not racist, pron or illegal stuff (warez etc). I run the board just for fun, and its great just acting goofy and talking about weird things. I really dont need any mods, because we rarely get flamewars, and I hardly have enough ppl on my board to warrant more than 1 mod. I just add mods for the hell of it I or the mods usually close a thread if it remotely heads into a flamewar. But since the forum has been up since July of last year, I've yet to ban anyone. I just want my forum to be laid back, and ppl can talk about whatever. If they really want a serious political discussion there are a million other forums for politics and debates etc. But thats just me.

I've seen your forum, Strike, and it looks like a bunch of 12 year olds who finally found a place where they can misbehave without being spanked. If that's what you were aiming for, then congratulations, you have been successful. I think you will find that most adults don't really care for that kind of site.

And it looks like you're trying to be spanked right here. /me puts on flame gloves...hoping...waiting...

It is not bad moderation when done in threads that are lampooning the very act of moderation.

If taking sides means defending themselves, like they are doing here...then you're correct. Please learn to spell...before trying to "proove" any more of your "points".

this thread = boring

Not only is it boring...but it's bait. I'm going over there ------>

Ok...I didn't quite leave yet. Your credibility and any chance of being listened to are decreasing with each and every glaring spelling and grammar error you make in each and every post. You should spend less time pretending to be a stud on your weak ass website and more time doing your homework... Now...I'm going over there with smachol and his enormous signature.

LOL, hilarious that someone who reiterates that moderation is a bad/boring thing will now demand it ... kinda fun to contradict yourself, eh?

Strike, if you hate moderation so much, then dont post here. You stated yourself that you WILL NOT post on any board with moderators or has moderation. Well, believe it or NOT, you can't even hold true to that claim which means: You're a troll and the only attention you can get is trying to "start" a "flame" war just so you can get the attention (which basically is what this thread is turning into). IF YOU dont like moderation, FINE, that's your opinion. YOu have a site that doesn't have moderation, then hang out over there. THIS IS A business site (if you haven't noticed) and what is reflected on this board is ALSO a reflection on the company that produces this product. If a person who is checking out the software comes to this board to see "who is here" and see nothing but FLAMES and swearing, would the consider in dealing with a company that CAN't even moderate or control its own users who post here? If you're a grown adult then YOU should know when certain behaviour is accepted and when it's not. So, either hold to your claim of not posting to boards with moderators (which is about 99% of all forums out there) and leave, or behave and see what moderation can do to HELP your community. BTW, IF YOU knew anything about using your board, you'd know who posted that thread/post because their IP would have been shown (to the admin), and blaming "us" for that post only shows your immaturity and lack of common sense. This thread should be closed, for all our sakes.

They dont take sides, again assumption on your part is wrong. They will delete threads that are insulting, harassing, sexually explicit or promote illegal acts (warez). ITS still a community and there is no REASON To delete this thread (it does pertain to how forums are run; without moderation: yours a good example and with: 99% of those on here who does). We have to wonder why your "mantra" doesn't work so well in the real world. There is nothing insulting in this thread, though you are testing peoples patience with your tripe. Bad moderation (IMO) is your board, and the funny thing is that even with all that is going on your site, you could be getting your site into major trouble with the ISP you are with (they might have rules against certain activities on their servers) or postings on your forum could lead to a potential crime. There is nothing on your board to be "happy" about; I'd for one would be ashamed to see that this kind of thing is ACCESSIBLE to kids (I doubt you even run coppa -= which bTW is required by law in the US and which your server resides on - vdi.net)

Then your claim is false, and that makes you "a liar". In all fairness, you put yourself into this predicament. YOU badmouth moderators saying that they are ALL BAD, but as pointed out to you SEVERAL times, that moderators are only as bad as ADMINS let them to be. ANd you made the assumption that moderation is bad, and it has been pointed out to you SEVERAL times that moderation is needed should you have a more directed site that wants to remain civil. Flames and wars and tantrums are the result of different opinions of their posters, but an argument can still be held without resulting to swearing, harassment and the occasional sexual content. YOUR site is uncivil; there's the difference. Sorry, the world doesn't revolve around you or your site. No one insulted you (just pointed out that instead of spending time on your forum, you should be spending more time proofreading your postings). Mispellings are common but when the author of a post doesn't even bother to re-read what he/she has posted, the readers will have a less time trying to take anything they say seriously. Right now, I dont even take you seriously, because your behavior is that of a TROLL. What you need to do is get away from your uncivil site and try out those sites that are moderated and see what happens there. IF YOU can't find a board without moderators, then thats your problem. NOT OURS. So dont make your problem our problem. IF you can't find a board without moderators, maybe that's telling you something...huh?

I wasn't flaming, I was stating my opinion. I've looked at your board several times, just out of curiousity, and I never saw anything compelling enough to make me want to stay. If you consider that flaming, perhaps you need to thicken your skin before trying to start arguments.

If you can't see in this statement above why we disagree with you, then the only person who needs to be "moderated" is you. YOu assumed he was flaming, and he wansn't, which only shows that you are prone to start wars, arguments and are not "thick skinned" enough to handle any argument you start. Need to get away from bad influence, cause they aren't doing you any good. You have had several "intellegent" responses from this thread alone; many of which gave you the justification for moderation. The only "agressive" behaviour being shown is you jumping down our throats when we give you those justifications. To understand both sides, you must be willing to accept the reasoning of others, and then be able to contribute your side without being offensive, and defensive. We said moderation is needed when its needed. You can have an unmoderated board if you want; that's your business. WE choose to have moderated boards and we find the advantages of moderated boards to be over unmoderated boards. Its good to have a place to vent your frustrations; i personally dont do it online or on a forum. I just go out to my garage and hit the punching bag or practice my judo on my cousin (who can kick my @$$ anyway).

According to this logic we shouldn't have homes, cars, spouses, kids, etc. Heck, even the best admins are not perfect, why even run a bulletin board? Nothing is perfect. Why even live at all? Oh geez, now I'm depressed. Well there is the gay guy with the female cartoon avatar that pretends he's a woman and gets everyone to talk dirty to him.

What the Fuxk

I don't think this is the correct place for such a post. But then again I could be wrong...

i think it was a waste of time typing that so i hope you copied n pasted it from somewhere theres no way on gods fine earth im going to read all that so in actual fact yeah ! you wasted your time

It's sad that you don't crave any knowledge and are only interested in posts such as "omg lol that was funny". If any post is over 2 paragraphs people can't be assed to read it, todays people are such lazy bastards.

If I recall correctly, this same member made a post a while back linking to his website and it was locked for spam. He is returning to see if he can make it "legit." You can find his previous post at http://www.vbulletin.com/forum/showthread.php?t=86793 . I think it's in rather poor taste to repost something that was obviously not appreciated by the admins.

Yeah, but last time he just posted a link to his website. This time he actually pasted the article in his post.

hi, im remya. i was browsing the net loking for positive and negative energies andcame across ur post. i was very glad that at least there is some one else in this world who believes in my philosophy. i entirely agree with ur concept of positive, negative and neutral energy. can any one explain who is god and where does he reside. god is simply the sum total of all the enrgies in this universe. the source of all energies in the universe. that is the universal energy of which all of us are a part of. the scientists have discovered all the facts regarding energy and energy transformation etc. but none was able to corelate it with god. the source of positive and negative energy is neutral. its us those who convert it into positive or negative. The energy which fills this entire universe is what we call god. the negative is called satan in terms of christianity. in this context lets analyse what soul is. its nothing but the energy with in us. when we die, where does that energy go. both christianity, hinduism and other religions believe in the existance of soul. but the exact nature of soul remain unexplained . the reason is soul being energy is not visible nor can be felt. when we talk of liberation of soul, what is meant is that our energy gets mixed up with the universal energy instead of passing it in to another body. if we can think in terms of energy all our confusions will dissapear. Mr. viktor, when ever great philosophers like jesus and some onewho said the earth is round, and men evolved from apes spoke out the truth, people thought they were insane and insulted them. the blind people cant appreciate what vision is if a person with vision describes it to them. like wise the ignorant cant appreciate knowledge. so please dont get disheartened by the sircastistic comments of people. i know u wont let negative energy flow in to u. please continue to post such valuable ideas. thanks

In many states in the USA, you would be considered a manditory reporter... meaning that, if you have any reason to think that someone may have abused a child, then you are required by state law to report it to the authorities. Please visit this link for more information... http://www.acf.dhhs.gov/programs/cb...ons/rpt_abu.htm I understand you're in Toronto, but maybe Canada has similar laws to protect children. Please make some calls. If the first contact you call says that they can't help you, then please call someone else. Don't be quickly put off from taking action. Many people might not know what you can do, so they will assume you can't do anything, and they'll say that with a "voice of authority". Please... keep trying.

Please see my above post for some contact info ^^. Also, please disable that user's ability to edit or delete his own posts... the authorities may want to read everything he's written.

First of all, please remove that link... I haven't looked at it... but if it's a link to child porn, then please please please remove it. WAIT... I mean remove it from the vbulletin forum. Don't remove it from YOUR forum... instead, move that particular post to a forum which only you can access. AGAIN, please disable that user's ability to delete or edit his own posts.

tubedogg, thank you for removing that link. Strike, contact the authorities in the state in which that user lives. Tell them everything you can. It's their job to analyze the evidence... not yours.

Track him down through his ISP.

This is not the place to post his personal info. You need to contact the authorities about this - and you need to do it now.

If you need help in "how" to track someone down through his ISP, I think it's okay to ask for general instructions. You don't have to post his actual IP and email address, in order to get instructions. I would help you with this... but I don't know the answer. Would someone please help out?

You can use Sam Spade to trace the IP address and find out who to contact. However I would just contact the Police and give them all the information you have.

Just report him to author. they will investigate further and handle it

Strike, that's commendable. Many people would have looked the other way. You took action. Did you leave your contact info, so that the FBI can contact you with any questions? I would also contact his ISP in order to... (1) Let them know for their own reasons. (2) Find out which state he's in... if he's in the USA. This is because reporting child abuse is handled state-by-state... it's not a federal situation, according to the info found at the URL that I posted in the beginning of this thread. So, in case the federal agency can't, or won't, investigate, I'd tell that user's local authorities as well. Telling the local authorities may actually be more important than telling the federal authorities.

it would not surprise me if you have many pedophile's on your board.

Contact your local police. They can then forward it to the RCMP and the US FBI if necessary.

I have some knowledge in this. Child pornography is a very serious offence, but the FBI reporting system online takes too long to process (there is a lot of 'questionable' material out there where you cannot tell the age of the person). Many companies intentionally get eighteen year olds that look fourteen or fifteen for profits (even though there are now strict laws about this). Contact your local FBI branch and simply report it. By reporting it, you've done your part and get the child porn off your website immediatly (but get proof of it). By hosting child porn (even if you don't even know you have it) you are in violation of the law. Make sure you're dealing with child porn before giving the FBI (and INTERPOL, maybe) more work. Family pictures, artistic pictures, etc, are not considered child porn. Unless the material is explicit (genitilia exposed in a provacative way, etc) then it's technically not child porn.

any playing of junior detective that you do has the potential to screw up the legal case. You recieved some good advice. You have reasonable cause to believe that he is involved in child pornography so you need to contact the authorities.

maybe canada is a little different but while it may not be admissible for a conviction it could certainly help in forming probable cause for a search warrant....

yup.. doesn't seem like you have a lot of choices.... Sorry dude it sucks to have it happen on your board... but look at the good side maybe you have a chance to save some poor kid from this crap...

Make sure you have COPPA enabled, your site has adult content and you don't even verify email addresses during registration.

You run the Jerry Springer community judging by your forums .. Heh .. just kidding ..

Maybe his communty just puts the 'fun' back in dysfunctional!

nope no cookies community smells like a russian word

I know a community is doing well when a user comes back after a long (or even short) abscence, and more than one person says 'welcome back, we missed you'

Simple way to resolve this: Does "tmachine" (or whatever her name was) still post there?

Friend? You have some freaky friends!

Maybe you could write an e-aids mod/hack for your members. You know, you e-screw you get e-aids. It's only fair as I see it. If the only life you have is e-screwing, then you should have the opportunity of getting some computer mangleing disease that renders your hard drive useless. First Amendment Rights have been used to protect just about everything except its original intention. I'm happy e-screw is a canadian business. Nice flag. Best wishes, Hooper

some of us are lazy - www.escrew.com

Yes that site is just so intelligent that they have a thread discussing sites that they can have a banning contest on. Some people have mental problems there I have noticed. I have my go around with them.... They even have a link to the page here that lists everyones vB sites so they can choose sites to cause trouble. Odil

Damn and I thought my Sleazy Sex Story forum was weird lol

That aint weird, it's just shit. I dont visit many other boards so dont really know any other 'weird' ones.

Thanks Jake... now you've just led some kids down the dark path of no return...

Is he running a legal vB? He should have his license revoked for this banning contest etc crap.

Oh dear, look what I've started...

Yes he runs a legal board unfortunately. Several months ago, he was offering people their own copy of his EScrew board for like $7 a month run off his own server untill he was shown that what he was doing was illegal. Someone then posted a link where they could get it for free. This is what you get when you refuse to ban anyone. Odil only if he is violating the license agreement. banning contests are not against the agreement - http://www.vbulletin.com/license.html

he's board is a q3w R&R wannabe board. but like I said earlier, if you have a problem with people on his board, or inciting things, then report it to his host. Show them something and they will take action (usually) by the way, strike, nice avatar. a person on my site's the one that made it. glad you like it

His host, hostrocket, is a joke. They are the AOL of hosts.

LOL that's true, go to WHT and that's all you see "HOSTROCKET IS shit" etc Anyway, weirdest board I've seen will have to be mine escrew just got suspended: http://www.webhostingtalk.com/showthread.php?s=&threadid=83673&highlight=escrew edit -guess the nuked they thread. It was entertaining to say the least. As for HR, they offer more than any host I've seen so far, but thats just about the only reason I've stuck with em. We've been getting poor (or outage) performance recently, and its becoming a real annoyance. Shopping around now for another host that can offer what HR offers for the same price, or close to it (VO is a bit pricy but we might have to bite the bullet anyway).

Damn I missed the show! Can someone summarize what happened to escrew?

Fortunatly, I saw the thread before it was killed. Basically, escrew had a lot of members that had posted pornographic material in the form of attachments and avatars. Their account was suspended and now escrew is looking for a new host.

I take it he got reported to his host

You sure the contract isn't nullified is you break their terms?

Not true. It depends what they have in their TOS.

And a company like host rocket will have taken something like this into account (I can imagine you're not the first that they've done this to)

It's your responsibility to read the TOS, if you don't agree to it, you don't sign up. You can just say you were too lazy, you have to "Agree to the TOS to continue". The TOS will say that they reserve the right to suspended or shut down any site that contains warez or adult material because let's face it, all hosts do that. So, the contract gives them the right to do what they did. You think they would knowingly go against a contract? Hosts like these shut down sites hosting content like that left and right. It's nothing new to them. You're going to end up losing more money if you go off on some shooting spree with a lawyer. Good luck

Here is what they say Agreement Between HostRocket.Com And All Customers Activities Subject to Immediate Deactivation. Any Hosting Account that is used for Illegal, Abusive or Unethical Activity may be immediately deactivated by us without warning to you. Any misuse or overuse of the server will result in immediate deactiveation of an account. Illegal, Abusive or Unethical Activities include, but are not limited to inclusion of or linking to, pornography, mp3's, obscenity, nudity, violations of privacy, hacking, irc related scripts and programs, non approved server scripts, eggdrops, computer virus, gambling, or promotion of gambling, and any harassing or harmful materials or uses, as determined by us. You agree to indemnify and hold us harmless from any claim resulting from your publications or use of Illegal, Abusive or Unethical materials. Although we will make reasonable efforts to alert you to such activities and allow you an opportunity to cure them within a 12-hour period after discovery, we are not required to give notice before deactivating your use of our services if, in our discretion, your use is or results in Illegal, Abusive or Unethical activities. If a Hosting Account is disabled, the regular monthly fees still apply. You still think you can sue them?

And they can fight the charge by providing proof of what you've done, the violations, and their TOS.

But if the credit card company refuses to honor your chargeback you'll be stuck with it. If you don't pay it it'll get sent to a credit agency, where interest/penalties will accrue, and your credit will be damaged. But beyond the credit issue, I think you should just swallow this bitter pill. It was your fault for not abiding by the TOS you agreed to. Perhaps they should credit you for the remaining unused credit, but you don't have a right to a full refund. To try getting that via a chargeback would show a bad faith effort on your part.

Who's Brendan?

Man so your adding slander/libal to your list??? If you chargeback, HR can fully pursue your credit card company to reverse it, and get the money back, if your credit card company is stuck with the bill, they'll be more than happy to mark it down on your credit history that you refuse to pay bills... Whenever I have a user that breaks my TOS and I suspend them, and they try the charge back crap, I always contest it with logs.. So far only had one charge back go though, and thats mainly because I didn't feel like contesting it, it was for like 3 bucks But if just try to piss HR off, then you'll give them a reason just to pursue you if you chargeback...

"I'm gonna sue" The default response of Internet whackjobs when they get spanked.

Are you sure Strike is just another regular "internet whackjob"?

Well, I doubt he has the power to close his mom's visa card.

Oh, the funny thing is he publically insulted this Brendan on that thread that was posted here.

Heh, that what I was thinking too. What a parade of the damned... and a good advertisement for birth-control.

Time to revoke this kid's license.

Better go download a phpbb dude.

Time to close this thread...

such hostility over there

the idea has potential. i'm thinking it would work best on a forum that covers a broad subject area and then people who want to focus on a specific subject area within yours could buy a single forum on your forums.

I think its a good idea to be honest... however you should capture a specific market and not try and encompass everything. My forums offer free vB sub forums to clans and projects in the gaming scene, specifically Unreal Tournament and a certain way its played. We don't charge, but I'm sure if we did people would want a little more for their money. IMO you would need to develop: - A community control panel to let forum leaders moderators modify their own styles - Certain admin options which are currently global to be made specific to a certain sub-forum or usergroup - A slightly different visual approach to the co-branding so that you wouldn't list 100's of forums on the main page.

Now that's a good idea, try it free, then if it's successful it would be easier to charge later on.

Well it started off a good idea .. it just keeps going down hill now !

Due to the fact that your "ecash" program is making unsubstantiated claims about income potential along with out proper disclosure of terms, payment procedures and other required information and the fact that the apparent scam is targeting Americans, I am reporting your site to the FCC for the purpose of being investigated for telecommunications fraud.

that's a good idea seeing as all of the internet rejects end up there.

What's so funny about a porn link?

That's interesting.

Go eScrew yerself.

eScrew Your F-in MOTHER!!!!!!!!!

At least it (aka eScrew) is more entertaining than Marty the Martian aka Lil Nicky (He's never been to Earth. He's never even slept over some other dude's house.).

So interesting i might just get someone else to some it up for me

All is symbol.

That just about sums it up. Am I the only one that reads all of it? Its pretty funny that someone would waste so much of his life to write that, then for someone like me to waste so much of his life reading it...

eScrew, just shut up. Dear eScrew: Have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! (Never argue with an idiot. He brings you down to his level, then beats you with experience...)

your going to escrew your eyes up by reading this stuff !!!!! unrealize

> Time to close this thread... so soon? ok > Well it started off a good idea .. it just keeps going down hill now ! They do. Shit happens, then you die.

Except for those that hold tightly to the myths of dis-information, opinions, and unsupportable or incorrect 'facts', most all this stuff has been debunked years ago. For those that prefer the straight and unadorned facts, they can be found in the Google archives of A.R.E. ` o

For whatever reason your forum has been targeted by a rather stupid group of idiots called escrew. They redirect DNS traffic to web forums that they want to "invade" several times a night...and for some reason they are aiming at you guys now... www.escrew.com currently leads to your forum. They will come here, mess with you, and flood your board. They will then claim that they "owned" you and take off to another site....just thought I would give you guys a heads up.... Oh...nice meeting you all :)

wow :s maybe that explanes all the newbies :D

thank you. toodles :)

wow :s maybe that explanes all the newbies :D It explains me at least...I never knew this board existed. But our board was "invaded" by these mental midgets once before. Our admins were all over it, and no real damage was done...although some of us had fun farking with them while they visited:D Can any of you PM an admin....just to let them know? Nice place you guys have here....

I tried to tell you...but instead I got insulted...have fun...

LOL- it cracks me up to think that people have so much time on their hands. I should be so lucky!

uuhhmmm :t what forum are u from?

I would rather not say...I'm not sure our mods would appreciate me directing another of their feeble attacks our way...

What forum are you from? Let me guess!! I won't say the name, but can I assume your choice of words is a hint? Do you like cliches and nutted squirrels? :p

They have moved on now...good job to your mods... My last post here...bye guys...

Thanks Heads Up... whoever you are :p just to everyone else, if these guys do make a return trip, please use the report-this-post feature to report them to the mods/admin. that way we can take care of them as soon as possible.

nice to know things get interpreted wrong, heads^, but thanks anyway. http://forums.prowrestlingfans.com/forumdisplay.php?s=&forumid=21 that was the last escrew.com redirect, so the guy was right.

before the pro wresteling site it was an adult web site banner exchange forum. these guys are semi amusing

LOL...right now at this moment, it leads you right to this thread...

Originally posted by Imagine just to everyone else, if these guys do make a return trip, please use the report-this-post feature to report them to the mods/admin. I'll never use the report-this- post feature again. You guys throw people in Detention Hall for that. What a joke..

uh no... because in forums with moderators, the reports only go to the mods, not the admin. mods cannot put people in DH. and when the reports are actually helpful, you don't get put in DH for that.

Okay, I won't say anything else about it. But we both know that's BS. Popular mods with admin friends can get people thrown in DH with just a whisper. Exhibit A..me. And someone was put in DH for reporting posts of an attacking troll. This someone was told to put the attacker on "ignore" and to stop reporting him. LOL..if you're being attacked on a public forum, you have no right to defend yourself? You're supposed to let them belittle you all they want in front of everyone and not respond?? I won't call you guys on this anymore. But I had to at least once. Now, back to your regularly scheduled program..

Escrew recently lost his job and decided to flush his savings in drugs markers and a map but his map was so poorly drawn it was completely useless and his markers were so crudely made that they washed away in

Oh, Now that I read it closer, there was 1 whole sentance without the F word. Ozzie would never let that be LOL

What is the point in posting an entire forum thread's contents? Are you attempting the same deception again?

Could you knock that down to a few lines.

The Free Land of EScrew is a tiny, devout nation, notable for its complete lack of prisons. Its hard-working population of 6 million have some civil rights, but not too many, enjoy the freedom to spend their money however they like, to a point, and take part in free and open elections, although not too often. The government -- a sprawling, bureaucracy-choked morass -- devotes most of its attentions to Social Welfare, with areas such as Law & Order and Defence receiving almost no funds by comparison. The average income tax rate is 38%. Private enterprise is illegal, but for those in the know there is a slick and highly efficient black market in Uranium Mining. Elections have been outlawed. Crime is relatively low. EScrew's national animal is the eScrew, which frolics freely in the nation's many lush forests, and its currency is the eScrew. EScrew is ranked 62,957th in the world for Smartest Citizens.

eScrew trains one million Radical Zen masters of Spiritual Warfare.No political regime is safe. eScrew Zen will bring freedom to every single nation and region in the world. eScrew does not care if you're running a democracy or dictatorship. Zen From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia. Radical "Zen" Some Zen masters use very controversial methods of education. Vandalism of Zen values and beliefs is very common if used in good faith for the benefit of student. Lin Chi Zen Master said if you meet Buddha kill Buddha. If you meet Patriarch kill Patriarch. Zen Master Seung Sahn says that in this life we must all kill three things, first we must kill parents. Second we must kill Buddha. And lastly, we must kill Seung Sahn. Note: since zen and Buddhism respect life, literal killing is not meant. What is meant is to kill slavish devotion to some one or some ideal that is held as a savior or salvation. To see a savior is to see the concept outside of one's self, when the concept needs to be integrated or rather the pre-existing integration needs to be rediscovered. http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Zen [QUOTE=Zackaroth]~ Aimless tripps and falls on the button that unleashes 2 nukes conventily headed toward Escrew and those cult bastards.~ " Well. Im gonna go get a coffe now."[/QUOTE] BREAKING NEWS The Republic of Zackaroth just unleashed two powerful nukes aimed at the heart of Zen region. All Radical Zen Masters and students must immediately enter the state of Nirvana and absorb nuke energy into the Crown Chakra. Such event will be very beneficial for the energy body as well as to the spiritual development of all. Today Zackaroth's Archbishop concil declared war on Escrew because of recent events and to recent boredness. Zackaroths High Leader Had this to say: " I believe if we want christianty to spread threw out the world so we need to destory this satanis cult before ot grows. Of course this is all bullshit we needv the extra land." There you have folks. Zackaroth is going to war. These Hippies are trying to spread their sepratist ideas. Being profoundly stupid, they try and scare nations to abide by their evil ways. Its a disgrace to see a nation following a backward religion. They also persist in telling us these "Zer Masters" are power mind users. Could you see a man absorb a nuclear blast in his head? Not me. Even if there was the remote possibility he did, his brain would explode. They burn the UN flag and start raving that they will be the rulers of every nation on nation states. BREAKING NEWS: Telegram from The Republic of TAIU Radical Zen Masters take over The Republic of TAIU. Psychotic Dictatorship is destroyed. Freedom is realized.

eScrew BREAKING NEWS! Zen region Radical Spy inside the UN throws rotten eggs at UN secretary and delegates. Zen region Radical Spy later told reporters that UN is a joke and that UN made a big mistake by accepting application from several Zen nations. Radical Zen nations will keep vandalizing UN property and harass UN delegates. UN will be destroyed and there is nothing you can do about it! Reporters showed a shocking video of Zen region Radical Spy urinating on the floor during UN session. He later explained that since UN already stinks no harm has been done!

eScrew News Report Radical Zen Masters which were slaughtered near the UN building caused massive chaos and panic when they simply walked inside the UN building. It was not clear how they were able to rise from the dead but several witnesses reported an explosion of light minutes before the incident took place. Radical Zen Masters spilled their blood on many UN delegates as a sign of protest against their slaughter. There are reports of missing Radical Zen Masters. Apparently, several hostile nations made a commitment to kill at least one Radical Zen Master by the end of the year.

President Carpenter of PIcaRDMPCia issues this statement: Clearly you do not understand the United Nations in any way. The UN is dedicated to upholding peace and tranquility throughout the world. We will oppose any military actions commited by EScrew.

Suddenly, Nergal appeared above the nation, his pale majesty and huge form easy dwarfing it, as his head reached up above the atmosphere. Standing on Jupiter, holding a bat, was Ereshkigal, Nergal's consort. She nodded to him, indicating she was ready. Nergal bent down and scooped the nation of EScrew up out of the Earth, packing the nation and it's people into a tight ball. Then, doing the normal wind-up of a pitcher in a baseball game, he launched the nation at Ereshkigal, hoping it would shoot past her. Much to his surprise, she swung and hit the nation dead-on, sending EScrew flying straight into the Andromeda Galaxy, where it landed in a black hole to be forever IGNORED. "Hmm. I'll be over at your place tonight to clean your bathroom," Nergal saiid, replacing the empty spot where EScrew once sat with unsettled land full of plants, wildlife, etc.

Collective consciousness of eScrew recorded that experience as a mystical expression of Zen while many Radical Zen Masters dismissed it as a creation of mind not worthy of attention and continued their training for the benefit of all.

Well why Don't you just tell everyone What the UN is doing and distroy them on a International level they may stell exist but they will lose there respect and don't worry zen masters in my nation can treach all they want but my people stand Behide The Imperial Soviet Council of Soviet leaders. just let the info go out. Well, his population is 6 million. And 5% of 6 million is... 300,000. He has a military of less than 500,000.

My military 40,620,000 so don't piss us off plz for your good

"Are you sure the image they saw in the telescope was for real Yannick?" "Yes Markus, look for yourself, the proof is irrefutable.." as he looked into the eyepiece he let out a gasp.. "Good Lord EScrew has done it now and they have now drawn the ultimate wrath upon them, they have summoned.. the Death Star.." You could barely make it out through the telescope, but it was coming.. oh it was coming.

Dictator Rabek Jeris, seeing that the money and power was strongly against eScrew, shifts his offers to the nations seeking to destroy eScrew. Let the bidding begin on Rabek Jeris' stockpile of ethically questionable weapons...

Escrew, are you a mindless-smelly-hippie-with-more-lice-than-common-knowledge? Come on, all this crap your writing makes you sound like a lunatic who just injected heroine into his penis. Your Population: 7 million. Wow you are powerful aren't you?

MUst...reist....the urge....to nuke...hand...getting....so....close....to...big....red...shiny......button

Careful, you may invoke the wrath of the zen and next thing you know we will be reading some 'International Incident' that will surely be a mess.

Ok everybody, the hippies are fried and ready! Who wants Hippie Bisque?
Hippie Hamburger? Hippie Ala Mingon? Hippie Stew? As a spy plane hovers over Escrew territory they took pictures, pictures of burning hippies and they're ever so disgusting bell-bottoms.

Its a waste of hippie thats what it is! Slaves - indeed rainbow dressed disgustingly radical hippies - but none the less.......slaves!

Damn Zen Masters! I see the only way to kill these beings is to blow there heads off! But that would mean a costly invasion which would only have the point of hunting down Zen Masters

Can't stop laughing, it's just too funny! LMFAO!

My chakra needs alignment, perhaps I should call a zen master, no wait, lets not do that..

Breaking news. Today Zackaroth's Archbishop concil declared war on Escrew because of recent events and to recent boredness. Zackaroths High Leader Had this to say: " I believe if we want christianty to spread threw out the world so we need to destory this satanis cult before ot grows. Of course this is all bullshit we needv the extra land." There you have folks. Zackaroth is going to war. The leader also said any nation helpinbg us will recive a a basket of furits and a free subscritioon to Cathloic girls monthly.

We will send a monkey from one of our zoos. Now where's that fruit basket?

A fruit basket has been sent.

We will help most definetaly. A large flock of pigeons has been sent.

The Empire of Risban shall send some scorpions to help.

The Confederacy of Lachenburg will aid you nation by sending thousands of starve-craved Hampsters with golf clubs to defeat the forces of Escrew.

The Dominion of Nordrreich wholeheartedly supports the actions of Zackaroth and military assistence is being considered. However, we may have significant trouble with the wayward former possession of Ashkenazia on our hands and be unable to help with effective military forces.

Please accept this gift from The Protectorate of Henrytopia. We would like to surrender the services of the Imperial Death Star. Our government had retained their services but no longer finds it necessary as we moved the entire nation into another zen-less dimension which is quite good may I add. We have secured and paid for IGNORE aerial bombardment from the Imperials for a small fee as they were also annoyed by the foolish acts of said zen masters. We have a contract to allow the use of the Death Star and the Imperial Armies as well for a retainer of one dollar if you find it necessary, we left two dollars on the counter if you need it.. keep the change. The Protectorate.

To all Zackaroth forces: Stand down immedeatly. Lay down your weapons, and you will be let off unharmed. Our fleets are on stand by to begin to move in if you should ignore this. If you are willing to disregard this, I will have no choice but to declare war. I repeat, stand down. From: Shogun Himura Kenshin -Shogun of Pschycotic Pschycos- _Pilot of the ZGMF-10A Freedom-

" You do realize he declared war on everybody so its our right yo declare war back. Cmon join us. The fruit is aswome.

Zackaroth, we have called upon our Moronic Legion of the Hilltops to assist you in this endeavor. They are fierce warriors, devout to their commander.. and quite stupid so they should fare very well against any moronic defense thrown at them. We have dispatched their commander, the babbling organ grinder's monkey to your nation for further instructions. Please feel free to use this elite guard against the ScrewE... I mean EScrew maniacs.

Slinao will send 10,000 plague infested rats, each contained in an airtight container and been trained to sniff out the EScrew population of Zen Radicals. Each rat also has a small firebomb attached to it in case the Zen try to cleanse the rat and use it to their benifit. Where is my fruit at?

We have sent a group of bounty hunters to hunt down the Zen master and destroy the nation of escrew since the nation seems to be immune to nuclear blasts

The HDC seems to have amassed a large amount of soiled jock straps and we have incorporated them into a conventional bomb delivery system for your air force. They are en route to you as we speak.

La Habana sends a plague of rabid dogs to attack eScrew

The nation of New Frussia has sent sabotuers in and has planted many "dirty bombs" all over your foes nation. SEND THE FRUIT!....and the porn....

Urukku will offer thousands of our latest PDS-2000 (Pants Dispersal System) bombs. Each PDS-2000 drops 2000 pairs of ultra-short-shorts. These come in a variety of hideous shades of pink. While we can't guarantee they'll kill anybody, they'll certainly make the enemy look silly.

To: Glorious Leader, Nation of Zackaroth From: Emporer Shaz Bot, The Holy Empire of Shazbotdom The Holy Empire of Shazbotdom will send 1 Pot Bellied Pig.....his name's Rooster. He eats a lot and shits a lot, he will make their nation a smuldering shit pile!!

Fruit and porn has been sent. The overweight cows has been sent to attk Escrew. We believe the attk will occur withen the 3rd month of 2006 when they finally get there.

The Republic of Siap is sending the Rabbit from Monty Python and the Holy Grail. We want our fruit basket!!! We'll also throw in the dead parrot from the dead parrot sketch (No, he's just resting)

FRuit have been sent even though tragically the dead parrot was resting and fell to his death when we threw him off a building to bomb Escrew. CErmonys are being held.

The Imperial Republic of Hataria will Send Zackaroth 20 Newly Built Nehernia Class Battleships to help in his war against EScrew.

~Electronic Communication to Zackaroth~ Despite us having no record of such a nation existing, I am sending 400 schoolgirls armed with slingshots. They are quite deadly for some reason. -Dictator Enigma ~End Communication~

The Federation is willing to do its share by supplying the attacking forces with 500 slightly rotten cobs of corn. Good luck, and godspeed.

Having once met your delegation somewhere at an event which we can't really remember, a senior ministry official noted the Zackaroth group was particularly festive. With this in mind our nation has decided to assist you in this matter. We will be sending 50,000 pounds of Swiss Cheese, 50 cases of Cool Whip dressing, 153 gallons of unpasturized goat milk, 254 pounds of assorted christmas candy leftovers, and 1284 tubs of Cottage Cheese. Feed your armies well. Good luck in your endeavor. J. Wales Prime Minister Holy Republic of Hawdawg

THank you but for some reason a few nights after we put them in the men's barracks they were all perganant. Care to explain this foul treachery!!!!!

Personally, I would have thought it obvious that you don't put them in the men's barracks. OOC: Unless you nation is Sarkarasetans, they can't get pregnant. Humans and Sarkarasetans are not genetically similar enough to breed. While I enjoyed the laugh, I just wanted to point this out.

Yeah well. Your a big stupid head and your nation is a pile poop. Ok. Now go one and cry to your mommy or somthing. OOC: Could of told they were of a diffrent race

Today The Zackaroth army got to try its POKING STICK OF DOOM!!! It is a big wodden stick held by 3 men that poke the enemey into defeat.

I send the last gay in the village, (my lil bro) he'll get them all to submit also i'm sending you a truck load of crazed munchkins (they like pie..... lot's of pie) be warned they are very very very annoying do NOT return to sender!!!!! Great Dictator Of PHGS Weyr p.s don't like oranges but pineapple is good send lots. p.p.s the munchkins are best used droped from a very great hight and left for dead.

Umm, Zackaroth, I would advise you not point that Poking Stick of Doom at Dictator Enigma.. you thought the attck by the Real Anime Liberation Movement was bad.

I gleefully send myself, armed with my trusty dual spear(basically a staff with serrated spear points on both ends) and clothed in mythril chain mail. EScrew is doomed. -President Carpenter These Hippies are trying to spread their sepratist ideas. Being profoundly stupid, they try and scare nations to abide by their evil ways. Its a disgrace to see a nation following a backward religion. They also persist in telling us these "Zer Masters" are power mind users. Could you see a man absorb a nuclear blast in his head? Not me. Even if there was the remote possibility he did, his brain would explode. They burn the UN flag and start raving that they will be the rulers of every nation on nation states. Is that possible?

I have found EScrew to be remarkably irritating; if I were a warlike dictator instead of an elected President, I'd probably declare war on you right now and wipe you out, just so you'd be quiet. As it is...go play in the sandbox and leave us real nations alone. -President Carpenter

Hey, someone find LU BU, and get him over here. Psst, Zen Master person, there is this dictator who... ummm.... doesn't like you, maybe you should infiltrate his country. Snickers

On behalf of the Protectorate I would like to submit the following statement: The Protectorate has been involved in rescue efforts and assisting with humanitarian aide thanks to radical terrorist groups with an agenda such as EScrew. These terrorists have left the nation of PIcaRDMPCia a smoldering wreck. They have gone to the extreme of bombing the humanitarian aide workers while they gathered to eat! The RALM terrorists then set off a large explosive in the nation of Winters End in retaliation for their assistance and call to others to condemn the actions of their radical movement. I would sincerely hope that the United Nations does not accept this nation of self-proclaimed terrorists into the union and pollute our membership with their delegation. Do we really want or need a delegate from a terrorist organization represented in the United Nations? I furthermore call for censure by this body of EScrew and any of its agents for the mere fact that their claims are ridiculous and a waste of bandwith. I am sure that I have the support of many of my esteemed colleagues when I make this declaration. Henry Brash VIII

PIcaRDMPCia is in full favor of this declaration, especially because of the rampant destruction we have recently experienced in our country. -President Carpenter

BREAKING NEWS! UN delegate of PIcaRDMPCia got hit with a basket of red paint outside of UN building. Developing... Nick Adkins, PIcaRDMPCia's official delegate to the UN, frowned at his ruined suit. "What moron threw that at me?" he asked everyone nearby. They all shrugged and kept walking. He snorted in disgust. "Damn. Oh well...at least my hotel is only a couple blocks away; I'll walk it." And so he started for the Excelsior Hotel, ignoring the odd looks he receieved from passers-by.

YOU FOOL!! SEE WHAT WE DID WITH OUR CRIME AND SENT IT TO YOURS!! GIVE UP NOW OR FACE MORE CRIMES GROUPS. Dont make us send the gay crime groups. There reallly really bad. I mean like so bad....* goes of rambling*

It all depends. Most of it according to personal taste.

If you want that loud boomy and somewhat tinny sound, the D-104 was tops. If you wanted a little more low end, or you ran SSB a bit more, the Turner +3 was a good choice. The ultimate performer on SSB was the Turner Super Sidekick.

Hi, there is a new CB Message Board for anyone to post to.
I created it because CB Radio is one of my hobbies.
I am using a legal HH Radio so I can't talk very far.
You can talk about anything CB related except for Modifications.
No Flaming aloud either.
Please goto the site and post a message and I have a poll on the message board too.

555. " BIG BUCKS" WITH ONLY $6.00 INVESTMENT "NO BULL"!!!!

HOW TO TURN $6 INTO $6,000!!!!!! READING THIS COULD CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

I found this on a bulletin board and decided to try it. A little while back, I was browsing through newsgroups, just like you are now, and came across an article similar to this that said you could make thousands of dollars within weeks with only an initial investment of $6.00! So I thought, Yeah right, this must be a scam,but like most of us, I was curious, so I kept reading. Anyway, it said that you send $1.00 to each of the 6 names and address stated in the article. You then place your own name and address in the bottom of the list at #6, and post the article in at least 200 newsgroups. (There are thousands) No catch, that was it. So after thinking it over, and talking to a few people first, I thought about trying it. I figured: what have I got to lose except 6 stamps and $6.00, right? Then I invested the measly $6.00. Well GUESS WHAT!!... within 7 days, I started getting money in the mail! I was shocked! I figured it would end soon, but the money just kept coming in. In my first week, I made about $25.00. By the end of the second week I had made a total of over $1,000.00! In the third week I had over $10,000.00 and it`s still growing. This is now my fourth week and I have made a total of just over $42,000.00 and it`s still coming in rapidly. It`s certainly worth $6.00, and 6 stamps, I have spent more than that on the lottery!! Let me tell you how this works and most importantly, why it works....Also, make sure you print a copy of this article NOW, so you can get the information off of it as you need it. I promise you that if you follow the directions exactly, that you will start making more money than you thought possible by doing something so easy!
Suggestion: Read this entire message carefully! (Print it out or download it.) Follow the simple directions and watch the money come in! It`s easy. It`s legal. And, your investment is only $6.00 (Plus postage)

IMPORTANT: This is not a scam; it is not indecent; it is not illegal; and it is virtually no risk - it really works!!!! If all of the following instructions are followed exactly, you will receive extraordinary dividends.

PLEASE NOTE: Please follow these directions PERCISELY, and $50,000 or more can be yours in 20 to 60 days. This program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants. Please continue its success by carefully adhering to the instructions. You will now become part of the Mail Order business. In this business your product is not solid and tangible, it`s a service. You are in the business of developing Mailing Lists. Many large corporations are happy to pay big bucks for quality lists. However, the money made from the mailing lists is secondary to the income which is made from people like you and me asking to be included in that list. Here are the 4 easy steps to success:

STEP 1: Get 6 separate pieces of paper and write the following on each piece of paper; PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR MAILING LIST. Now get 6 US $1.00 bills and place ONE inside EACH of the 6 pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen through the envelope (to prevent thievery). Next, place one paper in each of the 6 envelopes and seal them. You should now have 6 sealed envelopes, each with a piece of paper stating the above phrase, your name and address, and a $1.00 bill. What you are doing is creating a service. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL! You are requesting a legitimate service and you are paying for it! Like most of us I was a little skeptical and a little worried about the legal aspects of it all. So I checked it out with the U.S. Post Office (1-800-725-2161) and they confirmed that it is indeed legal! Mail the 6 envelopes to the following addresses:

Mailing Addresses

1. P. FREY, 4577 W. PONDS CIR, LITTLETON, CO 80123
2. E. DE LEON, 14014 Rosecrest, Houston,TX 77045
3. A. Lopez, 810 Ave.J, South Houston TX 77587
4. L. Pacheco, 812 Ave.J, South Houston, TX 77587
5. K. Bat, 9335 Alcona Street, Lanham, MD 20706
6. B. Scruggins, P.O. Box 845 Port Barre, LA 70577

STEP 2: Now take the #1 name off the list that you see above, move the other names up (6 becomes 5, 5 becomes 4, etc...) and add YOUR Name as number 6 on the list.

STEP 3: Change anything you need to, but try to keep this article as close to original as possible. Now, post your amended article to at least 200 newsgroups. (I think there are close to 24,000 groups) All you need is 200, but remember, the more you post, the more money you make! This is perfectly legal! If you have any doubts, refer to Title 18 Sec. 1302 & 1341 of the Postal lottery laws.
Keep a copy of these steps for yourself and, whenever you need money, you can use it again, and again.

PLEASE REMEMBER that this program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants and by their carefully adhering to the directions. Look at it this way. If you are of integrity, the program will continue and the money that so many others have received will come your way.

NOTE: You may want to retain every name and address sent to you, either on a computer or hard copy and keep the notes people send you. This VERIFIES that you are truly providing a service. (Also, it might be a good idea to wrap the $1 bill in dark paper to reduce the risk of mail theft.)
So, as each post is downloaded and the directions carefully followed, six members will be reimbursed for their participation as a List Developer with one dollar each. Your name will move up the list geometrically so that when your name reaches the #1 position you will be receiving thousands of dollars in CASH!!! What an opportunity for only $6.00 ($1.00 for each of the first six people listed above) Send it now, add your own name to the list and you`re in business!

---DIRECTIONS ----- FOR HOW TO POST TO NEWSGROUPS---------- Step 1) You do not need to re-type this entire letter to do your own posting. Simply put your cursor at the beginning of this letter and drag your cursor to the bottom of this document, and select `copy` from the edit menu. This will copy the entire letter into the computer`s memory.

Step 2) Open a blank `notepad` file and place your cursor at the top of the blank page. From the `edit` menu select `paste`. This will paste a copy of the letter into notepad so that you can add your name to the list.
Step 3) Save your new notepad file as a .txt file. If you want to do your postings in different settings, you`ll always have this file to go back to.

Step 4) Use Netscape or Internet explorer and try searching for various newsgroups (on-line forums, message boards, chat sites, discussions.) Just example you log on any search engine like, yahoo.com,google.com, altavista.com,excite.com then you search with this subject millionaire message board? or money making message board? or employment message board? or money making discussions? or money making forum? or business message board? etc. You will find thousand & thousand message board. Click one by one then you will find the option post a new message.
Step 5) Visit these message boards and post this article as a new message by highlighting the text of this letter and selecting paste from the edit menu. Fill in the Subject, this will be the header that everyone sees as they scroll through the list of postings in a particular group, click the post message button. You`re done with your first one! Congratulations...THAT`S IT! All you have to do is jump to different newsgroups and post away, after you get the hang of it, it will take about 30 seconds for each newsgroup!

REMEMBER, THE MORE NEWSGROUPS YOU POST IN, THE MORE MONEY YOU WILL MAKE!! BUT YOU HAVE TO POST A MINIMUM OF 200
That`s it! You will begin receiving money from around the world within days! You may eventually want to rent a P.O.Box due to the large amount of mail you will receive. If you wish to stay anonymous, you can invent a name to use, as long as the postman will deliver it.
JUST MAKE SURE ALL THE ADDRESSES ARE CORRECT.

Now the WHY part: Out of 200 postings, say I receive only 5 replies (a very low example). So then I made $5.00 with my name at #6 on the letter. Now, each of the 5 persons who just sent me $1.00 make the MINIMUM 200 postings, each with my name at #5 and only 5 persons respond to each of the original 5, that is another $25.00 for me, now those 25 each make 200 MINIMUM posts with my name at #4 and only 5 replies each, I will bring in an additional $125.00! Now, those 125 persons turn around and post the MINIMUM 200 with my name at #3 and only receive 5 replies each, I will make an additional $626.00! OK, now here is the fun part, each of those 625 persons post a MINIMUM 200 letters with my name at #2 and they each only receive 5 replies, that just made me $3,125.00!!! Those 3,125 persons will all deliver this message to 200 newsgroups with my name at #1 and if still 5 persons per 200 newsgroups react I will receive $15,625,00! With an original investment of only $6.00! AMAZING! When your name is no longer on the list, you just take the latest posting in the newsgroups, and send out another $6.00 to names on the list, putting your name at number 6 again. And start posting again. The thing to remember is: do you realize that thousands of people all over the world are joining the internet and reading these articles everyday?, JUST LIKE YOU are now!! So, can you afford $6.00 and see if it really works?? I think so... People have said, "What if the plan is played out and no one sends you the money? So what! What are the chances of that happening when there are tons of new honest users and new honest people who are joining the internet and newsgroups everyday and are willing to give it a try? Estimates are at 20,000 to 50,000 new users, every day, with thousands of those joining the actual internet.

Remember: Play FAIRLY and HONESTLY and this will really work.

Anyone have a bicycle set up with a mobile cb? I'm trying to equip our bike club with a reliable means of communications.
We had thought about GMRS but the FCC said we couldn't use it because it was only for families. I don't think FM would work because we are riding in a lot valleys and hills.

I'm particularly interested in antenna mounting, brand and type of antennas. I was think of Cobra 19's due to their size, what do you think?

Thanks,

Doug

Helmets or no? They do make those motorcycle cb's, but I think the headphone/mic go in your helmet, no?

FRS can only be used by family and not bike clubs? (non-withstanding hills being in your way more with those) They would be quieter.

You were doing well until you mentioned censorship. You are posting to a

I knew FRS was family radio service, but I thought GMRS, General Mobile Radio Service was just for people period but the FCC said you had to be a blood relative to qualify for the family. Plus the license fee went up to $80.00.

Thanks. I got the second degree just for fun, I like computers as a hobby too, so what the heck, and work paid for the classes. I'm fixin (getting quotes for hardware) to put together an AMD FX-55 system right now to dual boot Win XP Pro and Linux (Fedora Core 3).

http://fedora.redhat.com/

I'm running it on an old PII 333 MHz system with 196MB, CD-ROM, NIC card etc., got the whole thing including a 15" color monitor for $80 at a local Hamfest. The system is connected to my LAN right now so I can experiment with it. I can use Gnome's remote desktop (XDMCP) to run the graphical desktop remotely. I can sit and watch the news on the TV while playing with the system in the other room, all wirelessly on a laptop.

The reason why the long period was due to the fact I was only taking one class at a time. You wouldn't believe how much time those programming classes can suck up doing the programming projects they want. The math classes were just as bad. There is no way to just "skate" through the work. The only way to learn the material is to do the work, and some of the prof's worked the students like dogs too.

Please view my yahoo web page, www.carpentersinchrist.com.
Maybe you would help me.
I help elderly people and children. All my time is volunteered.
Maybe you could help me with either a small donation or you could send my web page and information to someone you know that would help. Donations can be made directly through Pay Pal, by clicking the "Make Donation" icon on my web page. Donations keep me going, it allows me to buy things such as material for repair work. I also receive emails requesting help. Recently I purchased a new washing machine for an elderly woman in Tennesse. I am in North Carolina.
Everything for her was completed via the internet. The request for helping the elderly woman in Tennesse came from her grand daughter in Rhode Island.
Finally, maybe you or someone you know needs help with something.
I would love to hear about it. Send me an email explaining the situation. There is an email link on my web page as well.
Thank you!

I just find it hard to understand how a guy in an apartment with a cell phone antenna ran thru his rented air conditioner, could get looked up 18 thousand times.

I don't think handheld CB is going to do any better around hills. You need a quarter-wave antenna with a good ground plane (such as a car would provide) to get any real range with CB, and even then hills will still block a lot of the signal.

You actually could use GMRS but each person would need their own $80 licesnse. They call FRS the Family Radio Service because the FCC didn't want a bunch of yahoos cussing and jamming as may happen from time to time on CB, but non-family members are certainly still allowed to communicate using FRS.

I recommend you stick with FRS an deal with the line-of-sight issue. If you are biking in a long line, people in the middle can pass messages to those in front and back as you crest or round hills.

If you need more range, you could go to MURS. Four times the power, and at a frequency that will bend around hills a little bit better. You can also use replacement antennas (= better range). However, MURS radios cost $100 and up vs. FRS which cost $10 and up.

There are some Chatterbox FRS units designed for motorcycle helmets, these may work on a bicycle helmet.

I was hoping Chris Busch was going to post a wav. file, but after talking with Mason down here on channel 28, it's all good. Busch is one illegal hammie, running illegal juice on the cb channels.

Speaking of gators, a 9 ft 8 inch gator ate some dude two days ago down here in a retention pond. Authorities are looking for the residents who regularly fed the thing (extremely illegal and they do enforce it). In addition to the dead guy's forearm, recovered in the gut of the bull gator was plenty of store-bought chicken and beef. Dammit man!!

The Center for Media and Democracy is working with the Free Press to gather a quarter million signatures on our petition mobilizing the American public to fight fake news and government propaganda.
On Sunday, the New York Times reported that at least 20 federal agencies have made and distributed pre-packaged, ready-to-serve television news segments to promote President Bush's policies and initiatives. Congress' Government Accountability Office determined that these "video news releases" were illegal "covert propaganda" and told federal agencies to stop. Last Friday, the White House ordered all agencies to disregard Congress' directive.

Once we are out, it will fail. That region is mostly theological based governments. You can't force feed a democracy to them. They don't believe in it, and they don't want it. Problem is, too many different religions occupy too many countries. In Iraq, there are Suni, Shiites, and Kurds. As as far as I read, they don't like each other. So the second we are out of there, they will engage in some sort of civil war. The other problem is, we are looked at as evil, by their religion. Infidels, whatever. That doesn't help. W thinks he can fix this with force and gov't. Someone should tell him that the have been fighing in that region since the days of Jesus Christ, and even before that. We ain't fixing it in 2 years. Or 100 years for that fact. I think the biggest problem in Iraq, if one of those 3 groups I mentioned, is the violent kind. They have a pipeline to Iran. I cannot recall if it is the Shiites or the Suni. But in either case, Iran is trying to put their stamp on it. Back when during Iraq/Iran war in the 1980's, I think Iran was trying to get that group to revolt againt Saddam, which was the base for that war. But I can't remember for sure. It was so damn long ago.

Can't argue your well written points, but I see a change going down over there and it started with us spending more on our military machine ala Ronnie.

I'm not in love with GWB, but he beats the hell out of Al bore, or waffle-boi.

Don't remind me of Bore. Couldn't stand him or his wife. I actually like Clinton more now, then I did then. I kind of started feeling sorry for him, because it seemed they were out to get him. But like I said, I didn't vote fot him either time.

Regarding waffle boy. All politicans waffle. Including W. Problem is, the republicans did a better job of marketing it. The dems strategists were bafoons.

Perhaps you were blinded by his "thousand points of light"......

Don't you remember Iran-Contra? Arms for hostages? Orchestrating their release to coincide with his inaguration? Secretly working with both sides in the Iran-Iraq war to force a stalemate? Giving Saddam the technology and materials for chemical and biological weapons? Taking pot-shots at Libya while Saddam was gassing his own people? Tucking tail and running away from Lebanon? Totally ignoring the civil war in Angola? Did you forget about that little bag of dope in the speech pushing his war against drugs? and how he intentionally set up the drug deal right in front of the WH? Remember the CIA dope deals in Central America that were discovered after one of the planes crashed?
VP Bush's secret meetings with Noriega? How he funded the terrorist resistance against the new and democratically elected government of Nicaragua that was created after the US-supported dictatorship was ousted? Etc, etc, etc?

Or do you just remember that he made you "feel good"?

> Can't stand W. Reagan was a classic.

It's the same regime. Many of the people in the Bush administration are the very same morons who, while under Reagan, helped to create many of the current problems that are blamed on everyone else except themselves.

I remember all of that. But I loved his charisma. And remember, who he followed.
I do question some of his agendas. And his economic pocilies were scary.

>Or do you just remember that he made you "feel good"?

That is basically it. But you have to remember, that I was only 21 when he finished his presidency. Most of my tax paying years have been spent with Bush
I, Clinton, and W.

Dunno. i'd like it to be someone that has -never- had anything

Even after he swallowed Bush's dick and allowed the little weasle to get away with saying all those terrible things about him and his family in South Carolina?

Why isn't McCain saying anything about Bush cutting millions out of the new budget re: Veterans? McCain is just another tool.

Well, maybe you Repubs could actually nominate a "get-r-dun" business man that didn't fail at every business he ever tried. You know, like President McBunnypants.

What? You mean a classic figure-head that had no idea what was going on in his own administration? Like that? Did you ever read the transcripts of the Contra investigation when he replied like 600 times either "I don't know" or "I can't remember"?

What makes you think I'm a Dem? And if I was, what makes you think I'd want Hillary? I did not vote for the Clintons the second time around though his Presidency was a damn site more productive and better for more Americans then the current abortion on display. At least the Dems field several candidates. You Repubs are so anal you go all in a tizzy when there's more than one.

And what was up with Bush spending all that freaking money while running unapposed? I'd tell you but you'd just start screaming, "Clinton's Cock!" "Clinton's COCK!", over and over again, and believe me, I don't want to hear it....Again. ;-)

Carter didn't make under-the-table deals with Iran, Iraq or Panama.
Clinton didn't pass weapons-grade biological specimens to Saddam.

It's not the same situation. First off, I was 14-21 years old, when he was president. He became president after a disastrous Carter administration, where we were made fools off for 440 days in Iran, and the economy went to the shitter. Do you recall 14% mortgage rates? As I recall, the nation's tone back around 1980, was pretty bad. Reagan added charisma. Gave us national pride. And his overspending did eventually lead to the fall of the eastern bloc, when they tired to keep up. Sure the guy had problems. A shitload. I remember Iran-contra for most of the last 2 years of his presidency. I remember the arms to Iraq, even though he was gassing everybody. Though I think that came out later. None the less, he left amongst the highest approval rating of any president. Now, I know I would look at it differently had I been 38 back then. But one thing he didn't do, was invade another country and get stuck there for 2 years plus. Especially after it was said "he would not engage in nation building". He may of spent a fortune, but he didn't do it on a useless war, because he had some personal vendetta. It's not the same administration. It's not the same situation. It didn't come after a horrible democratic administation. And as far as the "I don't remember" stuff, most of that became prevalent during the last year of his presidency. And remember, he was 78 that year, and had Alzheimers.

So to answer a simple question that Frank asked, yes, he made me feel good. He made alot of people feel good. And maybe, that is all that counts with some people. Just like many people today, specifically in the red states, who think Bush has these big balls, even though it has been written that invading Iraq was on his check list even before he was elected in 2000, and many of those still think there is a Iraq-Al-Qaeda link.

So what is your point? That I should have followed politics more intensly when I was a kid, because you did? I highly doubt you thought Nixon was a crook because of your knowledge of politics at that age, and because you had this open mind, or because you were more informed. It was because there were 8 TV channels, and 3 news channels, and everyone thought he was a crook. You weren't special.

As I recall in 1980, there were 3 major factors in Carter demise. Iran, the economy, and the USSR.

As far as Clinton, I don't want to get into it. I won't mention Whitewater, the lawyer who committed suicide, and the 2,000 pardons. And not to mention the national TV announcement "I did not have relations with that woman", while she was sucking his dick under the desk.

If one thing I learned about politicians in my life is, they are all full of shit. You just have to pick the one that is the lesser of the ones being full of shit, or the one where the lies haven't gotten out yet.

And please, if the best you can do is pick on my political beliefs from a period that were mostly my teenage years, then get a life.

I didn't vote for Bush in 1992. I voted for Perot. Mostly because I didn't liek either candidate. Last year, I voted for Kerry, based on the "I hated him less than W" theory.

The problem with these type of politics, is if you don't play ball, you cut your own political throat. I totally agree about those rumors Bush spread in 2000. I think it was called push-polling. But the way it works is, if you support me, I will throw so many millions to your state in road repair, or some kind of crap like that. Not to mention keeping your political life. It kind of sucks. But it seems votes and support are constantly bought on capitol hill, even with cross-party favors.

>Why isn't McCain saying anything about Bush cutting millions out of the new They're all tools. I am still waiting on the specifics of Kerry's "Plan".

I will give you a good example about Hillary. I am a huge baseball fan, as Moped would attest to. Hillary was a well documented big Cubs fan. The day the Yankees went to the White House (I think 1998), she put on a Yankees hat and said she was always a Yankee fan.

The mortgage rates surged because the Carter administration's policy was to bend to corporate demands for a less-regulated free-market economy. The corps lost money so in 1980 they backed a president who would impose policies that would favor big-business..... Reagan. He "turned" the economy by borrowing huge amounts of money and raising the federal debt by several orders of magnitude -- a debt that was finally repaid under Clinton and his nasty cigars.

Did you catch the news last night? The guy who defined the "isolation" policy against the Soviet bloc died. But before he died he admitted that isolation was -less- preferable to open and free dialog on both political and economic levels. He also stressed the need for US policy that was more respectful of the cultures of foreign nations.

The situations are based on the goals, which are not so different..... economic domination. Reagan failed in both the middle East and Central America. Bush I created an excuse to use military force in Panama, but only to reclaim the Panama Canal after Reagan's failure to secure the land for the anticipated Nicaraguan Canal. Bush I & II were both handed the opportunity to use force in the middle East, and both failed. None of the three addressed "ethnic cleansing" in other nations, nor did they address basic civil rights issues in countries like South Africa, El Salvador, et. al. Their "wars" were based purely on economics, not like those "useless" wars by the Democrats that were based on humanitarian issues. Neither Clinton nor Carter engaged in any underhanded double-dealing with countries that the US had declared to be enemies.

a hard-line ultimatum to the USSR after their invasion of Afghanistan, that any further aggression would be considered an act of war against Funny. You failed to mention the President sho signed the Canal away. Remember?

You seem to be the only poster in this NG w/o a sack of crap under the skull. Could you please answer my question. I just posted it on a uk ng. I am in the US though.

I need to establish an absolutely reliable line of verbal communication between two stationary points separated by about a quarter mile. It takes me under 10 min to walk the distance. The place is located downtown a middle size US city. I have tried to communicate via a Microsoft messenger. It works but so far I haven't been able to make it reliable. The conversation breaks down. I am sure I will fix the problem eventually but I need a backup system anyway.

I have tried a walkie-talkie T5950 by Motorola. It is the most powerful I could find at Radio Shack. It is advertised as capable of maintaining communication over 5 miles. In fact it barely covers my distance because of the interference by residential and industrial structures. It operates at its limit capability, there is a lot of static and as a result it is also unreliable.

I turned my attention to CB radio. There are hundreds of systems on the market. I have NO background in the business. The money is no object but I don't want to be extravagant. My needs are simple--to be able to talk on demand any time. I don't want extra features of any kind.

What power output do I need? What kind of antenna? One office is located on the fifth floor of a concrete building, the counterpart is on the second floor of a century old brick building.

I would appreciate ANY suggestions. I speculate that among people who lurk in here there are dealers promoting their products. I would appreciate them staying clear. I would greatly appreciate opinions of people with PERSONAL experience.

Thanks.

He was re-elected because most of his shanagans happened in his 2nd term. But who the hell knows, since I don't remember that far back. Most of my knowledge of him came from articles and news programs well after his presidency. The first
I remember reading about watergate, said it started around 1972, and steamrolled after his re-election. Regardless, I am sure he was not the first crook, and wasn't the last.

Frank, get some help or medication. I have every right. If I liked the guy, because of how he handled himself and I was 16, and the way the country felt about him, there isn't a damn thing you can do about it. And I will comment on it whenever I want to, with or without your permission.

You have a serious mental problem. You have to school everyone on this newsgroup. You have done it to Dave, me, whoever. Best of all, you are not telling me I should have liked a president in my teenage years, because you didn't agree with it. First off, when I look at things now, like taxes, or gas prices, or mortgage rates, or soldiers getting killed. It's a lot different when as a teenager, things like girls, music, cars, etc, were priorites. That is for most teenagers. Not everyone was like you, who at 13, had a 50 year old mind. I don't owe you or anyone an explanation. And I will certainly comment on whatever I feel like, and there isn't a damn thing you can do. Now, if you want to stalk my ass, like you do to so many others in this NG, then go right ahead. The next step is to become my personal spell checker. If you have insecurities, that is your problem. I am not going to be like Dave, and get into pissing contests with you, because this is your life. And when you can't get your way, you'll just read every post from "person you hate on this NG for the month", and correct them in every which way they speak. Why? Bbecause that is your way.

As far as Reagan, I loved the guy back then. That hasn't changed, and you won't change it. So save you're breath.

So now you're a mind reader? Think of some new material. You've gotten too boring to bother with even insulting for the rise everybody gets out of you when you respond. Oh, how may broadband ISP's service the Medina area, other than yours, I just have to ask since I'm wasting my time typing this.

From what I can find on the web, this radio only puts out 1W, which is not much. Handheld radios can legally go up to 7W, though very very few go above 5W. If your communications are possible but poor at 1W, they would probably be acceptable but maybe not crystal clear at 5W (you will not get 5X better signal because when you double your power, your signal only improves 1.5X). The problem with consumer-grade radios is they seldom tell you the power output on the box or bubble pack, so you may have to do some research to find radios that do 5W. When they say "6 miles" or whatever on the package, that is completely meaningless.

Be aware that only the 1/2W (500mW) FRS radios are license-free. Your current radio and any other radio like it that puts out more than 1/2W are GMRS radios, and require you to obtain an $80 license from the FCC in order to legally operate them. Since the FCC will not issue a license to a business, one person at each of your locations will need a license (unless you are related; family memebrs can share GMRS licenses).

If you don't want to sink $160 into GMRS licensing (the licenses are good for 5 years), you can look at license-free MURS radios. These radios only go up to 2W though, so I'm guessing they will not have the power you need. Also, the radios themselves cost $100-$200 each.

Most CBs only put out 4W and CB has other issues too (interference from CBers three states away). If you can find a couple of inexpensive CB radios that do SSB (not all do, read the specs carefully!), you get 16W of power in SSB mode. That would probably do the trick though you might find yourself changing channels once in a while to get away from interference.

> What power output do I need? What kind of antenna?

I think the simplest solution is to find a pair of 5W GMRS or 2W MURS handhelds that have detachable antennas. If these still can't make the distance, you can purchase aftermarket antennas. These will be long and ungainly, but will about double your performance over the stock stubby antenna. When you look at aftermarket antennas, try to get one that advertises a 5/8 wavelength element, as 5/8 has more gain (=better signal) than the more common 1/4 wavelength element. Aftermarket antennas can be found at a commercial radio shop (the place where police depts buy their radios) or at a ham radio shop. Make sure you get antennas tuned to 462-467MHz for GMRS or 154MHz for MURS, or you will fry your radios the first time you transmit.

Hope that helps!

Carter refused to negotiate with Iran. OTOH, Reagan secretly paid

Carter signed over the Panama canal because the US was planning to build a bigger canal through Nicaragua. I've never heard about any threats. Got a link?

Carter's efforts may well have prevented WWIII from breaking out in the middle East. Instead of -making- war he -prevented- war. And THAT'S why he earned the Nobel Peace Prize, and also why he was a great president.

I agree. And with Bush's dirty politics out of the way in 2008 he has a very good chance to get the GOP nod.

I think that might have more to do with party solidarity -- i.e, maybe

I've been out of the loop as far as prices on [used] CB radios as of late. Approximately what would a Radio Shack Mobile SSB CB be worth - used? I have one in relatively decent shape but with signs of use, seems to work ok. I don't have it here in front of me, but the number is like 449 or 499.

Also, I have a Courier Classic PLL 40 which is a mobile size CB, all chrome looking, runs off AC or DC. I've not tried the AC section (no cord), but except for the PA system, seems to work like a charm. Any idea on it's worth? If I have the schematic for this one, I may repair the PA section OR someone who wishes to buy, can buy it cheap and tackle it themselves.

Have a TRC 422A also, which needs the squelch repaired. As soon as I can dig up a schematic, I am going to tackle that one. Needs a mic also!

Have some other [used] sets available as well... Cobras, Realistic, Midland, etc. No other sidebands. Power mics available as well. A Cobra Power mic and a Turner (+3? or +2 MU) - I can't recall - not looking at it. It is the older blue mobile power mic. I think it took the 7 vdc battery. Have a couple Cobra mics as well. A 4 and 5 pin. Other General purpose mics also available.

Have some "Commercial" quality antennas available as well. Not your typical "CB" Antenna names. These are pretty broad band. They're new in the box with "factory" warranty. Low loss coax also available - with "factory" warranty.

If anyone may be interested in either of the above, let me know. Otherwise, was planning on throwing them on E-Bay. Shipping would not be included and payment only via Postal MO or Pay Pal. Insurance would also be mandatory. Pics and/or other info available.

ALL items being sold AS IS - be they new or used. Trying to clear out some inventory. If in the case of an Antenna/coax problem, you'd have to write the factory for assistance. IF you have other needs, write me. I may have it.

I'll be honest with you, Frank. I don't recall the leader. I only recall seeing a video interview thru which he was speaking thru an interpreter. It's was a long time ago. I don't know if this is the same guy:

http://www.answers.com/topic/torrijos-carter-treaties

Possible sabotage
According to the New York Times, the day after the Senate ratified the treaty, Torrijos declared that his regime had contingency plans to sabotage the canal if ratification had failed. In August, 1990 the Chicago Tribune reported that documents captured by the U. S. military revealed that Torrijos had asked Manuel Noriega to prepare such plans. Noriega's handwritten notes on the plan were found during the 1989 invasion.

These reports were confirmed in Noriega's book, America's Prisoner published in 1997. The contingency plan was code-named "Huele a Quemado" ("It smells like something's burning."). In Noriega's account, Panamanian military specialists, had infiltrated the U.S. security cordon and lived for two months, posing as peasants and fishermen. They were prepared to assault the canal and the Panama-Colï¿½n railway with explosives and rocket launchers upon Torrijos' signal, to be broadcast as a coded message on the program of a popular radio personality.

In the book, Noriega also repeats the charge made by critics of American foreign policy that the invasion of Panama under Operation Just Cause was launched primarily to circumvent the treaty.

Here is another. It had to be that guy. But I was about only 10 or 11:

http://www.pbs.org/newshour/bb/latin_america/panamacanal/canal_12-13.html

The Carter-Torrijos Treaties

TOM BEARDEN: A peaceful transfer seemed very far away back in the 1960s and '70s, when Panamanians rioted in the streets protesting American sovereignty over the canal and the zone that surrounds it. Panamanian Dictator Omar Torrijos threatened to blow up the canal if the U.S. didn't get out. After protracted negotiations, President Jimmy Carter signed a treaty with Torrijos in 1977, setting up a process whereby Panama gradually assumed operational control of the canal, eventually leading to a complete U.S. pullout.

Interesting..... learn something new every day. But I don't think the threat was the determining factor in the transfer of the canal since

Carter wouldn't have signed the treaty -- and Congress wouldn't have passed it -- without already having plans to build an altenative canal through Nicaragua. The strategic importance of the canal was just too high to hand it over based on a threat by some third-world thug.

I cannot thank you too much. I will have to study your answer and may have a few more questions.

Yesterday I tried to apply for a FCC license for a GM radio as them call it.
I could not find GMRS category. I got lost in the application because the system kept asking me about the latitude and longitude of my place which I have to investigate and there were other errors/ contradictory answers I could not even properly understand.

I can spend as much as necessary on this line of communication, provided it is convenient and reliable. Money is no object.

Thanks.

As most of you know Astatic stopped making the D-104 desk microphone. Workman however started making a D-104 look alike microphone called the Silver Salute. It looks alot like the Silver Eagle D-104, but it is slightly shorter and the head is shaped like a stop sign instead of being round.
I recently purchased new a Workman Silver Salute and compared it side by side with an Astatic D-104. I used an on the air test with a stock Cobra 148 GTL re-issue on an Astron RS-7a power supply for the test radio.
Although the Silver Salute microphone looks similar to a D-104 it was not even close in audio quality with the Astatic D-104. All on the air reports I received said it was no contest. The D-104 was by far the superior microphone in audio quality. When I listened on a separate receiver I had to agree. I was hoping the Silver Salute would actually be a good replacement for the vintage Astatic D-104, but it is not. The Workman Silver Salute also has a rather annoying pop in the audio peeks of the transmitted audio. At first I thought the pops might be coming from the ALC in the stock Cobra 148 GTL re-issue, but the D-104 had no such pops in the audio when plugged up to the same radio. I turned the audio gain on both microphones up just enough to modulate the radio. Both mics were at less than 1/3 gain settings.

SUMMARY: If you are looking a replacement for the Astatic D-104 in audio quality the Workman Silver Salute is definitely not it. It is not even close. Too bad. I was hoping it would be.

Ever notice that Frank's participation level increases exponentially when he's engaged in a battle of wits with someone over a subject where many of the true facts are blurred?

I was waiting to see what would bring him back out of the woodwork, and no surprise, it was something political..... No doubt, Twistedhed will not be far behind, as they both seem to feed off of the same kind of controversy.

Frank has his opinion, as does everyone else. The problem is that he believes that his sources are unbiased and completely factual, which gives him the false notion that "his is the right one". He refuses to accept the possibility (probability) that he has been swayed by agenda driven propagandists. That's why he got so personal with me as I kept chipping away at his wall of "facts" and painting them as simply a regurgitation of popular propaganda.

No doubt a string of personal insults will now follow.

BTW, Congrats on the ticket! If you ever get a 220 rig, let me know.

Was thinking as I checked my email today how great this group used to be. Daily there would be technical articles posted and I can't tell you how much I learned from this group. Questions regarding repairs/modifications were politely and accurately responded to. Many folks from the group even managed to have get-togethers sometimes traveling hundreds of miles. Guess that was the old rec.radio.cb of six perhaps seven years ago, it's pretty sad how it's become.

Me too, except his drug policy sucks, It's more of the same which leads to many folks saying its not their problem since they dont do drugs, but it is the number one problem and cause for violence on the streets and overcrowding of the prisons and a drain on the economy. Ironically, the majority of those with the longest sentences, due to unfair mandatory minimums which McCain supports, are serving time for non-violent offenses. Truth in sentencing is something that must be introduced. When we have people convicted of second degree murder and sexual offenders convicted of molesting children getting out after 15 years while others are doing 60 plus years for drug possession, something is very wrong.

Why? You do such a wonderful job all by yourself; e.g:

"Politics transcends logic. Logic can only account for certain nuts and bolts issues, but cannot address core values or beliefs."

"[T]he government was never intended to do anything more than protect, facilitate and represent our interests in the world market."

"As long as I can observe the actions of people like you, I feel fortunate in my own life situation. Perspective is a wonderful thing."

"The only people held to higher standards are those who are in the public eye, are paid to perform a service which requires a higher standard, or those who are recognized as leaders in one vocation or another. I fall into none of those categories."

"In every case where you have criticized my use of vocabulary, I have provided definitions of the terms which are consistent with my usage."

If you have a CB or HAM Radio product to sell, and are looking for an easy inexpensive way to sell it... I have the ideal domain name for you.

PileupBuster.com

The name is instantly recognizable to all CB and HAM Radio people. It is also very meaningful and easy to remember.

Click on this link to see the traffic and get more information.

http://PileupBuster.com

If you don't like the price, email me an offer.

Or, maybe you have an HF RIG to trade. I am looking for a used Yeasu FT-1000 or an FT-897 with or without the antenna tuner.

Regards,

Bill

Probably pull off another second. ;-)

I've givin up on the Dodges, for now. They just don't have it this year. Ther'll probably be some "changes" made mid-season to make them more competitive. Only thing keeping me sane is Roush keeping Chevy from running away with everything.

Goddamn Chevy. ;-)

I hear the concessions are deserved for the Charger. Maybe it will provide max down-force on the short track..like Bristol? (right)

Take a gander at Reed Sorensen in his Dodge, running Busch only. Kid's only 19, but he gets up on the wheel.

lol...

Even progressives like NASCAR, huh? What a shocker! ;-)

I may be dating myself but my first recollections of NASCAR are watching Lorenzen, Fireball Roberts, etc, go roundy-round in their Fords. My Pop bought a '63 Galaxy 500 Coupe, not the fastback, with a 390 4bbl and 4-speed and I used to play like I was Lorenzen in the driveway.

One of my fav pictures on my wall in the computer room is of three Fords - Lorenzen, Roberts, and (I think) David Pearson, #21 anyway, dicing it up in the '63 Firecracker 400.

Is your e-mail addy a "real" one? If not, and you're interested, shoot me your real one to this address and I'll send you a pic of the pic.

Yeah, I "like" NASCAR. ;-)

If you were honest, you'd get a ton of advice to your posted questions in email, but when you post with a toss-away addy in hopes someone will

Yes it is, but your's must be terribly pathetic when you boast of intrinsic gains from insulting responses you received as a direct result of begging for them.

Dave, you are out of your league. I'll try and be tactful about this.....

The problem here is that, like the rest of your life, you aren't achieving squat on Usenet. You feel that if you can stand toe-to-toe in a arguments with people who you feel are intellectually superior that you will be be recognized for your intellectual achievements. But that's not happening Dave, and I'll tell you why: People like Twisty and myself are, as the saying goes, "too smart for our own britches". Kinda like athletes that need to burn off extra energy, we use Usenet to burn off excess grey matter. You, OTOH, are struggling to assert yourself as a worthy competitor in a game where the objective is, for all practical purposes, to butt heads.

Now stop and think for a minute: almost nobody read the arguments between Twist and myself, and almost nobody is reading our arguments with you. So just who do you think is recognizing your intellectual "achievements" in this newsgroup? Not me, not Twist, not your family, not your friends (assuming you have friends), not anybody in your co-dependent relationships..... not anybody else that matters. In fact, anyone that -does- matter would read your posts and tell you that you are wasting your time and accomplishing absolutely nothing.

But the choice is yours: Do you want to continue participating in this head-butting melee? or would you rather accomplish something for which you will gain some positive social recognition? I suspect the former because that would be consistent with your personality disorders, but who knows -- maybe you will address your dysfunctions, quit bothering your doctor and pharmacist, put some distance between yourself and your computer and TV, and finally do something constructive with your life (hey, it could happen!).

I had held out hope that this newsgroup would someday revert back to real discussions about CB radio. But it appears that all that is left for the most part, are those who just want to "butt heads". I'm not sure how much of this I want to be responsible for.

A few clicks of your mouse and you too, can become educated upon the issue defined below. Not agreeing with me doesn't make what Bush is doing regarding his own phony news reports conjured by his spin doctors. The Center for Media and Democracy is working with the Free Press to gather a quarter million signatures on our petition mobilizing the American public to fight fake news and government propaganda. On Sunday, the New York Times reported that at least 20 federal agencies have made and distributed pre-packaged, ready-to-serve television news segments to promote President Bush's policies and initiatives. Congress' Government Accountability Office determined that these "video news releases" were illegal "covert propaganda" and told federal agencies to stop. Last Friday, the White House ordered all agencies to disregard Congress' directive.

One makes a simple typo and your low self-esteem dictates your ego has the need to call another a "dumbass' for it. My goodness, that would make you KING Dumbass, with the number of typos you have made in the past.
Nevertheless, here is the correct, with the period in front of the Thanks,,,,,yea, that's one way. Some folks apparently take serious issue with those in a position that couple their hobby with laughing and poking fun at the FCC. It seems to burn even more asses that one of our own is having at it and getting a bit of attention. It certainly does make a mockery of the failed FCC policies and those who support its current archaic rules as relating to commercial FM radio, micro-broadcasters and the like. What really is galling some of those, is the more they contact the FCC regarding this stuff, the more they lose their credibility.

And now, back to our regular program.

Frank,

You 2 should cool it and try to get along. But Dave is right about one thing. I had no intention of getting into an argument with you on Reagan. I simply liked the guy. I did not have to justify that to you or anybody else. You proceded to give me a history lesson. I did not escalate the situation much further, and backed off. But you are confrontational, or at least you look to be confrontational. You have to understand, not everyone is like that, me included. I know you can school me on the history in that time period. Or maybe on history of any time period. But who cares. I still liked the guy. Just bury the hatchett.

There is still plenty of discussion about CB radio. The problem is that you choose not to participate in most of it, just like you rarely choose discuss anything but politics in rec.boats. So now you claim to take the morally high-ground and accept at least some responsibility for your own off-topic rhetoric? Save it, Dave -- regardless of what Doubtful. First, your education is seriously lacking in many academic disciplines. You claimed to have attended a tech school (what was the name of that tech school, Dave?), but never claimed to graduate. In fact, you have never claimed to have graduated high-school. Your grammar and composition demonstrate that your education is barely comparable with that of a backwoods junior college. Also, you post during normal working hours and are characteristically absent from the newsgroup on the weekends (recently claiming your weekend was spent on a "business trip"). You have boasted about your career as an engineer yet have never provided any further details, such as the specific field of engineering or the nature of your work. Assuming you actually -do- have a job, I doubt it involves any of the engineering fields. But I'm sure that you can find a definition for "engineer" that fits your job description in some way, such as "sanitation engineer" or "estate recycling engineer". My guess is that your job is closer to that of a "field logistics engineer" for a local pizza shop.

> You tend bar.

And I enjoy it, for the most part. The tips are good. It also comes after a 25 year full-time career in the field of radio-electronics, which is now part-time but continues unabated. I graduated EWU with a BS in EE and a minor in communications, worked several years as a broadcast engineer at a local station, and I still subcontract as a sound engineer at another.

You, OTOH, once had a CB shop.

>I have a solid and supportive family life.

Is that the current euphamism for a co-dependent relationship?

> You are - Alone.

Another assumption that is 100% wrong. Perhaps you think I'm "alone" because I don't have any co-dependent relationships, I don't have anyone paying my bills, or because I have an independent personality.

But even though I live independently, half my family lives in Spokane.
I'm hardly "alone".

You are not the only person who "liked the guy". But a lot of people who were taken by his charms either didn't know or didn't care about many of the unflattering facts about his administration. I was trying to find out if you were one of the people who didn't know, or if you were one of the people who didn't care. I got my answer and I dropped the subject. Why are you trying to revive it?

And more often they disagree.

Frank, when was the last time a post of yours on this group, contained an agreeing tone to someone? I don't recall. The difference btween you and I is, I don't go out of my way, to either agree or disagree. You do go out of your way.
Especially to disagree.

OK. My next question is, why did you need an answer? Are you entitled to one? Do
I make that much difference in your life, that you need an answer from me? Did it make you feel good? Why? Why did you need an answer?

>Why are you trying to revive it?

I am not trying to revive it. You figured it out. You were not going to change my mind. And I wasn't going to change yours. However, I could have played with you if I wanted to, and kept this going on and on. Because you don't know when to stop. But I am not like you. And if there is one thing I have figured out with you and Dave, that is, you absolutely have to have the last post. And that about says it all.

I want to hang a 10-80 meter multi dipole in the trees, for my HF rig, when I get it. I want to hang it in the next 2 weeks.

My questions are:

1. How high off the ground must the feedpoint be?

2. Should I use horizontal, or inverted V? Based on the trees, inverted V would be much easier. I will be much harder to run a horizontal form, in the trees.

3. If you recommend a inverted V, how high must the ends be off of the ground?

Thanks

(BTW, I am hanging the Imax for my CB up there, while I am at it)

Yes, it was. It was when 2 ships blew up in the harbor in 1947.

Here it is:

That city is jinxed. I remember the video from this. The pictures don't do it justice. The video was incedible, even at it's age.

The only outlet (radio) I heard anything other than a short blurb about this terrible incident was "Air America", that bastion of liberal commies. Every thing else was "Schaivo, all the time".

I haven't watched any TV yet today. Have they been better reporting it?

Pop quiz, Dave:

Polls show that at least 82% of the American people believe that the US government should not have interfered in the Scheivo case. Despite this, Congress and the president interfered with the case anyway. The resulting federal law was a purely partisan issue that was favored by Republicans, and was passed because they have control of the WH and hold a majority in both houses of Congress. These facts show that the majority of the American people were -not- represented when this law was passed by the Republicans.

The question is this: Who -is- represented by the majority party if not the majority of Americans?

Quick Easy Cash

: LOTS OF CASH, FAST AND COMPLETELY LEGAL, THIS REALLY WORKS!!
: THIS REALLY CAN MAKE YOU EASY MONEY!! IT WORKS!!! BUT YOU : HAVE TO FOLLOW IT TO THE LETTER FOR IT TO WORK!!!!
: A little while back, I was browsing through newsgroups, just like you are now, and came
: across an article similar to this that said you could make thousands of dollars within weeks
: with only an initial investment of $6.00! So I thought," Yeah, right, this must be a scam",
: but like most of us, I was curious, so I kept reading.
: Anyway, it said that you send $1.00 to each of the 6 names and address stated in the : article. You then place your own name and address in the bottom of the list at #6, and
: post the article in at least 200 newsgroups. (There are thousands) No catch, that was it.
: So after thinking it over, and talking to a few people first, I thought about trying it. I figured
: what have I got to lose except 6 stamps and $6.00, right? Like most of us I was a little
: skeptical and a little worried about the legal aspects of it
: all. So I checked it out with the U.S. Post Office (1-800-725-2161)
and they confirmed
: that it is indeed legal! Then I invested the measly $6.00. Well GUESS
WHAT!!... within 7
: days, I started getting money in the mail! I was shocked! I figured it would end soon, but
: the money just kept coming in. In my first week, I made about $25.00.
By the end of the : second week I had made a total of over $1,000.00! In the third week I had over
: $10,000.00 and it's still growing. This is now my fourth week and I have made a total of
: just over $42,000.00 and it's still coming in rapidly. It's : certainly worth $6.00, and 6 stamps, I have spent more than that on the lottery!!
: Let me tell you how this works and most importantly, why it works....also, make sure you
: print a copy of this article NOW, so you can get the information off
of it as you need it.
: A cousin of mine did this a few months back, and he is now enjoying life in his brand new Tahoe Sport!! ($30,000+). So it does work!!

: STEP 1: Get 6 separate pieces of paper and write the following on each piece of paper
: "PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR MAILING LIST." Now get 6 US $1.00 bills and place
: ONE inside EACH of the 6 pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen through the
: envelope to prevent thievery. Next, place one paper in each of the 6 envelopes and seal
: them. You should now have 6 sealed envelopes, each with a : piece of paper stating the above phrase, your name and address, and a $1.00 bill. What : you are doing is creating a service by this. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL! Mail the 6
: envelopes to the following addresses:
: 1- Kevin Klingelhoefer
: 615 Crescent St.
: Langhorne, PA 19047
: USA
: 2- A.L.
: Rimon 631/24
: Natzareth illit, T.D. 13123
: ISRAEL (17000)
: 3- Jeremy Franklin
: PO Box 11
: McCune, KS 66753
: 4- Wallden Enterprises Inc.
: 14329 - 68th Avenue, Surrey, B.C. V3W 2H5
: Canada
: 5- Frank Gomez
: 11108 Shoreline Dr.
: El Paso, TX 79936
: 6-G.H.
1011 W. Alberta St.
Anaheim,Ca. 92805
: STEP 2: Now take the #1 name off the list that you see above, move
the other names up

: (6 becomes 5, 5 becomes 4, etc...) and add YOUR Name as number 6 on the list. STEP
: 3: Change anything you need to, but try to keep this article as close to original as possible.
: Now, post your amended article to at least 200 newsgroups. (I think there are close to
: 24,000 groups) All you need is 200, but remember, the more you post, the more money
: you make! ---DIRECTIONS -----HOW TO POST TO NEWSGROUPS------------
: Step 1) You do not need to re-type this entire letter to do your own posting. Simply put
: your cursor at the beginning of this letter and drag your : cursor to the bottom of this document, and select 'copy' from the edit menu. This will copy
: the entire letter into the computers memory. Step 2) Open a blank 'notepad' file and place
: your cursor at the top of the blank page. From the 'edit' menu select 'paste'. This will paste
: a copy of the letter into notepad so that you can add your name to the list. Step 3) Save : your new notepad file as a .txt file. If you want to do your postings in different sittings,
: you'll always have this file to go back to.
: Step 4) Use Netscape or Internet explorer and try searching for various newsgroups
: (on-line
: forums, message boards, chat sites, discussions.) Step 5) Visit these message boards and
: post this article as a new message by highlighting the text of this letter and selecting paste
: from the edit menu. Fill in the Subject, this will be the header that everyone sees as they
: scroll through the list of postings in a particular group, click the post message button.
: You're done with your first one!
: Congratulations...THAT'S IT! All you have to do is jump to different newsgroupes and : post away, after you get the hang of it, it will take about 30 seconds for each newsgroup!
: REMEMBER, THE MORE NEWSGROUPS YOU POST IN, THE MORE
: MONEY YOU WILL MAKE!! BUT YOU HAVE TO POST A MINIMUM OF
: 200 That's it! You will begin reciving money from around the world within days! You : may eventually wany to rent a P.O.Box due to the large amount of mail you will receive. If : you wish to stay anonymous, you can invent a name to use, as : long as the postman will deliver it. JUST MAKE SURE ALL THE ADDRESSES ARE
: CORRECT.
: Now the WHY part: Out of 200 postings, say I receive only 5 replies

(a very low
: example). So then I made $5.00 with my name at #6 on the letter. Now, each of the 5
: persons who just sent me $1.00 make the MINIMUM 200 postings, each
with my name
: at #5 and only 5 persons respond to each of the original 5, that is another $25.00 for me,
: now those 25 each make 200 MINIMUM posts with my name at #4 and only 5 replies
: each, I will bring in an additional
: $125.00! Now, those 125 persons turn around and post the MINIMUM 200
with my
: name at #3 and only receive 5 replies each, I will make an additional $626.00! OK, now
: here is the fun part, each of those 625 persons post a MINIMUM 200
letters with my
: name at #2 and they each only receive 5 replies, that just made me $3,125.00!!! Those
: 3,125 persons will all deliver this message to 200 newsgroups with my name at #1 and if
: still 5 persons per 200 newsgroups react I will receive $15,625,00!
With a original
: investment of only $6.00! AMAZING! When your name is no longer on the list, you just
: take the latest posting in the newsgroups, and send out another $6.00
to names on the list,
: putting your name at number 6 again. And start posting again. The thing to remember is,
: do you realize that thousands of people all over the world are joining the internet and
: reading these articles everyday, JUST LIKE YOU are now!! So can you afford $6.00
: and see if it really works?? I think so... People have said, "what if the plan is played out
: and no one sends you
: the money? So what! What are the chances of that happening when there are tons of new
: honest users and new honest people who are joining the internet and newsgroups everyday
: and are willing to give it a try? Estimates are at 20,000 to 50,000
new users, every day,
: with thousands of those joining the actual internet. Remember, play FAIRLY and
: HONESTLY and this will work.
: Also, for the skeptics, you're looking at this and thinking about doing it right? imagine how many millions are looking and thinking the EXACT same thing

: Anyway, it said that you send $1.00 to each of the 6 names and address stated in the
: article. You then place your own name and address in the bottom of the list at #6, and
: post the article in at least 200 newsgroups. (There are thousands) No catch, that was it.
: So after thinking it over, and talking to a few people first, I thought about trying it. I figured
: what have I got to lose except 6 stamps and $6.00, right? Like most of us I was a little
: skeptical and a little worried about the legal aspects of it
: all. So I checked it out with the U.S. Post Office (1-800-725-2161)
and they confirmed
: that it is indeed legal! Then I invested the measly $6.00. Well GUESS
WHAT!!... within 7
: days, I started getting money in the mail! I was shocked! I figured
it would end soon, but
: the money just kept coming in. In my first week, I made about $25.00.
By the end of the : second week I had made a total of over $1,000.00! In the third week I had over
: $10,000.00 and it's still growing. This is now my fourth week and I have made a total of
: just over $42,000.00 and it's still coming in rapidly. It's : certainly worth $6.00, and 6 stamps, I have spent more than that on the lottery!!
: Let me tell you how this works and most importantly, why it
works....also, make sure you
: print a copy of this article NOW, so you can get the information off
of it as you need it.
: A cousin of mine did this a few months back, and he is now enjoying life in his brand new Tahoe Sport!! ($30,000+). So it does work!!
: STEP 1: Get 6 separate pieces of paper and write the following on
each piece of paper
place
: ONE inside EACH of the 6 pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen
through the
: envelope to prevent thievery. Next, place one paper in each of the 6
envelopes and seal
: them. You should now have 6 sealed envelopes, each with a : piece of paper stating the above phrase, your name and address, and a $1.00 bill. What : you are doing is creating a service by this. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL! Mail the 6

: envelopes to the following addresses:

: STEP 2: Now take the #1 name off the list that you see above, move the other names up
: (6 becomes 5, 5 becomes 4, etc...) and add YOUR Name as number 6 on the list. STEP
: 3: Change anything you need to, but try to keep this article as close to original as possible.
: Now, post your amended article to at least 200 newsgroups. (I think there are close to
: 24,000 groups) All you need is 200, but remember, the more you post, the more money

: you make! ---DIRECTIONS -----HOW TO POST TO NEWSGROUPS------------
: Step 1) You do not need to re-type this entire letter to do your own posting. Simply put
: your cursor at the beginning of this letter and drag your : cursor to the bottom of this document, and select 'copy' from the edit menu. This will copy
: the entire letter into the computers memory. Step 2) Open a blank
'notepad' file and place
: your cursor at the top of the blank page. From the 'edit' menu select
'paste'. This will paste
: a copy of the letter into notepad so that you can add your name to the list. Step 3) Save : your new notepad file as a .txt file. If you want to do your postings in different sittings,
: you'll always have this file to go back to.
: Step 4) Use Netscape or Internet explorer and try searching for various newsgroups
: (on-line
: forums, message boards, chat sites, discussions.) Step 5) Visit these message boards and
: post this article as a new message by highlighting the text of this letter and selecting paste
: from the edit menu. Fill in the Subject, this will be the header that everyone sees as they
: scroll through the list of postings in a particular group, click the post message button.
: You're done with your first one!
: Congratulations...THAT'S IT! All you have to do is jump to different newsgroupes and
: post away, after you get the hang of it, it will take about 30 seconds for each newsgroup!
: REMEMBER, THE MORE NEWSGROUPS YOU POST IN, THE MORE
: MONEY YOU WILL MAKE!! BUT YOU HAVE TO POST A MINIMUM OF
: 200 That's it! You will begin reciving money from around the world within days! You : may eventually wany to rent a P.O.Box due to the large amount of mail you will receive. If : you wish to stay anonymous, you can invent a name to use, as
: long as the postman will deliver it. JUST MAKE SURE ALL THE ADDRESSES ARE
: CORRECT.
: Now the WHY part: Out of 200 postings, say I receive only 5 replies
(a very low
: example). So then I made $5.00 with my name at #6 on the letter. Now,
each of the 5
: persons who just sent me $1.00 make the MINIMUM 200 postings, each
with my name
: at #5 and only 5 persons respond to each of the original 5, that is another $25.00 for me,
: now those 25 each make 200 MINIMUM posts with my name at #4 and only

5 replies
: each, I will bring in an additional
: $125.00! Now, those 125 persons turn around and post the MINIMUM 200
with my
: name at #3 and only receive 5 replies each, I will make an additional $626.00! OK, now
: here is the fun part, each of those 625 persons post a MINIMUM 200
letters with my
: name at #2 and they each only receive 5 replies, that just made me $3,125.00!!! Those
: 3,125 persons will all deliver this message to 200 newsgroups with my name at #1 and if
: still 5 persons per 200 newsgroups react I will receive $15,625,00!
With a original
: investment of only $6.00! AMAZING! When your name is no longer on the list, you just
: take the latest posting in the newsgroups, and send out another $6.00
to names on the list,
: putting your name at number 6 again. And start posting again. The thing to remember is,
: do you realize that thousands of people all over the world are joining the internet and
: reading these articles everyday, JUST LIKE YOU are now!! So can you
afford $6.00
: and see if it really works?? I think so... People have said, "what if the plan is played out
: and no one sends you
: the money? So what! What are the chances of that happening when there are tons of new
: honest users and new honest people who are joining the internet and newsgroups everyday
: and are willing to give it a try? Estimates are at 20,000 to 50,000
new users, every day,

FAIRLY and

: Also, for the skeptics, you're looking at this and thinking about doing it right? imagine how many millions are looking and thinking the EXACT same thing Quick Easy Cash

: LOTS OF CASH, FAST AND COMPLETELY LEGAL, THIS REALLY WORKS!!
: THIS REALLY CAN MAKE YOU EASY MONEY!! IT WORKS!!! BUT YOU

: A little while back, I was browsing through newsgroups, just like you are now, and came
: across an article similar to this that said you could make thousands of dollars within weeks

First of all, I have given Dave the last word many, many times. You can check google and see that most threads usually end with a post by him. So for you to suggest that I am the one who needs to have the last word is nothing more than pure BS.

Second, if my discussions with Dave cause you grief then that's -your-problem, not mine. This is an open forum, and while you can read and post whatever you like, you can also ignore whatever you don't like.
Learn to do the latter and you won't need to visit your shrink.

Third, it takes two to tango. Don't whine about me unless you are going to whine about Dave as well. Otherwise, you are just as much of a hypocrite as he is.

Fourth, I am not the one pushing -our- discussion. In fact, and contrary to your own opinion, I gave -you- the last word and I dropped our discussion. It is -you- that keeps digging up the issue. If you want it to end then just shut up. It's that simple.

Fifth, I couldn't care less if you change your mind or not about anything. You made a statement, I asked a few questions, and you threw a fit. You're still throwing a fit. Take a really big prozac and chill.

And finally, a lot of people don't like me -- big deal. You're nothing special that I should change -my- ways to suit -your- model of proper etiquitte. A hammie license doesn't give you any special privs in this newsgroup, and you've provided nothing to the group that warrants any respect from me. So get over yourself.

Now I gave you the last word before, but since that you made it an issue you must now earn it. Are you sure you want to play this game?

It was specifically Ammonium Nitrate. Ammonium Nitrate is used as the main component in some fertilizer products for farm use. I have a picture in an old chemistry book of mine that shows a locomotive blown off its tracks at least a mile from the explosion site. That should give you an idea of the force and size of the explosion.

Ammonium Nitrate is classified as a high explosive but requires either a great deal of heat (ANFO - Ammonium Nitrate Fuel Oil) or something like a blasting cap to set it off. In the sixties I believe several student radical groups used a version of the ANFO concept to do a few bombings.
Ammonium Nitrate under low heat however will cause it to decompose in to water vapor and nitrous oxide (laughing gas).

We used to get along just fine. That was before Frank found out I am a conservative republican. Now he's made it his life mission to attempt to counter me at every turn. He's a man obsessed beyond what would be considered normal. Note his sensitivity to your mention of Reagan.

I understand just fine. Your purpose in this newsgroup is to argue with people. NOtice that you have been relatively quiet for over two weeks until your soul mate Twisty posts a post attacking Bush, and bam!, you pop out of the woodwork with a vengeance just to belittle anyone who might have a different point of view.

You are a parasite on this group Frank, not too much different than Twisty. Where his pleasure revolves around twisting other peoples words into knots and prodding them into continued responses (and by extension attention), you argue like every topic is a game of chess.
You have no tolerance for opposition, and believe that you hold all the cards. Twisty is a sociopath with narcissistic tendencies, while you are narcissistic with sociopathic tendencies.

That you bother to research my posting habits on other newsgroups, as well as probing for info on other newsgroup members (like Landshark) looking for tidbits of info that you might use against them is also very illustrative into your motives.

A poor excuse for someone who can't behave according to the guidelines. I'm surprised you once agreed in principle to legal CB operation. Everything about your attitude of late screams "I do what I want, screw everyone else". Another commonality with Twisty.

Or is this simply a reaction to losing the job that you fought so hard to achieve for so many years?

As does Twisty, and others as well. This means what exactly?

You can't stand the thought that I might be on a higher rung of the socio-economic food chain than your hard working (but stabbed in the back by the minions of "corporate culture") self. After all, you had to swallow your principles and enlist in the military to earn college money, incurred large student loans, worked hard to pay them off, and feel that you deserve better. You see me as someone who took the "easy road" (because I never told you any differently), and assume that I'm something lower than I really am. If that makes you feel better, then go on believing that. It doesn't affect me one way or the other.

Keep telling yourself that. Denial is the first step in recovery. But it's sure a waste of all that time and money spent pursuing your engineering degree, to be reduced to basically unskilled labor.

I'd probably like tending bar too. Take away the disgusting cigarette smoke, and ignoring the fact that I couldn't afford the pay cut. I'd also like driving a truck, or taking people out fishing. But the truth is, I can't live on that kind of money with my lifestyle.

in 1990, I was offered a job at a broadcast station in Florida, as an engineer as well as subbing for on-air shifts on the off-times. I was tempted to take it until I found out what they were paying......

>You, OTOH, once had a CB shop.

No, I never had a CB shop. I did, however, subcontract for several other CB shops who couldn't afford a full time repair guy. This was my "fun" job, which I used the proceeds from to buy my radio gear. I gave that up when the responsibilities of family life took away much of my discretionary time.

Is co-dependant relationship your euphemism for a normal, healthy marriage and family?

Is that how you justify to yourself, your failure at relationships, by casting them as somehow irregular, and flawed?

Small children often adopt this tactic when the fail to achieve at one activity or another. Claim that "baseball sucks" because you aren't good at it.

Thank you Twist for the link. I found the following parts especially interesting:

"to the FCC and the state, operating a pirate radio station from a 40-watt transmitter in his kitchen breakfast nook makes him a criminal."

and:

"The signal emanating from the antenna attached to the side of his apartment building could earn him federal fines and a felony conviction under a state law created last year that carries penalties of up to five years in prison."

Yikes! Operating an unlicensed transmitter might become a bit more risky.........

Vinnie,

The best advice I can give you in that regard is to just talk natural,
like you would in person.

Usage of lingo, whether ham or CB in nature, will give people an excuse to categorize you based on how you talk. If you speak in plain English, you remove that potential for prejudice.

Dave,

My political beliefs might be so far to the opposite of what you believe. But I have far more respect for you as a person, than I do Frank. And for one simple reason. Class. You have it, he doesn't. You have never forced your will on me, politcally, or technically. And you have never made an irrelevent or assinine comment like "A hammie license doesn't give you any special privs in this newsgroup, and you've provided nothing to the group that warrants any respect from me." It was totally irrelevent to the discussion. That is twice he has brought up my getting a ham license. I don't understand why it bugs him so much. I never said it made me an instant engineer, or I now know a boat load of info. Quite to the contrary. I am still asking many people here for technical info. But it sure has struck a nerve in him, for some reason.

Yea, in fact, people have been jailed for such activity and accrued criminal records, unlike those who talk skip on 11 meters. I have a link to actions against pirate radio in the US by the FCC. Total convictions were something like one or two in the past year or so,,,possibly three, can't remember. This is out of hundreds and hundreds of complaints among the thousands and thousands of pirate radio stations. With the new charade by the morals and decency King Censorship at the FCC, expect enforcement to become more stringent, but only against the biggest offenders...your corporate stations. In fact, my prediction is cb and hammie enforcement will become even more rare, as it simply is not the priority some of the angry hammie funks wish it to be.

This law was designed in direct response to those who are infringing upon commercial broadcasters. Florida is estimated to have more pirate radio stations than any other state. The unlicensed transmitter law you refer doesn't apply across the board, but rather targets unlicensed broadcasters who take revenue/listeners from corporate radio and who interfere with other station's broadcasts. A few complaints from John Doe to the FCC complaining unlicensed pirate radio may get filed somewhere, but not acted upon until a big gun is activated.
Oh yea. Bob moved over the weekend. He's no longer in the garage apartment. You just can't trust the media these days...<g>....look at Bush, he's pulling a Dan Rather by manufacturing news and those who cried about CBS are hypocritically silent about it.

It seems to burn even more asses that one of our own is having at it and getting a bit of attention. It certainly does make a mockery of the failed FCC policies and those who support its current archaic rules as relating to commercial FM radio, micro-broadcasters and the like. What really is galling some of those, is the more they contact the FCC regarding this stuff, the more they lose their credibility.

One thing I don't understand, is the local repeater group's belief that those bands are any good. So far, I have been on that air for about 5 days, and hardly anyone is on that repeater. They said 2 meters is CB with call signs. They said Yaesu is equipment only ex-cbers use. What I have found, is that CB is still used more than anyone in that repeater group. It is far more useful on highways in a mobile situation.

I am going to take the money I have saved and buy an Imax for CB, and a dipole for HF. And then I will get an HF rig. Screw this VHF/UHF for now. I will wait on that until later in the year. Maybe I will take up QRP. I kind of like the idea of low power DX. Kind of brings back memories of talking to distant CBers on a cheap transistor Walkie Talkie. I still remember that excitement.

Confusion. He made the comment he wasn't going to get into a pissing you, not the topic.....several times.

He does the same thing with Geo with his continual need to remind him

In other words, he struggles to make himself heard to others, but he experiences difficulties when those he criticizes illustrate his own

Nah, I ain't nutz enough to even want the recipe. :)

I've heard they use an additive with agricultural urea that is supposed to make it flash proof. Dunno if it's true or not..

Hmm. There seems to be a bit of personal blood there. I'm not about to "forward" this to anyone. It's none of my business. But I do like to read about pirate radio. In many ways I sympathize with those who do it. But I also recognize the importance of government regulated airwaves in order to minimize chaos if the broadcast bands became a free-for-all.

In principle, there is not much difference. But the people who lobby and complain about pirate broadcast radio have much more clout and influence than hobby radio users.

That's true in many cases of CB interference as well. The only real FCC bust that I ever saw, involved a gang of cretins who were running large power, harassing people, and making the band miserable. It wasn't until the local police started getting interference, did the FCC finally act. But once they acted, the fines hit hard.

Maybe because it isn't true. The loony left invents all sorts of stories to blame Bush for. This may well be one of them.

Then try another. 2 meters is full of repeaters. The band is almost always hopping at one frequency or another. You owe no allegiance to any one group or another. Also give simplex a try. Most of my ex-CB radio pals chose to hang out on simplex rather than get involved in the politics and "clique-like" attitude of some repeater groups. It's usually more loose and fun. But you'll probably need a good antenna to do it well. An HT on a duck won't cut it on simplex.

>They said 2 meters is CB with call signs.

Who is "they"? I find 75 meters to be more like CB than 2 meters. Foul language, jamming, bulging egos. Yep, it reminds me of Channel 19. Two meters is much more civilized in my area.

That's why wise people refrain from arguing such things as religion and politics. There are little true facts an much subjectivity. Since a position cannot be settled based on subjective opinion, it is pointless to argue.

Faith. Those who have it, need no further proof. Those who don't, no amount of proof will convince.

If the FCC only permits voice communication on CB, doesn't that prevent deaf people from using the band? I think TTY, as well as CW, should be permitted for that reason alone. If it became a petition, would it pass?

ROTFLMMFAO!!! Dave has no more "class" than any other troll in here.
Don't believe me? Just dig through google and look at his years of arguments with Twisty. Then come back here and justify the reason why you chastise me and not Dave or Twist.

Are you so weak-minded that someone -- anyone -- in a newsgroup is capable of "forcing their will" on you?

Then you haven't been paying attention. Since you first posted on this could you. So what's more important, Vinnie: truth or perception?

I didn't know if it existed or not. That's why I asked. Unlike Dave, you were able to provide a legitimate reference to back up your claim.
I admitted I learned something that I didn't know before even though it didn't change my opinion. Regardless, you earned some points for

I brought it up because you didn't start whining until you got your license. Too many hammies think that a ticket is a badge of respect that should be recognized by anyone in the radio field. Unfortunately, they forget one simple fact: they are -amateurs-, hence the name of the service. And in case you never noticed, there are many newsgroups just for hammies to discuss hammie things.

making groundless accusations is characteristic of someone you regard

I read rec.boats (and other related newsgroups) because I have an interest in boats. In fact, I not only own a boat but I'm building one myself. A paddle-wheeler, to be specific. But even if I -was- stalking you in another group that doesn't negate the fact that almost all your posts in that newsgroup are about politics and -not- boats.

Despite your "core belief" that I have aligned myself with the dark side, I have never abandoned my position on the importance of running legal. My behavior is no different now than it was then, and you never stated a single word of dissent while I was lambasting keyclowns in the past. But now that you are on the receiving end you squeal like a stuck pig and conclude that I have changed my principles for the only reason that you are now arguing with both Twisty and myself. So because I disagree with your political "leanings", that makes me a keyclown? Get a grip.

Oh, I -can- stand the thought -- I just don't -believe- it's at all jockey (or jockette, as the case may be). Let's call it one of my

My feelings are not the issue. The issue is that you have demonstrated your general incompence in electrical/electronic engineering, a lack of the basic principles and practices of a higher education, and a social perception that is beyond your capacity for independent thought. The conclusions are that your claim of being an engineer is most likely a lie; it's more likely that you barely survive on a peon's wage and are financially supported by someone else (maybe the state welfare system, but more likely your parents or the parents of your wife). Prove me wrong, Dave.

What's not to like about bartending? Try it sometime. You might enjoy it, too. You might find out that it requires a bit more skill than you assume.

I dunno..... it pays a lot better than delivering pizzas. The trick is that you have to -earn- your tips.

Maybe you're right..... bars don't usually have medical plans that cover psychological disorders.

Yep, and just today I landed a contract to design and build a private sound studio. $5k for three weeks work isn't exactly chickenfeed.

I would think that by now that you would have learned to look up the meaning of words before you use them, but apparently that's not the case. At least you corrected my spelling error.

I hope that you are a "spackling engineer" because that's what your wall is going to need after you finish perforating it with your piss-poor dart throwing skills.

Adults often adopt the tactic as well. I guess they never learned the story of the fox and the grapes..... and apparently neither did you.

Your use of the term "partners" is yet another demonstration of your inability to distinguish a normal relationship from co-dependency.

So you are the only one working (in your family, I assume), you have an extravagant lifestyle that cannot be supported on the salary of a bartender, yet you find the time to yak this much on Usenet during normal working hours. Interesting. Perhaps you think you pay the bills just because you write the checks, regardless of where the money comes from. You may be the only one working, but that doesn't mean you are the sole source of family income. But you did a nice play on words, Dave. Too bad it didn't work.

Correct translation: I don't need the social, emotional or economic support of anyone else to have a good life -- I'm doing quite well all by myself.

Translation: "I could write a course on perception." Well guess what, Dave: I -did- write a course on perception. It was a short course as a project in a communications class in college. And once again, I highly recommend you find and read the book.

I doubt it. You have the attribute that Vinnie attributed to me -- you need to have the last word. Catch 22.

But let's not forget that you are a lover of statistics. Polls are a very useful and fairly accurate statistical tool for determining voter perceptions (there's that word again). They are studied very closely by the press as well as the politicians -- including the president.
And I'll bet that even Bush doesn't ignore a poll on a major issue simply because it's a poll. After all, it was polling data that plans election campaigns.

So once again: Who -is- represented by the majority party if not the majority of Americans?

My radio was recently stolen and was later located in a local park. Although the radio was a bit dirty and had scratches, it worked well. The problem is I can't get the urine smell out of the radio. Apparently it was tossed into a pool of urine for a short time and got a good soaking but still worked. I sprayed the circuit board with some bleach but it still smells. what can I do?

Good luck finding tickets to that one. Likely the toughest race on the circuit to find, without paying dearly. I got these for $30 over face, ebay has them. There's also a fan forum on Bristol's website under tickets, scalping isn't allowed there so it might be a place to start.

Don't know. Thought they were soft last year. I would trade Abraham. I can't stand him and his 8 game seasons. I didn't like the Coles and Moss trade. I was thrilled when Becht was signed away. He was addition by subtraction. I think the defense looks very promising. I haven't been able to say that since the mid-1980's. Ferguson was overrated, and getting old. I think with a good graft, we should at least match last year.

becht was a good downfield blocker but who would fill his shoes? coles is a taller receiver which should help. anyway, good to see a green and white on this board. 11-5 if chad is healthy what are talking about a ticket? $80 for nosebleeds? probably a low

I think face for that is $90. They go for 3 times that at times from scalpers. There's a waiting list for them from the track that is years long.

The CW of course, would have to be done with a computer printing it out OR via some sort of pulsating light or other means that they could "feel" to detect the message being sent. As for it being passed, I think it could be - if someone pressed the ADA laws, showing it to be discriminatory to those who are deaf. Could make some interesting changes come about for CB! Never know until you try........

Yup.

> should be permitted for that reason alone.

Interesting but I doubt it's all that practical for hearing impaired users.

For TTY you need a clear channel, i.e. one transmitter at a time. So how often do you think that's going to happen and are CBer's displined enough not to try and jam the TTY station?

For CW the same thing however you would need some expensive filters to get more use out of a 10 KHz wide channel using a mode that needs anywhere from 300 to 500 Hz at most. The transmitting station needs a way to move it's signal around on the channel etc. so more that one can use the extra bandwidth. Using different tones for each station would work, but then you still need the narrowband filters at each end to selectively filter the tone for the one station you want to hear.

>If it became a petition,
> would it pass?

I don't think so from an operational stand point. Too many problems and besides they would likely use "texting" on their new cell phone anyway. It does what you proposed already.

Good point. There are quite a few clear channels in my area at any one time, and while I know that's not the case everywhere, I'm sure it's true in a lot of places. There is also the squelch knob, and not every CBer is out to DX. Maybe a channel could be unofficially designated for use by hearing impaired CBers? Or authorization for the use of between-channel spaces? Maybe CW would be permitted if sub-audible and/or below 300 Hz like those old tone-loc systems?

> So how >often do you think that's going to happen and are CBer's displined enough

Another good point. I'm not sure how easy it is to jam TTY, but I do know that those tone-decoder devices are pretty noise-resistant. That sounds like it would make a good experiment.

I was thinking about that, which is what prompted this idea. All it would take to transmit is to attach an audio oscillator in SSB.
Receiving might be a bit more difficult, but using a fixed-frequency audio filter and the clarifier knob you can pick up just about any CW signal in the channel bandwidth. For a filter, you can run both sides of a stereo equalizer in series, and it can even tune different audio freqs. After that, all you would need is a tone detector with a light bulb. So the most expensive piece of equipment is already made and is pretty common, while the other two pieces could be built from a kit by just about anyone with a soldering iron.

I'm sure there are other ways it could be done. But I think the hardest part is hooking everything together.

Well, voice cell phones haven't eliminated CB yet. And maybe the problems could be addressed before the fact.....

There is another benefit I see from this: it might encourage some of the more enthusiastic CBers to get a license instead of freebanding or operating illegally. It may also encourage more QRM on the channels, but I'd like to think positive.

Update:

The total is now 15 dead, and numerous others in area hospitals. Several still critical.

I was about 2 miles from the explosion when it happened. We don't have earthquakes here, but the ground shook, walls and windows rattled, and then of course while wondering what happened, the sound wave hit. Living in this area for as long as I have, this is the worst explosion/accident I've experienced. When I went outside and looked toward the plant, what I saw amazed me; there was a Hiroshima looking mushroom cloud climbing into the sky with flames rolling the entire height. And I don't mean just from the ground...the cloud had fire in it. It was at that point I realized loss of life was inevitable.

As far as damage outside the plant, mostly just blown out windows that faced the plant. Most within a mile or so, but some as far as 7 miles away over open terrain.

Throw it out. From this point on your signal will be "piss-poor", and likely to get the local operators "pissed-off" at you.

Trying to fix it will be an exercise in "pissing in the wind".

You are welcome. If you (or anyone) intend to forward the information along to the FCC, I request you include who made you aware of Bob. That hot-headed jackass that works for the FCC in Tampa needs to know who it is waving to him, as he has a tendency to pretend to forget names, idiot has the worst record among all enforcement officers. He has made many seizures resulting in no conviction. His conviction rate is just about the lowest among the agency field employees, despite his justice to the world. His record speaks for itself. Locally, he is known

That's not what this is about. I don't believe a free-for-all relates to the type pirate radio of which we speak, such as the Florida version of B-o-b. 40 watts on the FM commercial dial, I do not consider a "free-for-all", much in the same manner I do not consider simple dx on 11 meter, or even running an amp of say, 100 watts, as even coming close to resembling a free-for-all or any type of chaos, disorder, or anarchy.

>I found the following parts especially

Yea, in fact, people have been jailed for such activity and accrued criminal records, unlike those who talk skip on 11 meters.

>In principle, there is not much difference.

Perhaps in your principles, but thank God the courts, prosecutors, and FCC disagrees with you on this issue. It's simply an issue that causes no problems except for corporate radio and any time Clear Channel takes a hit, I cheer.

> But the people who lobby and complain >about pirate broadcast radio have much more

I have a link
to actions against pirate radio in the US by the FCC. Total convictions were something like one or two in the past year or so,,,possibly three, can't remember. This is out of hundreds and hundreds of complaints among the thousands and thousands of pirate radio stations. With the new charade by the morals and decency King Censorship at the FCC, expect enforcement to become more stringent, but only against the biggest offenders...your corporate stations. In fact, my prediction is cb and hammie enforcement will become even more rare, as it simply is not the priority some of the angry hammie funks wish it to be.

>Well, the squeaky wheel does seem to get the Only regarding hammie complaints,,not about FM pirate complaints. Usually only when commercial interests become involved does any squeak resonate.

This law was designed in direct response to those who are infringing upon commercial broadcasters.

>Money and power talk.

Yup.
 Florida is estimated to have more pirate radio stations than any other state.

>That's interesting if true. I wonder why?

Maybe because commercial radio here sucks and we have such a melting pot of people from big northeast cities and such....resulting in more choices of eclectic tastes in music. A mega-smorgasboard of a clamoring for great music with nowhere to turn, and voila!

The unlicensed transmitter law you
refer doesn't apply across the board, but rather targets unlicensed broadcasters who take revenue/listeners from corporate radio and who interfere with other station's broadcasts. A few complaints from John Doe to the FCC complaining unlicensed pirate radio may get filed somewhere, but not acted upon until a big gun is activated.

>That's true in many cases of CB interference

Oh yea. Bob moved over the weekend. He's no longer in the garage apartment. You just can't trust the media these days...<g>....look at Bush, he's pulling a Dan Rather by manufacturing news and those who cried about CBS are hypocritically silent about it.

>Maybe because it isn't true.

  Congress is republican led. Blaming those who aren't even in power is not realisitic.
The current batch of elected republicans issued this directive, not any left-wing organization. There are many that share your view, however. I talk to many republicans who still insist there were wmds, despite the WH admitting their intel failure on this subject and Bush personally appointing a committee to find WHY the intel was failed that led them to falsely claim they not only knew their were wmds, but that they knew exactly where they all were.

I do too. But there aren't many stations close to me on AM or FM. I've had to resort to the internet to find most of it. There used to be a couple on the shortwave bands around 5 or 6 Mhz. I don't know if they're still there. They used to play music on SSB, which makes little sense, as you have to be able to tune it in precisely or the tones sound way off.

But you do understand that maybe one, two, or a dozen pirates would not make much of an impact on the frequency band. But by not taking a strong stand against it, you are basically covertly condoning it, and eventually you WILL have a free-for-all to deal with. It then becomes hypocritical to only target "selected" pirates.

Why? The only difference is who is being bothered by it. It's a simple matter of perception. An unlicensed station is an unlicensed station regardless of where it is operated.

>It's simply an issue that causes
>no problems except for corporate radio and any time Clear Channel takes

Two points:

Your point that corporate ($$$) interests have a bigger share of the FCC's ear, explains why pirate FM operators get heavy fines and jail time, while freebanders and bootleg hams get a wrist slapping (if anything).

I agree with you 100% on your Clear Channel comment. The innovation creativity, and personality of broadcast radio dies when they all got assimilated into the ClearChannel or Infinity collective. I remember the glory days of top 40 "Boss" radio in the 60's and 70's. It was a far better product then.

way.

Which explains why attention to unauthorized freeband operation is not a priority now. That could change depending on several factors, not the least of which is an attitude of crackdown in the administration of the FCC, or a potential allocation of frequencies for commercial ventures (BPL?)

should it be found that WMD have not been moved to Syria.

That's a different issue. On that issue, I agree that money is the major moving force.

But the philosophical issue about freedom of speech (and by extension the public's "right" to the airwaves) versus the government's "right" to regulate for the greater public good, must enter into the equation at some point. It's the basis for the communications law, and the foundation for the existence of the FCC itself.

Two weeks ago it was $1.95. Last week it was $2.05. Today it's $1.99

My area fluctuates immediately with the market, and sometimes they

I wasn't aware of the link,,I remembered something like that being posted in the past, but never saved it. With the current price of gas, I saved the link this time. If it's $2.25 there, it's coming to the rest of the country soon.

That's not what this is about. I don't believe a free-for-all relates to the type pirate radio of which we speak, such as the Florida version of B-o-b. 40 watts on the FM commercial dial, I do not consider a "free-for-all", much in the same manner I do not consider simple dx on 11 meter, or even running an amp of say, 100 watts, as even coming close to resembling a free-for-all or any type of chaos, disorder, or anarchy.

That isn't true at all. There are an infinite number of examples. That also sounds like the long-defeated Stalinist propaganda "If you aren't with us, you are against us".

>and eventually you WILL have a free-for-all to

Without a crystal ball, this is but a theory, one which I never subscribed. This is akin to those who say if illegal drug use were legalized, addiction rates would go up and so would use. The Netherlands proved this wannabe-axiom wrong.

>I found the following parts especially

>interesting:

>"to the FCC and the state, operating a pirate

Yea, in fact, people have been jailed for such activity and accrued criminal records, unlike those who talk skip on 11 meters.

>In principle, there is not much difference.

Perhaps in your principles, but thank God the courts, prosecutors, and FCC disagrees with you on this issue.

>Why?

Because of the money angle. The large corporations can move mountains with their cash, which very often coordinates with who gets elected. The corporations aren't getting pissed when we freeband or dx, because there is no possible revenue loss from their pocket. Hence, the FCC are not going to get the same complaints by big money corporations concerning these radio operators. However, if one is to begin siphoning listeners from a conglomerate owned station, you can bet Mother Corporate is going to go ape-shit and demand something be done. Again, when big money talks, FCC listens. They sold out, Dave, and they do not have your interests, or any other radio op's interests at heart, otherwise, they wouldn't be whoring the frequencies to the (always) -highest- bidder.

>The only difference is who is being bothered >by it. It's a simple matter of perception.

It's your perception. It's a perception that isn't shared by the FCC, the corporations, or anyone else that can make an "impact" concerning this issue.

> An unlicensed station is an unlicensed station
>regardless of where it is operated.

You claimed there was not much difference between the criminal element of operating a pirate radio staion on the FM commercial band and talking dx on cb. The powers-that-be, by virtue of no action taken against the latter, illustrate otherwise.

Again, the FCC caters to the clout, not the interests of the hammies.
I have a link
to actions against pirate radio in the US by the FCC. Total convictions were something like one or two in the past year or so,,,possibly three, can't remember. This is out of hundreds and hundreds of complaints among the thousands and thousands of pirate radio stations. With the new charade by the morals and decency King Censorship at the FCC, expect enforcement to become more stringent, but only against the biggest offenders...your corporate stations. In fact, my prediction is cb and hammie enforcement will become even more rare, as it simply is not the priority some of the angry hammie funks wish it to be.

resonate.

 Florida is estimated to have more pirate radio stations than any other state.

Maybe because commercial radio here sucks and we have such a melting pot of people from big northeast cities and such....resulting in more choices of eclectic tastes in music. A mega-smorgasboard of a clamoring

>That's as good of a theory as any.

The unlicensed transmitter law you
refer doesn't apply across the board, but rather targets unlicensed
broadcasters who take revenue/listeners from corporate radio and who interfere with other station's broadcasts. A few complaints from John Doe to the FCC complaining unlicensed pirate radio may get filed somewhere, but not acted upon until a big gun is activated.

>True, but for now, it's only a matter of

>perception that makes it that way.

I'd say it's pretty much a reality. It's been that way for many years and business-as-usual is the thing going on at the FCC......they are more concerned with protecting you from yourself so you're not offended by something you may hear or see broadcast.

That is the only matter in the near future that could possibly alter the business-as-usual at the agency regaridng this issue, and even that is not likely. Here's why. The cycle is waning, and the dx won't be there to be had like it has been. Without the plug-n-play availability, many ops will disappear. The hard core ops will remain and work for their contacts. With only a smattering of those left to jockey for dx, it is unlikely it will even be noticed. Now, let's play devil's advocate for a moment and assume the worst. Interference is reeking havoc to BPL and vice-versa. Who is going to be targeted? NOT the casual dxer on the freeband. It will be the mighty-mights, the rf warriors (hey, that would make a pretty good handle for some) the big guns wit' da' 10 ohm smoke and choke!

Oh yea. Bob moved over the weekend. He's no longer in the garage apartment. You just can't trust the media these days...<g>....look at Bush, he's pulling a Dan Rather by manufacturing news and those who cried about CBS are hypocritically silent about it.

>Maybe because it isn't true.

You mean the republican congress' accountability office lied when they directed the WH to cease these behaviors you are suggesting aren't true?

>I don't know all the factual details.

Read up on this issue. I want your opinion.

>But knowing the historical zeal at which the >left wing likes to spin facts, I'm not ready to >accept this at face value

That's why I'm asking you to read up on it.
Or is the republican led congressional accountability staff merely relying on what seems to be repeat failed intel on everything they investigate?

>The loony left invents all sorts of stories to >blame Bush for. This may well be one of them.

  Congress is republican led. Blaming those who aren't even in power is not realisitic.

>So, you posit that Bush's own party "sold him >out"?

I don't believe other republicans telling Bush he can not commit wrongs as he pleases is akin to having "sold him out". Unconditional support of the president is the most unpatriotic and Anti-American act one can do. Teddy Roosevelt, considered by historians to be the greatest GOP'er of all time said "To stand behind the president right or wrong, is not only servile, but moral treason against the American people". It rings just as true today.

>Why does that not ring true?

Perhaps because you find it difficult to grasp that other republicans do find fault with Bush when he is wrong on certain issues.
The current batch of elected republicans issued this directive, not any left-wing organization. There are many that share your view, however. I talk to many republicans who still insist there were wmds,

>Because we failed to find them so far, does >not mean that they were never there.

It does. The administration has admitted as much with the acknowledgement that such massive caches of wmds (remember, they were said to be north, east, south, and west of Baghdad, and Rummy said he knew exactly where they were) could NOT have been moved without being detected by satelites. One does not merely toss a few wmds into a truck or two and drive merrily down the road to Syria. The activity to undertake such missions could not have gone un-noticed, but let's again play devil's advocate and go out on that last limb that some of you die-hards are clinging to regarding this issue. One of the president's last statements regarding the invasion of Iraq and the march to Baghdad was to stop the proliferation and SPREAD of wmds. The United States operates on the opposite of what you believe..that absence of proof is proof of absence of guilt. So, with no proof of wmds, the administration admitted as much. Now, to focus on your theory (based on absence of proof) there WERE wmds (based on absence of proof) in Iraq and they were moved to Syria. this makes Bush a failure in stopping their SPREAD, the very reason (at least, this last time) he invoked for invading Iraq.

>They could very well be in Syria.

The WH NEVER even mentioned this possibility, because they found the intel to be flawed regarding the existence of wmds.
Bush personally appointed a committee to find WHY the intel was failed that led them to falsely claim they not only knew their were wmds, but that they knew exactly where they all were.

>At least you softened your opinion from "Bush

>lied about WMD" to one of a false claim based >on faulty intel. That scenario is more likely >should it be found that WMD have not been

>moved to Syria.

Bottom line is Bush probably did lie about it, and blamed it on faulty intel. From the 911 report, we KNOW Rumsfeld demanded a target in Iraq, even when he was informed Iraq was not responsible for 911. THAT intel was not flawed. It was perfect. Flawless. He merely disregarded it as it was not want he wanted to hear. Then came "Operation Liberate Iraq"..which we (the US citizens) did not buy. So he changed the theme to one of imminent danger by Iraq and their wmds. Both turned out to be bullshit. Pure fabrication (failed intel...wink wink). But we bought it. Based on all the Bush other lies (the whoring of Jessica Lynch to the media with incredible bullshit lies to whip the country into a false patriotic fervor in order to garner support for his manufactured Iraq war, will NEVER be forgotten by vets). Nor will his slashing of the military benefits (hazard pay, extended medical bennies) and his sending to war troops not properly equipped (humvees with no armor) and no proper body armor, because the money to pay for this life-saving gear went to pay for his tax cuts to the wealthiest two percent. Somewhere along the line, he made a conscious decision that his tax cuts were worth more than the lives he expended that could have been saved by proper armor.

Philosophical debate originating with questions such as you pose have never entered the realm of the FCC. The feds have no interest in your rights. This isn't about free speech or philosophical debate. This is about money, period.

Which part? That it's about money? Why else do you think the spectrum is Actually, it ties in perfectly. If it wasn't for the FCC catering to the big money interests, the spectrum wouldn't be disappearing for hammies and they would need no collective organization to represent their interests in Washington.

It's not the basis and foundation I have a problem with....it's the smoke and mirrors they (the FCC) use as a shield to defend their bullshit, and everything after the bricks and mortar.

That was an idea I didn't consider, but sounds like it would work.

The stereo equalizer idea wouldn't work, bandwidth isn't narrow enough.
However a cheap DSP based single frequency audio band filter would do the job. As cheap as these things, DSP chips, have become it shouldn't be a big deal.

The detector, indicator, device could be incorporated in to the DSP filter

Just for kicks I tried an old Rat Shack 10-channel (left and right channels in series) while tuned to a CW pileup on 80m. Worked OK, you could differentiate one tone from another, but it passed a lot of noise. I also tried a 31-channel Sunn but the thing broke out into oscillation...:-0 Maybe stereo equalizers aren't such a good idea.

Come to think about it, how about just a 567 or 4046? Either chip would probably do it as long as the radio doesn't drift too much. And if I'm not mistaken, both have a VFO on the chip. So a CW 'adapter' could be a single-chip project -- no DSP required.

But I see a big problem -- there will no doubt be some numbskull who would turn up the oscillator all the way and key up in AM on a radio with a disabled limiter. Gawd, think of the splatter something like that could cause.....

Those two chips are just simple PLL building blocks. There isn't a way to do any tone filtering as such unless you make the VFO frequency range vary narrow which would have the same effect. The 4046 has a range and frequency offset capability using just two resistors and a capacitor. You would want to use the phase-frequency detector, not the simple XOR phase detector which could lock on harmonics of the audio tone. That would be the chip to use. The lock detect circuit could then be used as the visual signal device for CW. Something this simple you could breadboard in an evening to see how it works.

Here's some interesting links you may like to look over.

Too many idiots, jammers, channel control freaks, amp users who think they need several hundred watts to talk to another idiot a couple of miles down the street, kids learning how to expand their 4 letter word vocabulary on the air etc.

Better class of people. Anyway I'm more interested in microwave stuff. Spent a couple of hundred bucks at the Ohio Maumee swap the other weekend getting a Narda SMA directional coupler (model 4203-10 2-18GHz), a Omni Spectra directional coupler (p/n 2020-6605-10 1.0-2.0GHz), K&L SMA transfer relays (MS-28-SMA-TTL), a WJ SMA mixer (M1J), and a used M/A-Com 8.134 GHz brick oscillator (p/n PLX12-01). I'm going to try sooner or later to retune the brick oscillator to use on the Ham 10 GHz band. I already have an FT-817 multimode multiband QRP rig to use as the IF radio. The directional couplers are for use with the HP-432A microwave power meter I have for SWR measurements. The last thing I'm looking for is a cheap slotted line, coving the frequency range I'm interested in, which I can use to make impedance measurements. That's what was used before the rise of the $50K network analyzers. A spectrum analyzer would be nice too, but that can wait.

You have that backwards. Bill Belichick and Romeo Crennel were with the Browns before they went to new England. Crennel just came back.

Actually, it only took about 15 minutes, but it doesn't work. Capture and release times are too erratic within the bandwidth, and any other CW signals within about half an octave make the thing go spastic. It -might- work if the loop filter Q could swing with the VCO freq, but that ain't gonna happen with just a couple chips.

Setting a narrow capture bandwidth, and using the clarifier (or BFO) for tuning, works pretty well. I also tried a state-variable with a schmitt trigger. Discrimination was better; but high Q, cumulative drift and fading made it difficult to get a clear copy.

I should add that it's been quite interesting trying to read Morse with an LED..... after a few minutes it's almost hypnotic. I tried different colors, and while a big green LED was the best it was still irritating after about 10 minutes.

Yes. Got it last week. I will email it to you. I have a handheld 2M/440, but I am not hitting the repeater. Today, I spent the entire day clearing woods with my hedge trimmer, and machete. So now, I have clearing to run my coax. I am going to hang the dipole and Imax at the same time, so I don't have to dig a trench twice. After that, I am looking at an HF rig. Kenwood TS-450. I hope I can get one for about $500. I will get an new handheld later in the year.

Anybody have one? I am going to stick it in a tree. There are tuning rings on it. Anyone ever tune one of these? I am going at it alone when I install it. I am going to use a climbing tree stand, and it will be impossible to tune it when it is hung. If I tune it on the ground, will the SWR be drastically affected if it is a couple feet off the ground, as opposed to when it is about 30 feet up?

Can't say specifically for the 2000. For a 1/2-wave vertical dipole, the input impedance is highest (around 100 ohms) when the feedpoint is 1/4-wave above the ground (as low as it can go without digging a hole). It is lowest (about 70 ohms) when the feedpoint is 1/2-wave above ground. As you get higher the input impedance levels off to slightly above the average impedance of a horizontal dipole (the latter being about 73 ohms). Turning the antenna horizontally won't work because it will then behave like a horizontal dipole, the input impedance dropping towards zero as you get closer to the ground.

IOW, if you tune it on the ground, the SWR -will- change after you get it up the tree -- and that's disregarding any effect the tree will have on it's impedance.

Hummmm...., what did you use for the bandwidth? I would have picked something like 800Hz at the VCO center frequency and a VCO range of 700 to 900 Hz. One thing the data books don't tell you is slapping a capacitor across each of the two resistors for frequency span and offset helps a great deal in settling down the loop. Seems like the VCO is some brands of chips have stability problems. I've had to use that trick on some of my company's high power inverter controls to get the switching frequency to lock on to the load's tuned frequency when using the 4046 as a phase locked loop. Try using something like a 0.001uf or smaller capacitor.

They use those chips for some data transmission applications and they work fine at rates higher that you would expect somebody to be sending CW. I wouldn't give up on using the simple circuit just yet.

What was drifting, the filter, the frequency of the tone being transmitted, or the receiver's frequency causing the tone's frequency to change? Before giving up on anything it would be prudent to find out what the problem happens to be before saying it doesn't work. The problem may be easy to fix, or it could be the equipment you used for the test isn't representative of what could be used now days.

There are hearing impaired Hams doing something like that for years. I guess they just get use to it.

I meant that the circuit didn't work for tuning through the .3-3kHz bandwidth. Once I narrowed the bandwidth and used the BFO for tuning it worked fine.

Probably a little bit from everything -- I'm chalking it up to a cumulative drift effect.

I really don't think it's worth the effort since the PLL can track any minor drifting that would require retuning of a state-variable filter.

I did a web search and found that some of them use a vibrating pad. I thought about hooking up a relay or buzzer and see how that works. But since I'm not deaf, my perceptions are probably different than someone who would use the device regularly. Maybe a 'universal' output will do the trick. It could then be hooked up to a vibrator, LED, strobe, fog machine, stun-gun..... or whatever.

I did that once - filtering by name, subject, etc.
Considering that the posts to this group are probably 95% rubbish, It is better to set up an "accept" list of words and senders.

With both "accept" and "kill", I get the best of both worlds... Known trash is either deleted or unavailable (posts with an attachment are automatically included in that trash), known good posts are made available and the rest is header only so that I can chose whether to mark it for download.

Figures for this group, as shown by my news reader:
Messages totally excluded: 676.
Headers in cache: 334
Messages downloaded: 69.
Out of a total of 1010 messages, only 69 are actually downloaded.

Roger, Sonar CB radios were made by the Sonar Radio Corporation. I was the former CEO and major stockholder before the company went broke and I commited suicide under a chesnut tree.

And no, there was never any connection to Collins radio.

I run an Army BigStick in a 110' Redwood. We sorta tuned it on the mast with the coax stretched all the way out. Now it was a good match when it was down, it went up just a little when all the way up, nut not enough to worry about. I also ran a separate ground wire down from the mounting brackets.

We finally got some rain, but only 6" of snow for the year, and the lowest snowpack in the mountains for over 100 years. Sounds like it

The east side of town usually gets more than us, due to increased Lake Erie effect. I won't be surpeised if we still break the record.

Yeah, that's what I would have expected, the bandwidth was too wide.

I would think you could use the PLL directly by keeping the VCO frequency range narrow. The loop filter doesn't have to be anything that complex, state variable that is.

Universal plug for an output then let them connect whatever they want.

I tried the state variable filter as a stand-alone device, not as a PLL filter. Although it might be interesting to see what happens when it -is- used as a PLL filter -- probably get all kinds of FM and intermod distortion......

You could argue that the attention that the FCC is giving to "Radio Pirates" is a direct result of the influence that commercial interests wield. In many ways, they feel that since they had to pay large amounts of money to the FCC for spectrum space, they expect the FCC to closer police it for them. I'm not convinced that this is necessarily a bad thing under the circumstances. Look at the bright side, if the FCC is busy sweeping up after the big money people, they are forced to leave the freeband alone.

What "bullshit"? The FCC takes care of those who have a larger part of their ear first. It's the way most business works. Most agencies (government or commercial) are not omnipotent. They have to prioritize their response to consumer needs. The priority list is usually based on the perceived "value" of each particular customer. For those who despise the concepts of capitalism, they have a hard time stomaching the reality that those with the most money usually buy the most influence.

It would be nice if the little guy has the same visibility as the big guy. But that's not how it works in the real world, like it or not.

I had heard that some FM stations use the lower part of 26 Mhz for "relay links". I have heard some stuff down there in the past. But I didn't think that these were "pirate" stations, rather commercial feed links.

The point where "casual" dismissal of the law progresses to "anarchy" is not set in stone, and depends on the critical mass of users. 5 or 10 pirates may not affect a large city. But jump that number to 100, and it just might.

Do you not agree that the law is made to be followed by everyone? If you exempt one or a few, then you have no basis to not exempt everyone. In this case it is an "all or nothing" situation.

The fact that law enforcement is not 100% effective allows some people to "get away" with certain infractions. The more people can continue to get away with those infractions, the more it encourages others to try it as well.

If you legalize drugs, the one thing you will accomplish is to put those in the illegal trafficking business, out of business. The prices would come down, and the whole illegal trade infrastructure would collapse. But those who want it would still want it, and they'd have a better chance at getting it, and it would be cheaper.

You have pretty much accurately painted the picture of why things are as they are today. But that doesn't negate my earlier statement that, in principle, there is little difference between a pirate FM broadcaster and a freebander. They are both operating illegally. The only difference is in their respective impact.

That's capitalism 101. We've always operated that way. That's one of the reasons why the little guy is often jealous of the big guy.

That's also why ham radio has organizations like the ARRL to give the FCC an ear into ham radio matters. While there is not the same amount of money influence, there is a collectively loud voice which cannot be completely ignored. Love 'em or hate 'em, the ARRL has at least served most of the interests of ham radio

In the mid 70's a few people tried to form a similar organization to represent the interests of the growing CB hobby users. They just couldn't get enough serious interest and commitment. Maybe had the internet been around then, it might have had a better chance. If that group had been successful, we might have a 26-28 Mhz band segment with a 100 watt PEP limit now.

I agree. I understand what's at work here. I'm only saying that there is little difference in principle between one form of illegal operation and another.

Let me ask you this:

If you bought a brand new boat, would you not expect prompt and effective service from the person or dealer who sold it to you?

On the other hand, if someone gave you an old boat, can you expect the same level of response when there is a problem?

To you, the problems are the same. But to the powers that be, the guy who pays gets the most response, and it is part of the perceived "value" of something.

There's a whole other aspect of this discussion centering on the government right to place a "price" on airwave spectrum. Many people feel that airspace is something that God gave us, and the government has no right auctioning off for a price. Others look at bandwidth as a commodity, just like oil.

Well, broadcasters have an enormous responsibility when it comes to what it shows to millions of people. There has to be a standard level of "taste" that should be applied. The FCC has the thankless job of enforcing that "taste" level.

Of course, everyone is different. Some people could see gratuitous sex and blood and guts all night long while munching on a large hoagie, and not be bothered. Other's cringe at the slightest "risque" show.

At least you acknowledge that if the CB spectrum becomes more "valuable" to commercial interests (AKA BPL), the eye of the FCC may start giving the band a closer look. The DX cycle has pretty much bottomed out. It will start to rise in the next few years. If BPL takes off, it'll take at least that long to become established. The point where BPL is rolled out en-masse and the DX peaks again may be coincidental.

You're right, the brightest lights on the band (the guys with big power) will stand out and be the first to go. But that's not to say that others will not stand a greater chance of being hassled.

I really don't want to speculate as to motives, the existence of WMD, or where they might be right now. This issue is glaringly short of true facts, and very long on spin and speculation.

My theory is that absence of proof is not necessarily proof of absence. If I fly to Florida and hide out in some swamp, and you fail to find me, does that mean that I was never there?

So far we have failed to find WMD. But you can't conclusively conclude that something doesn't exist simply because you can't find evidence of
it. There are other possibilities to consider (Syria being only one).

This was not an "Either/Or" situation. Ask congressional democrats why they voted against proving more funding for the military.

Umh, maybe I wasn't to clear, sorry. The mast is approx
5' give or take above the top, So most of the antenna is well above the tree and works just fine with an SWR of 1:3:1

THAT is bullshit. All should receive equal time, not those who scream the most, have connections or the most money. They should go after those actions that present a hazard or safey issue first and foremost. Instead, their number one priority now is to (again) protect you from broadcast "obscenities", even though they are unabel to properly define such obscenities and indecencies, but are able to recognize it "when we see it"..so says the FCC.

Capitalism has nothing at all do with wrongly buying governmental influence. Those who accept such governmental atrocities as business-as-usual (or disguise its bullshit by incorrectly referring to such as "capitalism") are numb to to the crooked concepts being forced upon them because they are so used to having governement coddle them and make their decisions for them and tell them what is best for them. Yea,,they are.

That's not what this is about. I don't believe a free-for-all relates to the type pirate radio of which we speak, such as the Florida version of

>are basically covertly condoning it,

That isn't true at all. There are an infinite number of examples. That also sounds like the long-defeated Stalinist propaganda "If you aren't with us, you are against us".

>Do you not agree that the law is made to be >followed by everyone?

Condoning something and exempting it are two separate matters.

Such a statement assumes human nature is prone to breaking the law when they feel they can get away with it. I believe you are a minority with this belief.

>and eventually you WILL have a free-for-all to >deal with.

More assumptions.

> It then becomes hypocritical to only target

>"selected" pirates.

This is all hypothetical and not at all what is taking place in the real world.

>Without a crystal ball, this is but a theory, one

So you believe that if the FCC stopped busting pirates so aggressively, they would not increase in number?

The FCC is NOT busting pirates aggressively at all.

_
This is akin to those who say if illegal drug use were legalized,

this wannabe-axiom wrong.

Yep,,,thus taking another criminal element out of the equation......the need to rob, steal, or burglarize to support their expensive habit.

>"to the FCC and the state, operating a pirate >radio station from a 40-watt transmitter in his >kitchen breakfast nook makes him a criminal."

Yea, in fact, people have been jailed for such activity and accrued criminal records, unlike those who talk skip on 11 meters.

>In principle, there is not much difference.

Perhaps in your principles, but thank God the courts, prosecutors, and FCC disagrees with you on this issue.

>Why?

Because of the money angle. The large corporations can move mountains with their cash, which very often coordinates with who gets elected. The corporations aren't getting pissed when we freeband or dx, because there is no possible revenue loss from their pocket. Hence, the FCC are not going to get the same complaints by big money corporations concerning these radio operators. However, if one is to begin siphoning listeners from a conglomerate owned station, you can bet Mother Corporate is going to go ape-shit and demand something be done.

>You have pretty much accurately painted the >picture of why things are as they are today.

>But that doesn't negate my earlier statement

>The only difference is in their respective

Why delete the casual dxer from your statement now? After all, we are illegal, too.
But..... there are many differences. In addition to their impact, the FCC does not target freebanders or dxers. Freebanders and dxers have never been subject to the penalties of the pirate. Nobody cares about dxers except those like you who lump them in as criminals for whatever personal reason you may have regarding those who otherwise obey the letter of the law.

Again, when big money talks, FCC listens. They sold out, Dave, and they do not have your interests, or any other radio op's interests at heart, otherwise, they wouldn't be whoring the frequencies to the (always) -highest- bidder.

You claimed there was not much difference between the criminal element of operating a pirate radio staion on the FM commercial band and talking dx on cb. The powers-that-be, by virtue of no action taken against the latter, illustrate otherwise.

>There is no difference in principle.

Only in your principle.

> The difference is in the impact.

No,,the difference is also in the manner these issues are enforced, in addition to the penalties applied.

It's simply an issue that causes
no problems except for corporate radio and any time Clear Channel takes conditions to the dealer. No comparison.

The unlicensed transmitter law you refer doesn't apply across the board, but rather targets unlicensed broadcasters who take revenue/listeners from corporate radio and who interfere with other station's broadcasts. A few complaints from John Doe to the FCC complaining unlicensed pirate radio may get filed somewhere, but not acted upon until a big gun is activated.

>True, but for now, it's only a matter of

>perception that makes it that way.

I'd say it's pretty much a reality. It's been that way for many years more concerned with protecting you from yourself so you're not offended by something you may hear or see broadcast.

That is the only matter in the near future that could possibly alter the business-as-usual at the agency regarding this issue, and even that is not likely. Here's why. The cycle is waning, and the dx won't be there to be had like it has been. Without the plug-n-play availability, many ops will disappear. The hard core ops will remain and work for their contacts. With only a smattering of those left to jockey for dx, it is unlikely it will even be noticed. Now, let's play devil's advocate for a moment and assume the worst. Interference is reeking havoc to BPL and vice-versa. Who is going to be targeted? NOT the casual dxer on the freeband. It will be the mighty-mights, the rf warriors (hey, that would make a pretty good handle for some) the big guns wit' da' 10 ohm smoke and choke!

>At least you acknowledge that if the CB

It does. The administration has admitted as much with the acknowledgement that such massive caches of wmds (remember, they were said to be north, east, south, and west of Baghdad, and Rummy said he knew exactly where they were) could NOT have been moved without being detected by satelites. One does not merely toss a few wmds into a truck or two and drive merrily down the road to Syria. The activity to undertake such missions could not have gone un-noticed, but let's again play devil's advocate and go out on that last limb that some of you die-hards are clinging to regarding this issue. One of the president's last statements regarding the invasion of Iraq and the march to Baghdad was to stop the proliferation and SPREAD of wmds. The United States operates on the opposite of what you believe..that absence of proof is proof of absence of guilt. So, with no proof of wmds, the administration admitted as much. Now, to focus on your theory (based on absence of proof)

there WERE wmds (based on absence of proof) in Iraq and they were moved to Syria. this makes Bush a failure in stopping their SPREAD, the very reason (at least, this last time) he invoked for invading Iraq.

>I really don't want to speculate as to motives,

>the existence of WMD, or where they might be >right now.

But that's esactly what you did claiming they could have been moved to Syria. No one in the WH or Bush admin even entertained this idea. It comes only from the fleeced flock.

>This issue is glaringly short of true >facts,

Facts are easily indentified. Bush said he was wrong, there were no wmds in Iraq.

>and very long on spin and speculation.

Only by those who claim there were wmds with no facts other than Bush saying so long ago, then admitting he was wrong on this issue,,something many have a problem accepting, because, in part, perhaps they wanted it to be true, and then there are those who just jumped behind the presindet blindly and are now tired of eating crow..

>My theory is that absence of proof is not >necessarily proof of absence.

But absence of proof IS exactly proof of absence of GUILT in the US courts and judicial system. Your belief, no offense intended, is irrelevant to the manner in which the US operates.

>If I fly to Florida and hide out in some swamp, >and you fail to find me, does that mean that I >was never there?

No relevance to the above discussed.

>So far we have failed to find WMD. But you >can't conclusively conclude that something >doesn't exist simply because you can't find >evidence of it. There are other possibilities to >consider (Syria being only one).

>They could very well be in Syria.

Not if you believe the Bush admin concerning their satellite technology.
The WH NEVER even mentioned this possibility, because they found the intel to be flawed regarding the existence of wmds. Bush personally appointed a committee to find WHY the intel was failed that led them to falsely claim they not only knew their were wmds, but that they knew exactly where they all were.

>At least you softened your opinion from "Bush

>lied about WMD" to one of a false claim based >on faulty intel. That scenario is more likely

>should it be found that WMD have not been

>moved to Syria.

Bottom line is Bush probably did lie about it, and blamed it on faulty intel.

>One could be guilty of promoting an untruth >based on faulty info. But that's a far different >concept than knowingly lying about it.

But when it occurs repeatedly, and no one is held accountable for repeated failed intel, motives are questioned. From the 911 report, we KNOW Rumsfeld demanded a target in Iraq, even when he was informed Iraq was not responsible for 911. THAT intel was not flawed. It was perfect.
Flawless. He merely disregarded it as it was not want he wanted to hear.
Then came "Operation Liberate Iraq"..which we (the US citizens) did not buy. So he changed the theme to one of imminent danger by Iraq and their wmds. Both turned out to be bullshit. Pure fabrication (failed intel...wink wink). But we bought it. Based on all the Bush other lies (the whoring of Jessica Lynch to the media with incredible bullshit lies to whip the country into a false patriotic fervor in order to garner support for his manufactured Iraq war, will NEVER be forgotten by vets).

>The "whoring" story was planted and spun by >anti-Bush factions to cloud the authenticity of >the rescue. There is no factual information >either validating this claim or linking this to >Bush.

Dave, sure there is. The entire country watched Bush as he told the US on tv "Jessica fought valiantly until the end, mortally wounding several enemy terrorists before being captured". Are you claiming this did not occur, or are you claiming YOU are not aware of it? Read her book. She was unconscious from the time her vehicle flipped. She fired not a single shot. Bush l-i-e-d. Read her book. Regarding the Bush commetns, Jessica said "I have no idea why he said those things".

Nor will his slashing of the military benefits (hazard pay, extended medical bennies) and his sending to war troops not properly equipped (humvees with no armor) and no proper body armor, because the money to pay for this life-saving gear went to pay for his tax cuts to the wealthiest two percent.

>One needs to wonder then why John Kerry >voted for the money to provide body armor

>before he voted against it......

Why? This was explained this many times. The first version was fine, the second an underhanded attempt by repubicans. They knew the armor would be voted for, and tacked on a bunch of non-related bullshit items. Then again, Bush has his own flip-flops, but attempting to deflect from the Bush problems via invocation of past history is no longer working for you folks, especially in light of the boneheaded move the Bush bros pulled regaridng Terry Schiavo. One good thing came from it, Jeb certainly ruined his political career and we won;t have him as president,,,ever.

>BTW: We ALL got a tax cut. ALL taxpayers.

Only to those who allow Bush to redefine such terms as what constitutes such. These would be the same minions who permitted Bush to redefine the term "liberal" to encompass any who dare criticize the admin.

Somewhere along the line, he made a conscious decision that his tax cuts were worth more than the lives he expended that could have been saved by proper armor.

>This was not an "Either/Or" situation.

Whaaaaa? The hell it wasn't. Even Greenspan told Bush this was no time to be cutting taxes.

>Ask congressional democrats why they voted

Congressional democrats are impotent in Congress, as it's republican led. Blaming another party for your party screwups didn't work for Perot, it won't work for you.

That would be the democrat approach. More social programs to manage

The truth is that there are people who cannot control their own

Well, here's the other side of the story. Funding for enforcement has been cut severely. License fees have dwindled. The amount of people who thumb their noses at FCC rules has increased. There are only so many field agents to go around. Since they simply cannot handle ALL of the problems, they are forced to prioritize. Those who wield the most influence (either through monetary or political avenues) usually get their cases heard first.

That's just the way it is. I'm not saying it's either right or wrong.

Well, yea, if you call attention to yourself, you deserve what happens. But that's one difference between freebanding and pirate radio. The freebander, for the most part is not looking for notoriety.
He just wants to work DX. The pirate broadcaster wants people to notice him, otherwise why bother broadcasting at all? But you can't be selective as to what type of attention a pirate gets. If you become popular enough, you are bound to attract the attention of those you affect in a negative way.

>the most, have connections or the most money.

That is overly naive and idealistic. It isn't possible for the FCC (or many other agencies) to treat everyone equally. They don't have the manpower to do so. So they prioritize.

It's the same everywhere. You wait in line for a good seat in a restaurant, and then someone walks up, flashes a greenback, and get's seated right away. The best medical care is gotten by those who are willing to pay. There are many such examples.

As long as an item or service has a perceived value, then that item or service is open to be influenced by the highest bidder. This relates to human nature and an intrinsic material greed. There are very few people who would not succumb to such influence. Such leads to the saying: "Every man has his price".

>They should go after those >actions that present a hazard or safey issue first and foremost.

How many FCC actions relate to health and safety? Most are for rule infractions. And of those, the ones brought through the most influential means (financial or political) get dealt with first.

Again, not saying it's right, but it's how things are done.

>Instead, their number one priority now is to (again) protect you from >broadcast "obscenities", even though they are unabel to properly define

Such is what happens when we have a culture clash between a segment of the population who have become much less morally guided and more hedonistic and secular in nature, against another segment of the population who sees a definite decline in morality and will fight it with any means possible.

Who is right?

>>It's the way most business works.

I recognize it just fine. I also am realistic in my view of how things work. I don't dwell on how things "should be". Rather, I deal with things how they are, and learn to work the system to my best advantage.

"Consumer" as defined as those who the FCC serves, not just the common citizen. Commercial broadcasters are a "customer" of the FCC, as are Hams, public service operators, cell phone companies, etc.

>> The priority

Someone has to make the judgement call. That's what happens in a democracy. There will always be those who agree, and those who disagree. You can't make everyone happy all the time. So you settle for what makes the most sense based on the greatest feedback you receive, and who pays your salary.

Sure it does, once you understand that government influence is just another commodity that can be bought.

Those two issues are not necessarily related. Those in business are most certainly NOT wanting the government to make decisions for them. But they do expect the government to act in their favor if they are paying for it.

As long as government service has value, there will be people willing to pay more for it for quicker consideration.

Idealistically, it shouldn't be that way. But until you can cure people from the allure of money, the temptation will always be there.

I'm using RG213 with RG Mini 8 for a type of ground.
I took the center strand and attached it to the antenna, then both the center strand and shield twisted together and attached to a ground rod.

Leave the tuning rings as they are. I put mine out the top of a tree, and the antenna had a 1.1 SWR right out of th box.

That is a great idea. I am going to run nearly 300 feet of Bury-Flex. For both the Imax and the HF dipole.

Someone here told me to use bury-flex. It was a great idea. Who was it?

May have been me. I love mine and it's wife friendly as she can't see the coax hanging around. It is pretty stiff stuff though, no heliax, but a good idea to work with it when it's warm :)

Why argue something that isn't taking place? The FCC isn't giving pirates any attention at all.
They merely respond to complaints concerning isolated incidents.

>Huh? I though the whole point of this

I see nothing at all to illustrate the FCC is targeting Pirate radio Ops, just more business as usual responding to isolated incidents and complaints. To use the term "target" would suggest the FCC is active in persuing pirate activity on their own. Nothing is further from the truth.

>In many ways, they feel that since they had to

The extreme republican approach,,,much more government intrusion in our personal lives....government must protect us from ourselves because we (those who clamor for such enforcement) are incapable of managing ourselves and controlling our own behavior.

>That would be the democrat approach.

The democrats are not running the FCC the republicans are running the FCC.IF what you suggest is true, the current batch of republicans suddenly begun to mimic and employ what you claim is the democrat approach. Perhaps that is because their approaches have all been failures in this admin.

>More social programs to manage the

>well-being of people who are presumably >unable to make their own decisions or care for Another subject. Focus on what the current leaders, those responsible (republicans) for the current state of the FCC, are doing. It is difficult at best, for those who suport the Bush admin unconditionally, to do so, as it requires a bit more objectivity than unconditional Bush supporters are willing to muster. The FCC is not a social program.

>The truth is that there are people who cannot >control their own behavior. Should these >people not be dealt with according to the

What you consider a "federal criminal" is not what the FCC or the US judicial system considers a "federal criminal" and their enforcement techniques and penalities wisely reflect such. Holding one accountable for their behavior is a much different subject than arguing a pro-position for the FCC when it comes to enforcing what they deem obscene, or as you put it, when it comes to enforcing "taste".

>I'm not convinced that >this is necessarily a bad thing under the

It is exacty that kind of thinking, the enemy to freedom lovers, which prompted Jefferson (or was it Franklin?) to wisely observe..."Those who would give up a bit of freedom for security, deserve neither"

>Well, here's the other side of the story.

>Funding for enforcement has been cut

Dwindled? You mean they are charging less for licenses or less people are seeking licenses?

>The amount of people who thumb their noses

>at FCC rules has increased.

How could you possibly confirm this? Because you are suddenly aware of more mediums where these people can voice their opinions regarding such? Even then, such an approach makes several assumptions.
Or perhaps the fact IS that more people ARE thumbing their nose at the FCC because the FCC is becoming more incompetent with each republican appointee and the majority of people, like myself, recognize the bullshit.. If an entire US society begins to buck poorly crafted laws, the laws are either unenforced or done away with. The old national 55 mph speed limit comes to mind almost immediately

>There are only so many field agents to go >around.

Whose fault is that? The FCC has other fish to fry, they don't hold the same perceived values as you. If they deemed what you deem a priority with the same principle value applied to the act of cbers dxing and freebanding vs the act of a pirate radio operator as you apply, they would redirect their energy into persuing these offenses. As you say,,,priorities..and the cbers and freebanders simply ain't it

You agreed with it earlier, mistakenly calling this favoritism and pandering by the FCC .."capitalism". You confirmed your position by saying those who didn't support such pandering were "haters of capitalism".

>Look at the bright side, if the FCC is busy >sweeping up after the big money people, they

Just like pirate radio, they always leave the freeband alone with the exception of those who practice blatant stupidity.

Same with freebanding. you become popular enough, you attract the attention. Look at B-o-b in Phoenix. He may have been the inspiration for our own Bob Noxious. Look at port o potty Charlie. These guys became very popular (or unpopular, dependent on which side of the fence one sits).

THAT is bullshit. All should receive equal time, not those who scream
the most, have connections or the most money.

>That is overly naive and idealistic.

And the founding principles of our nation.
Equality for all, not just the rich.
The law, in all it's majestic equality, forbids the rich, as well the poor, to steal bread, beg for food, and sleep under bridges. It is those who become complacent and permit the government to screw them over and over that is hurting this country. They take it so much, before we know it, with a smile on their face, they are asking "Thank you sir, may I have another?"

>It isn't possible for the FCC (or many other

Manpower of the FCC has nothing to do with fairness of the governed laws they are charged with enforcing.

>It's the same everywhere. You wait in line for a

No,,THAT is private interest and captalism, but when it relates to the equality of treatment received by citizens of US government, such private rules do not apply.

>The best medical care is gotten by those who

Medical care as a comparison?
Hmm,,ok,,,look at al the VAs,,their care sucks by comparison to private hospitals. More incompetence from the US govt.

Which has nothing to do with the FCC or US govt treating all fairly.

Perhaps among those in your world. I find the opposite to be true in most people. Then again, this could be where the geographical thing comes into play.

>Such leads to the saying: "Every man has his

And when you have the US government pandering to such special interests (those with the cash), that government ceases to be fair as intended to all its citizens and is then corrupt.

They should go after those actions that present a hazard or safety issue first and foremost.

>How many FCC actions relate to health and >safety?

Many issues are related to safety issues. In fact, the FCC has employees who do nothing else except investigate safety related issues an complaints. Who said anything about health?

>Most are for rule infractions.

And among the rules you cite, many are crafted for safety reasons. The home cb base station construction of metal to fiberglass comes to mind immediately. Such is why antennas such as the Maco 5/8 are now referred to as "commercial" antennas.

>And of those, the ones brought through the >most influential means (financial or political) >get dealt with first.

Safety plays a part in many issues. Perhaps just not in the manner you are familiar with as relates to cb and hammie radio, specifically.

>Again, not saying it's right, but it's how things >are done.

Instead, their number one priority now is to (again) protect you from broadcast "obscenities", even though they are unable to properly define such obscenities and indecencies, but are able to recognize it "when we see it"..so says the FCC.

>Such is what happens when we have a culture >clash between a segment of the population >who have become much less morally guided >and more hedonistic and secular in nature,

>against another segment of the population >who sees a definite decline in morality and will >fight it with any means possible.

So it is safe to say you hold the rest of the world (as opposed to the US) as a lesser when it comes to their morals, by virtue of what their government broadcasts.
The majority of America was not offended by the fleeting sight of Janet Jackson's breast, yet, a radical zealist entity existing within the Bush-led government feels it must protect those who were not offended, from such "obscene" material. I find the behavior of the president getting involved with the personal rights of the Terry Schiavo case much more obscene than a woman's breast. In fact, perhaps this specific republican paty is chock full of homosexuals (Jeff Gannon??) and THAT is why they find what is considered an object of beauty by the heterosexual population, "obscene".

If you understand WH security protocol, or care to read up on it, you will find no reason exists for Gannon to be automatically re-issued day passes over and over. This violates their own policy concerning entry-level security clearance, such as WH visitiors. Such clearance does not permit the holder of that level pass to even be in the same wing as the president. Even with the lowest security level clearance, Gannon was able to get within 15 feet of the leader of the free word on many occasion. He was servicing someone very high up on the ladder, or the Bush security continues to fail..there are no other possibilities.

>Who is right?

The majority, which is not the Bush admin or the FCC.

>It's the way most business works.

Yet you fail to see the bullshit and error of their practice and tend to agree with it.

>I recognize it just fine. I also am realistic in my >view of how things work. I don't dwell on how >things "should be".

But you do. You called it "actively involved" and said if you are not actively campaigning against something, you are supporting it. So which is it,,,do you understand the corruptness and bullshit of the govt and accept it because that's how things are, or do you disagree with it and actively work/become involved to change what you disagree with?

>Rather, I deal with things how they are, and >learn to work the system to my best >advantage.

You claimed this before, but failed to provide when I asked the proactive nature of your "working the system" to your advantage regarding the enforcement issues relating to freeband and illegal cb.

>Most agencies (government or commercial) >are not omnipotent. They have to prioritize >their response to consumer needs.

Is that what you think should occur? You need check the history of the FCC. Consumer need was not the reason the agency was formed.

>"Consumer" as defined as those who the FCC >serves, not just the common citizen.

Please check the history of the agency. It was not conceived to serve anybody, but rather to govern and administer.

>Commercial broadcasters are a "customer" of >the FCC, as are Hams, public service >operators, cell phone companies, etc.

Call them whatever you desire, the FCC was not conceived to serve their needs (except as self-designed by the FCC) OR wants.

>The priority

>list is usually based on the perceived "value" >of each particular customer.

Again, you demonstrate yet another problem with the FCC..this time, their flawed "perception" of values.

>Someone has to make the judgement call.

That has always been the problem with the republicans, always seeking to legislate their judgement and morality over another. Doesn't work that way.

>There will always be those who agree, and >those who disagree. You can't make everyone >happy all the time. So you settle for what >makes the most sense based on the greatest >feedback you receive, and who pays your >salary.

Which are totally opposite. Which do you think they bow to? Surely not any feedback, Dave. This is illustrated time and again by Bush. Feedback means nothing. He has echoed this several times. Despite his base disagreeing with his intererence of the Schiavo issue, he put his own agenda ahead of his party constituents, just like he has done to the rest of the country each and every time his ideas are disagreed with by the majority of the people.

>For those who despise the concepts of >capitalism, they have a hard time stomaching

>the reality that those with the most money >usually buy the most influence.

Capitalism has nothing at all do with wrongly buying governmental influence.

>Sure it does, once you understand that >government influence is just another

>commodity that can be bought.

What you illustrate is a corrupt governement, which can not exist in a democracy.
 Those who accept such governmental atrocities as business-as-usual (or disguise its bullshit by incorrectly referring to such as "capitalism") are numb to to the crooked concepts being forced upon them because they are so used to having governement coddle them and make their decisions for them and tell them what is best for them.

>Those two issues are not necessarily related.

And not necessarily detached, either.

>Those in business are most certainly NOT >wanting the government to make decisions for >them. But they do expect the government to >act in their favor if they are paying for it.

The government of the US was formed with the notion that ALL its citizens would receive equal treatment regardless of race, political belief, religious status, sex. This includes the rich as well as the poor. Treating citizens differently and unfairly because of their monetary status is not captalism.

>As long as government service has value,

>there will be people willing to pay more for it

>for quicker consideration.

And when one receives special treatment from a government because of their money, that government is corrupt. You are virtually explaining the corruptness of the current Bush administration, and doing a fantastic job.

>Idealistically, it shouldn't be that way. But until >you can cure people from the allure of money,

>the temptation will always be there.

Especially when the Bush family is in office.
Temptation exists in all facets of life. It is no excuse for government corruption.

>It would be nice if the little guy has the same >visibility as the big guy.

Not regarding pirate radio.

>Well, no, not if your objection is to avoid

Your words:

>"If you don't take a strong stand against

>Also my words:

>"Pick your battles wisely. Not all of them can >be won."

Such as simple dxing on cb on freeband, but some have yet to come to terms with it.

It usually does. It's protected my interests in dx and freebanding for many, many years.

I decided to go with the Uniden PC78 Elite Cb radio. It is very nice! I think better looking then the cobra, but I am not sure about the performance. I am trying to hook this cb up in my house. I have a AC to DC converter which I purchased from Radio Shack. It converts it to 13.8v DC which is the correct voltage for the cb. I just put the bare wires leads into the correct spots on the converter and turn it on. My only question is about the antenna. I have an old K40 magnet mount antenna that is like 5' tall, but it is not in the best shape but still works fine. I also purchased a cheap 3' flex antenna which does not work too bad. I have not tried to figure out the range because I am afraid of damaging my cb. Many people say that a good ground plane is needed and you need to ground the anteanna. Do I necessarily need to ground the antenna since I put the anteanna out my window when I want to use it. There is no metal outside my window at all. Putting an antenna on the roof is definatelly not an option. I do not want to buy another antenna either. Is there some way that I can just modify the antenna or rig it up somehow to ground it if it is necessary?

Thanks in advance,

pcpro

The new Cobras are notorious for having problems. They are not made by Uniden. I would go with the Uniden.

A mobile CB antenna can be used as a base antenna by mounting it on the top of a metal pipe.
The metal pipe serves as ground connection for the antenna,
taking the place of the body of the vehicle.
Remember to run a separate ground wire to a proper grounding rod for lightning protection.

Do I still need to have a ground wire to run to a ground rod if the antenna is not planning to be perminent. I can just put the antenna on my roof. It is no problem to do that, but I can not keep a perminent mounted antenna on my house. I am only going to put it out there when it is not raining. Also, you state to mount the antenna on a metal pipe, should I mount it to something metal outside? How much metal do you think is the minimum to provide a ground plane? The only thing big around my house that is metal, is the garage door. That would be a problem to mount the magnet to it because i would have to run outside to mount it, unmount it, and hope that no one decides to open the door while it is attached.

Thank you

The FCC becomes aware of a problem through one of two common ways. One is to actively monitor, and the other is to have their attention brought to it through a complaint. Since there is a manpower and resources limitation and a lot of bandwidth to cover, they can't monitor every frequency, all the time. Most of the time, complaints result in action against radio pirates. But I thought you understood that.

No, but democrats are the ones who traditionally favor bigger government and more social programs to "care" for those who liberals decided, are incapable of caring for themselves without the big hand of government helping out.

That's certainly one way to look at it. But that opinion is purely subjective in nature and will vary depending on your perspective.

For example, you may feel that the mission in Iraq is a total failure.
I feel that it's not yet over, and is showing many positive signs, not the least of which is a free election for the first time in decades.

Gladly. I'd prefer to not discuss general politics, because there is little factual information and much spin and conjecture. It's little different than a Jew arguing with a Muslim over which religion is the "right" one.

There are laws on the books. Laws that are supposed to be followed by everyone. Those who break the law, technically become criminals. The fact that they may get away with it for some time, does not negate the facts.

What is considered "obscene" depends on what the majority of society determines should be considered such. Such performances, such as Janet Jackson's "wardrobe malfunction" should not even be considered for inclusion on an otherwise public family entertainment forum. If you want to create a "dirtball channel" and put such trash on it, then fine, as long as families and others with good taste can avoid it, and not be "surprised" in the middle of something that's not supposed to contain such decadent material.

Once again, you cannot accurately speak for the majority of people, as you have no idea what they are thinking. Remember, the majority of people put Bush back into the whitehouse.

The fact that people increasingly thumb their nose at the FCC (and many other "nuisance" laws in general) has more to do with increasing lack of respect and proper moral upbringing in the last few generations.

> If an entire US society begins to buck poorly crafted laws,

Yes, that's generally how it is done. IF you can muster up enough people to declare that the FCC should not restrict unlicensed FM broadcasters, or other illegal radio transmissions, then the law will be changed.

No argument. I never said that this stuff WAS a priority. I only stated that it was still illegal in spite of a seeming lack of priority.

I also stated that it is irresponsible of someone to take advantage of the improbability of legal action to ignore a law which is still expected to be followed.

No, I acknowledged it, and I understand the human nature greed element which drives it. I also realistically accept that this is unlikely to change any time soon, and rather than trying to expend my energy swimming upstream, I'd rather work within the system as it is.

Right! But since there are no "big money" people on the freeband, it something about it.

I find it hypocritical to hold the government's feet to the fire here without demanding equal accountability from the common citizens.

The definition of "screwed over" is subjective in nature and depends mostly on your perspective and your expectations on what the government's role is supposed to be. I normally feel "screwed" when the government takes more of my money to give to others who I feel do not deserve it.

It's the same thing as when a single cop sets up a radar speed trap on a busy highway. They may snag you doing 10 MPH over the posted limit, for which you complain that the rest of the traffic was speeding by you at the same time. You feel singled out and unfairly targeted because, after all, there were others seemingly more deserving of the cop's attention than you were. But that's just the way it works.

One might operate a pirate FM station for years without trouble.
Someone else might get popped in short order. You might freeband for 20 years and have no problem. Someone else might get hit after 2 years. Law enforcement is not omnipotent.

The same principles apply. The FCC, by charging a fee for certain chunks of spectrum, is entering into an implied contract to police that spectrum for those who paid the most for it. Bottom feeders like CB'ers, hams, FRS, GMRS etc, do not pay for their "privileges", so the FCC is not as motivated to protect them.

The cost of operating a transmitter is not the same across the services. So therefore the amount of attention from the FCC should not be expected to be the same either.

This is the basic core philosophical differences between liberals and conservatives. Liberals generally believe that people are basically good, and if left to their own (I.E. not being watched by a LEO) they will still do the morally right thing. Liberals do not believe that people can be "evil". Any bad deed that someone does is the result of their upbringing, circumstances, or some other environmental influence.

Conservatives, on the other hand, believe that there are a significant number of people who, when given the opportunity, would rob you blind and kill you, if they thought they could get away with it. The existence of laws is the only thing that keeps society from reverting to barbarism. Conservatives also believe that there are people who are truly intrinsically "evil". They were born that way, and those areas of the brain which are responsible for moral contemplation simply do not function.

But this is an entirely different subject.

That depends on which parts of the government we are talking about and how open they are about it. The FCC makes no bones about charging for spectrum. In your ideal situation, the airwaves should be free to everyone.

At 300 feet, I will lose about 25% power, but should gain significantly on Childish. Petty. Immature. This newsgroup is so much better with like likes of Geo, Dogie, and Frank, in the killfile. It's a different world without seeing them.

Why argue something that isn't taking place? The FCC isn't giving pirates any attention at all.
They merely respond to complaints concerning isolated incidents.

I see nothing at all to illustrate the FCC is targeting Pirate radio Ops, just more business as usual responding to isolated incidents and complaints. To use the term "target" would suggest the FCC is active in persuing pirate activity on their own. Nothing is further from the truth.

I disagree. There are many ways for the FCC to become aware of problems.
Monitoring (which is not actively done as realtes to pirates) and

Which has nothing to do with your claim the FCC "targets" pirates....they don't. Claiming they "target" a certain group lends the false impression the FCC actively goes after them of their own initiative......they do not. I thought you understood -this-.

>In many ways, they feel that since they had to

The extreme republican approach,,,much more government intrusion in our personal lives....government must protect us from ourselves because we (those who clamor for such enforcement) are incapable of managing ourselves and controlling our own behavior.

>That would be the democrat approach.

The democrats are not running the FCC the republicans are running the FCC.

IF what you suggest is true, the current batch of republicans suddenly begun to mimic and employ what you claim is the democrat approach.
Perhaps that is because their approaches have all been failures in this admin.
>That's certainly one way to look at it. But that >opinion is purely subjective in nature and will >vary depending on your perspective.

It's not a view, but a fact, when assuming your position is true (such behavior is a "democrat approach"). Please explain why the Bush admin is adopting such policy at this time, especially when the party base is against such acts, of course, except for when it suits theie personal agenda, like Terry Schiavo, and the points you neatly illustrated.

>For example, you may feel that the mission in >Iraq is a total failure. I feel that it's not yet over,

History repeats itself. I am enlightened enough on world politics to KNOW democracy can never be forced on a society where up to half or more of the citizens are anti-western culture. I am also intelligent enough to realize that you can not wage a phony war and win while simultaneously supporting the terrorists (via the gas pump) who want to kill us and who we are waging war against.

>More social programs to manage the

Another subject. Focus on what the current leaders, those responsible (republicans) for the current state of the FCC, are doing.

>Gladly. I'd prefer to not discuss general

Well, to enter balance to that statement, you -did- say you can find no information (other than by reporters who are biased) concerning the Gannon issue and WH reporter shills and their fake news bulletins and press releases. This would be opposed as to getting your news from...??????

>It's little different than a Jew arguing with a >Muslim over which religion is the "right" one.

Well, faith plays a lot in religion, whereas facts can usually be determined concerning government going-ons.
It is difficult at best, for those who suport the Bush admin unconditionally, to do so, as it requires a bit more objectivity than unconditional Bush supporters are willing to muster.

>For the record, I do not support Bush >unconditionally. He should have never signed >that medicare prescription program into law.

>That's a cash albatross, and will only add to

The FCC is not a social program.

>I never said it was.

I commented about the FCC overstepping their boundaries, attempting to coddle us and legislating what they feel is best for our morals, what we hear, what we see. I said this has always been the way of the republicans. You claimed this was a democrat approach and tried to invoke as an example:

> "more social programs to manage the

>well-being of people who are presumably

>unable to make their own decisions"

I reminded you the FCC is republican-run and has been for the past 4 years. I also reminded you at this point, the FCC is not a social program, but for some reason, you snipped your comments concerning your invoking of "social programs" in response to me telling you the current behavior of the FCC is invading our privacy and right to make our own decisions as to what we choose to expose ourself broadcast-wise. Again, you make the case perfectly by astutely admitting the Bush admin does not feel you are competent to make your own decisions. By taking that decision away from you and making it for you, they are claiming you are not qualified and "presumably" incapapable of making such a decision for yourself.

>The truth is that there are people who cannot >control their own behavior.

Thats an interesting excuse for the FCC claiming you haven't the competence to decide what offends you and what doesn't.

> Should these people not be dealt with

>according to the provisions of the law?

  What you consider a "federal criminal" is not what the FCC or the US judicial system considers a "federal criminal" and their enforcement techniques and penalities wisely reflect such.

>There are laws on the books.

And many of those laws are old and outdated and not enforced. Google "blue laws".

>Laws that are supposed to be followed by >everyone. Those who break the law, >technically become criminals. The fact that >they may get away with it for some time, does

Which again is a circular argument you are unable to apply to the laws you invoke...such as the federal laws as applies to the interstates (as defined by the Federal DOT). Are motorists who violate the speed limits criminals, Dave?
If what you say is true (that MOST people would rather break the law or get away with something when temptation is present), then we are living in a country full of criminals.

Holding one accountable for their behavior is a much different subject than arguing a pro-position for the FCC when it comes to enforcing what they deem obscene, or as you put it, when it comes to enforcing "taste".

>What is considered "obscene" depends on Wrong. It depends on what the FCC decides. Period. Of course, if you can cite an incident where this was put before the public and voted upon.....

Says you. Some folks find the mere brutality of the sport akin to a violent turf war and find it much more offensive than the mere site of an exposed female breast. These same people find it "offensive" that such brutality could even be considered a sport. Which brings us back to the fact that you obviously find the female breast exposed on television offensive. Like I said, the rest of the world's countries who are not under such puritan rules disagree. You ought visit Italy, Spain, Great Britain, for just a start.

>I'm not convinced that

I disagree, as the principle is what they were embracing, not single issues. The principle and spirit of such is the integrity, not to be arbitrarily adjusted by single issues that cause a ruckus. In fact. the opposite is true. Their (forefathers) morals consisted of bathing when they offended another with their smell, married "christian" presidents and statesmen screwing many mistresses and slaves, regularly beating their wives (old laws on the books even state the size of the stick to be used) and a panoply of other issues we can delve into. Indeed.

>Well, here's the other side of the story.

>Funding for enforcement has been cut

Dwindled? You mean they are charging less for licenses or less people are seeking licenses?

>There are no longer CB licenses, for example.

> Marine radio no longer requires a license for >a recreational boat in terrestrial waters. GMRS >license fees have decreased over the years.

Which, by default, also means there are less avenues for which the FCC is to expend energy and resources. It all balances out, but their incompetence grows.

>The amount of people who thumb their noses

>at FCC rules has increased.

How could you possibly confirm this?

>Listen to the amount of broadcast pirates,

You answered my question.

Population increases exponentially with each passing day.

Because you are suddenly aware of more mediums where these people can voice their opinions regarding such?

>I have always been able to directly observe

>CB and ham radio, so my perception threshold >is not at issue here.

But your reasoning for claiming increases in thumbing one's nose at the FCC might very well be.

_
Even then, such an approach makes several assumptions. Or perhaps the fact IS that more people ARE thumbing their nose at the FCC because the FCC is becoming more incompetent with each republican appointee and the majority of people, like myself, recognize the bullshit..

>Once again, you cannot accurately speak for >the majority of people, as you have no idea

>what they are thinking.

Not only do I have an idea what "most people think" regarding many issues, as such has been part of my profession for years, but here you are, for whatever reason, attempting to tell me
the opposite of something -you- most definitely have no clue.
Example....I wrote a local fishing column for 13 years. The publication was purchased and moved to the Miami area. For those years, I knew exactly what the "majoriyt of people" wished to read about, what they wanted to know, and what issues they were interested in. When you are in a business such as mine, a large part of your job is to know exactly what the majority are thinking, wanting, clamoring for, etc. Without such insight tailored to the group one is working with, a new career would be in order.

>Remember, the majority of people put Bush

>back into the whitehouse.

Not even close. The majority of people who voted put Bush back into the WH, and not even half the population of the US voted.

But only because you feel so strongly about being in a position of such citizens. The US citizens are not accountable to those, such as

That's a very interesting belief system you have there. You had me entertained up until your "any bad deed" statement. Instead, their number one priority now is to

I find the behavior of the president

more obscene than a woman's breast.

This isn't abou any right-to-life. Tom Delay's statement:...."God brought Terry Schiavo's struggle to the forefront to help elevate visibility of what's going on in America, such as the attacks against the conservative movement and against me." There you

It's not subjective at all to say the FCC's "perceived values" (your special interests get special treatment over John Q Citizen.

 That has always been the problem with the republicans, always seeking

This is illustrated time and again by Bush.
Feedback means nothing. He has echoed this several times. Despite his base disagreeing with his intererence of the Schiavo issue, he put his own agenda ahead of his party constituents, just like he has done to the rest of the country each and every time his ideas are disagreed with by the majority of the people.

>Once again, the majority re-elected Bush.

And once again, the majoriyt disagree with him on the Schiavo issue, yet he cares not ata ll what his base thinks. They elected him and he wil now damn well do what he pleases, not what his base wants, demostrating, once again, he is not for the people, but for his own agenda.

Capitalism has nothing at all do with wrongly buying governmental influence.

>Sure it does, once you understand that >government influence is just another

>commodity that can be bought.

What you illustrate is a corrupt governement, which can not exist in a democracy.

>But it does and has for decades.

We are no longer a democracy. A democracy can not exist in a corrupt governement.
The government of the US was formed with the notion that ALL its citizens would receive equal treatment regardless of race, political belief, religious status, sex. This includes the rich as well as the poor. Treating citizens differently and unfairly because of their monetary status is not captalism.

>Again, you are confusing legal grounds with >commercial interests.

No, actually, you are confusing private interests and wants with governmental procedures and legislation enacted to prevent such discrimination.

>As long as government service has value,

>there will be people willing to pay more for it

>for quicker consideration.

And when one receives special treatment from a government because of their money, that government is corrupt. You are virtually explaining the corruptness of the current Bush administration, and doing a fantastic job.

>This has been going on for longer than we've >both been alive.

Yet, you have not taken issue with such corruptness since the demos are in office, and even now, you find it diffcult to speak of the corruptness you now acknowledge, preferring instead, to argue history of the demos, whcih has no relation to how your own party is screwing up, such as in the manner you just admitted still takes place.

>Clinton extended many "privileges" to visiting

>Chinese diplomats in return for their large

And I didn't even read your next line...your hatred for the Clintons so controls your emotions, you are unable to foucs on current affairs.

Especially when the Bush family is in office.

>Who's in office means little. You should take >off your Bush hating blinders and take a look

When it was relative, I did. SInce it is ancient history and has no relation to the Bush corruptness, you should examine your need to invoke ancient history instead of foucsing on current issues and problems caused and faced by the Bush admin.

Your words:
>If you don't take a strong stand against >something, you are basically condoning it."

Such as simple dxing on cb on freeband, but some have yet to come to terms with it.

>I have no "battle" with freebanders. I simply >state the truth that they are operating in >violation of federal law. Nothing more.

And once again, only you and N8WWM mistakenly call freebanders federal criminals. Not a single case in US courts has ever convicted a freebander resulting in the mistaken status only you choose to apply them.

I made the mistake of saying I liked Ronald Reagan, and he proceded to give be a history lesson on how bad he was. I don't need his permission to like someone. But it seems that Frank judges people on poilitcal beliefs. He also has some sort of complex where he has to impose his will, where he has to outdo your schooling, politcal, radio knowledges, etc. There is a posts on it on the Bush thread. He is a petty, insecure old man, with no class. And he said he is a bartender. Now, there is nothing at all wrong with that, except that he has a degree in EET and radio communications, and is tending bar. He says it's by his choice. But Bartenders works shitty hours, nights and weekends. Engineers work mostly normal working hours. Read betweens the lines. It all fits.

I'm suprised that neither of you have put 2 and 2 together yet, even after Dave twice ducked my question on the subject: Terry Schiavo is being raped by the Bush administration because of corporate influence.
The vast majority of the public feels that that the government should not be involved, and for the simple reason that few people would want to be kept alive if they were in a vegetative state. One reason people feel this way is because it's a financial burden on the family. And there's the clue: "financial". Who stands to gain financially by keeping brain-dead people alive? The care-givers and drug companies.
Now I don't think there is a strong political lobby for hospice.....

It's clear to me that Bush & Co acted on behalf of the pharmaceutical and medical lobbies. These are the same interests that fund opposition to any state initiative that would grant terminally ill people the right to die, because it's much more profitable to keep people alive and in pain as long as possible. This is not capitalism -- it's a type of opportunism that's not just offensive and contemptible, but it's also one of the most frightening aspects of government influence because it directly opposes the will of the people. Think about it:
people get old or get sick, and instead of being allowed to die they are kept alive artifically until every last dollar can be squeezed out of every available source of financial support, all the while waving the banner that they are the industries that make life BETTER!

Only in America.

Dear Member,
It has come to our attention that there is a paypal scheme floating around at the moment you may have heard or seen the $5 scheme. You may have even taken part in it well we have been asked alot of questions about this scheme the answer is yes it does work and yes it is safe to use providing you follow the rules it is legal and has made a big hit on the internet this year.
If you would like to take part in this scheme or would like a bit more

Thank you for using PayPal! The PayPal Team
I HAVE CHECKED EBAY FOR MORE OF THESE OFFERS- THERE'S LOTS APPROVING IT

!!!!!!!!!!!!!NONE HAVE BEEN DISAPPROVED!!!!!!!
I found this opportunity and thought for only $5 it would be worth a try. We spend alot more than $5 playing this thing called the LOTTO and I don't know about you, but I know I've never won, nor do I know anyone that has! I don't have a sob story to tell, I'm just looking for opportunities to make money. Below is the original email I received the only thing I've done is add my e-mail in like the instructions said.
Please read, then follow the directions it contains. Let's make this work for all of us! If after you read it you decide you don't want to try it, that's fine just hit DELETE and go about your day.
PS. I know nothing comes easy in this world, but for $5 and in thirty days I'll know if this opportunity really works or not.
Have fun in what ever you do!
Is it as easy as they say to make money on the web?
TURN $5 INTO $15,000 IN ONLY 30 DAYS...HERES HOW!
You have most likely seen or heard about this project on TV programs such as 20/20 and Oprah , or you may have read about it in the Wall Street Journal. If not, here it is below - revealed to you in step-by-step detail. This program is by no means new. It has been in existence in many forms for at least a decade. But in the early days, it required a lot more time and effort, as well as an investment of a few hundred dollars. However, thanks to PayPal and the Internet, the investment is now virtually ZERO! And what's more, the entire process is FASTER, EASIER, and MORE LUCRATIVE than it has EVER been!

Below is the email sent to me:
How to Turn $5 into $15,000 in 30 Days with PayPal
I WAS SHOCKED WHEN I SAW HOW MUCH MONEY CAME FLOODING INTO MY PAYPAL ACCOUNT
I turned $5 into $14,706 within the first 30 days of operating the business plan that I am about to reveal to you free of charge. If you decide to take action on the following instructions, I will GUARANTEE that you will enjoy a similar return!
Please do not be skeptical about this program. At least think about it for a few days. Otherwise you will be throwing away over $15,000 in cash! This system has been working for 2 years and thousands of people have joined and they have been amazed by the results of a little time and $5.00! You will too!
The business plan I am about to share with you works perfectly every single time. I've never made less than $15,000 from it on each occasion.
Let me assure you that this is a LEGITIMATE BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY, a perfectly legal moneymaking enterprise. It does not require you to sell anything. It does not require you to speak to your friends, family or anybody else (unless you want to). In fact, you do not need to come into contact with any people whatsoever. Anyone with a pulse can become successful and make their fortune with this system. If you believe that every dog has its day, then follow the simple step-by-step plan exactly as it is set out below. If you do this and this alone, I GUARANTEE that within the next 30 days you will receive over $15,000 in cash via your PayPal account. I know that this must sound like an outrageous claim, particularly if you've never had possession of this sort of money before, but believe me, this business works like nothing else you may have seen before in your life! By following the simple 3-step plan set out below, within a few short weeks your life will be transformed beyond all recognition! Please do not allow your initial skepticism to deprive you of certain financial success.
If you decide not to take advantage of this life-changing opportunity, I would like you to know that I sincerely respect your decision and I understand that you will have your reasons. I therefore wish you the very best of luck for the future. I am able to say this with absolute sincerity because, as you will see, if you decide to work this plan, I will not receive any financial compensation from you whatsoever. After all, I am sharing this system with you for free. However, remember life is short. Nobody has ever said that you can't have the financial freedom to do what you want to do, when you want to do it. But you must first pay the price. The price here is action; it's as simple as that!
I'm very proud to be able to say that I've fulfilled my duty to my wife and children by securing their financial future in a very uncertain world, and I don't believe that any price is too great to pay for such peace of mind.
This is the CHEAPEST, FASTEST and EASIEST way to make serious money online - PERIOD!

There are a lot of companies out there offering to put you in your own business, but I'm so certain you will make a SERIOUS INCOME with what I am going to tell you that I'm willing to roll up my sleeves and help you begin - RIGHT NOW!!
Remember, I am not asking you to send me a single penny for the lucrative business project I am about to share with you. In addition, you will not be asked to buy anything or sacrifice your free time. You will make some fast and easy cash, using just a copy of this page and the simplest and most popular Internet payment system in existence!
If you're already running a home business, you can easily do this one along with it. If not, this is the FASTEST and EASIEST way to earn serious money online that you've ever seen so far in the history of the Internet! This program works no matter what country you are in, or what currency you use. It doesn't matter how old or how young you are. And you certainly won't need any special knowledge or talent. You won't need to run a website, or make phone calls, or make photocopies, or send out letters through the mail, or pay for advertising, etc. The only things you will need are:
An email address.
A Business PayPal account with at least $5 deposited in it.
Just 15 to 30 minutes of your time.
This program takes just half an hour to set up. After that, there is absolutely no work whatsoever to do on your part. And yet, you will stand to gain many thousands of dollars within the next few weeks from those 30 minutes of easy work! Yes, I know, it sounds too good to be true! I thought exactly the same thing myself until I actually tried it out! Even if you are already involved in another program, stay with it, but do yourself a big favor and DO THIS ONE as well. You have absolutely NOTHING to lose, but you stand to gain a LIFE-CHANGING amount of money within the next few weeks! In fact, there is NO LIMIT to the amount of income you can generate from this one single business program!!
The facts are simple: If you need to make a few thousand dollars REALLY FAST, then this program is the way to do it! It's the CHEAPEST, FASTEST, EASIEST, and MOST LUCRATIVE program you will ever participate in!

Please be sure to read all of this page . . . take your time, come back to it . . . go over and over it, you won't be sorry, I can certainly promise you that! If you don't have time to read all of this now, then save this email so you can come back to it later.
All you need is a PayPal account and an email address!
Just about everyone has heard about "PayPal" (if you haven't you will soon!) and when I came across this concept I knew it would work because, as a member of PayPal (an Ebay company), I had already experienced their efficiency and excellent standing. PayPal is the simplest method of making and receiving payments online that anyone has ever seen! Anyone with an email address can join for FREE! Once you have a PayPal account, you can send and receive credit card payments, or from your checking account, to or from anyone - anywhere in the world! Please read further before you go there... You can complete this whole process within just half an hour and you will NEVER forget the day you decided to do so!!!

NEED PROOF? Here are just 3 testimonials from the countless individuals who decided to invest nothing more than $5 and half an hour of their time to participate in this program:
"What an amazing plan! I followed your instructions just 3 weeks ago, and although I haven't made 15 grand yet, I'm already up to $9,135. I'm absolutely gob smacked."
Pam Whittemore , Ohio
"This is Lisa. Well, what can I say?... THANK YOU SO MUCH! I sent 40 e-mail's out like you said and then I just forgot about the whole thing. To be honest, I didn't really think anything would come of it. But when I checked my paypal account a week later, there was over $5,000 in it! After 30 days I now have over $11,000 to spend! I can't thank you enough!"
Juan Tovar, NY,NY
"I was shocked when I saw how much money came flooding into my paypal account. Within 3 weeks my account balance has ballooned to $12,449. At first I thought there had been some sort of error with my account!"
Richard Barrie , Boulder,CO
Just a few months ago, each of these people were doing the same thing as you are at this very moment - reading this! But because they decided to follow the simple instructions given below, they are now considerably better off as a result. And there's no reason whatsoever why you can't share in this success. You've got nothing to lose, and EVERYTHING to gain!

Let's get started, just follow the instructions exactly as set out below and then prepare yourself for a HUGE influx of cash over the next 30 days!
Here's what you need to do. .
STEP 1
Ok, if you're not already a PayPal user, the very first thing you need to do is click on the PayPal link below and SIGN UP. It takes just 2 minutes!
Here's the link:
https://www.paypal.com/us/mrb/pal=SCU7F3FTYLVKC
Be sure to use this link so you can sign up for a free BUSINESS account. You'll need to have a BUSINESS account (and not a PERSONAL account) otherwise you won't be able to receive credit card payments from other people.
STEP 2
It is an undeniable law of the universe that we must first give in order to receive. So the first thing to do when you have your Business PayPal account is to IMMEDIATELY send a $5 payment from your PayPal account to the FIRST email address in the list below, along with a note saying:
"Please add me to your mailing list. "

Be certain to add this note, as this is what KEEPS THIS PROGRAM LEGAL. Instructions on how to send a payment are under "SEND MONEY" at the Paypal site. It's so easy!!
When you send your $5 payment to the first address in the list, do it with a great big smile on your face because "as you sow, so shall you reap!"
Here's the current list:
1. ebayisok@yahoo.com
2. flyingredtiger@yahoo.com
3. mikesauctionshop@yahoo.com
4. p-2_appraisals@msn.com
5. mmarette@yahoo.com
After you have transferred a $5 payment to the email address at the top of the list, something very eerie happens. It gives you an indescribable, overwhelming sense of certainty, belief and conviction in the system. You've just proved to yourself that, because you have done it, there must be a great number of other people ready to do exactly the same. Thus you have now seen for yourself, first hand, that this business actually works! STEP 3 Once you've sent a $5 payment to the address at the top of the list (along with your note - this is VERY important!), the next thing you need to do is to obtain a copy of the contents of this page, as you'll be sending it out (as an email message or by advertising your page, like I have done) to at least 40 people (keep in mind that 40 is a good number of people to reach, but with all the different ways of advertising for free on the internet the amount of views and sign-ups under you could well exceed into the hundreds or thousands if you wish....the more people who join the more profitable for everyone on the list, including you). The copy that you will send out will contain YOUR email address at number 5 in the list - having deleted the address at Number 1 in the list, and moving the others up a position. The best way to do this is you can copy and paste into emails to your family and friends. You can copy and paste it and put ads on the internet on message boards etc. Or you can create your own free website, by copying and pasting. There are many free webpages you can build on the web. And the best part of having this info on a website for people to follow is you can post links to your site on paid to click websites or paid to read email sites, for great advertising. There are countless ways to get more people like me and you involved in this amazing program.
A. Go to the toolbar at the top of the window and select "Edit" and then "Select All".
B. Go to the toolbar again and select "Edit" and then "Copy".
C. Start (compose) a new email message (PLAIN TEXT so everyone can view it!).
D. Fill in your email address and subject line, and then click in the main message area.
E. Go to "Edit" and "Paste" to paste the text into your new email message. Now you can edit and format the message text in any way you want! However, it's best to just leave the text as it is because you want your email to be read by everyone who receives it!

The only thing you need to make sure of is that you type YOUR email address at Number 5 in the list in STEP 2. Of course, the address that was previously at Number 1 should be removed, and the other email addresses should be moved up a position to accommodate yours at Number 5. As long as you have done this correctly, your email is ready for sending!
A word of warning! Don't be tempted to add your email address to position 1 in order to earn money fast! It doesn't work like that! If you do that, you will ONLY reach the people you directly send emails to, and then your address will be immediately removed from the Number 1 place and you won't reach thousands of people! But, if you add your name to the Number 5 position, there will be literally tens of thousands of people receiving and sending e-mail's later - when your name is at the Number 1 spot!!!
F. Once you've got your email message ready, send out a minimum of 40 copies of the email - but only to people you know, or to people who respond to MLM offers, or to people who've sent YOU offers. By sending this letter and the payment via EMAIL, the response time is EXTREMELY fast..... ELECTRONIC TRANSFER INTERNET FAST!!! That's why it takes only a few days for those $5 payments to start flooding into your PayPal account!
THAT'S ALL THERE IS TO IT! The whole process should take you no more than 30 minutes to complete.
BE PREPARED TO GET EXCITED.... YOU WON'T BE DISAPPOINTED!!! Half an hour of easy work is all that's needed - no capital outlay, no postage stamps, no printing, copying or waiting, and the concept is 100% legal.

Within 30 days, over $15,000 cash will pass through your PayPal account. And that's GUARANTEED. In fact, you can expect to receive a substantial number of $5 payments within the first few days! Keep a copy of your email safe so that you can use it again whenever you need more cash!
Here's the math:
When you send out your emails, your email address will initially be at Number 5 in the list. That's the best position it can be in at this stage if you want to make serious money. The response-rate for this program is much higher than any typical email marketing campaign for a number of reasons, which are explained later. As long as you send your emails to people who are likely to be interested in this program, on average, you can expect a response from about 25% of the people you send to. But let's be extremely conservative here and assume that you receive an average response rate of only 12.5%. . .
If you send out your email to 40 different people, you can expect at least 5 of those people to do exactly what you did (12.5% of 40 = 5). By this time, your email address will have moved up to Number 4 in the list, and this list will now have reached around 200 people (5 x 40). Out of those 200 people, you can expect at least 25 of them to participate (12.5% of 200 = 25), so that's a further 1,000 emails (25 x 40) being sent out and your email address will have risen to Number 3 in the list.

Out of those 1,000 people, you can expect at least 125 of them to participate (12.5% of 1,000 = 125), so that's a further 5,000 emails (125 x 40) being sent out with you now at the Number 2 position.
Out of those 5,000 people, you can expect at least 625 of them to respond (12.5% of 5,000 = 625), so that's 25,000 emails (625 x 40) being sent out with YOUR ADDRESS at the Number 1 spot!
Now, out of those 25,000 people, you can expect around 3,125 of them to respond (12.5% of 25,000 = 3,125). And since you will now be at NUMBER 1 in the list, you will receive $15,625! (3,125 x $5)
So, when your name starts to hit the Number 1 position within the next few days, it will be YOUR turn to collect the money! Over the course of 30 days, this money will be sent to you by a few thousand people just like yourself - who are willing to invest half an hour to receive around $15,000 or more in cash! The first payments will arrive within a few days, and they will continue at the rate of about 100 payments per day for about 30 days. After that time, the volume of payments begins to taper off as your email address vacates the Number 1 position.
That's all you need to do! There will be around $15,000 in $5 payments waiting for you in your PayPal account within the next few weeks.$15,000 for just 30 minutes work! This is real money that you can spend on anything you wish! Just deposit it to your own bank account or spend it directly from your PayPal account!!! It's just that easy!!! I think it's WORTH IT, don't you?
Remember, the 12.5% example above is assuming that 35 out of the 40 people you send your email to will do absolutely nothing except delete your email. However, if you follow the plan correctly and send your emails only to people who are likely to want to participate, you can expect a typical response-rate of around 25%. Hence, the 12.5% example is only given as a worst-case-scenario. Additionally, the above example assumes that each participant will only send out 40 emails. Imagine what would happen if each participant sent out 1,000 emails instead of just 40! Believe me; many people will do this and much more!
Consider this! Millions of people surf the Internet every single day, all over the world! Plus there are 50,000 new people who get on the Internet every month! The people who send you offers by email can provide you with an excellent source of bulk email addresses to send to. You can also send out emails to all of your family, friends, and to anyone who you think would want to invest $5 and 30 minutes of their time to make a substantial lump sum within a month. If you want to operate this business continuously, you should consider obtaining bulk lists of email addresses from a reputable mailing list company. That's how I've managed to stay in business for the last 2 years! If you already have a legitimate mailing list, then this program would be the most profitable way to make use of it.
There are many websites that sell thousands of fresh opt-in email addresses of people who have subscribed to receive exactly this type of program. For example, visit: www.htmail.com and www.Email2Success.com .
The possibilities are endless, and it's so easy!
Unlike many other programs, this 5-LEVEL PROGRAM costs you only $5.
That's right, only $5 ONCE, which is much more realistic and provides much, much faster results. Only the first person on the list gets your $5 gift, but everyone in the list will rise to that Number 1 position as thousands of emails are being sent out. No cheating can occur (don't be fooled by claims that this system can be cheated) as Paypal only allows one account per person. Because it is so easy, the response rate is VERY HIGH and VERY FAST - Internet email FAST, and you will start seeing dramatic results in less than one week! JUST IN TIME FOR NEXT MONTH'S BILLS!

Remember, you need only mail out 40 copies to start with. This will be enough to generate a substantial lump sum within 30 days. For example, send to personal contacts and reply to people who send their programs to you, as they are already working on the web. They know these programs work and they are already believers in the system! This is NOT considered SPAM if you are responding to other people's offers, or sending to friends, family and contacts, or if you are using a legitimate mailing list.

So, email your letters out today, and then prepare yourself for a huge influx of cash within the next 30 days!!!

4 factors that make this program so successful. . .

EXTREMELY FAST RESPONSE

EXTREMELY HIGH RESPONSE RATE

UNLIMITED PROFIT POTENTIAL

QUICK, SIMPLE AND CHEAP TO GET STARTED

Because of the VIRTUALLY ZERO INVESTMENT, SPEED, and HIGH PROFIT POTENTIAL, this program has a VERY HIGH RESPONSE RATE! And all from just a simple email and one simple $5 PayPal transaction! In fact, this program has faster results and a higher response rate than any other Internet program you could possibly participate in! For most email marketing campaigns, the average response rate is between 0.5% and 5%. However, this particular program typically generates a response rate of between 20% and 30%. This is because this program is so easy to implement, it costs next to nothing, it takes just 30 minutes to implement, and the results can be seen within days.

I've been watching this type of MLM program for years and this is about as easy and fast as you can get it. No stamps, no envelopes, no printed copies to be made - just a little effort and faith!!! This program really keeps it "short and simple"!

UNLIMITED income potential!

This program is structured for everyone to send only 40 emails each to start. However, you are certainly not limited to 40 Send out as many emails as you want. Every 40 emails you send have a return of AT LEAST $15,000 WITHIN 30 DAYS. So, if you can email 50, or 100, or whatever, GO FOR IT! THE MORE YOU PUT INTO IT, THE MORE YOU GET OUT OF IT!

However, you MUST remember that sneaking your name higher up on the list will NOT produce the results you think, and it only cheats the other people who have put in the effort and have earned the right to be there. So please, play by the rules and the serious money will come to you!

You are probably skeptical of this, especially with all the different programs out there on the Web, but if you don't try this you will never know. I felt exactly the same as you probably do right now. I wanted to believe but I just couldn't help thinking that there was some sort of catch. But then I realized that I had absolutely nothing to lose. After all, I was only being asked to invest a measly $5, and yet I could earn many thousands of dollars within a month. And all for just half an hour of my time! Therefore I went ahead and did exactly as the email requested. This took me around 30 minutes in total, and I'm so, so, glad I did It!

To get started, just click on the link below:

https://www.paypal.com/us/mrb/pal=SCU7F3FTYLVKC

But please play by the rules!

This program doesn't cost anything but $5 and about half an hour of your time, and if everyone plays fair, everyone WINS!!

So there it is. You now have the knowledge that will enable you to make over $15,000 within the next few weeks. The only thing that can hold you back now is a lack of faith or a lack of self-belief. However, any doubts you may currently have will disappear within a few days of putting this plan into practice. Trust me on this! You certainly won't regret it.

Some notes from the PayPal site which you may find useful

PayPal lets you pay anyone with an email address and is the world's Number 1 online payment service. PayPal (as an Ebay company) is accepted on millions of eBay auctions daily, as well as a countless number of online shops. You can also use PayPal to pay your friends - for example, it's a convenient way to split the phone bill with your roommate, send cash to your kids in college, or send cash to someone in another country.

When you send money through PayPal, you can fund your payments with your credit card or check account. You won't have to worry about your privacy, because PayPal keeps your accounting information safe and secure. Making a purchase with PayPal is far more secure than mailing a check or giving your credit card number to a stranger. That's why over 9 MILLION people from around the world use PayPal to move money.

Signing up for a PayPal account is free, easy, and it takes only a couple of minutes. Thank you, and good luck in your ventures!

You forgot to add the part where once the hospital has wrung every last bit of money from either the patient or family, they then get to disconnect the patient because of inability to pay. This is how they do it in Texas. Several years ago the former Gov of Texas signed it into law. His initials are: GWB.

I think he was giving you the history lesson because you indicated you did not know about the things he was pointing out. I too was guilty of this, if you'll recall. It doesn't mean that I dislike you. It's just some of us old lefties just feel this obsessive compulsion to educate. Especially so in my case as I did not know about a lot of it myself until after the fact, or at least half way through the old man's second term. No matter.

Provide factual proof to support that allegation.

Who pays the bills is not the issue. Terri's parents are more than willing to take over the costs, even if her dirtbag husband want to cut off the ball and chain.

>It's clear to me that Bush & Co acted on behalf of the pharmaceutical

How is that clear? Where is the evidence? Can you not conceive of the moral issue? Is everything with you based on cynicism?

It is also a moral and legal dilemma to take someone's life. Jack Kevorkian went to prison for helping people end their own lives.

I believe the term you're looking for is exploitation. But that's not the case here.

>Think about it:
>people get old or get sick, and instead of being allowed to die they >are kept alive artifically until every last dollar can be squeezed out >of every available source of financial support, all the while waving

You act as if the government/drug companies/medical people etc are forcing people to stay alive artificially. That's not the case at all.
There wouldn't be an issue in the Sciavo case either, except that there are two warring sides who want diametrically opposed things. The husband wants her dead, the parents want her alive.

This case is not about the government, medical companies, or who pays.
None of this has ever been at issue. This case is predicated on a few basic issues:

1. Lacking written notarized documentation, who has the right to make the determination whether a person lives or dies? Does anyone have the ultimate right to supersede God's will?

2. What level of proof is necessary to satisfy the legal system of that person's eventual life decisions at the time of the question of termination? Is hearsay good enough to make that determination?

3. Is starving someone to death a truly humane method of death? We're less cruel to death row candidates. Is this some lame attempt to isolate those responsible from the actual deed ("well, we didn't actually KILL her, we just prevented her from eating and she died on her own")?

4. Is Terri REALLY in a PVS? The family has insisted, and quite a few medical professionals had testified that she has some minimum level of consciousness. Efforts to further quantify this have all been effectively blocked by her husband, which then calls into question his motives in the whole case. The fact that he has not allowed videos or other professionals to examine here since 2002 is also suspicious.

The federal government intervened (In a bi-partisan manner BTW) on the premise that the court should allow more time to make a more accurate determination of Terri's state. Why the rush now? They could just as easily starve here to death 3 months from now following the results of the investigation.

The much broader picture that this case has highlighted, is the level of power that the judiciary branch of our government has usurped. They are now making policy rather than simply interpreting and enforcing. The legislative branch is supposed to make the policy, the courts are only supposed to apply it.

Watch for more fallout in this area in the months to come.

Ok, you and I are dancing over the meaning of the term "target". But the existence of the tougher law on radio pirates, and well as stepped up actions against them, seem to be evidence to me that they have been "made aware" of the issue and are "responding" to it. I have not argument that this is likely the result of "complaints". But how it happens is irrelevant.

Bush might be adding to the deficit, but (duh!) we have a war to fund and that's expensive. Domestically, there are many spending cuts (the FCC being one)

People naturally would rather have control over their own destiny. If you ask anyone if they'd rather decide their own life path, or if they prefer someone else making those choices (sometimes forcibly against their will) for them, guess which choice they will make?

A change like this will take time. No intelligent person would expect this situation to be resolved in a year or two. It will take time. But the seeds of western culture have already been planted. Unless the oppressive radical factions succeed in forcibly suppressing further rights, those seeds will grow. The genie has been let out of the bottle. It's only a matter of time before the majority of the people over there will revolt against those who make trouble and support acts of terror.

> I am also intelligent enough >to realize that you can not wage a phony war and win while

That conclusion is based on a false premise (Actually more than one).
Your suppositions that the war is "phoney" is a matter of personal belief, and is not supported by facts. You also allege that by buying oil, that we are supporting terrorists. That sort of tripe is the stuff of Arianna Huffington, and other similarly clueless conspiracy followers. Are all the members of OPEC, fronts for terrorists? How do non-aligned groups like Al-Qaeda benefit from the sale of oil?

What are we supposed to do about it, assuming that there's some truth in it?

>>It's little different than a Jew arguing with a

That's the problem. The real "facts" are few and unclear in most cases. What we have instead are mountains of opinions, political spin, and the testimony of people who only know part of the story. So people on both sides of the ideological fence rely on their inner faith to support those snippets of information which bolster their own perception.

I was making a relative comparison of methodology. I was not trying to make a direct comparison on the exact nature of the agencies themselves.

For the record, both republicans and democrats attempt to "influence" certain aspects of our lives. They just do it differently. Republicans are more concerned with "moral" issues, while democrats are more concerned with "social" issues.

Since I am more aligned with the issue of declining morality, I am less offended with this type of political influence, than I am with being told, for example, that I MUST contribute some of my tax money to fund certain programs like the endowment for the arts (Of which I feel should be made to stand on its own). IMHO charity should remain voluntary, not government mandated and administered.

I snip when the post get's long. I have this thing for "brevity". I'm not out to see who can make the longest post. When posts become too long, the focus often drifts. I cut those parts which deviate from the original focus.

I don't view the FCC as invading our privacy. Again, if you want smut, then tune to an appropriate channel. If you don't like that sort of crap, and are watching a program that is not supposed to contain that sort of material, then I expect the FCC to step in and hammer down hard on someone who violates our right of decency and corrupts the innocence of minor children by including such smut in their broadcasts.

It's hard to make a decision after the fact. I can't undo Janet's "malfunction". I shouldn't have to sit with my finger poised on the mute button so that I can hopefully catch bad behavior on public TV before my kid sees it. I put my trust in the FCC to do that for me. An acceptable family standard needs to be enforced. Again, if you want that type of material, then great. Just keep it on an appropriately warned and labeled place, so that I know to avoid it and set the parental controls on my TV appropriately.

That has nothing to do with FM radio pirates, which is what my comment was in reference to.

Please, which is it that you wish to discuss? The enforcement action of the FCC against unlicensed radio pirates, and the reasons which motivate them, or the ideological aspect of whether the FCC should limit broadcast material. They are two different subjects.

That is no excuse. FCC rules are not "blue laws". Until the law is officially changed, you are compelled to follow it.

There is no federal speed limit.

They are guilty of a summary offense and, as such, are not judged in the same manner as harsher criminal activity. But they ARE still guilty of breaking the law.

Are you attempting to promote the idea that only "major" laws should be followed, and offer as a justification the idea that the penalty is not worthy enough to respect?

The FCC bases it's policy on the legal definitions of what is considered "obscene". The definition of which can be found here:

Then they don't have to watch it! It's not like there was a false pretense of a flower show and then a football game was suddenly and

They still have to enforce the rules in those areas. They just receive no funding from them to do so. So those areas drop in priority.

What it means is that their job is increasing in magnitude and the ability for them to perform it is shrinking. They can either do a very poor job across a broad area, or concentrate on the most visible areas in order to do a good job.

That's why you can freeband in relative safety.

Then perhaps you would be so kind as to explain how you could possibly know what the "majority" thinks about any radio related (or other) issue?

First, assuming this story is true, you can only judge what your readers want according to those who feel compelled enough to leave feedback. The rest, you have absolutely no idea. So at best you can make the claims that you know what the majority of the selected group of people who responded to you about the topic of fishing. That hardly qualifies you to make those calls in areas such as radio law and politics.

> When you are in >a business such as mine, a large part of your job is to know exactly

No doubt, but the scope of any specialty writer is narrow, and their area of expertise and insight into what "other people think" is confined to that narrow scope.

To use your rules, I could then accurately make the claim that based on the feedback that I receive from the readers of my website, that I'm pretty much right on the mark with regard to the evolution of CB radio over the last 30 years.

>>Remember, the majority of people put Bush

Good. If you are implying that I am egging him warned by his ISP to stop changing nics to by pass filters, he doesn't change his nic. Now that has happened,

I don't see his posts, as Vinnie doesn't either.
Remember Dave, were talking about sic individuals that send you virus, threatening emails & posts, foul vulgar language, create web pages with all sorts of false images

Now I don't post much anymore, to much political BS and crap still being responded too left by said two individuals, I'm lucky if I post once a day in the past 6 months. When I do, it's concerning radio or to joke around with Mopar, Jim's, Vinnie or the likes.

Frank Gilliland expounded with:
I'm suprised that neither of you have put 2 and 2 together yet, even after Dave twice ducked my question on the subject: Terry Schiavo is being raped by the Bush administration because of corporate influence. The vast majority of the public feels that that the government should not be involved, and for the simple reason that few people would want to be kept alive if they were in a vegetative state. One reason people feel this way is because it's a financial burden on the family. And there's the clue: "financial". Who stands to gain financially by keeping brain-dead people alive? The care-givers and drug companies. Now I don't think there is a strong political lobby for hospice.....
It's clear to me that Bush & Co acted on behalf of the pharmaceutical and medical lobbies. These are the same interests that fund opposition to any state initiative that would grant terminally ill people the right to die, because it's much more profitable to keep people alive and in pain as long as possible. This is not capitalism -- it's a type of opportunism that's not just offensive and contemptible, but it's also one of the most frightening aspects of government influence because it directly opposes the will of the people. Think about it: people get old or get sick, and instead of being allowed to die they are kept alive artifically until every last dollar can be squeezed out of every available source of financial support, all the while waving the banner that they are the industries that make life BETTER!
Only in America.

Excellent point, Frank! Can't believe I didn't make the connection myself, as I have railed against the Bush connections to the drug companies in the past. Bush Sr. was appointed director of Eli Lilly back in the early seventies (Quaye family has/had controlling interest in Lilly)..by none other than Dan Quayle's father. At least we know why the Quayle boy was vp!!

You obviously are more familiar with the site than myself, as I was just made aware of it. Can you enlighten the contingency about whose feelings were hurt and why?

>Just read the site.

I find nothing to indicate any hurt feelings. Again, I ask you once again to explain your position. What is it that has you subjectively indicating hurt feelings were responsible for the creator's site? Thomas Paine created his paper the Federalist and people like you screamed similar to what you offer now attempting to explain his actions,,,,,and his paper was anonymous. Yet, the person you accuse makes very clear his intention for his actions....censorship. And these folks are not anonymous.
When one wishes to have an avenue free from undue interference and censorship, sometimes one must create that avenue themselves. This is twice in two days you have taken an American born patriotic birthright and trashed it,,first was the right to select civil disobedience, now, you accuse one who voices his own opinion on his own site with nothing more than your own based subjective opinion, formed by reading the site
he took to task.

>There were also discussions on QRZ on the Invocation of the site he decries as improperly censoring as the pillar of truth for -your- subjective bias is no different than the site builder's actions you take issue with,,,,you just happen to be on the "other side" (your words). Such is hardly an unbiased look at each site regarding the issue that sparked the creation of the site responsible for effectively moving you to the point of lambasting the creators. In that vein, the site you take issue with is an instant success, for if it moved you in such a manner. In the media, there is no bad press, regardless what you have been told. The only thing the public masses love more than controversy is resiliency from one who was once down...the underdog.

Then you're not paying attention. Have a look at Tom Delay's statement. He admitted it was about his agenda and not Terry's. In fact, he says it was "God's" agenda that Terry was brought to the forefront of America to stop the attacks against himself and the conservative movement.
Now Delay wants to move on, but those same crowds who refused to allow BC's indiscretions to pass are now refusing to allow Delay to move on. This issue gave way to a climate of fear for anyone enforcing the law that the religious extremist zealots oppose.

Politicians who are willing to violate the law are becoming more commonplace, and this issue brought them out of the woodwork.

Not too much has been said of Jeb Bush sending state agents into seize Terry Schiavo from the hospice last week....a plan shot down when local police met the Bush-sent jackbooted thugs upon their arrival and told them they would enforce the judge's order. The thugs from the state backed down.

What the future will return as fallout, Dave, is more intimidation in the name of God via more political intervention and underminding the law.

Bush is seeking to end the opportunity of fillibustering by seeking to change the law by appointing all conservative judges who support such his agenda. How neat. One party rule!

I see nothing at all to illustrate the FCC is targeting Pirate radio Ops, just more business as usual responding to isolated incidents and complaints. To use the term "target" would suggest the FCC is active in persuing pirate activity on their own. Nothing is further from the truth.

>The FCC becomes aware of a problem

I disagree. There are many ways for the FCC to become aware of problems.
Monitoring (which is not actively done as realtes to pirates) and other's complainst are but only two ways.

>Then perhaps you could point out some of the >many other ways?

Through other law enforcement agencies (many of them). An investigation into stolen items in the garment district (NY) recently gave way to a seizure of a load of illegal electronic gadgets (telephones, two way radios, and beepers) not approved by the FCC and operating on frequencies FCC-approved related items do not operate. This is but one of countless cases that lead to the FCC being contacted regarding problems.
Storms are another. When the hurricanes blew through here, many found their ears and support structures were not properly or adequately installed. This led to radio stations in South Florida being contacted by the FCC. And as one might expect, additional problems can often be found when the above scenario exists lending to the snowball effect.

The extreme republican approach,,,much more government intrusion in our

Perhaps that is because their approaches have all been failures in this
admin.

It's not a view, but a fact, when assuming your position is true (such behavior is a "democrat approach"). Please explain why the Bush admin is adopting such policy at this time, especially when the party base is against such acts, of course, except for when it suits theie personal agenda, like Terry Schiavo, and the points you neatly illustrated.

History repeats itself. I am enlightened enough on world politics to

Not always true, especially in countries where great honor is involved western culture can not be forcefully imposed on any country seeking their own identity through freedom.

Not true. This time, I invoke as an example, the children, young men, and grown adults who train from a child to wage death against Americans, such as many of the muslims we support who really want us dead. The documentary DID ask many of these cretins what they want and their answer was ALWAYS the same,,,invoking the very reason you say does not exist: "My grandfather and my father fouhgt against the imperialist swine, it is what I must do" ...this is not the exception in the middle east, Dave, but rather the common rule among all those who anti-western in belief.

>A change like this will take time.

More time than any of us or oour children have. They have had since the beginning of time, Dave,,,reckoning that US intervention will somehow hasten a process that may or may not evolve, regardless of our involvment, is not only wishful thinkning, but incompetence.

You are right, but that didn't stop Bush from selling people like you on the idea at the time that this war would be a military campaign of "swift and awe" and that occupation was not not going to occur.. Here you are now positioning yourself not only on the side of those who were against invading Iraq, but invoking the very reason many of us were against it in the first place.

I can list you the number of petroleum companies that purchase their bulk of oil from the middle east. You conveniently or intentionally ignore many of the countries that fund Al queda and related terrorist groups sell the US oil. My question is, how do you chalk this up to "tripe"?

Get out of the middle east for one. But a catch all answer wold be to reduce our demand on fossil fuels, something whose time has long past.

The FCC is not a social program.

I reminded you the FCC is republican-run and has been for the past 4 years. I also reminded you at this point, the FCC is not a social program, but for some reason, you snipped your comments concerning your invoking of "social programs" in response to me telling you the current behavior of the FCC is invading our privacy and right to make our own decisions as to what we choose to expose ourself broadcast-wise.

this is a direct result of you supporting and agreeing with the republican party making your decisions for you.

Again, you make the case perfectly by astutely admitting the Bush admin does not feel you are competent to make your own decisions. By taking that decision away from you and making it for you, they are claiming you are not qualified and "presumably" incapapable of making such a decision for yourself.

>It's hard to make a decision after the fact.

And how do you shield them from the bad behavior in school, on the street, from their friends? Shielding kids from bad behavior is not always a good thing, as when they are finally exposed to it, they will not have a clue and by then, they will have their tiny little fragile minds and opinions somewhat formed, and believe me, by then, you are the last person in the world they are going to approach concerning such, because by virtue of your actions, you have made such subjects taboo in your own home.

>I put my trust in the FCC to do that for me.

Keeping with the point you are trying to make, if you feel that strongly about it, TV should not be a part of your child's upbringing.

>The truth is that there are people who cannot

>control their own behavior.

Thats an interesting excuse for the FCC claiming you haven't the competence to decide what offends you and what doesn't.

>That has nothing to do with FM radio pirates,

Neither does the blanket statement that "people cannot control their own behavior".

In that case, then it does apply to pirates, as the FCC is deciding (poorly, albeit) for you of what is offensive and what is not, yet, they stumble and fall when tying to define it.

I could ask the same thing regaridng your "comparisons", but I believe most every issue we have raised, relates.

> Should these people not be dealt with

>according to the provisions of the law?

What you consider a "federal criminal" is not what the FCC or the US judicial system considers a "federal criminal" and their enforcement techniques and penalities wisely reflect such.

>There are laws on the books.

And many of those laws are old and outdated and not enforced. Google "blue laws".

>That is no excuse. FCC rules are not "blue >laws".

I disagree. Some are, especially the rules governing long abandoned frequencies and wattage allowances..

And again, I ask, ...by who? The ignoring of such behavior by the agency charged with enforcing the specific rules I speak of, confirms otherwise.

Yup,..you were tuning in to a game that is notorious for airing helmet cams and views of the coaches and players saying the "F" word, you know,,the word deemed obscene by the agency you trust to sanitize your "family show" of football. Sometimes these words are not only lipread, but audibly present, especially with the helmet cams and sound. You can't have it both ways, Dave. On on hand, you claim the FCC is right on what they deem obscene (a woman's breast exposed), and on the other hand you have no complaint when the F word (also deemed obscene by the FCC) is tossed aired, violating those same decency standards you cite as necessary.

These same people find it "offensive" that such brutality could even be considered a sport.
Which brings us back to the fact that you obviously find the female breast exposed on television offensive. Like I said, the rest of the world's countries who are not under such puritan rules disagree. You ought visit Italy, Spain, Great Britain, for just a start.

It's not about the most visible, cause man, these pirates here are extremely visible. By it's very nature, "empirical" defines something arrived at via NO scientific evaluations or methods. In other words,,,personal opinion or experience. Such does not equate a scientific positive, regardless your personal belief.

>But ask any long time ham or CBer about it,

Even then, such an approach makes several assumptions. Or perhaps the fact IS that more people ARE thumbing their nose at the FCC because the FCC is becoming more incompetent with each republican appointee and the majority of people, like myself, recognize the bullshit..

>Once again, you cannot accurately speak for Feedback. Continued empoyment. Sporadic Waves was but a sliver of the entire course.

Example....I wrote a local fishing column for 13 years. The publication was purchased and moved to the Miami area. For those years, I knew exactly what the "majoriyt of people" wished to read about, what they wanted to know, and what issues they were interested in.

>First, assuming this story is true, you can only >judge what your readers want according to See above.

And there are many more examples. I also conceived of a charity event that was related to the publication and drew an incredible crowd for a certain charity. I knew exactly what those who read the magazine would support, why they would support it, and the manner they preferred. I also knew how to pull it off in short time..this is all due to,,,dare I use your term,"empirical" experience. It is folly you can cite such an invocation and apply it yourself, but when another attempts to present you with something similar regarding themself, you are unable to grasp it.

Fishing is not my only endeavor.
When you are in a business such as mine, a large part of your job is to know exactly what the majority are thinking, wanting, clamoring for, etc. Without such insight tailored to the group one is working with, a new career would be in order.

You are assuming such can not have more than one or two specialties? Hell, Dave, I know several who put that pathetic argument in its grave. There are those who specialize in all things outdoors, from hang-gliding to rock-climbing. Need examples?

I would agree with your assertation, IF you have verified all those opinions. It stands to reason, many of those who visit your website are already of like mind, as yourself. Then again, if this group is any indication, your views are most definitely in the minority, politically and radio-wise.

Not even close. The majority of people who voted put Bush back into the WH, and not even half the population of the US voted.

Speaking of Delay, did you catch his phone interview where he whined about everyone attacking him? Kind of ironic since he was making the same kind of attacks on Clinton just a few years ago.

I've been out of the loop of CBs and their associated values - more so for used sets. What would a Realistic SSB Mobile TRC-449 (21-1562) with stock mic - be worth? I got one here I want to get rid of and have a potential buyer. The set seems to have been working ok when checked. Physically it is about an 8.5 - 9.0 out of 10.

Thanks,

cl

Thanks... I was thinking about $50, so I was in the ball park. As to seeing the auctions, I did some searching, not sure how I missed those. Then again, I've never thought to look at "completed auctions". I didn't think they were still viewable. I don't have any of the others you name, but I do have a few Cobras and such floating around. Got about 12 radios here to sell off.
Thanks again, much appreciated.

Complete auctions is a great tool. I use it to see if something is worth selling, and if I am buying, how much to expect to pay. I was selling some old books for a while, and some that had 7 completed auctions and no sales, I would not put up.

Cobra 148 and 2000 bases are worth a mint. Some others are worth some too. What ones you got?

The filter should control the speed of phase locking to some extent and will also help to remove phase noise from the signal you're trying to lock too, but for your use that doesn't really matter.

Read between the lines.

That should be fairly obvious to anyone who understands human nature.
QRZ is a moderated forum. There are rules that are expected to be followed. There are hundreds of discussions there and most people have no problem. The author of the aforementioned site had a disagreement with the owner of QRZ and got his feather ruffled, felt personally persecuted because he couldn't abide by the rules and was kicked off. So he's now set up an "anti-QRZ" site to somehow repair his bruised ego, and garner support from other people who share his lack of respect for the rules of civilized on-line discourse.

>Thomas
>Paine created his paper the Federalist and people like you screamed

>his paper was anonymous.

There is no comparison.

> Yet, the person you accuse makes very clear his

>anonymous.

The issue is not censorship. The issue is one of following the rules of membership. When you are in a non-public forum which is moderated, there are certain expectations from the participants. Stray from those rules and you risk losing your membership. You wouldn't engage in boisterous, lewd behavior at a private golf club and not expect to be reprimanded and expelled. So why should the same type of behavior be tolerated on-line?

> When one wishes to have an avenue free from undue interference and >censorship, sometimes one must create that avenue themselves.

Which is his right. Nothing wrong with that. But let's not lose track of exactly WHY he chose to do such.

>This is
>twice in two days you have taken an American born patriotic birthright >and trashed it,,first was the right to select civil disobedience, now, >you accuse one who voices his own opinion on his own site with nothing >more than your own based subjective opinion, formed by reading the site
>he took to task.

And in just as many times you have made a case that freedom of expression should be universal even on private forums, and that any rules restricting behavior for the better common good, are somehow unfair. You can't have anarchy and expect to remain civilized. There are far too many people who cannot handle that much responsibility.

There are (at least) two sides to every argument. The bottom line is that The author of the site (Which for some reason is no longer there as I checked today), had a personal butting of heads with Floyd at QRZ, and was kicked off of that site for not abiding by the rules.

> Such is hardly an unbiased look at each site >regarding the issue that sparked the creation of the site responsible >for effectively moving you to the point of lambasting the creators.

Sure it is. It doesn't matter how "noble" you may think he is for "standing up" to the "fascist" rules on QRZ, the fact remains that when you belong to a private group, you are subject to rules. If you can't abide by them, the owner/moderator has the right to kick you off. Plain and simple.

Like I said, for some reason, the site is no longer there. What does that say?

Why should that bother you? You're the one who evokes "civil

That was not what happened at all. The state was mobilizing to seize custody of Terri. The locals were informed of this pending action and they responded by saying that unless they brought a judge with them that they would not be granted access. The state decided to back down rather than risk a confrontation of law enforcement agencies. But the law gave the state certain rights to take custody of people like Terri. Overzealous judges saw to it that those avenues were blocked without due consideration and without considering the legal merits of those cases. Some of their methods and the power they used to accomplish this are questionable. It calls into question the boundaries that each branch of government has and who is overstepping theirs.

Activist judges are the ones who are undermining the law. They have been since Roe V. Wade.

Democrats use of the filibuster is nothing more than their desperate effort to force, what is defined by the constitution as a simple majority vote (the approval of judge appointees), into a super majority vote. This is in violation of the constitution and is not what a filibuster was intended for. I fully support the quashing of such desperate actions by those minority democrats.

There is, in addition to federal law, a Florida State law on the books against radio pirates. At least that's what the news clip said that

Yes, but over the last decade or two, the FCC had been slowly losing funding, while their costs have risen. This isn't a year to year

That is no different than a religious cult. The members are brainwashed and indoctrinated into that type of thinking and cut off from all contact with the outside world initially. In almost all cases they have only the word of those who are "teaching" them as to what their supposed "enemy" is like. Had they been given a chance to experience what freedom is about, they would never choose to be a part of that cult.

Which is why these cults need to be eradicated. The best way to do that is to give the people a taste of freedom. Once they taste it, they won't want to give it up.

Why do you think terrorists act so violently? They attempt to use fear and intimidation to prevent people from seeking freedom. The terrorists know that once people experience democracy, that all hope for their extreme mindset will fade.

That's "Shock and Awe" BTW. Nowhere and at no time did Bush ever say that the war on terror would be swift. He has said on many different occasions that the WOT would likely extend into our children and grandchildren's lifetimes. Also anyone with any comprehension of military operations and tactics knows that once a military objective is obtained that there will be a period of occupation to provide stability. What Bush said was that we would not REMAIN in Iraq as an occupying force for the long term. The plan has always been to turn over the reigns of government to the Iraqi people once they are able to stand on their own. Again, THIS TAKES TIME. Learn patience, and stop being so critical of things that you don't totally understand.

I am fully behind Iraq as one prong in the total war against terror.
The results are starting to flow in. Free elections in several Mid-East countries who either never had them, or hadn't in a long time. Democratic movements surfacing in such places as Iran. Hope is high for a resolution of the Israeli/Palestinian conflict. Despite the words of the nay-sayers, our efforts have yielded positive results.

By then they will hopefully recognize it for the blight on society that it is, and reject it as most decent people have. My kid has no reason to rebel against me as I have given her nothing but support and guidance and tons of old-fashioned love. If you show kids that smut is wrong, then they tend to accept that. On the other hand, if you actively promote it or act indifferently toward it, the kids will feel that it's acceptable. You can't very well tell you kids not to do something, and then turn around and do it yourself. Kids are very sensitive to hypocrisy.

Some TV is perfectly fine. My kid grew up with Sesame Street, Barney, Blue's Clues, Dora the Explorer, and many other shows. I draw the line when the cartoons start promoting violence and "adult-like" situations. The "V" chip does a nice job of blocking the more "advanced" and "dark" cartoons.

interpretation, is that not a valid form of gathering data?

If I tuned to the CB band (or the 75 meter ham band) in 1975, and could count the number of people who cussed on any given night on the fingers of one hand, and then jump forward to today, and find that I lose the "cuss count" after 2 minutes, is that not evidence that more people are swearing on the radio today than 30 years ago? Sure, this will not give specific numbers, but it is indicative of trends.

Circulation only affirms consumption, it is not a affirmation as to those who agree with you.

Case in point. I subscribe to a few boat-related magazines. In those magazines are a variety of articles about different facets of boating.
Some I am interested in, and others I am not. So how does the fact that I still get the magazine act as accurate feedback as agreeing with the viewpoints any particular author?

If the data you gather relates to what you are trying to measure, then fine.
I have no doubt that you have your finger on the pulse of the local fishing scene.

But all you've managed to illustrate here is that you share a common interest in fishing with a number of people. How you can translate this into agreeing with you in terms of your radio related or political opinions is totally disingenuous.

It doesn't matter. If your criteria for determining the level of agreement with your political views is based on the amount of people buy the magazines which carry your "stuff", you are doing yourself a grave disservice.

Sure. But then be prepared to demonstrate how intrinsic knowledge of what relates to hang gliding and rock climbing (A tough thing to do in Florida) makes one eligible to claim that they know what "the majority" thinks in terms of either radio law or politics.

As would be the assumption that those who buy the magazines that contain your fishing column are ..... Fishermen!

You can't say that as very few people on this group have publicity weighed in on these issues. The vast majority of the members of this newsgroup either don't want to get involved, read out of entertainment value, or prefer to keep silent, and avoid becoming the object of retaliation.

It is well known that voter apathy tends to favor republicans. Meaning that those who don't bother to vote are usually slanted republican.

But be that as it may, all you managed to demonstrate is that your own methods for determining what the "majority" wishes is also limited to those who read your magazine and bother to feedback.

I can understand the Cobra 2000 still being a sought after radio. But I'd take the 138XLR (the Cobra equivalent of the TRC 449) over a 148 any day. They were much more modifiable and capable, with the sole exception of the noise blanker.

That's my opinion anyway YMMV.

Your problem is with the specific laws being violated. While you often claim otherwise, your continued problems with such confirm the magnitude other's actions affect you, no matter how remote.

Not too much has been said of Jeb Bush sending state agents into seize Terry Schiavo from the hospice last week....a plan shot down when local police met the Bush-sent jackbooted thugs upon their arrival and told them they would enforce the judge's order. The thugs from the state backed down.

The confrontation DID occur, right in front of the hospice at the police barricade. After Jesse Jackson arrived, one could only drive near the media tents on 102'nd Avenue off 66'th St, and the blockades were moved even further from the hospice after the bomb threat.

I think his exit strategy Iraq -and- the economy are both clear and the buck to the next administration/generation, just like Reagan did.

>never choose to be a part of that cult.

Bullshit. The mere existence of such similar cults in the US proves you wrong. Go on any board in cultwatch and post that bullshit to be educated by parents and former members of these mind-raping cults. Besides, you are advocating social engineering by our governement abroad while condemning it at home.

_
A documentary DID ask many of these cretins what they want and their answer was ALWAYS the same,,,invoking the very reason you say does not exist: "My grandfather and my father fouhgt against the imperialist swine, it is what I must do" ...this is not the exception in the middle east, Dave, but rather the common rule among all those who anti-western in belief.

>Which is why these cults need to be >eradicated.

You are being ridiculous, now, as you can not destroy a faith or a mindset or a belief,so let's move on. The Jesus cult of the Right here in our own country is perfectly acceptable to you because it coincides with your belief and makes allowances for THEIR killing and murdering via policy and the strict opposition of the Bible where it very plainly reads: Thou shalt not judge!

>The best way to do that is to give the people a >taste of freedom. Once they taste it, they won't >want to give it up.

>Why do you think terrorists act so violently?

>They attempt to use fear and intimidation to >prevent people from seeking freedom.

You are brainwashed Dave. There have been violent "terrorist" attacks all over the world and in our own country by our own citizens that have nothing to do with trying to prevent anyone from having "freedom".

>The terrorists know that once people >experience democracy, that all >hope for their extreme mindset will fade.

>A change like this will take time.

More time than any of us or our children have. They have had since the beginning of time, Dave,,,reckoning that US intervention will somehow hasten a process that may or may not evolve, regardless of our involvment, is not only wishful thinkning, but incompetence.

>No intelligent person would expect this >situation to be resolved in a year or two.

You are right, but that didn't stop Bush from selling people like you on the idea at the time that this war would be a military campaign of "swift and awe" and that occupation was not not going to occur.

>That's "Shock and Awe" BTW. Nowhere and >at no time did Bush ever say that the war on >terror would be swift.

That statement will haunt you as much as you claiming there existed no federal DOT. He did say it..he said it would be a swift campaign of shock and awe and he also said it would be no occupation. But I dont expect you to find it or believe it as you still are baffled and confounded over Tom Delay's remarks. What the campign did turn into, is "Schlock and awww"

>He has said on many different occasions that >the WOT would likely >extend into our children >and grandchildren's

>lifetimes.

Yes,,AFTER he told us it would not be an occupation, AFTER he was told by Powell it would be a long term occupation, AFTER he was told by Powel he would own the Iraqi people for years and years and years, as well as the cost to rebuild.. Flip---FLOP

>Also anyone with any comprehension of >military operations and tactics >knows that once a military objective is >obtained that there will be a period of >occupation to provide stability.

Which would leave you and Bush out, which is why you are as clueless as he on this issue. Today's White House reports admits ALL the intel was failed for all the decisions leading to the invasion of Iraq,,,need me to find that for you, too?

>What Bush said was that we would not

>REMAIN in Iraq as an occupying >force for the long term.

Nope, thats not what he said at all. Need reminded of his speech post-911 where he mentioned 911 and Iraq and Al Queda in the same sentence 52 times, despite the Commission proving there was no connection and the WH today admitting all their intel was FAILED concerning such
>The plan has always been to turn over the >reigns of government to >the Iraqi people once they are able to stand on >their own.

He had no plan, Dave. McCain blasted Bush for having no strategy plan after invasion way back in 2001. Perhaps you can cite this mythical plan, along with the exit strategy.The first plan he mentioned was 'Operation Liberate Iraq" which we laughed at. The second was about wmds, which they now admit was based on ALL faulty intel (wink wink), yet, many of us realized this at the time, that it was a way to scare the American people into getting what bushy and rummy wanted,,,,Iraq.

>Again, THIS TAKES TIME. Learn patience, >and stop being so critical of things that you >don't totally

I'm not the one denying what my party is saying or doing simply because I am unaware of it,,,you are. Not knowing what your party leaders are doing and saying can certainly lead you by the nose to blame others who do know what is going on, as not understanding your position.
_
Here
you are now positioning yourself not only on the side of those who were against invading Iraq, but invoking the very reason many of us were against it in the first place.

>I am fully behind Iraq as one prong in the total >war against terror.

Only, today's WH admissions say they were wrong about Hussein's INTENT
AND the wmds. You can find this on your own, can you not?

>The results are starting to flow in.

And they confirm what many of us knew,,,,the Bush intel is incompetent and incoherent, and now, you are too, since you believed it all this time, despite the ever-growing evidence that led Bush' handpicked committee to finally recognized today and conclude it was all a failure..

> Free elections in several Mid-East >countries who either never had them, or hadn't

What are you talkng about, Dave?

>Democratic movements surfacing in such

You mean that faction that was crushed last month? There is no democractic movement in Iran, or are you getting your news from some source other than what you call "spin" by reporters...
Afghanistan is Iraq' s future once we leave

And has been since Ishmael and Isaac.

>Despite the words of the nay-sayers, our

I said no such thing. I have many complaints, such as sending our soldiers into battle without the proper protection. Time isn't a factor of my complaint, as , because I said, I am intelligent enough to realize one can not win a war waged against intangibles, or another "ism". You should have learned your lesson with "communism" in Vietnam.

>It will take time.

So did Bush lie on this item too, or was this more incompetent and failed Bush intel? Actually, the WH answered this today.

>Where is the lie? Bush NEVER said that the >war would be quick.

Right, he said "swift".

>But the seeds of western >culture have already been planted. Unless the >oppressive radical

The oppressive radical forces did just that the moment the majority fo the troops exited Afghanistan. By the WH own admission, the country is back in the hands of warlords.

They said the same thing about Tianamen Square in 1989.

>And look how far the Chinese have come >toward capitalism and the >westernization of their culture since then. In >threaten to dominate the world market.

You mislabeled governemnt pandering as capitalism, and the only thing
China is threatening is Taiwan and us, telling us to stay the hell out of their face regarding such. Chinese goods have flooded the market for years and years. The Chinese culture is not westernized by any means.
Have you seen their MdDonalds? They took them and made them their own,,you wouldn;t even recognize what they sell there,,they tossed all the American junk versions.

Regarding Bush non-credibility, I agree.

Or here against incompetent government tyranny. Oh, wait a second, that has already occurred and had NOTHING TO DO WITH FREEDOM "haters". Gee.

I am also intelligent enough
to realize that you can not wage a phony war and win while simultaneously supporting the terrorists (via the gas pump) who want to kill us and who we are waging war against.

>That conclusion is based on a false premise

Groups like Al Qaeda are vey much aligned, but you go ahead and 'splain away your new definition of aligned.
I can list you the number of petroleum companies that purchase their bulk of oil from the middle east.

>Yea, so?

So you conveniently or intentionally ignore many of the countries that fund Al queda and related terrorist groups sell the US oil. My question is, how do you chalk this up to "tripe"?

>Which countries officially fund Al Qaeda?

Why single out Al Qaeda? But lets run with that ...according to you, Iraq funded terrorists, which is good enough reason to invade them, despite the 911 commission finding otherwise and no link between Al Qeada and Iraq and a current admission of failure by the WH. Now, many countries support terroism via "funds", from Ireland to S America. With your reasoning, we should "give them a taste of democracy". Illustrated properly, your position becomes even more impossible.
Maybe we should invade them, too?

>What are we supposed to do about it,

>assuming that there's some truth in it?

Get out of the middle east for one.

>Oh, I see, hide our heads in the sand.

Which is what we are doing on all other fronts with these myriad of other countries...which is exactly what bush did with little Kim in N Korea for years while he built nukes, told us he was building nukes, and thumbed his nose at us. Bush inaction, bush approach on this subject permitted N Korea to develop (more) nukes.

>Good plan.

But a catch all answer wold be to reduce our demand on fossil fuels, something whose time has long past.
>Yep, we should just switch to .er..ah...

Once again, because of your inability to possess this knowledge, you discount its existence. Pop Mechanics have had alternative fuel-run engines since the fifties. I''l let Frank educate you on why those patents are snapped up for incredible amounts of cash and squashed and shelved.

>What now? Where's Doc Brown and his "Mr

Well, faith plays a lot in religion, whereas facts can usually be determined concerning government going-ons.

>That's the problem. The real "facts" are few

The admission of intel failure from the WH concerning Iraq is a fact many of us knew. Now you are forced to accept it and eat your crow.

And people like myself just accidentally happened to stumble in the dark and hazard a wild guess that the intel was failed, eh? No Dave,,,only the easily-led and those who could not fathom the incompetence of the Bush WH intel and refused to entertain the possibility that the current republican admin could be so inept without help from democrats, fell prey to the spin.

Again, you make the case perfectly by astutely admitting the Bush admin does not feel you are competent to make your own decisions. By taking that decision away from you and making it for you, they are claiming you are not qualified and "presumably" incapapable of making such a decision for yourself.

>I shouldn't >have to sit with my

But that is not the way it IS,,not reality. You don't "have" to do this,,,you can choose (all by yourself) to not expose your child to this.. Since you feel that way, exposing your child to a medium known to embrace poor behavior is your first failure regarding your parenting on this issue.

_
And how do you shield them from the bad behavior in school, on the street, from their friends?

>So because I can't shield my kid from ALL of >the things that are wrong >with our society, I shouldn't expect to shield

>any of it?

In your case, based on your personal feelings toward what is unacceptable, then concerning TV, yes, that is correct.

>Is that your defense?

It's your reality.
Shielding kids from bad behavior is not always a good thing, as when they are finally exposed to it, they will not have a clue and by then, they will have their tiny little fragile minds and opinions somewhat formed, and believe me, by then, you are the last person in the world they are going to approach concerning such, because by virtue of your actions, you have made such subjects taboo in your own home.

>By then they will hopefully recognize it for the

My God, that is rich, as you are one naive dude, but then again, all new parents are , especially with their first child. You gave many of us experienced parents with older children a great laugh, here, Dave.

>.If you show kids that smut is wrong, then they >tend to accept that.

If that were true, young boys would not sneak to read nudie girlie mags as a child. You're not only wrong, Dave, you're not realistic or in touch. Bud, all I can say, is you are in for one hell of a heartbreak with your daughter, pal.

>On the other hand, if you actively promote it or >act indifferently

>toward it, the kids will feel that it's acceptable.

Oh yea,,,thats right,,you mainntain by not actively campaigning against something, one condones it. Then you contradict and claim you select your battles as they affect you, and since this issue apparently profoundly affects you concerning your child, please tell us how you actively campaign against such smut on tv.

Keeping with the point you are trying to make, if you feel that strongly about it, TV should not be a part of your child's upbringing.

Animated adult shows are labeled as such..
Cartoons do not promote violence, Dave. In fact, Road Runner has been bashing the coyotes head in ever since the coyote has been trying to murder the road runner. If you are unable to instruct your child how to distinguish between cartoon (make believe entertainment) and reality, please find one who is capable of doing so

>The "V" chip does a nice job of blocking the

Thats an interesting excuse for the FCC claiming you haven't the competence to decide what offends you and what doesn't.

Neither does the blanket statement that "people cannot control their own behavior".

>Some people can't. That's the honest truth.

So is the excuse you invoked for the FCC claiming you are nable to decide for yourself of what offends you.

>Please, which is it that you wish to discuss?

I cite relating examples, you just aren't aware of them, so you deny their existence.

> Should these people not be dealt with

>according to the provisions of the law?

What you consider a "federal criminal" is not what the FCC or the US judicial system considers a "federal criminal" and their enforcement techniques and penalities wisely reflect such.

>There are laws on the books.

And many of those laws are old and outdated and not enforced. Google "blue laws".

>.That is no excuse. FCC rules are not "blue

I disagree. Some are, especially the rules governing long abandoned frequencies and wattage allowances..

>Such as?

DX law is useless and outdated. So is the wattage limit for cb.

>Until the law is officially changed, you are >compelled to follow it.

And again, I ask, ...by who? The ignoring of such behavior by the agency charged with enforcing the specific rules I speak of, confirms otherwise.

>How and in what way does the FCC, as you >allege, ignore their own rules?

You really are having difficulties today. I alleged no such thing. Read it again.
The agency ignores the behavior of breaking the specific rules I speak of. Their inaction and unwillingness to prosecute even a single user from the countless numbers of dx violators available each and every day for the last thirty some years, confirms my position, not yours.

population than any other country in the world, including S Africa. I, and a growing segment tend to disagree and say its the bad laws in this country, specifically mandatory minimums affecting non violent offenders

Same with your beef.

>It's not like there was a false pretense of a >flower show and then a >football game was suddenly and without >warning thrust upon you.

>You knew ahead of time what you were >getting into.

Yup,..you were tuning in to a game that is notorious for airing helmet cams and views of the coaches and players saying the "F" word, you know,,the word deemed obscene by the agency you trust to sanitize your "family show" of football. Sometimes these words are not only lipread, but audibly present, especially with the helmet cams and sound.

>I watched the entire game, and I heard no >such words broadcast.

You also claim you can't find Delay's statements, either. It happens Dave, if you claim do not see it regularly throughout the football season you are lying through your teeth or you do not watch football each week. You can't have it both ways, Dave. On one hand, you claim the FCC is right on what they deem obscene (a woman's breast exposed), and on the other hand you have no complaint when the F word (also deemed obscene by the FCC) is tossed aired, violating those same decency standards you cite as necessary.

>Your conclusion is based on 2 false >assumptions. The first false >assumption is that there were "F" words >broadcast (I heard none),

You are at least consistent with maintaining that when you fail to witness something, it does not exist. My "conclusion" was not based on any assumption, as there most definitely and regularly exists the broadcast of the F word in football.
Your first action is deny existence what you are not knowledgeable of,,,not a trait one would expect from a rasonably intelligent individual. In fact, iI feel so confident in my ability of keeping with the mainstream, I will venture to say ost everyone on this group has heard the F word on football at one time or another, Dave. You denying it takes place becasue you didnt witness it further alienates you from reality.

>and the second is that if there were that I'd >have no problem with >it.

> It's hard for me to have a problem with >something I didn't hear.

Denying its existence because you were not made aware of such, is a bit different.

>The "F" word is still taboo on broadcast TV,

>and I fully support the >FCC's efforts to keep it that way.

>Not so with the half time show.

>There was no warning. No chance to "tune >appropriately in that case.

These same people find it "offensive" that such brutality could even be considered a sport.

>I'll tell you what, you keep your smut off of my >football channel, and

>I'll keep my football off of your smut channel.

>Deal?

I don't watch smut, Dave. Your hypocrisy concerning "assumptions" is making this all the more difficult for you.
Which brings us back to the fact that you obviously find the female breast exposed on television offensive.

>What I find offensive is the objectification of >women as little more >than sex objects.

IE: The baring of the female breast. of course, you have no problem strangling these sex objects for their actions..

Like I said, the rest of the

Oh,,right. Of course.

affairs with slaves and much much more,

>I don't think they would be so fast to grant

Why single out the first, when it hasn't changed? The attacks on the Constitution occur when it is changed,,,, IE: Bush attacks on the fourth amendment.

>The first amendment has been repeatedly >cited as a defense for people >who promote anti-social, hateful, and obscene

Yep,,,,you MUST take the good with the bad in order to achieve a fair balance, but those like yourself, who hate Americans who exercise freedoms dangerous to your myopic political positions, would rather do away with such checks and balances.

>Examples like these are what make me >question whether there should be >limits placed on the 1st amendment.

That stands with your disdain for use of legal actions whcih you personally find offensive.

Which, by default, also means there are less avenues for which the FCC is to expend energy and resources.

>They still have to enforce the rules in those Wrong again. How the funds are spent is largely decided by the departmental heads of the FCC.

>So those areas

See above.
It all balances out, but their incompetence grows.

>What it means is that their job is increasing in

Yea,,well that was a nice way of you saying their incompetence is growing.

>Incompetence implies an intrinsic lack of

Which is exactly what they are about concerning numerous issues.

>The FCC's case is more of a situation

>They can either do a very poor job across a

That's why EVERYONE can freeband in relative safety,,,except many hammies whose voice is to recognizable in their area. This was the result of many pissed off nocodes.

It's not about the most visible, cause man, these pirates here are extremely visible. How much more visibility you want than a mainstream press article detailing the location of the pirate, his broadcasting freq, and coverage area? No...they go where the almighty $$$ calls them,,,,I thought we agreed on this.

>Yes, we do. Visibility, in the sense that I used

But your reasoning for claiming increases in thumbing one's nose at the FCC might very well be.

>I know you have a hard time accepting casual >empirical evidence gathered over years of

>.radio operating.

By it's very nature, "empirical" defines something arrived at via NO scientific evaluations or methods. In other words,,,personal opinion or experience. Such does not equate a scientific positive, regardless your personal belief.

>If you observe a series of events that are >beyond speculative >interpretation, is that not a valid form of >gathering data?

When you employ methods that go beyond speculative interpretation, it is no longer empirical, as you mistakenly claimed.

>If I tuned to the CB band (or the 75 meter ham

Not even close.

>Sure, this will not give specific numbers, but it >is indicative of trends.

Not with a single episode of your observation, it doesn't. it is indicative only of a single subjective experiment.

Even then, such an approach makes several assumptions. Or perhaps the fact IS that more people ARE thumbing their nose at the FCC because the FCC is becoming more incompetent with each republican appointee and the majority of people, like myself, recognize the bullshit..

>Once again, you cannot accurately speak for >the majority of people, as >you have no idea what they are thinking.

Not only do I have an idea what "most people think" regarding many issues, as such has been part of my profession for years, but here you are, for whatever reason, attempting to tell me the opposite of something -you- most definitely have no clue.

>Then perhaps you would be so kind as to >explain how you could possibly know what the >"majority" thinks about >any radio related (or >other) issue?

Feedback. Continued empoyment.
Example....I wrote a local fishing column for 13 years. The publication was purchased and moved to the Miami area. For those years, I knew exactly what the "majority of people" wished to read about, what they wanted to know, and what issues they were interested in.

>First, assuming this story is true, you can only

>judge what your >readers want according to those who feel >compelled enough to leave >feedback.

You ignore circulation.

>Circulation only affirms consumption,

Wrong. It is also a direct reflection of your sales figures.

>it is not a affirmation as to those who agree >with you.

It is in many instances. When a popular author is featured in Rolling Stone, such as Hunter S. Thompson, that issue sells much more than their average monthly copy sales.
This is the editor's and publisher's position to track.

>Case in point. I subscribe to a few boat-related >magazines. In those >magazines are a variety of articles about >different facets of boating.

>Some I am interested in, and others I am not.

>So how does the fact >that I still get the magazine act as accurate >feedback as agreeing with the viewpoints any >particular author?

YOU invoked readers agreeing with author's viewpoints, not I. I merely contended an author must know what the majority of readers wish to read about.

>The rest, you have absolutely no idea.

See above.
And there are many more examples. I also conceived of a charity event that was related to the publication and drew an incredible crowd for a certain charity. I knew exactly what those who read the magazine would support, why they would support it, and the manner they preferred. I also knew how to pull it off in short time..this is all due to,,,dare I use your term,"empirical" experience.

>Ok, so you have a common love of fishing, >which attracts many people.

>That still does not reflect any particular degree >of support for your political views.

You asked for an example concerning this OR any radio related issue,,now that I gave it, you seek to change the parameters of your initial demand.
It is folly you can cite such an invocation and apply it yourself, such as "empirical data" but when another attempts to present you with something similar regarding themself, you are unable to grasp it.

>If the data you gather relates to what you are >trying to measure, then fine.

Who would gather data to something that would not relate? And why would only you entertain such? Gee Dave,,,what is the problem with you today?

>I have no doubt that you have your finger on >the pulse of the local

>fishing scene.

>But all you've managed to illustrate here is >that you share a common >interest in fishing with a number of people.

>How you can translate this into agreeing with >you in terms of your radio related or political >opinions is totally disingenuous.

I did no such thing. You made the connection to transcend the example I gave you and link it to such only AFTER you asked for an example concerning one OR the other.

>So at best you can make the claims that you >know what the majority of >the selected group of people who responded

>.to you about the topic of fishing. That hardly >qualifies you to >make those calls in areas >such as radio law and politics.

Fishing is not my only endeavor.

>It doesn't matter.

Sure it does. If fishing was one's only specialty area, such would be all one would be capable of managing in the capacity of which you allude. .

>If your criteria for determining the level of >agreement with your political views is based >on the amount of people buy the magazines >which carry your "stuff", you are doing yourself >a grave disservice.

That is exactly how such items are determined in the publishing world, Dave. The topic in a magazine is irrelevant, as when an author ceases to be effective, the editor and publisher are usualy the second to realize it..the first being the readers. Readers are extremely finicky and holding their attention is very difficult, so the author must nail his subject each and every time or risk journalistic death. The same is done for ratings on TV. They bring in the heavy hitters, the better actors, shows, and broadcasters during sweeps. The number of viewers patronizing the medium, is a direct reflection of their effectiveness as relates to the viewers/readers/what-have-you.

When you are in a business such as mine, a large part of your job is to know exactly what the majority are thinking, wanting, clamoring for, etc.

>Which you cannot accurately ascertain without >direct concise feedback.

You are really getting a valuable crash course in economics as it applies to publishing, here.
Another example: When something captivates the country, such as a fad or new movie star, publications can arise out of nowhere and do a specialy issue on that item or person. When the issue sells out immediately, one does not need feedback to realize the issue was an instant success. Your fault is (again) discounting everything of whih you are not aware.

>I know I usually throw survey cards in the >trash. How much do you >want to bet that most people do that as well?

Again, because survey cards are the only manner in which YOU can conceive at this time, you erroneously assume and conclude that is the method employed regarding feedback.
Without
such insight tailored to the group one is working with, a new career would be in order.

>No doubt, but the scope of any specialty writer >is narrow, and their >area of expertise and insight into what "other >people think" is >confined to that narrow scope.

You are assuming such can not have more than one or two specialties?

>How many are required before you can >accurately claim to represent

>"the majority" of people?

Depends on the target audience. One who writes about tennis and greyhound owners can be expected to know exactly for what the majority of fans exclusive to each, clamor.
Hell, Dave, I know several who put that pathetic argument in its grave.

>I'm more than willing to entertain a >demonstration of such.

There are those who specialize in all things outdoors, from hang-gliding to rock-climbing.
Need examples?

>Sure. But then be prepared to demonstrate >how intrinsic knowledge of what relates to >hang gliding and rock

>climbing

The subjects do not have to relate to each other at all, Dave. Another erroneous assumption on your behalf.

> (A tough thing to do in Florida)

Another erroneous assumption on your behalf. We have an incredible amount of indoor climbing gyms with rock walls all over the state, and hang gliding is quite popular. One is towed (by small planes) in glider-like contraptions and released high aboe the earth.

>makes one eligible to claim >that they know what "the majority" thinks in >terms of either radio law >or politics.

Again, only you are making some sort of connection between politics and other areas, based on an example that illustrated your flaws.

>To use your rules, I could then accurately >make the claim that based >on the feedback that I receive from the >readers of my website, that I'm pretty much >right on the mark with regard to the evolution >of CB radio over the last 30 years.

I would agree with your assertation, IF you have verified all those opinions.

>Have you verified all of the "feedback" you >have received in your publishing efforts?

You continue to invoke the job of editor or publisher. It stands to reason, many of those who visit your website are already of like mind, as yourself.

>As would be the assumption that those who >buy the magazines that >contain your fishing column are ......

>Fishermen!

Bravo!
Then again, if this group is any indication, your views are most definitely in the minority, politically and radio-wise.

>.You can't say that as very few people on this >group have publicity

>weighed in on these issues.

Not true, but it's safe to say you aren't aware of it. Many people have voiced their opinions over they years, some just not as frequent as others.
>The vast majority of the members of this >newsgroup either don't want

Exactly, as this site is not done by anonymous authors.
Yet, the person you accuse makes very clear his intention for his actions....censorship. And these folks are not anonymous.

This is

Ohhhh...there are rules now, ay? We don't think so, taxidermist. The rules are that you take it however it happens to be sent. You like broken bones, you say, ay? That's not what the truckers say.

Also, limpie, there is a decent quality B and W pic of you that was taken about a year ago. It shows you holding what appears to be a camera, and walking across a street from your puddle jumper. Like we said, you have no idea what is going on, and furthermore never have. AKC will be in all the campgrounds comparing faces to that picture. It is you who have no clue, monkey brains.
